THE PREFACE.

after so great a Train of Expositors and Commentators, might seem an Attempt of Vanity, censurable for its Needlesseem, did not the daily and approved Examples of pions and learned Men justify it. This may be some Excuse for me to the Publick, if ever these following Papers should chance to come abroad: But to my self, for whose Vse this Work was undertaken, I need make no Apology. Though I had been conversant in these Epistles, as well as in other Parts of Sacred Scripture, yet I found that I understood them not; I mean the doctrinal and discursive parts of them: Though the practical Directions, which are usually drop'd in the latter Part of each Epistle, appear'd to me very plain, intelligible, and instructive.

I did not, when I reflected on it, very much wonder that this part of Sacred Scripture had Difficulties in it, many Causes of Obscurity did readily occur to me. The Nature of Epistolary Writings in general, disposes the Writer to pass by the mentioning of many Things, as well known to him to whom his Letter is address'd, which are necessary to be laid open to a Stranger, to make him comprehend what is said: And it not seldom fulls out, that a well Penn'd Letter which is very easy and intelligible to the Receiver, is very obscure to a Stranger, who hardly knows what to make of it. The Matters that St. Paul writ about, were certainly things well known to those he writ to, and which they had some peculiar Concern in, which made them easily apprehend his Meaning, and see the Tendency and Force of his Discourse. But we having now at this distance no Information of the Occasion of his writing, little or no Knowledge of the Iemper and Circumstances those he writ to were in, but what is to be gather'd out of the Epistles themselves, it is not strange that many things in them lie conceal'd to us, which no doubt they who were concern'd in the Letter understood at first sight. Add to this, that in many places 'tis manifest he answers Letters sent, and Questions propos'd to him, which if we had, would much better clear those Passages that relate to them, than all the learned Notes of Criticks and Commentators, who in after-times fill us with their Conjectures; for very often, as to the Matter in hand, they are nothing else.

The Language wherein these Epistles are writ, are another; and that no small occasion of their Obscurity to us now Words are Greek; a Language dead many Ages since: A Language of a very witty volatile People, Seekers after Novelty, and abounding with Variety of Notions and SeEts, to which they applied the Terms of their common Tongue with great Liberty and Variety: And yet this makes but one small part of the Difficulty in the Language of these Epistles; there is a Peculiarity in it, that much more obscures and perplexes the Meaning of these Writings, than what can be occasion'd by the Looseness and Variety of the Greek Tongue. The Terms are Greek, but the Idiom or Turn of the Phrases may be truly said to be Hebrew or Syriack. The Custom and Familiarity of which Tongues do sometimes so far influence the Expressions in these Epistles, that one may observe the Force of the Hebrew Conjugations, particularly that of Hiphil given to Greek Verbs, in a way unknown to the Grecians themselves. Nor is this all; the Subject treated of in these Epistles is so wholly new, and the DoEtrines contained in them so perfectly remote from the Notions that Mankind were acquainted with, that most of the important verms in it have quite another Signification from what they have in other Discourses: So that putting all together, we may truly say, that the New Testament is a Book written in a Language peculiar to it self.

To these Causes of Obscurity common to St. Paul, with most of the other Penmen of the several Books of the New Testament, we may add those that are peculiarly his, and owing to his Stile and Temper. He was, as 'tis visible, a Man of quick Thought, warm Temper, mighty well vers'd in the Writings of the Old Iestament, and full of the Doctrine of the New: All this put together, suggested Matter to him in abundance on those Subjects which came in his way: So that one may consider him when he was writing, as beset with a Crowd of Thoughts, all striving for Utterance. In this Posture of Mind it was almost impossible for him to keep that flow Pace, and observe minutely that Order and Method of ranging all he said, from which results an easie and obvious Perspicuity. To this Plenty and Vehemence of his may be imputed those many large Parentheses which a careful Reader may observe in his Epistles. Upon this account also it is, that he often breaks off in the Middle of an Argument, to let in some new Thought suggisted by his own Words; which having pursued and explained as far as conduced to his present Purpose, he reassumes again the Thread of his Discourse, and goes on with it, without taking any notice that be returns again to what he had been before faying, though sometimes it be so far off, that it may well have slipt out of his Mind, and requires a very attentive Reader to objerve, and so bring the disjointed Members together, as to make up the Connection, and see how the scatter'd Parts of the Discourse hang together in a coherent well-agreeing Sense, that makes it all of a Piece.

Besides the disturbance in perusing St. Paul's Epistles, from the Plenty and Vivacity of his Thoughts, which may obfoure his Method, and often hide his Sense from an unwary, or over-hasty Reader; the frequent changing of the Personage he speaks in, renders the Sense very uncertain, and is apt to mislead one that has not some Clue to guide him; sometimes by the Pronoun I, he means himself; sometimes any Christian; sometimes a Jew, and sometimes any Man, &c. If speaking of himself in the first Person Singular has so various meanings; his use of the first Person Plural is with a far greater Latitude, sometimes designing himself alone, sometimes those with himself whom he makes Partners to the Epistle; sometimes with himself, comprehending the other Apostles, or Preachers of the Gospel, or Christians: Nay, sometimes he in that way speaks of the Converted Jews, other times of the Converted Gentiles, and sometimes of others, in a more or less extended Sense, every one of which varies the meaning of the Place, and makes it to be differently understood. I have forborn to trouble the Keader with Examples of them here. If his own Observation hat's not already furnished him with them, the following Paruphrase and Notes I suppose will satisfie him in the point.

In the current also of his Discourse, he sometimes drops in the Objections of others, and his Answers to them, without any Change in the Scheme of his Language, that might give Notice of any other speaking besides himself. This requires great Attention to observe, and yet if it be neglected or overlook'd, will make the Reader very much mistake, and misunderstand his Meaning, and render the Sense very perplex'd.

These are intrinsick difficulties arising from the Text it self, whereof there might be a great many other named, as the uncertainty, simetimes, who are the Persons he speaks to, or the Opinions

Opinions or Practices which he has in his Eye, sometimes in alluding to them, sometimes in his Exhortations and Reproofs. But those above mentioned being the chief, it may suffice to have opened our Eyes a little upon them, which, well examin'd, may contribute towards our Discovery of the rest.

To these we may subjoyn two external Causes that have made no small increase of the Native and Original Difficulties that keep us from an easie and assur'd Discovery of St. Paul's Sense, in many parts of his Epistles, and those are,

First, The dividing of them into Chapters and Verses, as we have done, whereby they are so chop'd and minc'd, and as they are now Printed, stand so broken and divided, that not only the Common People take the Verses usually for distinct Aphorisms, but even Men of more advanc'd Knowledge in reading them, lose very much of the strength and force of the Coberence, and the Light that depends on it. Our Minds are so weak and narrow, that they have need of all the helps and assistances can be procur'd, to lay before them undisturbe lly, the Thread and Coherence of any Discourse; by which alone they are truly improved and lead into the Genuine Sense of the Author. When the Eye is constantly disturb'd with loose Sentences, that by their standing and separation, appear as so many distinct Fragments; the Mind will have much ado to take in, and carry on in its Memory an uniform Discourse of dependent Reasonings, especially having from the Cradle been used to wrong Impressions concerning them, and constantly accustom'd to hear them quoted as distinct Sentences, without any limitation or explication of their precise Meaning from the Place they stand in, and the Relation they bear to what goes before, or follows. These Divisions also have given occasion to the reading these Epistles by parcels and in scraps, which has farther consirmed the Evil arising from such partitions. And I doubt not but every one will confess it to be a very unlikely may to come to the Understanding of any other Letters, to read them Peicemeal, a Bit to day, and another Scrap to morrow, and so on by broken Intervals; Especially if the Pause and Cessation should be made as the Chapters the Apostles Epistles are divided into do end sometimes in the middle of a Discourse, and sometimes in the middle of a Sentence. It cannot therefore but be wondred, that that should be permitted to be done to Holy II rit, which would wishly disturb the Sense, and hinder the Understanding of any other Book what soever. If Tully's Epistles were so printed, and so used, I ask whither they would not be much harder to be understood, less easy and less pleasant to be read by much than now they are?

How plain soever this Abuse is, and what Prejudice soever it does to the Understanding of the Sacred Scripture, yet if a Bible was printed as it should be, and as the several Parts of it were writ, in continued Discourses where the Argument is continued, I doubt not but the several Parties would complain of it, as an Innovation, and a dangerous Change in the publishing those holy Books. And indeed those who are for maintaining their Opinions, and the Systems of Parties by Sound of Words, with a Neglect of the true Sense of Scripture, would have reason to make and soment the Outcry. They would most of them be immediately disarm'd of their great Magazine of Artillery wherewith they defend themselves, and fall upon others, if the Holy Scripture were but laid before the Eyes of Christians in its due Connection and Consistency, it would not then be so easy to snatch out a few Words, as if they were separate from the rest, to serve a Purpose, to which they do not at all belon;, and with which they kave nothing to do. But as the matter now stands, he that has a mind to it, may at a cheap rate be a notable Champion for the Truth, that is, for the Do-Etrines

Etrines of the Sett that Chance or Interest has cast him into. He ne d but be furnished with Verses of Sacred Scripture, containing Words and Enpressions that are but flexible (as all general obscure and doubtful ones are) and his Sistem that has appropriated them to the Orthodorie of his Church, makes them immediately strong and irrefragable Arguments for his Opinion. This is the Benefit of loo'e Sentences, and Scripture crumbled into Verses, which quickly turn into independent Aphorisms. if the Quotation in the Verse produced, were considered as a part of a continued coherent Discourse, and so its Sense were limited by the Tenour of the Context, most of these forward and warm Disputants would be quite strip'd of those, which they doubt not now to call Spiritual Weatons, and they would have often nothing to say that would not shew their Weakness, and manifestly fly in their Faces. I crave leave to set down a Saying of the Learned and Julicious Mr. Selden, "In interpreting the Scripture, says be, many do as if a Man should see one have " Ten Pounds, which he reckand by 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, " 10. meaning Four was but four Unites, and five five Unites, &c. and that he had in all but Ten Pounds: The other that sees him, takes not the Figures together, as he doth, but picks here and there; and thereupon reports that " he had five Pounds in one Bag, and fix Pounds in another "Bag, and nine Pounds in another Bag, &c. when as in truth he has but ten Pounds in all. So we pick out a Text bere and there, to make it serve our turn; whereas if we take it altogether, and consider what went before, and what fol-" lowed after, we should find it meant no such thing. I have heard fober Christians very much admire why ordinary illiterate People, who were Professirs, that Shew'd a Concern for Religion, seem'd much more conversant in St. Paul's Epistles, than in the plainer, and as it seem'd to them much more intelligible Parts

Parts of the New Testament; They confessed that the' they read St. Paul's Epostles with their best Attention, yet they generally found them too hard to be master'd, and they labour'd in vain so far to reach the Ap. stle's Meaning all along in the Train of what he said, as to read them with that Satisfaction that arises from a feeling that we under fand and fully comprehend the Force and Reasoning of an Author; and therefore they could not imagin. what those saw in them, whose Eves they thought not much better than their own. But the Case was plain, These sober inquisitive Readers had a mind to see nothing in St. Paul's Epistles but just what he meant; whereas those others of a quicker and gayer Sight could see in them what they pleased. Nothing is more acceptable to Phansie than plyant Terms and Expressions that are not obstinate, in such it can find its account with Delight, and with them be illuminated, Orthodox, infallible at pleasure, and in its own way. But where the Sense of the Author goes visibly in its own Train, and the Words, receiving a determin'd Sense from their Companions and Adjacents, will not consent to give Countenance and Colour to what is agreed to be right, and must be supported at any rate, there Men of establish'd Orthodoxie do not so well find their Satisfaction. perhaps if it were well examin'd, it would be no very extravagant Paradox to say, that there are fewer that bring their Opinions to the Sacred Scripture to be tried by that infallible Kule, than bring the Sacred Scripture to their Opinions, to bend it to them, to make it as they can a Cover and Guard of them. And to this Purpose its being divided into Verses, and brought as much as may be into loose and general Aphorisms, makes it most useful and serviceable. And in this lies the other great Cause of Obscurity and Perplexedness, which has been cast upon St. Paul's Epistles from without.

St. Paul's Epistles, as they stand translated in our English Bibles, are now by long and constant Use become a part of the English Language, and common Phraseology, especially in Matters of Religion; This every one uses familiarly, and thinks he understands, but it must be observed, that if he has a distinct meaning when he uses those Words and Phrases, and knows himfelf what he intends by them, it is alway according to the Sense of his own System, and the Articles or Interpretations of the Society he is engaged in. So that all this Knowledge and Understanding which he has in the Use of these Passages of Sacred Scripture, reaches no farther than this, that he knows (and that is very well) what he himself says, but thereby knows nothing at all what St. Paul said in them. The Apostle writ not by that Man's System, and so his Meaning cannot be known by it. This being the ordinary way of understanding the Epistles, and every SeEt being perfectly Orthodox in its own Judgment: What a great and invincible Darkness must this cast upon St. Paul's Meaning to all those of that way, in all those Places where his Thoughts and Sense run counter to what any Party has esponsed for Orthodox; as it must unavoidably to all but one of the different Systems, in all those Passages that any way relate to the Points in Controversie between them.

This is a Mischief which, however frequent and almost natural, reaches so far, that it would justly make all those who depend upon them, wholly diffident of Commentators, and let them see, how little Help was to be expected from them in relying on them for the true Sense of the Sacred Scripture, did they not take care to help to cozen themselves, by choosing to use and pin their Faith on such Expositors as explain the Sacred Scripture in savour of those Opinions that they before hand kave voted Orthodox, and bring to the Sacred Scripture not for Trial, but Confirmation. No Body can think that any Text of St. Paul's Epipisles pistles has two contrary Meanings, and yet so it must have to two different Men, who taking two Commertators of different SeEts for their respective Guides into the Sense of any one of the Epiflis, shall build upon their respective Exposuions. We need go no further for a Proof of it. than the Notes of the two Celebrated Commentators on the New Testament, Dr. Hammond and Beza, both Men of Parts and Learning, and both thought by their Followers Men mighty in the Sacred Scriptures. So that here we see the hopes of great Benefit and Light from Expositions and Commentators, is in a great part abated, and those who have most need of their Help, can receive but little from them, and can have very little Assurance of reaching the Apostle's Sense by what they find in them, whilst Matters remain in the same State they are in at present. For those, who find they need Help, and would borrow Light from Expositors, either consult only those who have the good luck to be thought sound and Orthodox, avoiding those of different Sentiments from themselves in the great and approved Points of their Systems, as dangerous and not fit to be medled with; or else with Indifferency look into the Notes of all Commentators promiscuously. The first of these take Pains only to confirm themselves in the Opinions and Tenents they have already, which whether it be the way to get the true Meaning of what St Paul deliver'd, is easy to determin. The others with much more fairness to themselves, tho with reaping little more Advantage (unless they have something else to guide them into the Apostle's Meaning than the Comments themselves) seck Help on all hands, and refuse not to be taught by any one, who offers to enlighten them in any of the dark Passages. But here the they avaid the Mischief which the others fall into, of being confin'd in their Sense, and seeing nothing but that in St. Paul's M'ritings, be it right or wrong; yet they run into as great on the other side, and instead of being CO11confirmed in the meaning, that they thought they law in the Text, are distracted with an hundred, suggested by those they advised with; and so instead of that one Sense of the Scripture which they carried with them to their Commentators, return from them with none at all.

This indeed feems to make the Case desperate: For if the Comments and Expositions of pions and learned Men cannot be depended on, whether shall we go for Help? To which I answer, I would not be mistaken, as if I thought the Labours of the Learned in this Case wholly lost, and fruitless. There is great Use and Benefit to be made of them, when we have once got a Rule to know which of their Expositions, in the great Variety there is of them, explains the Words and Phrases according to the Apostle's Meaning. Till then 'tis evident, from what is above said, they serve for the most part to no other Use, but either to make us find our own Sense, and not his in St. Paul's Words; or else to find in them no settled Sense at all.

Here it will be ask'd, how shall we come by this Rule you mention? Where is that Iouchstone to be had, that will shew us whether the Meaning we our selves put, or take as put by others upon St Paul's H ords in his Epiftles, be truly his Meaning or no? I will not say the way which I propose, and have in the following Paraphrase follow'd, will make us infallible in our Interpretations of the Apostie's Text : But this I will own, that till I took this way, St. Paul's Epiftles to me, in the ordinary way of reading and studying them, were very obscure l'arts of Scripture, that left me almost every where at a loss, and I was at a great Uncertainty in which of the contrary Senfes, that were to be found in his Commentators, he was to be taken. Whether nhat I have done has made it any clearer and m re visible now, I must leave others to judge. This I beg leave to fay for my felf, that if some very sober judicious Christians, no Strangers to the Sacred Scriptures, nav learned learned Divines of the Church of England, had not professed that by the Perusal of these following Papers, they understood the Epistles better much than they did before, and had not with repeated Instances pressed me to publish them, I should not have consented they should have gone beyond my own private Use, for which they were at first designed, and where they made me not repent my Pains.

If any one be so far pleased with my Endeavours, as to think it worth while to be informed, what was the Clue I guided my self by through all the dark Passages of these Epistles, I shall minutely tell him the Steps by which I was brought into this way, that he may judge whether I proceeded rationally, upon right Grounds or no, if so be any thing in so mean an Example as mine may be worth his notice

After I had found by long Experience, that the reading of the Text and Comments in the ordinary way proved not so successful as I wish'd to the end propos'd, I began to suspect that in reading a Chapter as was usual, and thereupon sometimes consulting Expositors upon some hard Places of it, which at that time most affeeted me, as relating to Points then under Consideration in my own Mind, or in Debate among st others, was not a right Method to get into the true Sense of these Epistles. I saw plainly, after I began once to reflect on it, that if any one now should write me a Letter, as long as St. Paul's to the Romans, concerning such a Matter as that is, in a Stile as Foreign, and Expressions as dubious as his seem to be, if I should divide it into fifteen or sixteen Chapters, and read of them one to day, and another to morrow. &c. it was ten to one I should never come to a full and clear Comprehension of it. The way to understand the Mind of him that writ it, every one would agree, was to read the whole Letter through from one end to the other, all at once, to see what was the main Subject and Tendency of it: or if it had several Views and Purposes in it, not dependent one of another, nor in a Subordination to one chief Aim and End, to discover what those different Matters were, and where the Author concluded one, and began another; and if there were any Necessity of dividing the Epistle into Parts, to make the Boundaries of them.

In Prosecution of this Thought, I concluded it necessary, for the understanding of any one of St. Paul's Epistles, to read it all through at one Siting, and to observe as well as I could the Drift and Design of his writing it. If the first reading gave me some Light, the second gave me more; and so I persisted on reading constantly the whole Epistle over at once, till I came to have a good general View of the Apostle's main Purpose in writing the Epistle, the chief Branches of his Discourse wherein he prosecuted it, the Arguments he used, and the Disposition of the whole.

This, I confess, is not to be obtained by one or two hasty Readings; it must be repeated again and again, with a close Attention to the Ten ur of the Discourse, and a perfect Neglect of the Divisions into Chapters and Verses. On the contrary, the safest way is to suppose, that the Epistle has but one Business, and one Aim, till by a frequent Perusal of it, you are forced to see there are distinct independent Matters in it, which will forwardly enough shew themselves.

It requires so much more Pains, Judgment and Application, to find the Coherence of obscure and abstruse Writings, and makes them so much the more unfit to serve Prejudice and Pre-occupation when found, that it is not to be wondered that St. Pauls I pistles have with many passed rather for disjointed, loose pious Discourses, full of war ato and Zeal, and Over-flows of Light, rather than for calm strong coherent Reasonings, that carried a Thread of Argument and Consistency all through them.

But this muttering of Lizyor ill di, posed Readers, hindered me not from persisting in the Course I had began, I continued to read the Jame Epifile over and over, and over again, till I came to discover, as appeared to me, what was the Drift and Aim of it, and by what Steps and Arguments St. Paul prosecuted his Purpose. I remembred that St Paul was miraculoufly called to the Ministry of the Gospel, and declared to be a chosen Vessel; that he had the whole Destrine of the Gospel from God by immediate Revelation, and was appointed to be the Apostle of the Gentiles, for the propagating of it in the Heathen World. This was enough to perswade me, that he was not a Man of loose and shartered Parts, uncapable to argue, and unfit to convince those he had to deal with. God knows how to choose fit Instruments for the Business be employs them in. A large Stock of Jewish Learning he had taken in at the Feet of Gamaliel, and for his Information in Christian Knowledge, and the Misteries and Depths of the Dispensation of Grace by Jejus Christ, God him, elf had condescended to be his Instructer and Teacher. The Light if the Gospel he had received from the Fountain and Father of Light bimself, who, I concluded, had not furnished him in this extraordinary manner, if all this plentiful Stock of Learning and Illumination had been in danger to have been loft, or proved nfeless, in a jumbled and confused Head, nor have laid up such a Store of admirable and useful Knowledge in a Man, who for want of Method and Order, Clearness of Conception, or Pertinency in Discourse, could not draw it out into Vse with the greatest Advantages of Force and Coherence. be knew how to projecute his Purpose with Strength of Argument and close Reasoning, without incoherent Sallies, or the intermixing of things foreign to his business, was evident to me from Jeveral Speeches of his recorded in the Acts: And

And it was hard to think that a Man that could talk with so much Confiftency and Clearness of Conviction, should not be able to write without Confusion, inextricable Obscurity, and perpetual Rambling. The Force, Order and Perspicuity of those Discourses could not be denied to be very visible. How then came it that the like was thought much wanting in his Epistles? and of this there appear'd to me this plain Reason: The Particularities of the History in which these Speeches are inserted, shew St. Paul's end in Speaking, which being seen, casts a Light on the whole, and shews the Pertinency of all that he says. But his Epistles not being so circumstantiated; there being no concurring History that plainly declares the Disposition St. Paul was in, what the Actions, Expectations, or Demands of those to whom he writ, required him to speak to, we are no where told. All this and a great deal more necessary to guide us into the true meaning of the Epistles, is to be had only from the Epistles themselves, and to be gather'd from thence with stubborn Attention, and more than common Application.

This being the only safe Guide (under the Spirit of God, that di-Etated these Sacred Writings) that can be rely'd on, I hope I may be excused, if I venture to say, that the utmost ought to be done to observe and trace out St. Paul's Reasonings; to sollow the Thread of his Discourse in each of his Epistles; to shew how it goes on still directed with the same View, and pertinently drawing the several Incidents towards the same Point. To understand him right, his Inferences should be strictly observed; and it should be carefully examined from what they are drawn, and what they tend to. He is certainly a coherent, argumentative, pertinent Writer, and Care I think should be taken in expounding of him, to show that he is so. But the I say he has weighty Aims in his Epistles, which he steadily keeps in his Eye, and drives at in all that he says, yet I do not say that he puts his Discourses into an artificial Method, or leads his Reader into a Distinction of his Arguments, or gives them notice of new Matter by Rhetorical or study'd Transitions. He has no Ornaments borrow'd from the Greek Eloquence; no Notions of their Philosophy mix'd with his Doctrine to set it off. The inticing Words of Man's Wildom, whereby he means all the studied Rules of the Grecian Schools, which made them such Masters in the Art of Speaking, he, as he says himself, 1 Cor. 2. 4. wholly neglected. Reason whereof he gives in the next Verse, and in other places. But tho Politeness of Language, Delicacy of Stile, Fineness of Expression, laboured Periods, artificial Transitions, and a very methodical ranging of the Parts with such other Imbellishments as make a Discourfe enter the Mind smoothly, and strike the Phansie at first bearing, have little or no place in his Stile, yet Coherence of Discourse, and a direct Tendency of all the Parts of it, to the Argument in hand, are most eminently to be found in him. This I take to be his Chara-Eter, and doubt not but he will be found to be so upon diligent Ex-And in this if it be so, we have a Clue, if we will amination. take the Pains to find it, that will conduct us with Surety through those seemingly dark Places, and imagined Intricacies in which Christians have wander'd so far one from another, as to find quite contrary Senses.

Opinion of his invincible Obscurity, has kept off some from seeking in him the Coherence of a Discourse tending with close strong reasoning to a Point; Or a seemingly more honourable Opinion of one that had been wrap'd up into the Ihird Heaven, as if from a Man so warm'd and illuminated as he had been, nothing could be expected but Hashes of eight, and Kaptures of Zeal, hinder'd others to look for a Train of Keasoning, proceeding on regular and cogent Argumentation from a Man rais'd above the ordinary pitch of Humanity to an higher and brighter way of Illumination; Or essewhether others were look to beat their Heads about the Senor and Scherence in St. Paul's Discourses, which if found out, possibly might set him at a manifest and irreconcileable cileable Difference with their Systems, 'tis certain that whatever bath been the Cause, this way of getting the true Sense of St. Paul's Epistles, seems not to have been much made use of, or at least so throughly pursued as I am apt to think it deserves.

For, granting that he was full stor'd with the Knowledge of the things he treated of: For he had Light from Heaven, it was God bimself furnished him, and he could not want: Allowing also that he had Ability to make use of the Knowledge had been given him for the end for which it was given him, viz. the Information, Conviction, and Conversion of others; and accordingly that he knew how to direct his Discourse to the Point in hand, we cannot widely mistake the Parts of his Discourse imploy'd about it, when we have any where found out the Point he drives at: Where ever we have got a View of his Design, and the Aim he proposed to himself in Writing, we may be sure that such or such an Interpretation does not give us his genuine Sense, it being nothing at all to his present Nay among various Meanings given a Text, it fails not to direct us to the best, and very often to assure us of the true. For it is no Presumption, when one sees a Man arguing for this or that Proposition, if he be a sober Man, Master of Keason or common Sense, and takes any care of what he says, to pronounce with Confidence in several Cases, that he could not talk thus or thus.

I do not yet so magnifie this Method of studying St. Paul's Epistles, as well as other Parts of Sacred Scripture, as tothink it will perfectly clear every hard Place, and leave no Doubt unresolved. I know Expressions now out of use, Opinions of those times, not heard of in our days, Allusions to Customs lost to us, and various Circumstances and Particularities of the Parties, which we cannot come at, &c. must needs continue several Passages in the dark now to us at this distance, which show with full Light to those they were directed to. But for all that the studying of St. Paul's Epistles in the way I have proposed, will, I humbly conceive, carry us a great length in the right understanding of them, and make us rejoyce in the Light we receive from those most useful Parts of Divine Revelation, by furnishing us with visible Grounds that we are not mistaken, whilst the Consistency of the Discourse, and the Pertinency of it to the Design he is upon, vouches it worthy of our great Apostle. At least I hope it may be my Excuse for having indeavoured to make St. Paul an Interpreter to me of his own Epistles.

To this may be added another Help which St. Paul himself affords us towards the attaining the true meaning contained in his Epistles. He that reads him with the Attention I propose, will easily observe, that as he was full of the Doctrine of the Gospel, so it lay all clear and inorder open to his view. When he gave his Thoughts Utterance upon any Point, the Matter flow'd like a Torrent, but 'tis plain' twas a Matter he was perfectly Master of: he fully posses'd the entire Revelation he had receiv'd from God, had throughly digested it; all the Parts were formed together in his Mind into one well contracted harmonious Body. So that he was no way at Uncertainty, nor ever in the least at a loss concerning any Branch of it. One may see his Thoughts were all of a piece in all his Epistles, his Notions were at all times uniform, and constantly the same, the his Expressions very various. In them he seems to take great Liberty. This at least is certain, that no one seems less tied up to a Form of Words. If then having by the Method before proposed got into the Sense of the several Epistles, we will but compare what he says, in the Places where he treats of the same Subject, we can hardly be mistaken in his Sense, nor doubt what it was, that he believed and taught concerning those Points of the Christian Religion. I know it is not unusual to find a Multimide of Texts heaped up for the maintaining of an espoused Proposition, but in a Sense often so remote from their true Meaning, that one can bardly avoid thinking that those who so used them, either sought not or valued not the Sense; and were satisfied with the Sound where they

they could but get that to favour them. But a verbal Concordance leads not always to Texts of the same meaning; trusting too much thereto, will furnish us but with slight Proofs in many Cases, and any one may observe how apt that is to jumble together Passages of Scripture not relating to the same Matter, and thereby to disturb and unsettle the true meaning of Holy Scripture. I have therefore said that we should compare together Places of Scripture treating of the same Point. Thus indeed one part of the Sacred Text could not fail to give light unto another. And since the Providence of God hath so order'd it, that St. Paul has writ a great Number of Epistles, which the upon different Occasions, and to several Purposes, yet are all confined within the Business of his Apostleship, and so contain nothing but Points of Christian Instruction, amongst which he seldom fails to drop in, and often to inlarge on the great and distinguishing Doctrines of our holy Religion; which, if quitting our own Infallibility in that Analogy of Faith which we have made to our selves, or have implicitly adopted from some other, we would carefully lay together, and diligently compare and study, I am apt to think would give us St. Paul's System in a clear and indisputable Sense, which every one must acknowledge to be a better Standard to interpret his Meaning by, in any obscure and doubtful Parts of his Epistles, if any such should still remain, than the System, Confession, or Articles of any Church or Society of Christians yet known, which bowever pretended to be founded on Scripture, are visibly the Contrivances of Men (fallible both in their Opinions and Interpretations) and as is visible in most of them, made with partial Views, and adapted to what the Occasions of that time, and the present Circumstances they were then in, were thought to require for the Support or Justification of themselves. Their Philosophy also has its part in mis-leading Men from the true Sense of the Sacred Scripture. He that shall attentively read the Christian Il ri-

Writers after the Age of the Apostles, will easily find how much the Philosophy they were tinefured with, influenced them in their Understanding of the Books of the Old and New Testament. In the Ages wherein Platonism prevailed, the Converts to Christianity of that School, on all occasions, interpreted Holy Writ according to the Notions they had imbibed from that Philosophy. Aristotle's Doctrine had the same effect in its turn, and when it degenerated into the Peripateticism of the Schools, that too brought its Notions and Distinctions into Divinity, and affixed them to the Terms of the Sacred Scripture. And we may fee still how at this day every ones Philosophy regulates every ones Interpretation of the Word of God. Those who are possessed with the Do-Etrine of Aerial and Ætherial Vehicles, have thence borrowed an Interpretation of the Four first Verses of 2 Cor. 5. without having any Ground to think that St. Paul had the least Notion of any such Vehicles. Tis plain that the teaching of Men Philosophy, was no part of the Design of Divine Revelation; but that the Expressions of Scripture are commonly suited in those Matters to the Vulgar Apprehensions and Conceptions of the Place and People where they were delivered. And as to the Doctrine therein directly taught by the Apostles, that tends wholly to the seting up the Kingdom of Jesus Christ in this World, and the Salvation of Mens Souls, and in this 'tis plain their Expressions were conformed to the Ideas and Notions which they had received from Revelation, for were consequent from it. We shall therefore in vain go about to interpret their Words by the Notions of our Philosophy, and the Doctrines of Men deliver'd in our Schools. This is to explain the Apostle's meaning by what they never thought of whilst they were writing, which is not the way to find their Sense in what they deliver'd, but our own, and to take up from their Writings not what they left there for us, but what we bring along with us in our selves. He that would understand

St. Paul right, must understand his Terms in the Sense he uses them, and not as they are appropriated by each Man's particular Philosophy, to Conceptions that never enter'd the Mind of the Apossile. For Example, he that shall bring the Philosophy now taught and receiv'd to the explaining of Spirit, Soul, and Body, mentioned I Thess. 5. 22. will I fear hardly reach St. Paul's Sense, or represent to himself the Notions St. Paul then had in his Mind. That is what we should aim at in reading him, or any other Author, and 'til! we from his Words paint his very Ideas and Thoughts in our Minds, we do not understand him.

In the Divisions I have made, I have indeavour'd the best I could to govern my self by the Diversity of Matter. But in a Writer like St. Paul, it is not so easie always to find precisely where one Subject ends, and another begins. He is full of the Matter be treats and writes with Warmth, which usually neglects Method, and those Partitions and Pauses which Men educated in the Schools of Rhetoricians usually observe. Those Arts of Writing St. Paul, as well out of Design as Temper, wholly laid by: The Subject he had in hand, and the Grounds upon which it stood firm, and by which he inforced it, was what alone he minded, and without solemnly winding up one Argument, and intimating any way that he began another, let his Thoughts, which were fully posses'd of the Matter, run in one continued Train, wherein the Parts of his Discourse were wove one into another. So that it is seldom that the Scheme of his Discourse makes any Gap; and therefore without breaking in upon the Connection of his Language, 'tis hardly possible to separate his Discourse, and give a distinct View of his several Arguments in distinct Sections.

I am far from pretending Infallibility in the Sense I have any where given in my Paraphrase or Notes; That would be to creek my self into an Apostle, a Presumption of the highest Nature in any one that cannot consirm what he says by Miracles. I have for my own Information sought the true Meaning as far as my poor Abilities bilities would reach. And I have unbiassedly imbraced what upon a fair Enquiry appear'd so to me. This I thought my Duty and Interest in a Matter of so great Concernment to me. If I must believe for my self, it is unavoidable that I must understand for my self. For if I blindly and with an Implicit Faith take the Pope's Interpretation of the Sacred Scripture, without examining whether it be Christ's Meaning, 'tis the Pope I believe in, and not in Christ; 'tis his Authority I rest upon; 'tis what he says I imbrace: For what 'tis Christ says, I neither know nor concern my self. 'Tis the Same thing when I set up any other Man in Christ's place, and make him the Authentique Interpreter of Sacred Scripture to my self. He may possibly understand the Sacred Scripture as right as any Man, but I shall do well to examin my self, whether that which I do not know, nay (which in the way I take) I can never know, can justifie me in making my self his Disciple, instead of Jesus Christ, who of Right is alone and ought to be my only Lord and Master: and it will be no less Sacrilege in me to substitute to my self any other in his room, to be a Prophet, to me, than to be my King or Priest.

The same Reasons that put me upon doing what I have in these Papers done, will exempt me from all Suspition of imposing my Interpretation on others. The Reasons that lead me into the Meaning which prevailed on my Mind, are set down with it, as far as they carry Light and Conviction to any other Man's Understanding, so far I hope my Labour may be of some Use to him, beyond the Evidence it carries with it, I advise him not to follow mine, nor any Man's Interpretation. We are all Men liable to Errors, and infected with them; but have this sure way to preserve our selves every one from danger by them, if laying aside Sloth, Carelesses, Prejudice, Party, and a Reverence of Men, we betake our selves in earness to the Study of the way to Salvation, in those holy Writings wherein God has reveal'd it from Heaven, and propos'd it to the World, seeking our Religion where we are sure it is in Truth to be found, comparing spiritual things with spiritual things.

Here is nothing certainly of greater concernment to the Peace of the Church in general, nor to the direction and edification of all Christians in particular, than a right understanding of the Holy Scripture. This consideration has set so many Learned and Pious Men amongst us of late Years upon Expositions, Paraphrases and Notes on the Sacred Writings; that the Author of these hopes the fashion may excuse him for endeavouring to add his Mite, believing, that after all that has been done by those great Labourers in the Harvest, there may be some Gleanings left, whereof he presumes he has an Instance Ch. III. v. 20. and some other Places of this Epistle to the Galatians, which he looks upon not to be the hardest of St. Paul's. If he has given a Light to any obscure Passage, he shall think his pains well imploy'd: If there be nothing else worth notice in him, accept of his good Intention.

STNOPSIS.

HE Subject and Design of this Epistle of St. Paul is much the same with that of his Epistle to the Romans, but treated in somewhat a different manner. The Business of it is to dehort and hinder the Galatians from bringing themselves under the Bondage of the Mofaical Law.

St. Paul himself had planted the Churches of Galatia, and therefore referring (as he does Ch. I. 8. 9.) to what he had before taught them, does not in this Epistle lay down at large to them the Doctrine of the Gospel, as he does in that to the Romans, who having been converted to the Christian Faith by others, he did not know how far they were instructed in all those Particulars, which, on the occasion whereon he writ to them, it might be necessary for them to understand. And therefore, Writing to the Romans, he sets before them a large and comprehensive View of the Chief Heads of the Christian Religion.

He also deals more roundly with his Disciples the Galatians, than, we may observe, he does with the Romans, to whom, he being a Stranger, writes not in so samiliar a Style, nor in his Reproofs and Exhortations uses so much the Tone of a Master, as he does to the Galatians.

St. Paul had converted the Galatians to the Faith, and erected feveral Churches among them in the Year of our Lord 51, between which, and the Year 57, wherein this Epiftle was writ, the Difforders following were got into those Churches.

 $Iurl_{\sigma}$

Chap. I. First, Some Zealors for the Jewish Constitution, had very near perfivaded them out of their Christian Liberty, and made them willing to submit to Circumcision, and all the ritual Observances of the Jewish Church as necessary under the Gospel. Ch. I. 7. III. 3. IV. 9. 10. 21. V. 1. 2. 6. 9. 10.

Secondly, Their Diffentions and Disputes in this matter had raised great Animolities amongst them, to the disturbance of their Peace, and the setting them at Strife one with another. Ch. V. 6. 13.——15.

The reforming them in these two Points seems to be the main Bufiness of this Epistle, wherein he endeavours to establish them in a refolution to stand firm in the freedom of the Gospel, which exempts them from the Bondage of the Mosaical Law: And labours to reduce them to a sincere Love and Assection one to another; which he concludes with an Exhortation to Liberality, and general Beneficence, especially to their Teachers. Ch. VI. 6. 10. These being the matters he had in his Mind to write to them about, he seems here as if he had done. But upon mentioning v. 11. what a long Letter he had writ to them with his own Hand, the former Argument concerning Circumcision, which filled and warmed his Mind, broke out again into what we find v. 12---17. of the VI. Ch.

SECT. I.

CHAP. I. 1 --- 5

Introduction.

CONTENTS.

Defign in it to be to keep the Galatians from hearkening to those Judaizing Seducers, who had almost perswaded them to be Circumcifed. These Perverters of the Gospel of Christ, as S. Paul himself calls them, v. 7. had, as may be gather'd from v. 8. and ro. and from Ch. V. 11. and other passages of this Epistle, made the Galatians believe that St. Paul himself was for Circumcision. Till St. Paul himself had set them right in this matter, and convinced them of the Falshood of this Aspersion, it was in vain for him by other Arguments to attempt the re-establishing the Galatians in the Christian Liberty, and in that Truth, which he had Preach'd to them. The removing therefore of this Calumny was his first Endeavour; and to that purpose this In- Chap. I. troduction, different from what we find in any other of his Epittles, is marvelloufly well adapted. He declares here at the entrance very expresly and emphatically, that he was not fent by Men on their Errands; Nay, that Christ in sending him did not so much as convey his Apostolick Power to him by the Ministry, or Intervention of any Man; but that his Commission and Instructions were all entirely from God, and Christ himself, by immediate Revelation. This of it self was an Argument fufficient to induce them to believe, 1. That what he taught them when he first Preached the Gospel to them, was the Truth, and that they ought to stick firm to that. 2. That he changed not his Doctrine, whatever might be reported of him. He was Christ's chosen Officer, and had no dependence on Men's Opinions, nor regard to their Authority, or Favour, in what he Preached; and therefore 'twas not likely lie should preach one thing at one time, and another thing at another.

Thus this Preface is very proper in this place to introduce what he is going to fay concerning himself, and adds Force to his Discourse, and the account he gives of himself in the next Section.

NOTES.

1. * Conder elasticismus, ast of Men, i.e. not fent by Men at their Pleasure, or by their Authority; not instructed by Men what to say or do, as we see Timothy and Titus were when sent by St. Faul: and fauls, and Silus sent by the Church of Jerusalem.

† O. N. di di dispidate, nor by Man. i. e. His Choice and Separation to his Ministry, and Apotiteship was so who by an Act of God, and Christ, that there was no Intervention of any thing done by any Man in the Case, as there was in the Election of Manbias. All this we may be explained at large, v. 10—12. and v. 16. 17. and Ch. II. 6—9.

2 * Chur. h. c of Galatia. This was an evident Seal of his Apostleship to the Gentiles: since in no bigger a Country than Galatia, a small Frovince of the lesser Asia, he had, in no long stay as mongst them, planted several diffin& Churches.

4 * Oπως Εξέλησα ήμας ου 98 everώπος αίωνος πονηςς. That he might take as out of this prejent Evil World, or Aze, to the Greek Words fignifie. Whereby it cannot be thought, that St. Paul meant, that Christians were to be immediately removed into the other World. Therefore ?vsas also must tignishe something else than present World, in the ordinary import of those Words in English. April Tres. 1 Cor. II. 6. S. and in other places plainly fignifies the Jewish Nation, under the Mofarral Conflitution; and it faits very well with the Apoftle's Defign in this Epiftle, that it should do so here. God has in this World but one Kingdom, and one People. The Nation of the Ferry were the Kingdom, and People of God, whilft the Law flood. And this Kingdom of God under the Melaical Conflitution, was call'd aide Eng this Age, or as it is comsmonly translated, this Horld, to which alwy eresule, the prefere World, or Age here answers. But the Kingdom of God, which was to be under the Messiah, wherein the Oeconomy, and Constitution of the Fewifi Church, and the Nation it felf, that in opposition to Christ adhered to it, was to be laid affide, is in the New Testamant called alov mextor the World, or Age to come, so that Christ's taking them out of the prefere World, may, without any Violence to the Words be understood to fignific his serting them free from the Mosaical Constitution. This is suitable to the defign of this Epistle, and what St. Faul has declared in many other places. See Col. II. 14-17. and 10. which agrees to this place, and Rom VII. 4. 6. The Law is faid to be contrary to us, Col. II 14. and to work Wrath, Rom. IV. 15. and St. Paul speaks very diminishingly of the ritual parts of it in many places; But yet if all this may not be thought sufficient to justify the applying of the Epithet mornes. Evil to it, that scruple will be semoved if we take freezis along this prefent world here for the Jerish Constitution and Nation together, in which Sense it may very well be called Edl, though the Apostle, out of his wonted Tenderness to his Nation, forbeats to name them openly, and uses a doubtful Expression, which might comprehend the Heathen World also, though be chiefly pointed at the femt.

SECT. II.

Chap, I.

CHAP. I. 6----II. 21.

TE have above observed, that St. Paul's first endeavours in this Epistle was to satisfie the Galatians, that the report spread of him, that he Preach'd Circumcision, was salfe. Till this obstruction, that lay in his way, was removed, it was to no purpose for him to go about to distwade them from Circumcition, though that be, what he principally aims at, in this Epiftle. To shew them, that he promoted not Circumcifion, he calls their hearkening to those, who perswaded them to be Circumcised, their being removed from him; and those that so perswaded them, perverters of the Gospel of Christ v. 6, 7. He farther assures them, that the Gospel which he Preached every where was that, and that only, which he had received by immediate Revelation from Christ, and no contrivance of Man, nor did he vary it to please Men: That would not consist with his being a Servant of Christ, v. 10. And he expresses such a firm adherence to what he had received from Christ, and had Preached to them, that he pronounces an Anathema upon himself v. 8, 9. or any other Man or Angel, that should Preach any thing else to them. To make out this to have been all along his Conduct, he gives an account of himself for many years backwards, even from the time before his conversion. Wherein he shows, that from a Zealous perfecuting Tew, he was made a Christian, and an Apostle by immediate Revelation, and that having no Communication with the Apostles, or with the Churches of Judia, or any Man for some years, he had nothing to Preach, but what he had received by immediate Revelation. Nay when 14 years after he went up to Firusalem, it was by Revelation; and when he there communicated the Gospel. which he Preach'd among the Gentiles, Peter, James, and John approved of it without adding any thing, but admitted him as their Fellow Apostle. So that in all this he was guided by nothing but Divine Revelation, which he inflexibly stuck to, so far, that he openly opposed St. Peter, for his Judaizing at Antioch. All which account of himself tends clearly to shew, that St. Paul made not the least step towards complying with the Jews in favour of the Law, nor did out of regard to Man, deviate from the Doctrine he had received by Revelation from God.

Chap. I. All the parts of this Section, and the Narrative contain'd in it, manifestly concenter in this, as will more fully appear, as we go through them, and take a closer view of them, which will shew us that the whole is so skilfully managed and the parts so gently slid into, that it is a strong, but not seemingly laboured justification of himself, from the imputation of Preaching up Circumcision.

Cannot but wonder that you are fo foon *removed from me, † (who called you into the Covenant of Grace which is in Christ) unto an other fort of Gospel; Which is not owing to any thing else, * but only this, that you are troubled by a certain fort of Men, who would overturn the Gospel of Christ, by making Circumcision, and the keeping of the Law necessary + under the 8. NOTES.

6. * So soon. The first place we find Galatia mentioned is AA XVI. 6. And therefore St. Paul may be supposed to have planted these Churches there, in his Journey mentioned AR. XVI. which was Anno Domini 51. He visited them again, after he had been at ferusalem. AR. XVIII. 21—23. Anno Domini 54. From thence he returned to Ephesus, and staid there about two years, during which time this Epistle was writ, so that counting from his last visit, this Letter was writ to them within two or three years from the time he was last with them, and had lest them confirmed in the Dostrine he had taught them, and therefore he might with Reason wonder at their forsaking him so soon and that Gospel he had converted them to.

From him that called you. These words plainly point out himself. But then one might wonder how St. Paul came to use them. Since it would have sounded better to have said, removed from the Gospel I Preach'd to you, to another Gospel, than, removed from me that Preach'd to you, to another Gospel. But if it be remembre I that St. Paul's design here is to Vindicate himself from the aspersion cast on him, that he Preached Circumcision, nothing could be more suitable to that purpose, than this way of expressing himself.

7. * O kn Estr allo. I take to figure which is not any thing else. The words themselves, the context, and the business, the Apostle is upon here, do all concur to give these words the Sense I have taken them in. For, r. It can karce be supposed by any one who Reads what St. Paul says, in the following Words of this Verse, and the two clipyning; and also Ch. III. 4. and V. 2——4. And 7th that St. Paul should tell them, that what he would keep them from is not another Gospel. 3. It is suitable to St. Paul's design here to tell them, that to their being removed to another Cospel no body else had contributed, but it was wholy owing to those Judaizing Seducers.

* For advice, This and what he fays in the following verse is to Evidence to the Galatians, the full affurance he had of the truth and perfection of the Gospel, which he had received from Christ by immediate Revelation; and how little he was disposed to have any regard to the pleasing of Men in Preaching it, that he did not so much as communicate or advise with any of the Apostles about it to see whether they approved of it.

Hen fourteen years after I went up again to 1. Terusalem, with Barnabas, and took Titus also with me. And I went up by Revelation, and there laid before them the Gospel which I Preached to the Gentiles, but privately to those who were of Note and Reputation amongst them, least the pains that I have already taken || or should take in the Gospel, should be in vain †. But though I communicated the Gospel which I Preach'd to the Gentiles, to the Eminent Men of the Church at Jerusalem, yet neither * Titus, who was with me, being a Greek was forced to be Circumcifed. Nor † did I yield any thing one Moment by way of Subjection to the Law, to those false Brethren who by an unwary admittance were flily crept in to Spy out our Liberty from the Law, which we have under the Gospel:

Henfourteen years 1 after, I went up again to Ferusalem, with Barnabas, and took Titus with me also. And 2 I went up by revelation, and communicated unto them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but privately to them which were of reputation, lest by any means I should run, or had run in vain. But neither Titus, who 3 was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcifed: And 4 that because of faile brethren unawates brought in, who came in privily to spy out our liberty, which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might

I communicated. The Conference he had in private with the chief of the Church of Jerusalem, concerning the Gospel which he preach'd among the Gentiles, seems not to have been barely concerning the Doctrine of their being free from the Law of Moses: That had been openly and hotly disputed at Antioch, and was known to be the business they came about to Ferusalem; but it is probable it was to explain to them the whole Doctrine he had received by Revelation, by the Fullness and Persection whereof, (For it is said v. 6 that in that Conference they added nothing to it) and by the Miracle he had done in Confirmation of it (see v. 8) they might see and own what he Preached to be the Truth, and him to be one of themselves, both by Commission and Doctrine, as indeed they did with them, signifies those at Ferusalem. All Mars of the following are exceptical, and show the particular manner and Persons, import nemper privation emizantion ibus. 'Two enough to his purpose to be owned by those of greatest A thority, and so we see he was by fames, Peter, and John, v. 9. and therefore it was satest and best to give an account of the Gospel he preach'd in private to them, and not publically to the whole Charch.

h Running st. Paul vies for takeing Pains in the Gospel. See Col. ii. 16. A Metaphor, I suppose, taken from the Olympick Games, to express his utmost Endeavours to prevail in the pro-pagaring the Gospel.

* In value he seems here to give two Reasons why at last after 14 Years, he communicated to the Chief of the Apostles at Ferusalem the Gospel that he Preach'd to the Gentiles, when as he shews to the Galatians he had formerly declined all Communication with the convect Fems. The seems to intimate that he did it by Revelation. 2. He gives another reason, viz That if he had not communicated as he did with the leading Men there, and satisfied them of his Doctrine and Mission, his Opposers might unsettle the Churches he had, or should plant, by urging that the Apostles knew not what it was that he Preached, nor had ever owned it for the Gospel, or him for an Apostle. Of the readiness of the sudaizing Seducers to take any such Advantage against him, he had lately an Example in the Church of Corinth.

But as for those † who were really * Men of Eminency and Value, what they were heretofore || it matters not at all to me, God accepts not the person of any Man, but Communicates the Gospel to whom he pleases, as he has done to me by Revelation, without their help; for in their Conference with me they added nothing to me, they taught me nothing new, nor that Christ had taught me before, nor had they any thing to object against what I Preached to the Gentiles. But on the contrary, James, Peter and John, who were of Reputation, and justly esteem'd to be Pillars, percei-

NOTES.

3 t 'un hou had an is rightly translated, was not compelled a plain Evidence to the Galatians that the circumcifing of the convert Geniles, was no part of the Gospel which he laid before these Men of Note, as what he Preach'd to the Gentiles. For if it had, Titus must have been circumcised; for no part of his Gospel was hlamed, or alter'd by them, v. 6. Of what other use his mentioning this of Titus here can be, but to shew to the Galarians, that what he Preach'd contain'd nothing of circumcifing the convert Gentiles, it is hard to find. If it were to shew that the other Apostles, and Church ar Ferusalem dispensed with Circumcifion, and other ritual Observances of the Mosaical Law, that was needless, for that was sufficiently declared by their Decree, Alls xv, which was made and communicated to the Churches before this Epiftle was writ, as may be seen, Alls xvi. 4 much less was this of Iiius of any force to prove that St. Paul was a true Apostle, if that were what he was here labouring to justify. But considering his Aim here to be the clearing himself from a Report that he Preach'd up circumcifion there, could be nothing more to his purpose than this instance of Tices, whom, uncircumcifed as he was, he took with him to Ferufalem, uncircumcifed he kept with him there, and uncircumcifed he took back with him when he returned. This was a ftrong and pertinent Instance to persuade the Galatians that the Report of his preaching circumcifion was a meer aspersion.

4 * Bondage. What this Bondage was, see Ads xv. 1, 5, 10. 5 + 'w Neither. In the 3d v. according to Propriety of Speech, ought to have a Nor to and fwer it, which is the & Nor, here, which to taken, answers the Propriety of the Greek, and very much clears the Sense 28 Tiros nvayra on us weisegn atauls. Neither was Titus compelled. nor did we yield to them a Moment.

* Might remain among you. Here he tells the reason himself why he yielded not to those Judaizing False Brethren: It was that the True Doctrine which he had Pleach'd to the Geniles, or their freedom from the Law might stand firm. A convincing Argument to the Galatians that he Preach'd not circumcifion.

Τη το ταγή by Subjection. The point those falle Brethren contended for was that the Law of Moses, was to be kept, see Alt. xv. 5. Sr. Paul who on other Occasions was so complain fant that to the Fews he hecame as a Few, to those under the Law as under the Law, (See 1 Cor. ix. 19-22) yet when subjection to the Law was claim'd as due in any case, he would not yeild the least matter, this I take to be his meaning of ise HEarly The Good for where compliance was defired of him upon the Account of Expedience and not of Subjection to the Law, we do not find him stiff and inflexible as may be seen At. xxi. 13-26, which was after the Writing of this Epiftle.

ving that the Gospel * which was to be Preach'd to the Gentiles, was committed to me, as that which was to be Preach'd to the Jews; was committed to Peter. (For he that had wrought powerfully * in Peter to his Executing the Office of an Apostle to the Jews, liad also wrought powerfully in me in my application and Apostleship, to the Gentiles). And knowing * the favour that was bestowed on me, gave me and Barnabas the right Hand + of Fellowship, that we should Preach the Gospel to the Gentiles, and they to the Children of Israel. All that they proposed was, that we should remember to make Collecti-

And when fames, Ce- 9 phas, and John, who feemed to be pillars, perceived the grace that was given untn me, they gave to me and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship; that we should go unto the heathen, and they unto the circumcilion. NOTES.

* The truth of the Gospel. By it he means here the Dostrine of Freedom from the Law, and so he calls it again v. 14. and Ch. III. 1. IV. 19. v. 7.

4. 5 And that, To whom. There appears a manifest difficulty in these two Verses, which has been observed by most Interpreters and is by several ascribed to a redundancy which some place in R in the beginning of v. 4. and others to off in the beginning of v. 5. The relation between & N v. 3. and & De v. 5. methinks puts an eafy end to the doubt by the shewing St. Paul's fense to be that he neither circumcised Titus, Nor yielded in the least to the false Brethren, he having told the Galatians that upon his laying before the Men of most Authority in the Church at Jerusalem the Dostrine which he Preach'd, Titzs was not circumcifed, he as a farther Proof of his not Preaching circumcition, tellsthem, how he carried it towards the false Brethren whose defign it was to bring the convert Gentiles into Subjection to the Law. And or Moreover (for lo N often fignifies) fays he in regard to the falle Brethren &c. Which way of entrance on the matter would not admit of in after it to answer if v. 3. which was already writ, but without of the negation must have been expressed by sa, as any one will perceive who attentively reads the Greek Original. And thus off may be allowed for an Hebrew Pleonasme, and the reason of it to be the preventing the former is to stand alone to the disturbance of the Sense.

+ 6. He that considers the beginning of this v. and Si A Sonsymus with regard to the Aid N 700 Ydda Nagus in the beginning of the 4th v. will easily be induced by the Greek Idiom to conclude, that the Author by these beginnings, intimates a plain distinction of the matter separately treated of, in what follows each of them (viz.) what passed between the false Brethren and him, contained in v. 4 and 5. and what passed between the Chief of the Brethren and him contained v. 6-10. And therefore some (and I think with reason) introduce this v. with these Words, Thus we behaved our felves towards the false Brethren: But &c.

But when I faw they conformed not their conduct to the truth of the Gospel, I said unto Peter before them all: If thou being a Jew takest the liberty fometimes to live after the manner of the Gentiles, not keeping to those Rules which the Tems observe, why doest thou constrain the Gentiles to conform themselves to the Rites, and Manner of living of the Jews? * Every body fees that there is fomething to be supplyed to make up the Sense, most commentators that I have feen add thefe Words: I learned nothing. But then that enervates the reason that follows. For in conference they added rothing to me, giving the same thing as a reason for it felf, and making St. Paul talk thus, I learnt nothing of them: for they taught me nothing. But it is very good reasoning and suited to his purpose, that it was nothing at all to him, how much those great Men, were formerly in Christs favour; This hindred not but that God who was no respecter of Persons might reveal the Gospel to him also, as 'twas evident he had done and that in its full perfection. For those great Men the most eminent of the Apostles had nothing to add to it or except against it. This was proper to perswade the Galacians, that he no where in his Preaching receded from that Doctrine of Freedom from the Law, which he had Preach'd to them, and was fatisfied it was the rruth even before he had conferred with these Aposities. The bare supplying of be in the beginning of the Verse, takes away the necessity of any fuch Addition. Examples of the like Elleiples we have Mat. xxvii. c. where we read ລັກບໍ່ ບໍ່ຂັ້ນ for ວ່າ ຈັກບໍ່ ບໍ່ຂັ້ນ and Jihn xvi. 17. ວ່າ ຕົນ ແລງ ກໍ່ໃໝ່ for ວ່າ ວັນ ຕົນ ແຂງ ກາຕົ້ນ and so here taking ຮັກບໍ່ ກະພັນ ປະເທດ to he for ວ່າ ລັກບໍ່ ຕົນ ປະເທດ all the difficulty is removed, and St. Paul having in the foregoing Verse, ended the Narrative of his deportment towards the false Brethren, he here begins an Account of what passed between him and the Chief of the Apostles.

+ 30 Sonsyrus eleci nour Translation renders who feemed to be somewhat, Which however it may answer the Words, yet to an English Ear it carries a diminishing and ironical Sense, contrary to the meaning of the Apostle who speaks here of those for whom he had a real effects and were truly of the first Rank, for it is plain by what follows that he means Peter, James, and Folin. Befiles & Avents being taken in a good Sense v. 2d and Translated, those of Reputation the same Expression should have been kept to in rendring v. 6. and 3. where the same Term occurs again three times, and may be presumed in the same Sense that it was at first used in v. 2.

NOTES.

* Peter, James, and John; who'ris manifest by v. 9 are the Persons here spoken of, seem of all the Apostles to have been most in esteem and farour with their Master during his conversation with them on Earth. See Mar. v. 37. ix. 2. xiv. 35.? "But yet that, says St. Paul, is of no moment now to me. The Gospel, which I Preach, and which God, who is no result feester of Persons, has been pleased to commit to me by immediate Revelation, is not the less true, nor is there any reason for me to recede from it in a Title. For these Men of the first Rank could find nothing to add, after, or gainsay in it? This is suitable to St. Paul's design here, to let the Galatians see that as he in his carriage had never savour'd circumcision so neither had he any reason by Preaching circumcision to sorske the Dostrine of Liberty from the Law, which he had Preached to them as a part of that Gospel which he had received by Revelation.

† 'Everyhous, working in, may be understood here to signifie, both the operation of the Spirit upon the Mind of St. Peter, and St. Paul, in lending them the one to the fews, the other to the Gentiles; and also the Holy Ghost bestowed on them whereby they were enabled to do Miracles for the confirmation of their Dostrine. In neither of which, St. Paul, as he shews, was inferior, and so had as Authentique a Seal of his Mission and Doctrine.

† The giving the right Hand was a Symbol amongst the fews, as well as other Nations of Accord and admitting Men into fellowship.

11. * Iopposed him. From this opposition to St. Peter, which they suppose to be before the Councel at Ferusalem, some would have it that this Epistle to the Galatians was writ before that Councel, as if what was done before the Councel could not be mentioned in a Letter writ after the Councel. They also contend that this Journey mentioned here by St. Paul, was not that wherein he and Birnabas went up to that Councel to Ferusalem, but that mentioned Al. xi. 30. but this with as little ground as the former. The strongest Reason they bring is that, if this Journey had been to the Councel, and this Letter, after that Councel, St. Paul, would not certainly have omitted to have mentioned to the Galatians, that degree. To which I answer 1st The mention of it was superfluous for they had it already, see Ast. xvi. 4. 2d. The mentioning of it was impertinent to the design of St. Paul's Narrative here. For it is plain that his aim in what he relates here of himself, and his past Actions is to shew that having received the Gospel from Christ by immediate Revelation, he had all along Preached that and nothing but that every where, so that he could not be supposed to have Preached Circomcision, or by his Carriage to have shewn any Subjection to the Law. All the whole Narrative following being to make good what he lays, ch. I. 11. That the Golpel which he Preached was not accommodated to the humouring of Men; nor did he feek to pleafe the Fews, (who were the Men here meant) in what he raught. Taking this to be his aim we shall find the whole Account he gives of himself, for that 11 v. of Cb. I. to the end of this II. to be very clear and easie, and very proper to invalidate the report of his Preaching Circumcision.

14. † 'Ann Sense To Every series The truit of the Gospel is put here, for that freedom from the Law of Moses, which was a part of the true Doctrine of the Gospel. For it was in nothing else but their undue and timerous observing some of the Mosaical Rites, that St. Paul, here blames St. Peter, and the other Judaizing Converts at Antioch. In this Sense he uses the word Truth, all along through this Epistle, as Ch. 11. 5. 14. III. 1. V. 7. infissing on it that this Doctrine of freedom from the Law, was the true Gospel.

Sinners unalterably so in the Eye of the Law; which excludes all from justification. The Apostle in this place Arguesthus; "We Fews who are by birth Gods Holy People, and not as "the profligate Gentiles, abandor." I to all manner of pollution and uncleanness, not being nevertheless able to attain Righteousness by the deeds of the Law, have believed in Christ, that we might be justified by Faith in him. But if even we who have betaken our selves to "Christ for justification, are our selves found to be unjustified Sinners, liable still to Wrath as also under the Law, to which we subject our selves, are, what deliverance have we from Sin by Christ? None at all: We are as much concluded under Sin and Guilt as if we did not believe in him. So that by joyning him and the Law together for justification, we shut our selves out from justification, which cannot be had under the Law, and make Christ the Minister of Sin, and not of Justification, which God forbid.

18. + Whether this be a part of what Sc. Paul faid to St. Peter, or whether it be addressed to the Galatians, St. Paul, by speaking in his own name plainly declares, that if he fets up the Law again, he must necessarily be an Offender; whereby he strongly infinuates to the Galatians that he was no promoter of Circumcission, especially when what he says, 6b. V. 2-4 is added to it.

19. * By the tenor of the Law it felf. See Rom. III. 21 Gal. III 24, 25. IV. 21. Cc. + Being discharged from the Law, St. Paul expresses by Dead to the Law, compare Rom. VI.

* Live to God. What St. Psul fays here, seems to imply that living under the Law, was to live not acceptably to God, a strange Dostrine certainly to the fews, and yet it was true now under the Gospel. For God having put his Kingdom in this World wholy under his Son, when he raised him from the Dead, all who after that would be his People in his Kingdom, were to live by no other Law, but the Gospel, which was now the Law of his Kingdom. And hence we see God cast off the fews because sticking to their old Constitution they would not have this Man Reign over them: So that what St. Psul says here, is in effect this. "By believing in "Christ I am discharged from the Mosaical Law, that I may wholly conform my self to the Rule of the Gospel which is now the Law, which must be owned and observed by all those who as Gods People will live acceptably to him? This I think is visibly his meaning, though the accustoming himself to Antitheses may possibly be the reason why after having said, I am dead to the Law, he expresses his putting himself under the Gospel by, I viving to God.

BY the account St. Paul has given of himself in the foregoing SECT. the Galatians being furnish'd with evidence sufficient to clear him in their Minds from the report of his Preaching Circumcision, he comes now, the way being thus open'd, directly to oppose their being Circumcised, and subjecting themselves to the Law. The first Argument he uses is, that they received the Holy Ghost and the Gists of Miracles by the Gospel, and not by the Law.

This we may find him inculcating to his other Gentile Converts. See Eph. II. 15, 16. Col. II. 14. 20. And accordingly he tells the Galatians Ck. Brethren this is a known and allowed Rule in HumaneAffairs, that a promise, or compact though it be barely a Mans Covenant, yet if it be once ratisfied so it must stand, no Body can render it void or make any alteration in it. Now to Abraham and his Seed, were the promises made. Now says he, God is but one of the Parties concerned in the promise; the Gentiles and Israelites together made up the other, v. 14. But Moses at the giving of the Law was a Mediator only between the Israelites and God, And therefore could not transact any thing to the disanulling the promise which was between God and the Israelites and Gentiles together, Because God was but one of the Parties to that Covenant; The other which was the Gentiles as well as Israelites, Moses appeared or transacted not for. And so what was done at Mount Sinai by the Mediation of Moses could not affect a Covenant made between Parties; whereof one only was there. How necessary it was for St. Paul to add this, we shall see, if we consider that without it, his Argument of 430 years distance would have been deficient and hardly conclusive. For if both the Parties concerned in the promise had transacted by Moses the Mediator, (as they might in none but the Nation of the Israelines had been concerned in the promise made by God to Abraham) they might by mutual consent have altered or set aside the former promise, as well four hundred years as sour days after. That which hindred it was, that at Moses's Mediation at Mount Sinai God who was but one of the Parties to the Promise, was present. But the other party Abraham's Seed consisting of Israelines alone, The other Nations were not concern'd in the Covenant made at Mount Sinai, as they were in the promise made to Abraham and his Seed, which therefore could not be disanulled without their consent. For that both the promise to Abraham and his Seed, and the Covenant with Israel at Mount Sinai was National, is in it self Evident.

In the first part of this Section he farther shews, that the Law was not against the promise in that the Child is not disinherited by being under Tutors. But the chief design of this Section is to shew that though both Jews and Gentiles were intended to be the Children of God, and Heirs of the Promise by Faith in Christ, yet they both of them were lest in Bondage, the Jews to the Law, v. 3. and the Gentiles to salse Gods, v. 8. till Christ in due time came to redeem them both; and therefore it was folly in the Galatians, being redeem'd from one Bondage, to go backwards, and put themselves again in a state of Bondage, though under a new Master.

I begin to be afraid of you, and to be in doubt whether all the Pains I have taken about you, to set you at Liberty in the freedom of the Gospel will not prove lost Labour.

NOTES.

the Argument seems to lie in this, that as he that has the Spirit of a Man in him has an Evidence that he is the Son of a Man, so he that hath the Spirit of God has thereby an Assurance that he is the Son of God. Conformable hereunto the opinion of the Fews was, that the Spirit of God was given to none but themselves, they alone being the People or Children of God, for God calls the People of Israel his Son, Evod. IV. 22. 23. And hence we see that when to the Astonishment of the Jews the Spirit was given to the Geniles, the Jews no longer doubted that the Inheritance of Eternal Life was also conserved on the Geniles. Compare Ast. X. 44—48. with Ast XI. 15—18.

7. † St. Paul from the Galatians having received the Spirit (as appears Cb. III. 2.) argues that they are the Sons of God without the Law, and confequently Heirs of the Promife without the Law. For fays he v. 1—6. the Fews themselves were fain to be redeem'd from the Bondage of the Law by Jesus Christ, that as Sons they might attain to the Inheritance. But you Galatians, says he, have by the Spirit that is given you by the Ministry of the Gospel an Evidence that God is your Father, and being Sons are free from the Bondage of the Law, and Heirs without it. The same fort of reasoning St. Paul vies to the Romans VIII. 14—17.

Heirs without it. The same sort of reasoning St. Paul wies to the Romans VIII. 14—17.

9. * Known. It has been before observed how apr St. Paul is to repeat his Words though something varied in their signification. We have here an other instance of it, having said, ye have known God, he subjoyns or rather are known of kim in the Hebrew latitude of the word known, in which Language it sometimes signifies knowing with Choice and Approbation. See Amos III. 2. 1. Cor. VIII. 3.

+ The Law is here called weak, because it was not able to deliver a Man from Bondage and Death, into the glorious liberty of the Sons of God Rom. VIII. 1—3. And it is called beggarly because it kept Men in the poor Estate of Pupils from the full possession and enjoyment of the Inheritance, v. 1—3.

* The Apostle makes it matter of Astonishment how they who had been in Bondage to salse Gods having been once set free could endure the thoughts of parting with their Liberty, and of returning into any sort of Bondage again, even under the mean and beggarly Rudiments of the Mosaical institution, which was not able to make them Sons, and instale them in the Inheritance. For St. Paul v. 7. expressly opposes Bondage to Sonship, so that all who are not in the State of Sons are in the State of Bondage. Make again cannot here refer to solve Elements which the Galaxians had never been under hitherto, but to Bondage, which he tells them v. 8. they had been in to salse Gods.

Tou are since estranged from me, it is the Artistice of the Seducers that have cooled you to me. But if I am the good Man you took me to be, you will do well to continue the Warmth of your Assection to me, when I am absent, and not to be well assected towards me, only when I am present among you. Though this be his meaning, yet the way he has taken to express it is much more Elegant, Modest and Graceful. Let any one read the Original and see whether it be not so.

GALATIANS.

SECT. X.

C H A P. V. 2---13

C O N T E N T S.

T is evident from verse 11. that the better to prevail with the Galatians to be circumcised, it had been reported that St. Paul himself Preached up Circumcision. St. Paul without taking express notice of this Calumny, Ch. I. 6—II. 21. gives an account of his past Lise in a large train of Particulars which all concur to make such a Character of him, as renders it very incredible, that he should ever declare for the Circumcision of the Gentile converts, or for their submission to the Law. Having thus prepared the minds of the Galatians to give him a sair hearing, as a sair Man, concerns the goes on coargue against their subjecting themselves to the Law. And having Establish their subjecting themselves to the Law. And having Establish their freedom from the Law by many strong Arguments he comes here at last openly to take notice of the report had been raised of him, that he Preach'd Circumcision, and directly confutes it.

1. By positively denouncing to them himself very Solemnly that they who suffered themselves to be Circumcised, put themselves into a perfect legal State, out of the Covenant of Grace, and could receive no benefit by Jesus Christ verse 2—4.

2. By affuring them that he and those that followed him, expected

Justification only by Faith v. 5-6.

3. By telling them that he had put them in the right way, and that this new persuasion came not from him that converted them to Christianity, v. 7-8.

4. By infinuating to them that they should agree to pass Judgment on him that roubled them with this Doctrine v. 9—10.

5. By his being Persecuted for opposing the Circumcision of the Christians. For this was the great offence which stuck with the Jews, even after their Conversion v. 11.

6. By wishing these cut off that trouble them with this Doctrine v.12.

This will I doubt not, by who ever weighs it be found a very skilful management of the Argumentative part of this Epistle which ends here. For though he begins with sapping the Foundation on which the Jewdaizing Seducers seem'd to have laid their main stress (viz.) the report of his Preaching Circumcission, yet he reserves the direct and open consutation of it to the end, and so leaves it with them that it may have the more forcible and lasting impression on their Minds.

2 Behold, I Paul say unto you, that if ye be cir-cumcifed, Christ shall 3 profit you nothing. For I testifie again to every man that is circumcifed, that he is a debter to do 4 the whole law. Christ is become of no effect unto you, wholoever of you are justified by the law; ye are fallen from 5 grace. For we through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness g by faith. For in Jesus Christ, neither circum. cifion availeth thing, nor uncircumcifion, but faith which 7 worketh by love. Ye did run well, who did hinder you, that ye foodid not obey the $ truth? This perswasion cometh not of him that calleth you.

Ake notice that I Paul * who am falfely reported to Preach up Circumcifion in other places fay unto you, that if you are Circumcifed, Christ shall be of no advantage to you. For I repeat here again what I have always Preach'd, and folemnly testifie to every one who yields to be Circumcifed in compliance with those who say that now under the Gospel he cannot be faved without it that he is under an Obligation to the whole Law, and bound to observe and perform every title of it. Christ is of no use to you, who seek justification by the Law: Whosoever do so be ye what you will, ye are fallen from the Covenant of Grace. But I * and those who with me are true Christians, we who follow the truth of the Gotpel + and the Doctrine of the Spirit of God, have no other hope of justification but by Faith in Christ. For in the State of the Gospel under Jesus the Meffiah 'tis neither Circumcifion nor Uncircumcifion that is of any Moment; All that is available is Faith alone, working by Love. * When you first entered into the profession of the Gospel, you were in a good way, and went on well: who has put a stop to you, and hindered you that you keep no longer to the truth of the Christian Doctrine? 16, 17. † There can be nothing plainer than that the State St. Paul describes here in these two Verses, he paints out more at large Rom. VII. 17. &c. Speaking there in the Person of a Few. This is evident, that St. Paul supposes two principles in every Man, which draw him different ways, The one he calls Flesh, the other Spirit. These though there be other appellations given them, are the most common and usual Names given them in the New Testament, By Flesh is meant all those vitious, and irregular Appetites, Inclinations and Habitudes, whereby a Man is turn'd from his Obedience to that eternal Law of Right, the observance whereof God always requires and is pleased with. This is very properly called Flesh, This bodily State being the sourse from which all our deviations from the straight Rule of restitude, do for the most part take their rife, or else do ultimately terminate in: On the other fide, Spirit is the part of a Man. which is endowed with Light from God, to know and see what is Righteous, Just and Good, and which being confulred and hearken'd to, is always ready to direct and prompt us to that The Flesh then in the Gospel Language is that principle which inclines and which is good. carries Men to Ill; the Spirit that principle which Dictates what is Right and inclines to good. But because by prevailing Custom and contrary Habits this principle was very much weakened and almost extinct in the Geniles, See Eph. IV. 17-21. He exhorts them to be renewed in ske Spirit of their Minds, v. 23. and to put off the Old Man, i. e. Fleshly corrupt Habits, and to put on the New Man, which he tells them v. 24. is created in Righteousness and true Holiness. This is also called renewing of the Mind, Rom. XII. 2. 18. * This is plainly the Sense of the Apostle who teaches all along in the former part of this Epistle, and also that to the Romans, that thole that put themselves under the Gospel, are not under the Law: The question then that remains is only about the Phrase led by the Spirit. And as to that it is easie to observe how Natural it is for St. Paul having in the foregoing Verses more than once mentioned the Spirit, to continue the same word though somewhat varied in the Sense. In St. Paul's Phraseologie, as the Irregularities of Appetite, and the distates of right Reason are opposed under the Titles of Flesh and Spirit, as we have seen: So the Covenant of Works, and the Covenant of Grace, Law, and Gospel, are opposed under the Titles of Flesh and Spirit, 2 Cor. III. 6. 8. he calls the Gospel Spirit, and Rom. VII. 4. In the Flesh signifies in the legal State. But we need go no farrher than Ch. III. 3. of this very Epistle, to see the Law and the Gospel opposed by St. Paul under the Titles of Flesh and Spirit. The reason of thus using the word Spirit is very apparent in the Dostrine of the New Testament, which teaches, that those who receive Christ by Faith, with him receive his Spirit, and its affiftance against the Flesh, See Rom. VIII. 5-11. Accordingly for the attaining of Salvation St. Paul joyns together belief o' the Truth and Sanctification of the Spirit, 1 Theff. H. 13. And so Spirit here may be taken for the Spirit of their Minds, but renewed and firengthened by the Spirit of God, See Eph. III. 16. IV. 23.

+ The reason of this Affertion we may find, Rom. VIII. 14. viz. Because they who are led by the Spirit of God, are the Sons of God, and so Heirs and Free without the Law, as he argues here.

But yet the marks I now bear in my Body, are the marks of Jesus Christ, that I am his. The marks of the Stripes which I have received from the Jews, and which I still bear in my Body for Preaching Jesus Christ, are an Evidence that I am not for Circumcision. Brethren,

From henceforth let no man trouble me; for I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus. Brethren, the 18 grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit, Amen. ¶ Unto the Galuians, written from Rome.

16.* St. Paul having in the foregoing verse afferted that it is the New Creation alone that puts Men into the Kingdom of Christ, and into the Possession of the Privileges thereof, this verse may be understood also as Affertory rather than as a Prayer, unless there were a Verb that expressed it; Especially considering that he writes this Epistle to incourage them to resule Circumcision. To which end the affuring them, that those who do so shall have Peace and Mercy from God, is of more force than to tell them that he prays that they may have Peace and Mercy. And for the same reason I understand the Israel of God, to be the same with those who Walk by this Rule, though joyn'd with them, by the Copulative Kali, And, no very unusual way of speaking.

THE First EPISTLE of St. PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

SYNOPSIS.

Aint Paul's first coming to Corinth was Anno Christi 52, where he first applied himself to the Synagogue, Atts 18.4. But finding them obstinate in their Opposition to the Gospel, he turn'd to the Gentiles, ver. 6. out of whom this Church at Corinth seems chiefly to be gathered, as appears, Atts 18. & 1 Cor. 12.2.

His stay here was about two Years, as appears from Acts 18.11, 18. compared: In which time it may be concluded he made many Converts, for he was not idle there, nor did he use to stay long in a place where he was not incouraged by the Success of his Ministry. Besides what his so long Abode in this one City, and his Indefategable Labour every where might induce one to presume of the number of Converts he made in that City; the Scripture it self, Acts 18.10. gives sufficient Evidence of a numerous Church gathered there.

Corinth it felf was a rich Merchant-Town, the Inhabitants Greeks, a People of quick Parts, and inquisitive, 1 Cor. 1.22. but naturally vain and conceited of themselves.

These things considered may help us in some measure the better to understand St. Paul's Epistles to this Church, which seems to be in greater Disorder, than any other of the Churches which he writ to.

This Epistle was writ to the Corinthians, Anno Christi 57, between two and three Years after St. Paul had left them. In this Interval there was got in amongst them a new Instructor, a Jew by Nation, who had raised a Faction against St. Paul. With this Party, whereof he was the Leader, this salse Apostle had gain'd great Authority, so that they admired, and gloried in him, with an apparent Disesteem and diminishing of St. Paul.

Why I suppose the Opposition to be made to St. Paul in this Church by one Party under one Leader, I shall give the Reasons that make it probable to me, as they come in my way, going through these two Epistles, which I shall leave to the Reader to judge, without positively determining on either side: And therefore shall, as it happens, speak of these Opposers of St. Paul sometimes in the fingular, and fometimes in the plural Number.

This at least is evident, that the main Defign of St. P.ul in this Epistle, is to support his own Authority, Dignity, and Credit, with that part of the Church, which stuck to him; to vindicate himself from the Aspersions and Calumnies of the opposite Party; to lessen the Credit of the chief and leading Men in it, by intimating their Miscarriages, and shewing their no Cause of glorying, or being gloried in; that so withdrawing their Party from the Admiration and Esteem of those their Leaders, he might break the Faction; and putting an end to the Division, might re-unite them with the uncorrupted part of the Church, that they might all unanimously submit to the Authority of his Divine Mission, and with one Accord receive and keep the Doctrine and Directions he had delivered to them.

This is the whole Subject from Ch. 1. 10. to the end of Ch. 6. In the remaining part of this Epistle he answers some Questions they had proposed to him; and resolves some Doubts not without a mixture, on all Occasions, of Reslections on his Opposers, and of other things that might tend to the breaking of their Faction.

TEXT.

INTRODUCTION.

PAUL called to be an apostle of Jesus Christ, through the will of God, and Softhenes our brother. 2 Unto the church of God which is at Corinth, to them that are sanstified in Christ Jesus, called to be Saints, with all that in every place call upon the name of Jefus Christ our Lord, both theirs and ours. 3 Grace be unto you, and Peace from God our Father, and from the Lord 4 Jesus Christ. I thank my God always on your behalf, for the grace of God, which is given you by Je-5 fus Christ; That in every thing ye are enriched by him in all utterance, PAUL an Apostle of Jesus Christ, called to be so by the Will of God (1) and Sosthenes (b) our Brother in the Christian Faith, to the Church of God which is at Corinth, to them that are separated from the rest of the World by Faith in Christ Jesus, (c) called to be Saints, with all that are every where called by the name of Jesus Christ (d) their Lord (e) and ours; Favour and Peace be unto you from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

I thank God always on your behalf, for the Favour of God which is bestowed on you through Jesus Christ; so that by him you are inriched with all Knowledge and Utterance,

NOTES.

1 (a) St. Paul in most of his Epistles mentions his being called to be an Apostle by the Will of God, which way of speaking being peculiar to him, we may suppose him therein to intimate his extraordinary and miraculous Call, Alls 9, and his receiving the Gospel by immediate Revelation, Gal. 1. 11, 12. For he doubted not of the Will and Providence of God governing all things.

Sandified in Christ Fesus, does not lignify here, whose Lives are pure and holy, for there were many amongst those he writ to, who were quite otherwise; but sandissed fignishes separate from the common State of Mankind, to be the People of God, and to serve him. The Heathen World had revolted from the true God, to the Service of Idols and salse Gods, Rom. 1. 18—25. The Jews being separated from this corrupted Mass, to be the peculiar People of God, were called E'oly, Exod. 19.5, 6. Numb. 15. 40. They being cast off, the Professors of Christianity were separated to be the People of God, and so became holy, 1 Pet. 11.9, 10.

CHAP. I. 10.----VI. 20.

C O N T E N T S.

Here were great Diforders in the Church of Corinth, caused chiefly by a Faction raised there against St. Paul: The Partisans of the Faction mightily cried up and gloried in their Leaders, who did all they could to disparage St. Paul, and lessen him in the Esteem of the Corinthians. St. Paul makes it his business in this Section to take off the Corinthians from siding with and glorying in this pretended Apostle, whose Followers and Scholars they professed themselves to be, and to reduce them into one Body, as the Scholars of Christ united in a belief of the Gospel, which he had preached to them, and in an obedience to it, without any such distinction of Masters or Leaders, from whom they denominated themselves. He also here and there intermixes a Justification of himself against the Aspersions which were cast upon him by his Opposers. How much St. Paul was set against their Leaders, may be seen, 2 Cor. 11.13---15.

Shirt Paul's first Argument is, That in Christianity, they all had but one Master, viz. Christ; and therefore were not to fall into Parties denominated from distinct Teachers, as they did in their Schools of Philosophy.

10 Now I befeech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jefus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind, and in the same in judgment. For it hath been declared unto me of you, my brethren, by them which are of the house of Chloe, that there are contentions among you.

Name (g) of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye hold the same Doctrine, and that there be no Divisions amongst you; but that ye be framed together into one entire Body, with one Mind, and one Assertion. For I understand my Brethren, (h) by some of the House of Chloe, that there are Quarrels and Dissentions amongst you:

NOTES.

10 (g) Of whom the whole Family in Heaven and Earth, is and ought to be named. If any one has thought St. Paul a loofe Writer, it is only because he was a loofe Reader. He that takes notice of St. Paul's Defign, shall find that there is not a Word scarce, or Expression that he makes use of, but with relation and tendency to his present main purpose; As here intending to abolish the Names of Leaders they distinguished themselves by, he beseches them by the Name of Christ, a Form that I do not remember he essentially where uses.

11 (h) Brethren, a Name of Union and Friendship used here twice together by St. Real in the entrance of his Perfuafion to them, to put an end to their Divisions.

HE next Argument of St. Paul to stop their Followers from glorying in these false Apostles, is, that neither any Advantage of Extraction nor Skill in the Learning of the Jews, nor in the Philosophy and Eloquence of the Greeks was that for which God chose Men to be Preachers of the Gospel. Those whom he made choice of for overturning the Mighty and the Learned, were mean plain illiterate Men.

PARAPHRASE.

17 For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel: not with wildom of words, left the cross of Christ should be made of 18 none effect. For the preaching of the crois is to them that perish, foolishneis: but unto us which are faved, it is the power 19 of God. For it is written, I will destroy the wildom of the wife, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the 20 prudent. Where is the wife? where is the fcribe? where is the difputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wildom of this world? 21 For after that, in the wifdom of God, the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to fave them that believe.

For Christ sent me not to baptise, but to preach the Gospel; not with learned and eloquent Harangues, left thereby the Virtue and Efficacy of Christ's Sufferings and Death should be overlooked and neglected, if the stress of our Perfwasion should be laid on the Learning and Quaintness of our Preaching. For the plain infifting on the Death of a crucified Saviour is by those, who perish, received as a foolish contemptible thing; though to us, who are faved, it be the Power of God, conformable to what is prophesied by Isiah: I will destroy the Wisdom of the Wife, and I will bring to nothing the Understanding of the Prudent. Where is the Philosopher skill'd in the Wisdom of the Greeks? Where the Scribe (k) studied in the Learning of the Jews? Where the Professor of humane Arts and Sciences? Hath not God render'd all the Learning and Wifdom of this World foolish and useless for the Discovery of the Truths of the Gospel? For fince the World by their natural Parts and Improvements in what with them pailed for Wildom, acknowledg'd not the one only true God, though he had manifested himself to them in the wife Contrivance and admirable Frame of the visible Works of the Creation, it pleased God by the plain, and (as the World esteems it) foolish Doctrine of the Gospel, to save

NOTES.

20 (1) Scribe was the Title of a learned Man amongst the Jews; one versed in their Law and Rites, which was the Study of their Doctors and Rabbies. It is likely the salse Apostle so much concerned in these two Epistics to the Corinthians, who was a Jew, pretended to something of this kind, and magnified himself thereupon, otherwise it is not probable that Saint Paul should name to the Corinthians, a fort of Men not much known or valued amongst the Greeks. This therefore may be supposed to be said to take off their glorying in their salse Apostle.

is to these, both Jews and Greeks (when they are converted) Christ the Power of God, and

25. Christ the Wisdom of God: Because that which feems Foolishness in those who came from God, furpasses the Wisdom of Man; and that which feems Weakness in those fent by God, surpasses the Power of Men. For reflect upon your felves, Brethren, and you may observe, that there are not many of the wife and learned Men, not many Men of Power or of Birth 22 (1) Emiss nail, fince both. These Words used here by St. Paul are not certainly idle and infiguration, and therefore I see not how they can be omitted in the Translation.

Emil' is a word of Reasoning, and if minded, will lead us into one of St. Paul's Reasonings here, which the neglect of this word makes the Reader overlook. St. Paul in ver. 21. argues thus in general. "Since the World by their natural Parts and Improvements did not attain to a right and saving Knowledge of God, God by the preaching of the Gospel, which seems Foolishness to them, was pleased to communicate that Knowledge to those who believed. In the three following Verses he repeats the same Reasoning a little more expressly applied to the People he had here in his view, viz. Fews and Greeks: and his Sense seems to be this;

"Since the Jews, to make any Doctrine go down with them, require extraordinary Signs of the Power of God to accompany it, and nothing will please the nice Palates of the learned Greeks but Wisdom, and though our preaching of a crucified Messas be a Scandal to the Fews,

"and Foolishuels to the Greeks, yet we have what they both feek; for both few and Gentile,

" when they are called, find the Meffiah whom we preach to be the Power of God, and the "Hildom of God.

25, 27, 28. He that will read the Context, cannot doubt but that St. Paul, by what he expresses in the Neuter Gender, means Persons, the whole Argument of the Place being about Persons, and their glorying, and not about things.

28 (m) Τὰ μή δη π, Things that are not, I think may well be understood of the Geniles, who were not the People of God, and were counted as nothing by the fews; and we are pointed to this meaning by the words καταιούνου καταργήου. By the foolish and weak things, i. e. by simple, illiterate and mean Men, Go's would make asham'd the learned Philosophers and great Men of the Nations: But by the μη δύντα, the things that are not, he would abolish the things that are, as in effect he did abolish the fewish Church by the Christian, taking in the Geniles to be his People, in the place of the rejected Jews, who till then were his People. This St. Paul mentions here not by chance, but pursuant to his main defign to fixy their glorying in their false Apostle, who was a Jew; by shewing that whatever that head of the Faction might claim under that Pretence, as it is plain he did stand upon it (See 2 Cor. 11. 21, 22.) He had not any the least Title to any Esteem or Respect upon that account, since the Jewish Nation was laid aside, and God had chosen the Gentiles to take their place, and to be his Church and People instead of them: Vid. Note on Chap. 2. v. 6. there one may see, who are the καταργήμενοι, the abolished, whom God says here, καταργήνη, he will abolish.

1 (n) Το μαρτύριον τε Θεκ, The Testimony of God, i. e. what God hath revealed and testifies in the Old Testament: The Apostle here declares to the Corinthians, that when he brought the Gospel to them, he made no use of any humane Science, Improvement or Skill, no Insinu. ations of Eloquence, no philosophical Speculations, or Ornaments of humane Learning appear'd in any thing he laid to persuade them: All his Arguments were, as he tells them, ver. 4. from the Revelation of the Spirit of God in the Predictions of the Old Testament, and the Miracles which he Paul did among them, that their Faith might he built wholly upon the Spirit of God, and not upon the Abilities and Wisdom of Man: The Magricov TE Ois, The Testimory of God, agrees very well with so much of St. Paul's meaning as relates to his founding his Preaching on the Testimony of God, yet those Copies which read unsapion, Mystery, for xapive.ov, Testimony, seem more perfectly to correspond with St. Paul's Sense in the whole latitude of it. For tho he owns the Dodrine of the Gospel distated by the Spirit of God, to be contained in the Scriptures of the Old Testament, and builds upon Revelation: yet he every where teaches, that it remained a Secret there, not understood till they were lead into the hidden Evangelical meaning of thole Passages by the coming of Jesus Christ; and by the Assistance of the Spirit in the times of the Meffish, and then published to the World by the Preachers of the Gospel: And therefore he calls it, especially that part of it which relates to the Geniles, almost every where, pushpion, Mystery. See particularly, Rom. 16. 25, 26.

or show no other Knowledge among you, but the Knowledge (0) or Doctrine of Jesus Christ, and of him crucified. All my Carriage among you had nothing in it, but the appearance of Weakness and Humility, and sear of offending you (p): Neither did I in my Discourses, or Preaching, make use of any humane Art of Perswasion to inveagle you. But the Doctrine of the Gospel which I proposed, I confirmed, and inforced by what the Spirit (q) had revealed and demonstrated of it in the Old Testament, and by the Power of God accompanying it with miraculous Operations, that your Faith might have its Foundation not in the Wisdom and Endowments of Men, but in the Power of God (r).

NOTES.

2 (0) St. Paul who was himself a learned Man, especially in the Jewish Knowledge, having in the foregoing Chapter told them, that neither the Fewish Learning, nor Grecim Sciences, give a Man any Advantage, as a Minister of the Gospel; he here reminds them, that he made no shew or use of either when he planted the Gospel amongst them; intimating thereby, that those were not things for which their Teachers were to be valued or followed.

3 (p) St. Paul by thus setting forth his own modest and humble Behaviour amongst them, reflects on the contrary Carriage of their false Apostle, which he describes in words at length,

2 Cor. 11. 20.

4 (q) There were two forts of Arguments wherewith the Apostle confirmed the Gospel; The one was the Revelations made concerning our Saviour by Types and Figures, and Prophefies of him under the Law: The other Miracles and miraculous Gifts accompanying the first Preachers of the Gospel in the publishing and propagating of it. The latter of these St. Paul here calls Power, the former in this Chapter he terms Spirit; so ver. 12, 14. Tkings of the Spirit of God, and spiritual things, are things which are revealed by the Spirit of God, and not discoverable by our natural Faculties.

5 (r) Their Faith being built wholly on Divine Revelation and Miracles, whereby all humane Abilities were flut out, there could be no reason for any of them to boast themselves of their Teachers, or value themselves upon their being the Followers of this or that Preachers.

which St. Paul hereby obviates.

And thus perfed is opposed to carnal, Ch. 3. 1, 3. i. e. such Babes in Christianity, such weak and mistaken Christians, that they thought the Gospel was to be managed as humane Arts and Sciences amongst Men of the World, and those were better instructed, and were more in the right, who followed this Master or Teacher rather than another, and so glorying in being the Scholars, one of Paul, and another of Apollos, fell into Divisions and Parties about it, and vaunted one over another: Whereas in the School of Christ all was to be built on the Authority of God alone, and the Revelation of his Spirit in the Sacred Scriptures.

6 (u) Tho by 'Aggerrs τε αιών Φ τετε, may here be understood the Trices or Great Mon of this World, in the ordinary Sense of these Words, yet he that well considers ver. 28. of the foregoing Chapter, and ver. 8. of this Chapter, may find reason to think, that the Apostle here principally deligns the Rulers and Great Men of the Fewift Nation. If it be objected, that there is little Ground to think that St. Paul by the Wildom he diffouns, should mean that of his own Nation, which the Greeks of Corinib (whom he was writing to) had little Acquaintance with; and had very little Efteem for; I reply, that to understand this right, and the Pertinency of it, we must remember, that the great Delign of St. Paul in writing to the Corinthians, was to take them off from the Respect and Esteem that many of them had for a falle Apostle that was got in among them, and had there raised a Faction against St. Paul. This pretended Apostle, 'tis plain from 2 Cor. 11. 22. was a few, and as it seems, 2 Cor. 5. 16, 17. valued himself upon that account, and possibly boasted himself to be a Man of Note, either by Birth or Alliance, or Place, or Learning, among that People, who counted themselves the holy and illuminated People of God, and therefore to have a right to fivay among thefe new Heathen Converts. To obviate this Claim of his to any Authority, St. Paul here tells the Corinthians, that the Wildom and Learning of the Fewish Nation lead them not into the Knowledge of the Wildom of God, i. e. the Gospel revealed in the Old Testament, evident in this, that it was their Rulers and Rabbies, who stiffy adhering to the Notions and Prejudices of their Nation, had crucified Jesus the Lord of Glory, and were now themselves, with their State and Religion, upon the point to be swept away and abolished. 'Tis to the same purpose that 2 Cor. 4. 16 - 19. he tells the Corinthians, that he knows no Man after the Flish, i.e. that he acknowledges no Dignity of Birth, or Descent, or outward national Privileges. The old things of the Fewish Constitution are past and gone; whoever is in Ckrist, and entred into his Kingdom, is in a new Cteation, wherein all things are new, all things are from God: no Right, no Claim or Preference derived to any one from any former Institution, but every ones Dignity confifts folely in this, that God had reconciled him to himfelf, not imputing his former Trespasses to him. .

6 (w) Aldr & O, which we translate this World, seems to me to signific commonly, if not constantly, in the New Testament, that State which during the Mosaical Constitution, Men, either Fews or Gentiles, were in, as contra-distinguished to the Evangelical State or Constitution of the Evangelical State of Constitution of

of this World, and of the Princes of this World, he to be understood of the Wisson and Learning of the World in general, as contra-distinguished to the Doctrine of the Gospel, then the Words are added to she what Folly it is for them to glory as they do in their Teachers, when all that worldly Wisson and Learning, and the Great Men, the Supporters of it, would quickly be gone, whereas all true and lasting Glory came only from felus Christ, the Lord of Glory. But if these Words are to be understood of the Jews, as seems most consonant both to the main Design of the Epistle, and to St. Paul's Expressions here; Then his telling them that the Primes of the Jewish Nation are brought to nought, is to take them off from glorying in their Judaizing salle Apostle, lince the Authority of the Rulers of that Nation, in Matters of Religion, was now at an end, and they with all their Pretences, and their very Constitution it self, were upon the point of being abolished and swept away, for having rejected and crucified the Lord of Glory.

NOTES.

7 (3) Wisdom of God is used here for the Dostrine of the Gospel coming immediately from God by the Revelation of his Spirit, and in this Chapter is set in opposition to all Knowledge, Discoveries and Improvements whatseever attainable by humane Industry, Parts, and Study, all which he calls the Wisdom of the World, and Man's Wisdom. Thus distinguishing the Knowledge of the Gospel which was derived wholly from Revelation, and could be had no other way, from all other Knowledge whatfoever.

7 (a) What the Spirit of God had revealed of the Gospel during the times of the Law, was so little understood by the Fews, in whose Sacred Writings it was contained, that it might well be called the Wisdom of God in a Mystery, i.e. declared in obscure Prophesies and mysterious Expressions and Types. Though this be undoubtedly so, as appears by what the Fews both thought and did when Fesus the Messiah, exactly answering what was foretold of him, came amongst them, yet by the Wisdom of God in Mystery wherein it was bid, though purposed by God before the setting of the Fewish Oeconomy, St. Paul teems more particularly to mean, what the Gentiles, and consequently the Corintains, were more peculiarly concerned in, (viz.) God's purpose of calling the Gentiles to be his People under the Messiah, which the revealed in the Old Testament, yet was not in the least understood till the times of the Gospel, and the preaching of St. Paul the Apostle of the Gentiles, which therefore he so frequently calls a Mystery. The reading and comparing Rom. 16, 25, 26. Eph. 3. 3.—9. ch. 6. 19, 20. Col. 1. 26, 27. & 2. 1—3. & 4. 3, 4. will give light to this. To which give me leave to observe upon the use of the word Wisdom here, that St. Paul speaking of God's calling the Gentiles, cannot in mentioning it forbear Expressions of his Admiration of the great and incomprehensible Wisdom of God therein. See Eph. 3. 8, 10. Rom. 11. 33.

7 (b) Πορ τῶν ἀιῶνων, fignifies properly before the Agis, and I think it may be doubted whether these words, before the World, does exactly render the Sense of the place, that ἀιῶν or ἀιῶνες, should not be translated the World, as in many places they are, I shall give one convincing Instance among many that might be brought, viz. Eph. 3.9. compared with Col. 1. 26. The words in Colessians are το μυσέριον το ἀποκικουμμένον ἀπο ἀιῶνων, thus render'd in the English Translation, which bath been kidden from Ages, but in Eph. 3.9. a Parallel place, the same words, τῶ μυσκοίε τῶ ἀπο κεκρυμμένω ἀπο των ἀιῶνων, are translated, The Mystery which from the beginning of the World hath been kid. Whereas it is plain from Col. 1. 26. ἀπο τῶν ἀιῶνων, does not signify the Epoch or Commencement of the Concealment, but those from whom it was concealed. 'Tis plain, the Apostle in the Verse immediately preceding, and that following this which we have before us, speaks of the Jews; and therefore πεὸ τῶν αιῶνων, from the Ages of the Jews, in the other two mentioned Texts. Why αιῶνες in these and other places, as Iule 1.70. & Ass 3.21. and elsewhere, should be appropriated to the Ages of the Jews, may be owing to their counting by Ages or Jubilies; Vid. NOTES.

7 (c) St. Paul opposes here the true Glory of a Christian to the glorying which was among it the Corinthians, in the Eloquence, Learning, or any other Quality of their factious Leaders; for St. Paul in all his Expressions has an eye on his main purpose; as if he should have said; "Why do you make Divisions by glorying 2s you do, in your distinct Teachers; the Glory that God has ordained us Christian Teachers and Professions to, is to be Expounders, Preachers, and Believers of those revealed Truths and Purposes of God, which though contained in the Sacred Scriptures of the Old Testament, were not understood in former Ages. This is all the Glory that belongs to us the Disciples of Christ, who is the Lord of all Power and Glory, and herein has given us what far excels all that either Fews or Gentiles had any Expectation of from what they gloried in: Vid. ver. 9. NOTES.

16 (b) 'Asliv, kim, refers here to fpiritual Man in the former Verse, and not to Lord in this. For St. Paul is shewing here, not that a natural Man and a meer Philosopher cannot instruct Christ, this no body pretending to be a Christian could own; but that a Man by his bare natural Parts, not knowing the Mind of the Lord, could not instruct, could not judge, could not correct a Preacher of the Gospel who built upon Revelation, as he did, and therefore 'twas sure he had the Mind of Christ.

An.Ch.57 glorying on this account St. Paul tells them, that they were carnal, Neroris 3 and not capable of those more advanced Truths, or any thing beyoud the first Principles of Christianity which he had taught them; and tho another had come and watered what he had planted, yet neither Planter, nor Waterer, could affume to himself any Glory from thence, because it was God alone that gave the Increase. But whatever new Doctrines they might pretend to receive from their magnified new Apostle, yet no Man could lay any other Foundation in a Christian Church, but what he St. Paul had laid, viz. that Jesus is the Christ; and therefore there was no reason to glory in their Teachers; because upon this Foundation they possibly might build false or unfound Doctrines, for which they should receive no Thanks from God, tho continuing in the Faith, they might be faved. Some of the particular Hay and Stubble which this Leader brought into the Church at Corinth, he feems particularly to point at, Ch. 3. 16, 17. viz. their defiling the Church by retaining, and as it may be supposed, patronizing the Fornicator, who should have been turned out, ch. J. 72---13. He further adds. that these extolled Heads of their Party were at best but Men-: and none of the Church ought to glory in Men: For even Paul, and Apollos, and Peter, and all the other Preachers of the Gospel. were for the Ule and Benefit, and Glory of the Church, as the Church was for the Glory of Christ.

Moreover he shews them, that they ought not to be puffed up upon the account of these their new Teachers, to the undervaluing of him, tho it should be true, that they had learned more from them, than from himfelf, for these Reasons.

I. Because all the Preachers of the Gospel are but Stewards of the Mysteries of God; and whether they have been faithful in their Stewardship cannot be now known; and therefore they ought not to be some of them magnissed and extolled, and others depressed and blamed by their Hearers here, till Christ their Lord came, and then he, knowing how they have behaved themselves in their Ministry, will give them their due Praises. Besides, these Stewards have nothing but what they have received, and therefore no Glory belongs to them for it.

2. Because if these Leaders were (as was pretended) Apostles, Glory, and Honour, and outward Assure here, was not their Portion, the Apostles being destined to Want, Contempt, and Per-

For then all humane Mixtures of any thing derived either from Paul or Apollos, or any other Man, had been wholly excluded. But they in these Divisions professed to hold their Religion, one from one Man, and another from another; and were thereupon divided into Parties. 4 (4) From this 4th Verse compared with ch. 4.6. it may be no improbable Conjecture that the Division in this Church was only into two opposite Parties, whereof the one adhered to St. Paul, the other flood up for their Head, a falle Apostle, who opposed St. Paul. For the Apollos whom St. Paul mentions here was one (as he tells us, ver. 6.) who came in and water'd what he had planted, i. e. when St. Paul had planted a Church at Corinth, this Apollos got into it, and pretended to inftruct them farther, and boafted in his Performances amongst them, which St. P.ul takes notice of again, 2 Cor. 10. 15, 16. Now the Apollos that he here speak, of, he himself tells us, ch. 4.6. was another Man under that borrowed Name. 'Tis true St. Paul in his Epiffles to the Corinthians, generally speaks of these his Opposers in the plural Number; but it is to be remembred, that he speaks to of himself too, which as it was the less invidious way in regard of himfelf, so it was the ioster way towards his Opposer, tho be seems to intimate plainly, that it was one Leader that was set up against him.

I am of Apollos, are ye not carnal?

Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but minifters by whom ye believed, even as the Lord gave to every man?

6 I have planted, Apollos watered; but God gave the increase.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth any thing, neither he that watereth: but God that giveth the increase.

8 Now he that planteth, and he that watereth, are one: and every man shall receive his own reward, not as spiritual Men acknowledge all that Information, and all those Gifts wherewith the Ministers of Jesus Christ are furnished for the Propagation of the Gospel, to come wholly from the Spirit of God? What then are any of the Preachers of the Gospel, that you should glory in them, and divide into Parties under their Names? Who, for Example, is Paul, or who Apollos? What are they elfe but bare Minifters, by whose Ministry according to those several Abilities and Gifts which God has beflowed upon each of them, ye have received the Gospel? They are only Servants imploy'd to bring unto you a Religion derived intirely from Divine Revelation, wherein humane Abilities, or Wisdom had nothing to do. The Preachers of it are only Instruments by whom this Do-Etrine is conveyed to you, which whither you look on it in its Original, it is not a thing of humane Invention or Discovery; or whither you look upon the Gifts of the Teachers who instruct you in it, all is entirely from God alone, and affords you not the least Ground to attribute any thing to your Teachers. Example, I planted it amongst you, and Apollos watered it, but nothing can from thence be ascribed to either of us; there is no reason for your calling your felves fome of Paul, and others of Apollos. For neither the Planter nor the Waterer have any Power to make it take Root and grow in your Hearts: they are as nothing in that respect, the Growth and Success is owing to God alone. The Planter and the Waterer on this account are all one, neither of them to be magnified or preferred before the other; they are but Instruments concurring to the fame end, and therefore ought not to be 17 (u) It is not incongruous to think, that by any Man here St. Paul deligns one particular Man, viz. the false Apostle, who its probable by the strength of his Party supporting and retaining the Fornicator mentioned ch. 5. in the Church, had defiled it, which may be the reason why St. Paul so often mentions bornication in this Epistle, and that in some Places with particular Emphasis, as ch. 5. 9. & 6. 13—20. most of the Disorders in this Church we may look on as owing to this false Apostle, which is the Reason why St. Paul sets himself so much against him in both these Epistles, and makes almost the whole business of them to draw the Corinthians off from this Leader, judging, as 'tis like, that this Church could not be reformed as long as that Person was in Credit, and had a Party among them.

18 (w) What it was wherein the Craftiness of the Person mentioned had appear'd, it was not necessary for St. Paul, writing to the Corinthians, who knew the matter of Fast, to particularize to us, therefore it is left to guess, and possibly we shall not be much out, if we take it to be the keeping the Fornicator from Censure, so much insisted on by St. Paul, ch. 5.

Minister of Christ imploy'd as his Steward to dispense the Truths and Doctrines of the Gofpel, which are the Mysteries which God wrapped up in Types and obscure Predictions, where they have lain hid till by us his Apostles he now reveals them. Now that which is principally required and regarded in a Steward, is, that he be faithful in dispensing what is committed to his Charge. But as for me, I value it not, if I am cenfured by some of you, or by any Man, as not being a faithful Steward: Nay, as to this, I pais no Judgment on my felf. For tho I can truly fay that I know nothing by my felf, yet am I not hereby justified to you: But the Lord whole Steward I am, at the last day will pronounce Sentence on my Behaviour in my Stewardship, and then you will know what to think of me. Then judge not either me or others before the time, until the Lord come, who will bring to light the dark and fecret Counfels of Mens Hearts, in preaching the Gospel; and then shall every one have that Praise, that Estimate set upon him by God himfelf, which he truly deferves. But Praise ought not to be given them before the time by their Hearers, who are ignorant, fallible Men. On this Occasion I have named Apollos and my felf (y), as the magnified and opposed Heads of distinct Factions amongst you; not that we are so, but out of respect to you, that I might offend no body by naming them; and that you may learn by us, of whom I have written (z), that we are but Planters,

C H A P. IV. 21.----VI. 20.

CONTENTS.

Nother means which St. Paul makes use of to bring off the Corinthians from their salse Apostle, and to stop their Veneration of him, and their glorying in him, is by representing to them the Fault and Disorder which was committed in that Church, by not judging and expelling the Fornicator, which Neglect, as may be guess'd, was owing to that Faction.

1. Because it is natural for a Faction to support and protect an Offender that is of their fide.

2. From the great Fear St. Paul was in, whither they would obey him in centuring the Offender, as appears by the Second Epittle, which he could not fear but from the opposite Faction. They who had preferv'd their Respect to him, being sure to follow his Orders.

3. From what he fays, ch. 4. 16. After he had told them, ver. 6. of that Chapter, that they should not be pussed up for any other against him, for so the whole Scope of his Discourse here imports, he beseeches them to be his Followers, i. e. leaving their other Guides

Guides to follow him in punishing the Offender. For that we may an Ch.57. conclude from his immediately infifting on it to earneftly, he had in his view, when he befeeches them to be Followers of him; and confequently that they might joyn with him, and take him for their Leader, ch. 5. 3, 4. he makes himself by his Spirit, as his Proxie, the President of their Assembly, to be convened for the punishing that Criminal.

4. It may further be suspected, from what St. P. sul says, cb. 6.1. that the opposite Party, to stop the Church-Censure, presended that this was a matter to be judg'd by the Civil Magistrate: nay, possibly from what is faid, v. 6. of that Chapter, it may be gathered, that they had got it brought before the Heathen Judge; or at least from v. 12. that they pleaded, that what he had done was lawful, and might be justified before the Magistrate. For the Judging spoken of, ch. 6. must be understood to relate to the same matter it does, ch. 5. it being a Continuation of the same Discourse and Argument: As is easy to be observed by any one who will read it without regarding the Divisions into Chapters and Verles, whereby ordinary People (not to fay others) are often diffurbed in reading the Holy Scripture, and hindered from observing the true Sense and Coherence of it. The whole 6th Chapter is spent in profecuting the business of the Fornicator began in the 5th. That this is fo, is evident from the latter end, as well as beginning of the 6th Chapter. And therefore what St. Paul fays of limful, ch. 6. 12. may without any Violence be supposed to be said, in anfwer to some, who might have alledg'd in favour of the Fornicator, that what he had done was lawful, and might be justified by the Laws of the Country, which he was under, why elfe should St. Paul subjoyn to many Arguments (wherewith he concludes this 6th Chapter, and this Subject) to prove the Fornication in question to be by the Law of the Gospel a great Sin, and consequently fit for a Christian Church to censure in one of its Members, however it might pass for lawful in the Esteem, and by the Laws of Gentiles?

There is one Objection which at first fight seems to be a strong Argument against this Supposition, that the Fornication here spoken of was held lawful by the Gentiles of Corinth, and that possibly this very Case had been brought before the Magistrate there, and not condemned. The Objection feems to lie in these Words; ch. 5. 1. There is Fornication heard of amongst you, and such Fornication as is not heard of among st the Gentiles, that one should have his

An.Ch.57. Father's Wife. But yet I conceive the Words, duly confider'd, have nothing in them contrary to my Supposition.

To clear this I take liberty to fay, it cannot be thought that this Man had his Father's Wife whilft by the Laws of the Place the actually was his Father's Wife; for then it had been uniquize and Adultery, and so the Apostle would have called it, which was a Crime in Greece; nor could it be tolerated in any Civil Society, that one Man should have the use of a Woman, whilst she was another Man's Wife, i.e. another Man's Right and Possession.

The Case therefore here seems to be this; The Woman had parted from her Husband; which it is plain from ch. 7. 10, 11, 13. at Corinth Woman could do. For if by the Law of that Country a Woman could not divorce her self from her Husband, the Apo-Itle had there in vain bid her not leave her Husband.

But however known and allowed a Practice it might be amongst the Corinthians, for a Woman to part from her Husband, yet this was the first time it was ever known that her Husband's own Son Illould marry her. This is that which the Apostle takes notice of in these words, Such a Fornication as is not named amongst the Gentiles. Such a Fornication this was, fo little known in practice amongst them, that it was not so much as heard named, or spoken of by any of them. But whither they held it unlawful that a Woman, fo feparated, should marry her Husband's Son, when she was looked upon to be at liberty from her former Husband, and free to marry whom she pleased, that the Apostle says not. This indeed he declares, that by the Law of Christ a Woman's leaving her Husband, and marrying another, is unlawful, ch. 7. 11. and this Woman's marrying her Husband's Son, he declares, ch. 5. 1. (the place before us) to be Fornication, a peculiar fort of Fornication, whatever the Corinthians or their Law might determine in the Case: And therefore a Christian Church might and ought to have cenfured it within themselves, it being an Offence against the Rule of the Gospel; which is the Law of their Society: And they might and should have expelled this Fornicator out of their Society, for not submitting to the Laws of it; Notwithstanding that the Civil Laws of the Country, and the Judgment of the Heathen Magiffrate might acquit him. Suitably hereunco it is very remarkable, that the Arguments that St. Paul nies, in the close of this Descourie, ch. 6. 13--- 20. to prove Fornication unlawful, are all drawn folely from the Christian Institution, v. 9. That our Bodies are made for the Lord, v. 13. That our Bodies are Members of dies of Christ, v. 15. That our Bodies are the Temples of the Holy Ghost, Neronis 3.

v. 19. That we are not our own, but bought with a Price, v. 20.

all which Arguments concern Christians only; and there is not in all this Discourse against Fornication, one word to declare it to be unlawful by the Law of Nature to Mankind in general. That was altogether needless, and besides the Apostles purpose here, where he was teaching and exhorting Christians what they were to do as Christians, within their own Society, by the Law of Christ; which was to be their Rule, and was sufficient to oblige them, whatever other Laws the rest of Mankind observed, or were under. Those he professes, ch. 5. 12, 19. not to meddle with, nor to judge: For having no Authority amongst them, he leaves them to the Judgment of God, under whose Government they are.

These Considerations afford Ground to conjecture, that the Faction which opposed St. Paul had hinder'd the Church of Corinth from censuring the Fornicator, and that St. Paul shewing them their Miscarriage herein, aims thereby to lessen the Credit of their Leader, by whose Influence they were drawn into it. For as soon as they had unanimously shewn their Obedience to St. Paul in this matter, we see his Severity ceases, and he is all Sostness and Gentleness to the Ossender; 2 Cor. 11. 5----8. and he tells them in express Words, v. 9. that his end in writing to them of it, was to try their Obedience: To which let me add, that this Supposition, though it had not all the Evidence for it which it has, yet being suited to St. Paul's principal Design in this Epistle, and helping us the better to understand these two Chapters, may deserve to be mentioned.

21 (f) He that shall carefully read 2 Cor. 1. 20.—2. 11. will easily perceive that this last Verie here of this 4th Chapter is an Introduction to the severe Act of Discipline which St. Paul was going to exercise amongst them, tho absent, as if he had been present. And therefore this Verse ought not to have been separated from the following Chapter, as if it belong'd not to that Discourse.

I (g) Vid. ch. 4. 5, 10. The Writers of the New Testament seem to use the Greek word represe, which we translate Fornication, in the same Sense that the Hebrews used nazi, which we also translate Fornication, tho it be certain both these words, in Sacred Scripture, have a larger Sense than the word Fornication has in our Language; for nazi, amongst the Hebrews, fignished, Tupicadinem, or Rem turpem, Uncleanness, or any flagitious scandalous Crime, but more especially the Uncleanness of unlawful Copulation and I lolatry; and not precisely Fornication in our Sense of the Word, i.e. the unlawful Mixture of an unmarried Couple.

That the marrying of a Son-in-law, and a Mother-in-law, was not prohibited by the Laws of the Roman Empire, may be seen in Tuly; but yet it was look'd on as to seandalous and infamous, that it never had any Countenance from Practice. His Words in his Oration pro Chaptio, § 4. are so agreeable to the present Case, that it may not be amiss to set them down: Natu genero socrus nusis auspitis, nullis audoricus. 8 (4) That the Wrong here spoken of, was the Fornicator's taking and keeping his Father's Wise, the words of St. Paul, 2 Cor. 7. 12. instancing this very Wrong, are a sufficient Evidence. And it is not wholly improbable there had been some Heating of this matter before a Heathen Judge, or at least talked of, which is supposed, will give a great light to this whole Passage, and several other in these Chapters. For thus vinibly runs Sr. Paul's Argument, ch. 5. 12, 13. ch. 6. 1, 2, 3, &c. coherent and easy to be understood, if it stood together, as it should, and were not chop'd in pieces, by a division into two Chapters. Ye have a Power to judge those who are of your Church, therefore put away from among you that Fornicator: You do ill to let it come before a Heathen Magistrate. Are you, who are to judge the World and Angels, not worthy to judge such a matter as this?

But (t) supposing Fornication were in it self as lawful as eating promiscuously all forts of Meat that are made for the Belly, on purpose to be eaten, yet I would not so far indulge either Custom or my Appetite, as to bring my Body thereby into any disadvantageous State of Subjection: As in Eating and Drinking, though Meat be made purposely for the Belly, and the Belly for Meat; yet because it may not be expedient (u) for me, I will not in so evidently a lawful thing as that, go to the utmost Bounds of and by the Spirit of our God.

All things are lawful t2 unto me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawful for me, but I will not be brought under the power of any.

NOTES.

(s) Estingiasmi, yeare become just, i.e. are reform'd in your Lives. See it soused, Rev. 22.11.

12 (t) St. Puul having, upon occasion of Injustice amongst them particularly in the matter of the Fornicator, warned them against that and other Sins that exclude Men from Salvation, he here re-assumes his former Argument about Fornication, and by his reasoning here, it looks as if some among them had pleaded that Fornication was lawful. To which he answers, that granting it to be so, yet the Lawfulness of all wholesome Food reach'd not the Case of Fornication, and shews by several Instances (as particularly the degrading the Body, and making what in a Christian is the Member of Christ, the Member of an Harlot) that Fornication upon several accounts might be so unsuitable to the State of a Christian Man, that a Christian Society might have reason to animadvert upon a Fornicator, though Fornication might pass for an instifferent Action in another Man.

(u) Expedient, and brought urder Power, in this Verse seems to refer to the two Parts of the following Verse; The first of them to eating in the first part of the 13th Verse, and the latter of them to Fornication in the latter part of the 13th Verle. To make this the more intelligible, it may be fit to remark, that St. Paul here feems to obviate fuch a fort of Reasoning as this, in behalf of the Fornicator. "All forts of Meats are lawful to Christians who are set " fice from the Law of Moses, and why are they not so in regard of Women who are at their " own Disposals? To which St. Paul replies, Though my Belly was made only for eating, and " all forts of Meat were made to be earen, and so are lawful for me, yet I will abstain from " what is lawful, if it be not convenient for me, though my Belly will be certain to receive no " prejudice by it, which will affect it in the other World, fince God will there put an end to the Belly, and all use of Food. But as to the Body of a Christian, the Case is quite otherwise; That was not made for the Enjoyment of Women, but for a much nobler end, to be a Member of Chust's Body, and so shall last for ever, and not be destroy'd as the Belly shall " be. Therefore supposing Fornication to be lawful in it self, I will not so debase and subject " my Body, and do it that prejudice, as to take that which is a Member of Christ, and make " it the Member of an Harlot; this ought to be had in deteftation by all Christians. of my Liberty, though there be no danger that I should thereby bring any lasting Damage upon my Belly, fince God will fpeedily put an end both to Belly and Food. But the case of the Body, in reference to Women, is far different from that of the Belly in reference to Meats. For the Body is not made to be joyn'd to a Woman (w), much less to be joyn'd to an Harlot in Fornication, as the Belly is made for Meat, and then to be put an end to when that Use ceases. But the Body is for a much nobler purpose, and shall subsist when the Belly and Food shall be destroy'd. The Body is for our Lord Christ, to be a Member of him, as our Lord Christ has taken a Body (x), that he might partake of our Nature, and be our Head; So that as God has already raised him up, and given him all Power, so he will raise us up likewise who are his Members, to (y) the partaking in the nature of his glorious Body,

And God hath both raifed up the Lord, and will allo raise up us by his own power.

NOTES.

Context is so plain in the Case, that Interpreters allow St. Paul to discourse here upon a Supposition of the Lawfulness of Fornication. Nor will it appear at all strange, that he does so if we consider the Argument he is upon. He is here convincing the Corinikians, that though Fornication were to them an indifferent thing, and were not condemned in their Country more than eating any fort of Meat, yet there might be Reasons why a Christian Society might punish it in their own Members by Church-Censures, and Expulsion of the Guilty. Conformably hereunto we see in what follows here, that all the Arguments used by St. Paul against Fornication, are brought from the Incongruity it hath with the State of a Christian as a Chris ftian, but nothing is faid against it as a Fault in a Man as a Man, no Plea used that it is a Sin in all Men by the Law of Nature. A Christian Society, without entering into that Enquiry, or going so far as that had reason to condemn and censure it, as not comporting with the Dignity and Principles of that Religion which was the Foundation of their Society.

13 (w) Woman. I have put in this to make the Apostles Sense understood the cauer. For he arguing here as he does, upon the supposition that Fornication is in it self lawful, Fornication in their words must mean the supposed lawful Enjoyment of a Woman, otherwise it will not answer the foregoing Instance of the Belly and Eating.

is here making out to the Corinthians Converts, that they have a Power to judge. He tells them, that they shall judge the World, v. 2. And that they shall judge Angels much more than things of this Life, v. 3. And for their not judging he blames them, and tells them, 'tis a lessening to them, not to exercise this Power, ver. 7. And for it he gives a reason in this Verse, viz. That Christ is raised up into the Power of God, and so shall they be. Unless it be taken in this Sense, this Verse seems to stand alone here. For what Connection has the mention of the Refurrection in the ordinary Sense or this Verse, with what the Apostle is saying here, but raising us up with Bodies to be Members of his glorious Body, and to partake in his Power in judging the World. This adds a great Honour and Dignity to our Bodies, and is a Reason why we should not debase them into the Members of an Harlot. These Words also give a reason of his saying, he would not be brought under the Power of any thing, v. 13. (viz.) "Shall I, whose Body is a Member of Christ, and shall be raised to the Power he has now in " Heaven, fuffer my Body to be a Member, and under the Power of an Harlot, that I will " never do, let Fornication in it felf be never lo lawful. If this be not the meaning of Sr. Paul here, I defire to know to what purpose it is that he so expresly declares that the Belly and Meat shall be destroyed, and does so manifestly put an Opposition between the Body and the belly, v. 13.

CHAP. VII. 1----40.

CONTENTS.

THE chief Business of the foregoing Chapters we have seen to be the lessening the false Apostle's Credit, and the extinguishing that Faction. What follows is in answer to some Questions they had proposed to St. Paul. This Section contains conjugal Matters, wherein he dissipated from Marriage those who have the Gift of Continence. But Marriage being appointed as a Remedy against Fornication, those who cannot forbear should marry, and render to each other due Benevolence. Next he teaches that Converts ought not to forsake their unconverted Mates, insomuch as Christianity changes nothing in Mens civil Estate, but leaves them under the same Obligations they were tied by before. And last of all he gives Directions about marrying, or not marrying their Daughters.

And those that are married, for the same Reason are to regulate themselves by the Disposition and Exigency of their respective Mates; and therefore let the Husband render to the Wife that Benevolence (a) which is her due, and fo likewise the Wife to the Husband, & vice versa. the Wife has not Power or Dominion over her own Body, to refuse the Husband when he defires: but this Power and Right to her Body is in the Husband. And on the other fide, the Husband has not the Power and Dominion over his own Body, to refuse his Wife when The shews an Inclination; but this Power and Right to his Body, when she has occasion, is in the Wife (b). For example, was any one converted to Christianity being circumcifed, let him not become uncircumcifed: Was any one called being uncircumcifed, let him not be circumcifed. Circumcifion or Uncircumcifion are nothing in the fight of God, but that which he has a regard to, is an Obedience to his Commands. 20 (f) Marin, Let him abide. 'Tis plain from what immediately follows, that this is not an absolute Command; but only fignifies that a Man should not think himself discharg'd by the Privilege of his Christian State, and the Franchises of the Kingdom of Christ, which he was entered into, from any Ties or Obligations he was in as a Member of the Civil Society. And therefore for the settling a true Notion thereof in the Mind of the Reader, it has been thought convenient to give that which is the Apostle's Sense to Ver. 17, 20, & 24. of this Chapter, in words somewhat different from the Apostle's. The thinking themselves freed by Christianity from the Ties of Civil Society and Government, was a Fault, it seems, that those Christians were very apt to run into. For St. Paul, for the preventing their Thoughts of any Change of any thing of their Civil State upon their imbracing Christianity, thinks it necessary to warn them against it three times in the compass of seven Verses, and that in the Form of a direct Command not to change their Condition or State of Life. Where by he intends that they should not change upon a Presumption that Christianity gave them a new or peculiar Liberty so to do. For notwithstanding the Apostle's positively bidding them remain in the same Condition in which they were at their Conversion. Yet it is certain it was lawful for them, as well as the others, to change, where it was lawful for them to change without being Christians.

63 But he that is married, careth for the things that are of the world, how he may please his wife.

There is difference also between a wife and a virgin: the unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in spirit: but she that is married, careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

But give me leave to tell you, that the time for enjoying Husbands and Wives is but short (l). But be that as it will, this is certain, that those who have Wives, should be as if they had them not, and not fet their Hearts upon them: And they that weep as if they wept not; and they that rejoyce, as if they rejoyced not; and they that buy, as if they possessed not: All these things should be done with Relignation and a Christian Indifferency. And those who use this World, should use it without an Over-relish of it (m), without giving themselves up to the Enjoyment of it. For the Scene of things is always changing in this World, and nothing can be relied on in it (n). All the Reafon why I diffwade you from Marriage, is, that I would have you free from anxious Cares: He that is unmarried, has time and liberty to mind things of Religion, how he may please the Lord: But he that is married is taken up with the Cares of the World, how he may please his Wife. The like Difference there is between a married Woman and a Maid: She that is unmarried, has Opportunity to mind the things of Religion, that the may be holy in Mind and Body; but the married Woman is taken up with the Cares of the World, how to 35 (0) Be χ , which we translate a Snare, fignifies a Cord, which possibly the Apostle might, according to the Language of the Hebrew School, use here for binding, and then his Discourse runs thus. Though I have declared it my Opinion, that it is best for a Virgin to remain unmarried, yet I bind it not, i. e. I do not declare it to be unlawful to marry.

37 (p) Mape évou seems used here for the Virgin-State, and not the Person of a Virgin; whither there be Examples of the like use of it, I know not, and therefore I propose it as my Conjecture upon these Grounds. 1. Because the Resolution of Mind here spoken of, must be in the Person to be married, and not in the Father that has the Power over the Person concerned, for how will the Firmness of Mind of the Father hinder Fornication in the Child who has not that Firmness. 2. The necessity of Matriage can only be judg'd of by the Persons themselves. A Father cannot feel the Child's Flames which make the need of Marriage. The Perfons themselves only know whether they burn, or have the Gift of Continence. 3. Egsciavezai de το ion's θελυματο, hath the Power over bis own Will, must either fignifie, can govern his own Defires, is Master of his own Will. But this cannot be meant here, because it is sufficiently expressed before by idpaio ni nagdia, stedfast in Heart; and afterwards too by nexerrer er in replia, decreed in Heart: or must signifie, has the Disposal of himself, i. e. is free from the Father's Power of disposing their Children in Marriage. For I think the words should be translated, hath a Power concerning his own Will, i. e. concerning what he willeth. For if by it St. Paul meant a Power over his own Will, one might think he would have expreffed that Thought as he does, ch. 9. 12. & Rom. 9. 21. without ci, or by the Preposition έπλ, as it is, Inke g. 1. 4. Because, if keep his Virgin, had here fignified keep his Children from marrying, the Expression had been more natural to have used the word rivea, which fignifies both Sexes, than mai Sivo, which belongs only to the Female. If therefore may sivo be taken abstractly for Virginity, the precedent Verse must be understood thus: But if any one think it a soame to pays the Flower of his Age unmarried, and he finds it necessary to marry, let chooses the better (q) side. So then he that marrieth doth well, but he that marrieth (r) not doth better. It is unlawful for a Woman to leave her Husband as long as he lives; but when he is dead, she is at liberty to marry or not marry, as she pleases, and to whom she pleases; which Virgins cannot do being under the Disposal of their Parents; only she must take care to marry as a Christian fearing God. But in my Opinion, she is happier if she remain a Widow; and permit me to say, that whatever any among you may think or say of me, I have the Spirit of God, so that I may be relied on in this my Advice, that I do not missed you.

bim do as he pleases, he sins not; Let such marry. I confess it is hard to bring these two Verses to the same Sense, and both of them to the design of the Apostle here, without taking the Words in one or both of them very figuratively. St. Paul here seems to obviate an Objection that might be made against his Disswalion from Marriage, viz. that it might be an Indecency one should be guilty of, if one should live unmarried past ones prime, and afterwards be forced to marry. To which he answers, that no body should abstain upon the account of being a Christian, but those who are of steady Resolutions, are at their own Disposal, and have subty determined it in their own Minds.

This Section is concerning the Eating things offered to Idols, wherein one may guess by St. Paul's Answer, that they had writ to him, that they knew their Christian Liberty herein, that they knew that an Idol was nothing, and therefore that they did well to shew their Knowledge of the Nullity of the Heathen Gods, and their Difregard of them, by eating promiscuously, and without Scruple, things offered to them. Upon which the Defign of the Apostle here feems to be, to take down their Opinion of their Knowledge, by shewing them, that notwithstanding all the Knowledge they prefumed on, and were puffed up with, yet the eating of those Sacrifices did not recommend them to God: Vid. ver. 8. and that they might fin in their Want of Charity by Offending their weak Brother. This feems plainly from ver. 1--3, & 11, 12. to be the Defign of the Apostle's Answer here, and not to refolve the Cafe of eating Things offered to Idols in its full Latitude. For then he would have profecuted it more at large here, and not have deffered the Doing of it to Chap. 10. where under another Head he treats of it more particularly.

These were called in Scripture, Bazlim, i.e. Iords; and by the Greeks Dáupors. To this the Apostle alludes here, saying, though there be in the Opinion of the Heathens, Gods many, i.e. many Celestial Sovereign Gods in Heaven: And Iords many, i.e. many Bazlim or Lords Agents, and Presidents over earthly things, yet to us Christians there is but one Sovereign God the Father, of whom are all things, and to whom as Supreme we are to direct all our Services: And but one Lord-Agent Jesus Christ, by whom are all things that come from the Father to us, and through whom alone we find Access unto him. SECT. V.

CHAP. IX. 1----27.

CONTENTS.

CT. Paul had preached the Gospel at Corinth about two Years, in all which time he had taken nothing of them, 2 Cor. 11. 7-9. This by fome of the opposite Faction, and particularly as we may suppose by their Leader, was made use of to call in queftion his Apottleship, 2 Cor. 11.5, 6. For why if he were an Apostle, should he not use the Power of an Apostle, to demand Maintenance where he preached. In this Section St. Paul vindicates his Apostleship. And in answer to these Enquirers, gives the Reason why, tho he had a Right to Maintenance, yet he preached gratis to the Corinthians. My Answer, says he, to these Inquisitors, is, that tho as being an Apostle, I know that I have a Right to Maintenance, as well as Peter, or any other of the Apostles, who all have a Right, as is evident from Reason and from Scripture, yet I neither have, nor shall make use of my Privilege amongst you, for fear that it it cost you any thing, that should hinder the effect of my Preaching: I would neglect nothing that might promote the Gospel. For I do not content my felf with doing barely what is my Duty, for by my extraordinary Call and Commission, it is now H 2 mcumAn.Ck.57 incumbent on me to preach the Gospel; But I endeavour to excel Neronis 3 in my Ministry, and not to execute my Commission overtly, and just enough to serve the turn. For if those who in the Agonistick Games aiming at Victory to obtain only a corruptible Crown, de ny themselves in eating and drinking, and other Pleasures, how much more does the eternal Crown of Glory deserve that we should do our utmost to obtain it? To be as careful in not indulging our Bodies, in denying our Pleafures, in doing every thing we could in order to get it, as if there were but one that should have it? Wonder not therefore if I having this in view, neglect my Body, and those outward Conveniencies that I, as an Apostle, sent to preach the Gospel, might claim, and make use of: Wonder not that I prefer the propagating of the Gospel, and making of Converts, to all Care and Regard of my felf. This feems the Defign of the Apostle, and will give light to the following Discourse, which we shall now take in the Order St. Paul writ it.

It feems by what he here fays, as if the Corinthians had told St. Paul, that the Temptations and Constraints they were under, of going to their Heathen Neighbours Feasts upon their Sacrifices, were so many and so great, that there was no avoiding it: And therefore they thought they might go to them without any Offence to God, or Danger to themselves; since they were the People of God, purged from Sin by Baptism, and fenced against it by partaking of the Body and Blood of Christ in the Lord's Supper. To which St. Paul answers, that notwithstanding their Baptism, and partaking of that spiritual Meat and Drink, yet they, as well as the Jews of old did, might sin and draw on themselves Destruction from the hand of God; That eating of things that were known and owned to be offered to Idols, was partaking in the Idolatrous Worship, and therefore they were to prefer even the danger of Persecution before such a Compliance; for God would find a way for them to escape.

4 And did drink all the fame fpiriturl drink: (for they drank of that ipiritual Rock that followed them: and that Rock was Christ)

5 But with many of them God was not well pleafed: for they were overthrown in the wilderness.

Would not have you ignorant, Brethren, that all our Fathers, the whole Congregation of the Children of Ifrael, at their coming out of Egypt, were all to a Man under the Cloud, and all paffed through the Sea; And were all by this Baptism (e) in the Cloud: And passing through the Water initiated into the Mosaical Institution and Government, by these two Miraeles of the Cloud and the Sea. And they all eat the fame Meat, which had a typical and spiritual Signification. And they all drank the same spiritual typical Drink, which came out of the Rock, and followed them, which Rock typified Chrift: All which were typical Representations of Christ, as well as the Bread and Wine which we eat and drink in the Lord's Supper, are typical Representations of him. But yet tho every one of the Children of Israel that came out of Egypt were thus folemnly separated from the rest of the profane idolatrous World, and were made God's peculiar People, fanctified and holy, every one of them to himself, and Members of his Church: Nay, tho they did all (f) partake of the same Meat, and the same Drink which

2 (e) The Apossel calls it Baptism, which is the initiating Ceremony into both the Jewish and Christian Church: And the Cloud and Sea both being nothing but Water, are well suited to that typical Representation; and that the Children of Israel were washed with Rain from the Cloud, may be collected from Isla. 68.9.

5 (f) It may be observed here, that St. Paul speaking of the Israelites, uses the word πάντις all, five times in the four foregoing Verses, besides that he carcuilly says, το κυτό ερωμα, the same Meat, and τὸ ἀυτό πόμα, the same Drink, which we cannot suppose to be done by chance, but emphatically to signify to the Corinchians, who probably presumed too much upon their Baptism, and eating the Lord's Supper, as if that were enough to keep them right in the tight of God; that tho the Israelites all to a Man eat the very same spiritual Food, and all to a Man drank the very same spiritual Drink, yet they were not all to a Man preserv'd, but many otthem, for all that, sinned and sell under the avenging hand of God in the Wilderness.

the ends of the Ages are come. Wherefore, 12. taught by these Examples, let him that thinks himself safe, by being in the Church, and partaking of the Christian Sacraments, take heed lest he fall into Sin, and so Destruction from God overtake him. Hitherto the Temptations you have met with have been but light and ordinary: If you should come to be preffed harder, God, who is faithful, and never forfakes those who forfake not him, will not fuffer you to be tempted above your Strength, but will either enable you to bear the Persecution, or open you a way out of it. Therefore my Beloved, take care to keep off from Idolatry, and be not drawn to any Approaches near it by any Temptation or Persecution whatfoever. You are fatisfied that you want not Knowledge. (m) And therefore as to knowing Men I appeal to you, and make you Judges of what I am going to fay in the cafe. They who drink of the Cup of Bleffing (n) which we blefs in the Lord's Supper, do they not thereby partake of the Benefits purchased by Christ's Blood shed for them upon the Crofs, which they here fymbolically drink? And they who eat of the Bread broken (0) there, do they not partake in the Sacrifice of the Body of Christ, and profess to be Members of him: For by eating of that Bread we, though 17. many in number, are all united, and make but one Body, as many Grains of Corn are united

No, but this I fay, that the things which the Gentiles facrifice, they facrifice to Devils, and not to God; and I would not that you should have Fellowship, and be in League with Devils, as they who by eating of the things offered to them, enter into Covenant, Alliance and Friendship with them. You cannot eat and drink with God as Friends at his Table in the Eucharist, and entertain Familiarity and Friendship with Devils, by eating with them, and partaking of the Sacrifices offered to them (q): You cannot be Christians and Idolaters too: Nor if you should endeavour to joyn these inconsistent Rites, will it avail you any thing. For your partaking in the Sacraments of the Christian Church, will no more exempt you from the Anger of God, and Punishment Behold Ifrach after the 18 flesh: are not they which eat of the sacrifices, partakers of the altar?

What fay I then? that 19 the idol is any thing, or that which is offered in facrifice to idols is any thing?

WE have here another of his Arguments against things offered to Idols, wherein he shows that ed to Idols, wherein he shews the Danger might be in it, from the Scandal it might give; fuppofing it a thing lawful in it felf. He had formerly treated of this Subject, ch. 8. fo far as to let them fee, that there was no Good nor Virtue in eating things offered to Idols, notwithstanding they knew that Idols were nothing, and they might think that their free eating without Scruple, shew'd that they knew their Freedom in the Gospel, that they knew that Idols were in reality nothing, and therefore they flighted and difregarded them and their Worship as nothing; but that there might be evil in eating, by the Offence it might give to weak Christians, who had not that Knowledge; He here takes up the Argument of Scandal again, and extends it to Jews and Gentiles; Vid. ver. 32. and shews, that it is not enough to justifie them in any Action, that the thing they do is in it felf lawful, unless we seek in it the Glory of God, and the Good of others.

1 (s) Vid. Rom. 15.3. This Verse seems to belong to the precedent, wherein he had proposed himself as an Example, and therefore this Verse should not be cut off from the former Chapter. In what St. Paul says in this and the preceding Verse, taken together, we may suppose he makes some Reflection on the false Apostle, whom many of the Corinthians soltowed as their Leader. At least it is for St. Paul's Justification, that he proposes himself to be followed no farther than as he sought the Good of others, and not his own, and had Christ for his Pattern, Vid. Ch. 4.16.

NOTES.

3 (t) This about Women feeming as difficult a Passage as most in St, Paul's Epistles, I crave leave to premite some few Considerations which I hope may conduce to the clearing of it.

(1.) It is to be observed, that it was the Custom for Women who appeared in publick, to be vailed, ver. 13---- 16. Therefore it could be no Question at all, whether they ought to be vailed when they affifted at the Prayers and Praises in the Publick Assemblies; or if that were the thing intended by the Apostle, it had been much easier, shorter, and plainer for him to have faid, that Women should be covered in the Assemblies.

(2.) It is plain that this covering the Head in Women, is restrained to some particular Actions which they performed in the Affembly, expressed by the words, Praying and Prophesyirg. ver. 4, & 5. which, whatever they fignify, must have the same meaning, when applied to the Women, in the 5th Verse, that they have when applied to the Men in the 4th Verse.

It will possibly be objected, If Women were to be vailed in the Assemblies, let those Actions be what they will, the Women joyning in them were still to be vailed.

drife. This would be plainly fo, if their Interpretation were to be followed, who are of Opinion, that by Praying and Prophefying here, was meant to be prefent in the Affembly, and sofning with the Congregation in the Prayers that were made, or Hymns that were fung, or in hearing the Reading and Exposition of the Holy Scriptures there. But against this, that the hearing of Preaching or Prophefying was never called Preaching or Prophefying, is fo unanimerable an Objection, that I think there can be no Reply to it.

The case in short seems to be this: The Men prayed and prophesied in the Assemblies, and did it with their fleads uncovered: The Women also sometimes prayed and prophesied too in the Atlantalics, which when they did, they thought, during their performing that Action, they were excused from being vailed, and might be bare-headed, or at least open-faced, as well as the Men. This was that which the Apostle restrains in them, and directs, that tho they pray'd or prophesied, they were still to remain vailed.

(3.) The next thing to be confidered, is, what is here to be understood by Praying and Prophelying. And that seems to me to be the performing of some particular publick Action in the Assembly by some one Person, which was for that time peculiar to that Person, and whilst it lasted the rest of the Assembly identity assisted. For it cannot be supposed, that when the Apostle says, a Man praying or prophelying, that he means an Action performed in common by the whole Congregation; or it he did, what Pretence could that give the Woman to be unvailed more during the performance of such an Action, than at any other time? A Woman must be vailed in the Assembly, what Pretence then or Claim could it give her to be unvailed, that she joyn'd with the rest of the Assembly, in the Prayer that some one Person made? Such a Praying as this could give no more Ground for her being unvailed, than her being in the Assembly could be thought a Reason for her being unvailed. The same may be said of Prophesyng, when understood to signify a Woman's joyning with the Congregation in singing the Praises of God. But if the Woman prayed as the Mouth of the Assembly, Sc. then it was like she might think she might have the Privilege to be unvailed.

Praying and Prophesying, as has been shewn, fignifying here the doing some peculiar Action in the Assembly, whilst the rest of the Congregation only assisted, let us in the next place examine what that Action was. As to Prophesying, the Apostle in express Words tells us, ch. 4. 3, & 12. that it was speaking in the Assembly. The same is evident as to Praying, that the Apostle means by it praying publickly with an audible Voice in the Congregation, Vid.

(4.) It is to be observed, that whether any one pray'd or prophesied, they did it alone, the rest remaining thent, ch. 14. 27—33. So that even in these extraordinary Praises which any one sung to God by the immediate Motion and Impulse of the Holy Ghost, which was one of the Actions called Prophesying, they sung alone. And indeed how could it be otherwise? For who could joyn with the Person so prophesying in things distated to him alone by the Holy Ghost, which the others could not know, till the Person prophesying uttered them?

(5.) Prophefying, as St. Paul tells, ch. 14. 3. was speaking unto others to Edification, Exhortation and Comfort: But every Speaking to others to any of these ends, was not Prophefying, but only then when such Speaking was a spiritual Gift performed by the immediate and extraordinary Motion of the Holy Ghost, Vid. ch. 14. 1, 12, 24, 30. For example, singing Praises to God was called Prophessing; but we see when Saul prophessed, the Spirit of God fell upon him, and he was turn'd into another Man, 1 Sam. 10.6. Nor do I think any place in the New Testament can be produced wherein prophessing signifies bare reading of the Scripture, or any other Adion performed without a supernatural Impusse and Adistance of the Spirit of God. This we are sure, that the Prophessying which St. Paul here speaks or, is one of the extraordinary Gitts given by the Spirit of God, Vid. ch. 12. 10. Now that the Spirit of God, and the Gift of Prophesse should be poured out upon Women as well as Men, in the time of the Gospel, is plain from Ads 11. 17. and then where could be a fitter place for them to utter their Propheses in than the Assemblies?

It is not unlikely what one of the most learned and fagacious of our Interpreters of Scripture suggests upon this place, viz. That Christian Women might, out of a Vanity incident Mr. Mede to that Sex, propose to themselves and affect an Imitation of the Priests and Prophetesses of Difc. 16.

the Gentiles, who had their Faces uncovered when they uttered their Oracles, or officiated in their Sacrifices: But I cannot but wonder that that very acute Writer should not see that the bare being in the Assembly could not give a Christian Woman any pretence to that Freedom. None of the Bacchai or Pythia quitted their ordinary modest guise, but when she was, as the Poets express it, Rapta or plena Deo, posses and hurried by the Spirit she served. And so, possibly, a Christian Woman, when she found the Spirit of God poured out upon her, as foel expresses it, exciting her to pray or sing Praises to God, or discover any Truth immediately revealed to her, might think it convenient for her better uttering of it to be uncovered, or at least to be no more restrained in her Liberty of shewing her self, than the Female Priess of the Heathens were when they delivered their Oracles: But yer even in these Actions the Apostle forbids the Women to unvail themselves.

St. Paul's forbidding Women to speak in the Assemblies, will probably seem a strong Argument against this: But when well considered, will perhaps prove none. There be two places wherein the Apostle forbids Women to speak in the Church, I Cor. 14. 34, 35. & 17im. 2. 11, 12. He that fhall attentively read and compare these together, may observe that the Silence injoyn'd the Woman, is for a Mark of their Subjection to the Male Sex: And therefore what in the one is expressed by keeping Silence, and not speaking, but being under Obedience, in the other is called, being in silence with all Subjection, not teaching nor usurping Authority over the Mar. The Women in the Churches were not to affume the Personage of Doctors, or speak there as Teachers; this carried with it the Appearance of Superiority, and was forbidden. Nay, they were not fo much as to ask Questions there, or to enter into any fort of Conference. This shews a kind of Equality, and was also forbidden: But yet tho they were not to speak in the Church in their own Names, or as if they were raised by the Franchises of Chrifinanity, to fuch an Equality with the Men, that where Knowledge or Prefumption of their own Ab littles emboldened them to it, they might take upon them to be Teachers and Inftruders of the Congregation, or might at least enter into Questionings and Debates there. This would have had too great an air of franding upon even ground with the Men, and would not have well comported with the Subordination of the Sex. But yet this Subordination which God, for Orders fake, had inflituted in the World, hinder'd not, but that by the fupernatural Gifts of the Spirit he might make use of the weaker Sex, to any extraordinary l'anction when-ever he thought fit, as well as he did of the Men. But yet when they thus either pray'd or prophefied by the Motion and Impulse of the Holy Ghoft, Care was taken that whilst they were obeying God, who was pleas'd by his Spirit ro set them a speaking, the Subjection of their Sex should not be forgotten, but owned and preserved by their being covered. The Christian Religion was not to give Offence by any Appearance or Sulpition that it took away the Subordination of the Sexes, and fer the Women at Liberty from their natural Subjection to the Man. And therefore we fee that in both these Cases, the aim was to maintain and secure the confessed Superiority and Dominion of the Man, and not permit it to be invaded to much as in appearance. Hence the Arguments in the one Cafe for Covering, and in the other for Silence, are all drawn from the natural Superiority of the Man, and the Subjection of the Woman. In the one the Woman, without an extraordinary Call, was to keep filent, as a Mark of her Subjection: In the other, where she was to speak by an extraordinary Call and Commission from God, she was yet to continue the Profession of her Subjection in keeping her felf covered. Here by the way it is to be observed, that there was extraordinary praying to God by the Impulse of the Spirit, as well as speaking unto Men for their Edification, Exhortation and Comfort : Vid. ch. 14. 15. Rom. 8. 26. Jude 20. Thele things being premiled, let us follow the Thread of St. Paul's Discourse.

SECT. VIII.

C H A P. XI. 17----34.

C O N T E N T S.

NE may observe from several Passages in this Epittle, that several Judaical Customs were crept into the Corinthian Church. This Church being of St. Paul's own planting, who spent two Years at Corinth in forming it; it is evident these Abuses had their rise from some other Teacher, who came to them after his leaving them, which was about five Years before his writing this Epistle. These Disorders therefore may with Reason be ascribed to the Head of the Faction that opposed St. Paul, who, as has been remarked, was a Jew, and probably Jewdaized. And that 'tis like was the Foundation of the great Opposition between him and St. Paul, and the Reason why St. Paul labours so earnestly to destroy his Credit amongst the Corinthians; this sort of Men being very busy, very troublesome, and very dangerous to the Gospel, as may be seen in other of St. Paul's Epistles, particularly that to the Galatians.

The celebrating the Paffover amongst the Jews, was plainly the eating of a Meat diffinguished from other ordinary Meals by several peculiar Ceremonies. Two of these Ceremonies were eating of Bread folemnly broken, and drinking a Cup of Wine called the Cup of Bleffing. These two our Saviour transferr'd into the Christian Church, to be used in their Assemblies for a Commemoration of his Death and Sufferings. In celebrating this Institution of our Saviour, the Jewdaizing Corinthians followed the Jewish Custom of eating their Passover: They eat the Lord's Supper as a part of their Meat, bringing their Provisions into the Assembly, where they eat divided into diffinct Companies, some Feasting to Excess, whilst others, ill provided, were in want. This eating thus in the publick Assembly, and mixing the Lord's Supper with their ordinary Meal, as a part of it, with other Diforders and Indecencies accompanying it, is the matter of this Section. These Innovations he tells them here he as much blames, as in the beginning of this Chapter

An.Ch.57. Chapter he commends them for keeping to his Directions in some Neronis 3: other things.

HO what I faid to you concerning Womens Behaviour in the Church was not without Commendation of you, yet this that I am now going to speak to you of, is without praising you, because you so order your Meetings in your Assemblies, that they are not to

18. your Advantage but Harm. For first I hear, that when you come together in the Church, you fall into Parties, and I partly believe it;

19. Because there must be Divisions and Factions amongst you, that those who stand firm upon Trial may be made manifest amongst you.

You came together it's true in one place, and there you eat, but yet this makes it not to be

21. the eating of the Lord's Supper. For in eating you eat not together, but every one takes his own Supper one before another (x). Have ye not Houses to eat and drink in at home for satisfying your Hunger and Thirst? Or have ye OW in this that I declare unto you, I praise you not, that ye come together not for the better, but for the worse.

For first of all, when 18 ye come together in the church, I hear that there be divisions among you; and I partly believe it.

For there must be also 19 herefies among you, that they which are approved, may be made manifest among you.

What, have ye not hou- 22 fes to eat and to drink in?

NOTES.

21 (x) To understand this we must observe,

(1.) That they had iometimes Meetings on purpole only for eating the Lord's Supper, v.33.

(2.) That to those Meetings they brought their own Supper, ver. 21.

(3.) That the every ones Supper were brought into the common Affembly, yet it was not to eat in common, but every one sell to his own Supper apart, as foon as he and his Supper were there ready for one another, without staying for the rest of the Company, or communicating with them in eating, ver. 21, 33.

In this St. Paul blames three things especially;

1/t. That they eat their common Food in the Assembly, which was to be eaten at home in their Houses, ver. 22, 34.

2dly. That the they cat in the common Meeting-place, yet they eat separately every one his own Supper apart. So that the Plenty and Excels of some shamed the Want and Pennry of others, ver. 22. Hereby also the Divisions amongst them were kept up, ver. 18. they being as so many separated and divided Societies, not as one united Body of Christians commemorating their common Head, as they should have been in celebrating the Lord's Supper, ch. 1.. 16, 17.

3dly. That they mixed the Lord's Supper with their own, cating it as a part of their ordinary Meal, where they made not that Discrimination between it and their common Food, as they should have done, ver. 29.

Or despife ye the church of God, and shame them that have not? what shall I say ro you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.

For I have received of the Lord, that which also I delivered unto you, that the Lord Jesus, the same night in which he was betrayed, took bread:

And when he had given thanks, he brake it, and faid, Take, eat; this is my body, which is broken for you: this do in remembrance of me.

After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me.

For what I received concerning this Institution from the Lord himfelf, that I delivered unto you when I was with you; and it was this, viz. That the Lord Jesus, in the Night wherein he was betray'd, took Bread, and having given Thanks brake it, and faid, Take, eat, this is my Body which is broken for you, this do in remembrance of me. So likewife he took the Cup also, when he had supped, faving, This Cup is the New Testament in my Blood, this do ye as often as ye do it in remembrance of me. So that the eating of this Bread, and the drinking of this Cup of the Lord's Supper, is not to fatisfy Hunger and Thirst, but to shew forth the Lord's Death till he comes. which therefore in the immediately following words he repeats to them again.

27 (2) Avazios, unworthily. Our Saviour in the Inflitution of the Lord's Supper tells the Apostles, that the Bread and the Cup-were Sacramentally his Body and Blood, and that they were to be eaten and drunk in remembrance of him, which as St. Taul interprets it, ver. 26. was to shew forth his Death till he came. Whoever therefore cat and drank them, so as not solemnly to shew forth his Death, followed not Christ's Institution, but used them unworthily, i. e. not to the end to which they were instituted. This makes St. Paul tell them, ver. 20. that their coming together to eat it as they did, viz, the Sacramental Bread and Wine promiscuously with their other Food, as a part of their Meal, and that tho in the same place, yet not all together at one time, and in one Company, was not the eating of the Lord's Supper-

28 (b) St. Paul, as we have observed, tells the Corinthians, ver. 20. That to eat it after the manner they did, was not to eat the Lord's Supper. He tells them also, ver. 29. That to eat it without a due and direct Imitating Regard had to the Lord's Body (for so he calls the Sacramental Bread and Wine, as our Saviour did in the Institution) by separating the Bread and Wine from the common use of Eating and Drinking for Hunger and Thirst, was to eat unworthily. To remedy their Diforders herein, he fets before them Christ's own Institution of this Sacrament; that in it they might fee the manner and end of its Institution, and by that every one might examine his own Comportment herein, whither it were conformable to that Institution, and fuited to that end. In the Account he gives of Christ's Institution, we may observe that he particularly remarks to them, that this Eating and Drinking was no part of common Eating and Drinking for Hunger and Thirst; but was instituted in a very solemn manner, after they had supped, and for another end, viz. to represent Christ's Body and Blood, and to be eaten and drunk in remembrance of him: or as St. Paul expounds it, to shew forth his Death. Another thing which they might observe in the Institution was, that this was done by all who were prefent united together in one Company at the fame time. All which put together, shews us what the Examination here proposed is. For the Design of the Apofile here being to reform what he found fault with in their celebrating the Lord's Supper, 'tis by that alone we must understand the Directions he gives them about it, if we will suppose he talked pertinently to this captious and touchy People, whom he was very defirous to reduce from the Irregularities they were run into in this matter, as well as feveral others. And if the account of Christ's Institution be not for their examining their Carriage by ir, and adjusting it to it, to what purpose is it here? The Examination therefore propos'd was no other but an Examination of their manner of eating the Lord's Supper by Christ's Institution, to see how their Behaviour herein comported with the Institution, and the end for which it was instituted. Which turther appears to be so by the Punishment annexed to their Miscarriages herein, which was Infirmities, Sickness, and temporal Death, with which God chastened them, that they might not be condemned with the unbelieving World, ver. 30, 32. For if the Unworthineis here spoke of were either Unbelief, or any of those Sins which are usually made the matter of Examination, 'tis to be prefumed the Apostle would not wholly have pailed them over in Silence: This at least is certain, that the Punishment of these Sins is infinitely greater than that which God here inflicts on unworthy Receivers, whether they who are guilty of them received the Sacrament or no.

(c) Kal 8723. These words as to the Letter, are rightly translated and so. But that Translation I imagine leaves generally a wrong Sense of the place in the Mind of an English Reader. For in ordinary speaking these words, Let a Man examine, and so let kim eat, are understood to import the same with these: Let a Man examine, and then let kim eat; as if they signified no more, but that Examination should precede, and Eating follow, which I take to be quite different from the meaning of the Apostie here, whose Sense the whole Design of the Context shews to be this: I here set before you the Institution of Christ, by that let a Man examine his Carriage, xal 8745, and according to that let him eat; Let him conform the manner of his eating to that.

HE Corinthians feem to have enquired of St. Paul, what Order of Precedency and Preference Men were to have in their Assemblies, in regard of their Spiritual Gifts. Nay, if we may guess by his Answer, the Question they seem more particularly to have propos'd, was, whether those who had the Gift of Tongues, ought not to take place, and speak first, and be first heard in their Meetings. Concerning this there seems to have been some Strife, Maligning and Disorder amongst them, as may be collected from Ch. 12. 21---25. & 13. 45. & 14. 40.

To this St. Paul antivers in these three Chapters as followeth.

1. That they had all been Heathen Idolaters, and so being Deniers of Christ, were in that State none of them Spiritual: But that now being Christians, and owning Jesus to be the Lord, (which could not be done without the Spirit of God) they were all TRESPATING, Spiritual; and so there was no reason for one to undervalue another, as if he were not Spiritual as well as himself, Ch. 12.1---3.

2. That

2. That the there be Diversity of Gifts, yet they are all by the An.Ch.57. same Spirit, from the same Lord, and the same God working them all in every one, according to his good pleasure. So that in this respect also there is no Difference or Precedency; no occasion for any ones being puffed up, or affecting Priority, upon account of his Gifts, Ch. 12. 4----11.

3. That the Diversity of Gifts is for the Use and Benefit of the Church, which is Christ's Body, wherein the Members (as in the natural Body) of meaner Functions are as much Parts, and as necessary in their Use to the good of the whole, and therefore to be honour'd as much as any other. The Union they have as Members in the same Body, makes them all equally share in one anothers Good and Evil, gives them a mutual Esteem and Concern one for another, and leaves no room for Contests or Divisions amongst them, about their Gifts, or the Honour and Place due to them upon that account, Ch. 12. 12---41.

4. That the Gifts have their Excellency and Use, and those who have them may be zealous in the Use of them, yet the true and sure way for a Man to get an Excellency and Preference above others, is the enlarging himself in Charity, and excelling in that, without which a Christian, with all his spiritual Gifts, is nothing.

5. In the comparison of Spiritual Gifts, he gives those the Precedency which edify most, and in particular prefers Prophesying to Tongues, Ch. 14. 1—40.

Whereupon let me tell you, that no one who opposes Jesus Christ, or his Religion, has the Spirit of God (k). And whoever is brought to own Jesus to be the Messiah, the Lord (1), does it by the Holy Ghost. And therefore upon account of having the Spirit, you can none of you lay any claim to Superiority; or have any pretence to flight any of your Brethren, as not having the Spirit of Godas well as you. We are warranted by a like use of the word in several places of St. Paul's Epistles, as ch. 2. 15. & 14.37. of this Epistle; & Gal. 6 1. to take it here in the Masculine Gender, standing for Persons and not Gits. And the Context obliges us to unkerstandit so. For if we will have it stand for Gits, and not Persons, the Senie and Coherence of these three first Verses will be very hard to be made out. Bendes there is Evidence arough in several Parts of it, that the Subject of St. Paul's Discourse here is πρευμαπκώς iresons endowed with spiritual Gists, contending for Precedency in consideration of their Gists. See vo. 13, &c. of this Chapter; and to what purpose else, says he, ch. 14.5. Greater is he that prophesieth than he that speaketh with Tongues?

This was the fault the Apostle was here correcting, and 'tis not likely he should exhort them all promiscuously to seek the principal and most eminent Gists at the end of a Dilcourse, wherein he had been demonstrating to them by the Example of the humane Body, that there ought to be Diverlities of Gifts and Functions in the Church, but that there ought to be no Schiffin, Emulation, or Contest amongst them, upon the account of the Exercise of those Gifts. ST. And in this Sense the word Index is taken in the next Chapter, ver. 4. where St. Paul puriously the same Argument, exhorts them to mutual Charity, good Will and Assection, which he assures them is presentable to any Gifts whas soever. Besides, to what purpose should he exhort them to cover earnessly the best Gifts, when the obtaining of this or that Gift did not at all lie in their Desires or Endeavours, the Apostle having just before told them, ver. 11. that the Spirit divides those Gifts to every Man severally as he will, and those he writ to had their Allotment already. He might as reasonably, according to his own Dostrine, in this very Chapter, bid the Foot covet to be the Hand, or the Ear to be the Eye. Let it be remembred therefore to restifie this, that St. Paul says, ver. 17. of this Chapter; If the whole Body were the Eye, where were the Hearing? Sc. St. Paul does not use to cross his own Design, nor contradict his own Reasoning.

1 (e) Ζηλετ τα ανευματικό. That ζηλεν does not fignifie to cover or defire, nor can be understood to be so used by St. Paul in this Sestion, I have already shewn, ch. 12. 31. That it has here the Sense that I have given it, is plain from the same Direction concerning spiritual Gitts, repeated, ver. 39. in these words, ζηλετ το προφητάξων ζό το λαλείν γλώσσαις μο καλύστε, the meaning in both places being evidently this; That they should not neglest the use of their spiritual Gifts, especially they should in the first place cultivate and exercise the Gift of Prophesying, but yet should not wholly lay aside the speaking with variety of Tongues in their Assemblies. It will perhaps be wondred why St. Paul should imploy the word ζηλεν in so unusual a Sense, but that will easily be accounted for, if what I have remarked, Ch. 14. 15. concerning St. Paul's Custom of repeating words be remembred. But besides, what is samiliar in St. Paul's way of Writing, we may find a particular Reason for his repeating the word ζηλεν here, tho in a some-what unusual Signification. He having by way of Reproof told them, that they did ζηλεν το χαρισμάτα τὰ χρεστονα, had an Emulation, or made a stir about whose Gifts were best, and were therefore take place in their Assemblies, to prevent their thinking that ζηλεν πight have too harsh a meaning, (for he is in all this Epistle very tender of offending them, and therefore sweetens all his Reproofs as much as possible) he here takes it up again, and uses it more than once in a way that approves and advises that they should ζηλεν πνευμαπικό, whereby yet he means no more but that they should not neglest their spiritual Gifts: He would have them use them in their Assemblies, but yet in such Method and Order as he directs.

2 (f) He who attentively reads this Section about spiritual Men and their Girts, may find reason to imagine that it was those who had the Gift of Tongues who caused the Disorder in the Church at Corinth, by their Forwardness to speak, and striving to be heard first, and so taking up too much of the time in their Assemblies, in speaking in unknown Tongues. For the remedying this Disorder, and better regulating of this matter amongst other things, they had recourse to St. Paul: He will not easily avoid thinking so, who considers, iff. That the first Gift which St. Paul compares with Charity, Ch. 13. and extreamly undervalues, in comparison of that Divine Vertue, is the Gift of Tongues. As if that were the Gift they most affected to shew, and most valued themselves upon; as indeed it was in it self most fitted for Ostentation in their Assemblies, of any other, if any one were inclined that way: And that the Corinthians in their present State were not exempt from Emulation, Vanity and Oftentation, is very evident.

2dly. That Cb. 14. when St. Paul compares their spiritual Gifts one with another, the first, nay and only one, that he debases and depreciates in comparison of others, is the Gifts of Tongues, which he discourses of for above 20 Verses together, in a way sit to abate a too high Esteem, and a too excessive an use of it in their Assemblies, which we cannot suppose he would have done, had they not been guilty or some such Miscarriages in the case whereof the 24th Verse is not without an Intimation.

3dly. When he comes to give Directions about the Exercise of their Gifts in their Meetings, this of Tongues is the only one that he restrains and limits, ver. 27, 28.

It that be the meaning of Tongue here, it suits well the Apostie's Design, which was to take them off from their Jewish false Apostle, who probably might have incouraged and promoted this speaking of Hebrew in their Assemblies.

6 (i) 'Tis not to be doubted but these four distinct Terms used here by the Apossle, had each his distinct Signification in his Mind and Intention, whether what may be collected from these Epistles, may sufficiently warrant us to understand them in the following Significations, I leave to the Judgment of others. 1st. But whether this or any other precise meaning of these words can be certainly made out now, it is perhaps of no great necessity to be over-curious; it being enough for the understanding the Sense and Argument of the Apossite here, to know that these Terms stand for some intelligible Discourse tending to the Edification of the Church, though of what kind each of them was in particular we certainly known not.

And as there is occasion often to remark, he must be little versed in the Writing of St. P. E. A., who does not observe, that when he has used a term, he is apt to repeat it again in the same Discourse in a way peculiar to himself, and somewhat varied from its ordinary Signification. So having here in the foregoing Verse used ν ν κ for the Sentiment of his own Mind, which was unprositable to others when he pray'd in a Tongue unknown to them, and opposed it to πνεῦμα, which he used there for his own Sense, accompanying his own Words, intelligible to himself, when by the impulse of the Spirit he pray'd in a Foreign Tongue, he here in this Verse continues to use praying, πω πνεῦμαπι, and πω νοί, in the same Opposition, the one for praying in a strange Tongue, which alone his own Mind understood and accompanied: The other for praying, so as that the meaning of his Mind in those Words he uttered, was made known to others, so that they were also benefited. This use of πνεῦμαπι is farther confirmed in the next Verse: and what he means by νεί here, he expresses by είνα 1905, ver. 19. and there explains the meaning of it.

And sometimes they are all comprehended under this one Name, the Law, as here, for the Passage cited is in Island.

If there were no such Disorder amongst them, there would have been no need for the Regulations given in the end of this Verse, and the 7 Verses following, especially ver. 31, 32. where he tells them, they all may prophesic one by one, and that the Motions of the Spirit were not so ungovernable, as not to leave a Man Master of himself. He must not think himself under a necessity of speaking as soon as he found any impulse of the Spirit upon his Mind.

NOTES.

34 (g) May not this probably be faid to make them asham'd of their Leader, whom they were so forward to glory in? For 'tis not unlikely that their questioning and denying the Refurrection came from their new Apostle, who raised such Opposition against St. Paul.

35 (b) If we will allow St. Paul to know what he fays, it is plain from what he answers, that he understands these words to contain two Questions. Ist. How comes it to pass that dead Men are raised to life again, would it not be better they should live on: Why do they die to live again? 2dly. With what Bodies shall they return to Life? To both these he distinctly answers, viz. That those who are raised to an heavenly State, shall have other Bodies: And next that it is sit that Men should die, Death being no improper way to the attaining other Bodies. This he shews there is so plain and common an Instance of in the sowing of all Seeds, that he thinks it a foolish thing to make a difficulty of it; and then proceeds to declare it as they shall have others, so they shall have better Bodies than they had before, viz. spiritual and incorruptible.

39 (i) The scope of the place makes it evident, that by Flesh St. Paul here means Bodies, viz. That God has given to the several forts of Animals Bodies in Shape, Texture and Organization very different one from another, as he has thought good, and so he can give to Men at the Resurrection Bodies of very different Constitutions and Qualities from those they had

NOTES.

42 (k) The Refurrection of the Dead here spoken of, is not the Resurrection of all Mankind in common, but only the Resurrection of the Just. This will be evident to any one who observes that St. Paul having, ver. 22. declared that all Men shall be made alive again, tells the Corinthians, ver. 23. That it shall not be all at once, but at several Distances of Time. First of all Christ rose, afterwards next in order to him the Saints should all be raised, which Resurrection of the Just is that which he treats, and gives an account of to the end of this Discourse and Chapter, and so never comes to the Resurrection of the Wicked, which was to be the third and last in order: So that from the 23d Verse to the end of this Chapter, all that he says of the Resurrection, is a Description only of the Resurrection of the Just, tho he calls it here by the general name of the Resurrection of the Dead. That this is so, there is so much Evidence, that there is scarce a Verse from the 41st to the end, that does not evince it.

1st. What in this Refurrection is raised, St. Paul affures us, ver. 43. is raised in Glory, but the Wicked are not raised in Glory.

of the heavenly Adam, ver. 49. which cannot belong to the wicked. We shall all be changed, that by putting on Incorruptibility and Immortality, Death may be swallowed up of Victory, which God giveth us through our Lord Jesus Christ, ver. 51, 52, 53, 54, 57. which cannot likewise belong to the Damned. And therefore we and us must be understood to be spoken in the name of the Dead that are Christ's, who are to be raised by themselves before the rest of Mankind.

3dly. He fays, ver. 52. that when the Dead are raised, they who are alive shall be chang'd in the twinkling of an Eye. Now that these dead are only the dead in Christ which shall rise first, and shall be caught up in the Clouds to meet the Lord in the Air, is plain from 1 Hess.

4. t6, 17.

4thly. He teaches, ver. 54. That by this Corruptibles putting on Incorruption, is brought to pass the saying, that Death is swallowed up of Victory. But I think no body will say, that the Wicked have Victory over Death: yet that according to the Apostle here belongs to all those whose corruptible Bodies have put on Incorruption, which therefore must be only those that rise the second in order. From whence it is clear that their Resurrection alone is that which is here mentioned and described.

It is fown in dishonour, 43 it is raised in glory: It is fown in weakness, it is raised in power:

NOTES.

5thly. A farther Proof whereof is ver. 56, 57. in that their Sins being taken away, the Sting whereby Death kills is taken away. And hence St. Paul fays, God has given us the Victory, which is the same us or we who should bear the Image of the heavenly Adam, ver. 49. And the same we who should all be changed, ver. 51, 52. All which places can therefore belong to none but those who are Christ's, who shall be raised by themselves the second in order before the rest of the Dead.

'Tis very remarkable what Sr. Paul fays this 51st Verse, We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be charged in the twinkling of an Eye. The reason he gives for it, ver. 53. is, because this corruptible thing must put on Incorruption, and this mortal thing must put on Immortality. How? why by putting off Flesh and Blood, by an instantaneous Change, because as he tills us, ver. 50. Flesh and Blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God; and therefore to fit Believers for that Kingdom, those who are alive at Christ's coming, shall be changed in the twinkling of an Eye, and those that are in their Graves shall he changed likewise at the instant of their being raised, and so all the whole Collection of Saints, all the Members of Christ's Body, shall be put into a State of Incorruptibility, ver. 52. in a new fort of Bodies. Taking the Refurrection here spoken of, to be the Resurrection of all the dead promiseuously, St. Paul's Reasoning in this place can hardly be understood. But i pon a Supportion that he here describes the Resurrection of the Just only, that Resurrection which as he says, ver. 23. is to be the next after Christ's, and separate from the rest, there is nothing can be more plain, natural and easy, than St. Paul's Reasoning, and it stands thus. Men alive are Flesh and Blood, the Dead in the Graves are but the Remains of corrupted Flesh and Blood, but Flesh and Blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God, neither Corruption inherit Incorruption, i. e. Immortality: therefore to make all those who are Christ's capable to enter into his eternal Kingdom of Life, as well those of them who are alive, as those of them who are raised from the dead, shall in the twinkling of an Eye be all changed, and their Cerruptible shall put on Incorruption, and their Mortal shall put on Immortality: And thus God gives them the Victory over Death through their Lord Jesus Christ. This is in short St. Taul's arguing here, and the account he gives of the Returrection of the Bleffed. But how the Wicked, who are afterwards to be restored to Life, were to be raised, and what was to become of them, he here fays nothing, as not being to his prefent purpole, which was to affure the Corinthians by the Refurrection of Christ, of a happy Resurrection to Believers, and thereby to incourage them to continue stedfast in the Faith which had such a Reward. That this was his defign, may be feen by the beginning of his Discourse; ver. 12-21. and by the Conclution, ver. 58. in these words; Wherefore, my beloved Brethren, be ye stedfast, unmowhile, always abounding in the Work of the Lord; for afmuch as ye know that your Labour is not in vain in the Lord. Which Words shew that what he had been speaking of in the immediately preceding Verses, viz. their being changed, and the putting on of Incorruption and Immortality, and their having thereby the Victory through Jesus Christ, was what belong'd folely to the Saints, as a Reward to those who remained steddass, and abounded in the Work of the Lord.

The like me of the like, though shorter Discourse of the Resurrection, wherein he describes only that of the Bleffed, he makes to the Theffalonians, 1 Theff. 4. 13-18. which he concludes thus; Wherefore comfort one another with thefe Words.

So is the Refuression of the Dead, it is form in Corruption, i.e. mortal corruptible Men are sown, being corruptible and weak. The words no farther off than ver. 46. are these; Ana's' πρώπο το πνευμαπιον' άλλα' το ψευμαπιον, έπειτα το πνευμαπιόν. The like way of speaking we have, Mat. 1. 20. and Iuke 1. 35. in both which the Person of our Saviour is express'd by Adjectives of the Neuter Gender. To any of all which places 1 do not think any one will add the Substantive σώμα Body, to make out the Sense. That then which is meant here being this, That this mortal Man shall put on Immortality, and this corruptible Man Incorruptibility, any one will easily find another Nominative Case to σπείσεπι is fown, and not σώμα Body, when he considers the Sense of the place, wherein the Apossle's purpose is to speak of νεκροί mortal Men, being dead and raised again to Life, and made immortal. CORINTHIANS.

SYNOPSIS.

Aint Paul having writ his first Epistle to the Corinthians, to try, as he says himself, Chap. 2. 9. what Power he had still with that Church, wherein there was a great Faction against him, which he was attempting to break, was in pain till he found what Success it had; ch. 2. 12, 13. & 7.5. But when he had by Titus received an Account of their Repentance, upon his former Letter; of their Submission to his Orders; and of their good Disposition of Mind towards him, he takes Courage, speaks of himself more freely, and justifies himself more boldly, as may be seen, ch. 1. 12. & 2. 14. & 6. 10. & 10. 1. & 13. 10. And as to his Opposers, he deals more roundly and sharply with them, than he had done in his former Epistle, as appears from ch. 2. 17. & 4. 2-5. & 5. 12. & 6. 11-16. & 11. 11. & 12. 15.

The Observation of these Particulars may possibly be of use to give us some light, for the better understanding of this second Epistle, especially if we add, that the main Business of this, as of his former Epistle, is to take off the People from the new Leader they had got, who was St. Paul's Opposer; and wholly to put an end to the Faction and Disorder which that salse Apostle had caused in the Church of Corinth. He also in this Epistle stirs them up

INTRODUCTION.

TEXT.

PAUL an Apostle of Jesus Christ, by the Will of God, and Timothy our Brother (a), to the Church of God which is in Corinth, with all the Christians that are in all Achaia (b); Favour and Peace be to you from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

PAul an apostle of Jefus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother, unto the church of God which is at Corinth, with all the saints which are in all Achaia:

Grace be to you, and 2 peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

NOTES.

1 (a) Brother, i. e. either in the common Faith; and so, as we have already remarked, he frequently calls all the Converted, as Rom. 1. 13. and in other places; or Brother in the Work of the Ministry, vid. Rom. 16. 21. 1 Cor. 13. 10. To which we may add, that St. Paul may be supposed to have given Timothy the Title of Brother here for Dignity's sake, to give him a Reputation above his Age amongst the Corinthians, to whom he had before sent him, with some kind of Authority to restifie their Disorders. Timothy was but a young Man, when St. Paul writ his sirst Epistle to him, as appears, 1 Tim. 4. 12. Which Epistle, by the Consent of all, was writ to Timothy after he had been at Corinth: And in the Opinion of some very learned Men, not less than Eight Years after; and therefore his calling him. Brother here, and joining him with himself in writing this Epistle, may be to let the Corinthians see, that though he were so young who had been sent to them, yet it was one whom St. Paul thought fit to treat very much as an equal.

C O N T E N T S.

His first part of this Second Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians, is spent in justifying himself against several Imputations from the opposite Faction. And setting himself right in the Opinion of the Corinthians. The Particulars whereof we shall take notice of in the following Numbers.

SECT. II. N. I.

CHAP. I. 3----14.

CONTENTS.

E begins with justifying his former Letter to them, which had afflicted them, vid. ch. 7. 7, 8. by telling them, that he thanks God for his Deliverance out of his Afflictions, because it enables him to comfort them by the Example both of his Affliction and Deliverance, acknowledging the Obligation he had to them and others for their Prayers and Thanks for his Deliverance, which he prefumes they could not but put up for him, fince his Conscience bears him witness (which was his Comfort) that in his Carriage to all Men, and to them more especially, he had been direct and fincere, without any felf or carnal Interest, and that what he writ to them had no other Defign but what lay open, and they read in his Words, and did also acknowledge, and he doubted not but they should always acknowledge, part of them acknowledging alfo, that he was the Man they gloried in, as they shall be his Glory in the day of the Lord. From what St. Paul fays in this Section, (which if read with Attention will appear to be writ with a turn of great Infinuation) it may be gathered, that the opposite Faction indeavour'd to evade the Force of the former Epiftle, by fuggelting,

An.Ch.57 gefting, that whatever he might pretend, St. Paul was a cunning Neronis; artificial self-interested Man, and had some hidden Design in it, which Accusation appears in other parts also of this Epittle; as, ch. 4. 2, 5.

S E C T. II. N. 2.

CHAP. I. 15.----II. 17.

CONTENTS

St. Paul had promifed to call on the Corinthians in his way to Macedonia, but failed. This his Oppofers would have to be from Levity in him, or a Mind that regulated it felf wholly by carnal Interest; vid. ver. 17. To which he answers, that God himself having confirmed him amongst them, by the Unction and Earnest of his Spirit in the Ministery of the Gospel of his Son, whom he Paul had preached to them steadily the same, without any the least Variation, or unsaying any thing he had at any time delivered, they could have no Ground to suspect him to be an unstable uncertain Man, that would play fast and loose with them, and could not be depended on in what he said to them. This is what he says, ch. 1. 15-22.

In the next place he, with a very folemn Asseveration, professes that it was to spare them that he came not to them. This he explains, ch. 1. 23. & 2. 11.

He gives another Reason, ch. 2. 12, 13. why he went on to Macedonia, without coming to Corinth, as he had purposed, and that was the Uncertainty he was in by the not coming of Titus, what Temper they were in at Corinth. Having mentioned his Journey to Macedonia, he takes notice of the Success which God gave to him there and every where, declaring of what Consequence his Preaching was both to the Salvation and Condemnation of those who received or rejected it: professing again his Sincerity and Disinteressedness, not without a severe Resection on their salse Apostle. All which we find in the following Verses, viz. ch. 2. 14—17. and is all very suitable, and pursuant to his Design in this Epistle, which was to establish his Authority and Credit amongst the Corinthians.

PARAPHRASE.

A Nd in this confidence I was minded to come unto you before, that you might have a fecond benefit:

6 And to pass by you into Macedonia, and to come again out of Macedonia unto you, and of you to be brought on my way toward Judea.

thus minded, did I use lightness? or the things that I purpose, do I purpose according to the steel, that with me there should be yea, yea, and may, nay?

18 But as God is true, our word toward you, was not yea and nay.

For the Son of God, Jefus Christ, who was preached among you by us, even by me, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, was not yea and nay, but in him was yea.

For all the promifes of God in him are yea, and in him amen, unto the glory of God by us.

Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, & hath anointed us is God:

22 Who hath alfo fealed us,

Having this Perswasion (viz.) of your 15. Love and Esteem of me, I purposed to come unto you e're this, that you might have a fecond Gratification (i), and to take you in my way to Macedonia, and from thence return to you again, and by you be brought on in my way to Judea. If this fell not out fo as I purpo- 17. fed, am I therefore to be condemned of Fiekleness? or am I to be thought an uncertain Man, that talks forwards and backwards, one that has no regard to his Word any further than may fuit his carnal Interest? But God is my 18. Witness, that what you have heard from me has not been uncertain, deceitful, or variable. For Jefus Christ the Son of God, who was preached among you by me, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, was not, fometimes one thing, and fometimes another, but has been shewn to be uniformly one and the same in the Counsel or Revelation of God, (for all the Promises of 20. God do all confent and fland firm in him) to the Glory of God by my preaching. Now it is God who establishes me with you, for the preaching of the Gospel, who has anointed (k), And also sealed (1) me, and given me the ear-

NOTES.

15 (i) By the word $\chi_{\alpha'\beta'\beta'}$, which our Bibles translate Benefit or Grace, its plain the Apostle means his being present among them a second time, without giving them any greet or displeasure. He had been with them before almost two Years together with Satisfaction and Kindness. He intended them another Visit, but it was, he says, that they might have the like Gratification, i.e. the like Satisfaction in his Company a second time, which is the same he says, 2 Cor. 2. 1.

The Reasoning of St. Paul, ver. 18—22, whereby he would convince the Corinthians, that he is not a fickle unfleady Man, that fays and unfays as may fuit his Humour or Interest; being a little obscure, by reason of the shortness of his Stile here, which has lest many things to be supplied by the Reader, to connect the Parts of the Argumentation, and make the Deduction clear. I hope I shall be pardon'd if I endeavour to set it in its clear light, for the take of ordinary Readers.

God hath fet me apart to the Ministery of the Gospel by an extraordinary Call; has attended my Mission by the miraculous Gifts of the Holy Ghost, and given me the earnest of element Life in my Heart by his Spirit, and hath confirmed me amongst you in preaching the Gospel, which is all uniform, and of a piece, as I have preach'd it to you, without emping in the least: And there, to the Glory of God, have shewn that all the Promises encur, and are unalterably certain in Christ. I therefore having mever falter'd in any thing I have said to you, and having all these Attestations of being under the special Direction and Guidance of God himself, who is unalterably true, cannot be suspected of dealing doubly with you in any thing relating to my Ministery.

24 (n) It is plain St. Paul's Doctrine had been opposed by some of them at Corinth, vid. 1 Cor. 15. 12. His Apostleship questioned, 1 Cor. 9. 1, 2. 2 Cor. 13. 3. He himself triumphed over, as if he durst not come, 1 Cor. 4. 18, they saying his Letters were weighty and powerful, but his bodily Presence weak, and his Speech contemptible; 2 Cor. 10. This being the State his Reputation was then in at Corinth, and he having promised to cone to them, 1 Cos. 16. 5. he could not but think it necessary to excuse his failing them, by Reasons that should be both convincing and kind; such as are contained in this

2 For if I make you forry, who is he then that maketh me glad, but the fame which is made forry by me?

And I wrote this fame unto you, lest when I came, I should have forrow from them of whom I ought to rejoice, having confidence in you all, that my joy is the joy of you all.

For out of much affliction and anguish of heart, I wrote unto you with many tears; not that you should be grieved, but that ye might know the love which I have more abundantly unto you.

But if any have caused grief, he hath not grieved me, but in part: that I may not overcharge you all.

I refolved too, it should be without bringing Sorrow with me (o); For if I grieve you, who is there, when I am with you, to comfort me, but those very Persons whom I have discompofed with Grief? And this very thing (p), which made you fad, I writ to you, not coming my felf, on purpose that when I came I might not have Sorrow from those from whom I ought to receive Comfort; having this Bellef and Confidence in you all, that you, all of you, make my Joy and Satisfaction to much your own, that you would remove all cause of Disturbance before I came. For I writ unto you with great Sadness of Heart, and many Tears, not with Intention to grieve you, but that you might know the overflow of Tenderness and Affection which I have for you. But if the Fornicator has been the cause of Grief, I do not fay he has been fo to me, but in some degree to you all, that I may not lay load on him (q);

NOTES.

1 (0) That this is the meaning of this Verse, and not that he would not come to them in Sorrow 2 second time, is past doubt, since he had never been with them in Sorrow 2 first time. Vid. 2 Cor. 1. 15.

3 (p) Kal syeala vitis to n auto, And I will to you this very thing. That eyeala, I writ, relates here to the first Epistle to the Corinthians, is evident, because it is to used in the very next verse, and again a little lower, ver. 9. What therefore is it in his first Epistle which he here calls to auto, this very thing, which he had writ to them? I auswer, the Punishment of the Formicator. This is plain by what follows here to ver. 11. especially if it be compared with r Cor. 4. 21. & 5. 8. For there he writes to them to punish that Person; whom if he, St. Psul, had come himself before it was done, he must have come, as he calls it, with a Rod, and have himself chastised: But now that he knows that the Corinthians had punish'd him in Compliance to his Letter; and he had had this Trial or their Obedience, he is so far from continuing the severity, that he writes to them to togive him, and take him again into their Affection.

5 (q) St. Paul being satisfied with the Corinthians for their ready Compliance with his Orders, in his former Letter, to punish the Fornicator, intercedes to have him redored; and to that end lessens his Fault, and declares however, he might have caused Grief to the Corinthians, yet he had caused none to him.

6 (d) 'Ου γελμμαίΦ ακλά ανευμάτΦ, Not of the Letter but of the Spirit. But both Letter and Spirit must be understood of the fame thing, viz. The Letter of the Law, and the Spirit of the Law. And in Fact we find St. Paul truly a Minister of the Spirit of the Law, effeccially in his Epithle to the Hebrews, where he thews what a spiritual Sense ran through the Mofaical Inflitution and Writings.

7- Spirit gives Life. But if the Ministery of the Law written in Stone, which condemns to Death, were so glorious to Moses, that his Face shone so that the Children of Israel could not steadily behold the Brightness of it, which was but temporary, and was quickly to vanish (f).

8. How can it be otherwise, but that the Ministery of the Spirit, which giveth Life, should confer more Glory and Lustre on the Ministers of the Gospel? For if the Ministration of Condemnation were Glory, the Ministery of Justification (g) in the Gospel doth certainly much more exceed in Glory. Though even the Glory that Moses's Ministration had, was no Glory, in comparison of the far more excelling Glory of the Gospel-Ministery (b).

Farther, if that which is temporary, and to be done away, were delivered with Glory, how the letter killeth but the fpirit giveth life.

But if the ministration of death written and engraven in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not stedfailly behold the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenance, which glory was to be done a-way:

How shall not the mi- 8 nistration of the spirit be rather glorious?

For if the ministration 9 of condemnation be glory, much more doth the ministration of righteourners exceed in glory.

For even that which to was made glorious, had no glory in this respect, by reason of the glory that excelleth.

NOTES.

7 (f) Range value, done away, is applied here to the shining of Moses's Face, and to the Law, ver. 11, & 13. In all which places it is used in the Present Tense, and has the Signification of an Adjective, standing for temporary, or of a Duration, whose end was determined, and is opposed to to user, that which remaineth, i. e. that which is lasting, and that no predetermined end set to it, as ver. 11. where the Gospel-dispensation is called to user. that which remaineth: This may help us to understand in Signs as absar, ver. 18. Som Glory to Glory, which is manifestly opposed to Dosn range value, the Glory done away, of this verse; And to plainly signifies a continued lasting Glory of the Ministers of the Gospel; which, as he tells us there, consisted in their being changed into the Image and clear Representation of the Lord himself; as the Glory of Moses consisted in the transitory Brightness of his Face, which was a faint Resection of the Glory of God appearing to him in the Mount.

o (2) Audivia the Sitesierium, the Ministration of Righteoufness; so the Ministery of the Goffiel's called, because by the Goffiel a way is provided for the Justification of those who have transgressed: But the Law has nothing but rigid Condemnation for all Transgressors, and therefore is called here the Ministration of Contemnation.

10 (b) Though the thewing that the Ministery of the Gospel is more glorious than that of the Law, be what St. Paul is upon here, thereby to justifie himself, if he has assumed some Authority and Commendation to himself, in his Ministery and Apostleship; yet in his thus industriously placing the Ministery of the Gospel in Honour above that of Moses, may be not possibly have an Eye to the judaising salle Apostle of the Corinthians, to let them see what little regard was to be had to that Ministration, in comparison of the Ministery of the Gospel?

NOTES.

(i) Here St. Rull mentions another Pre-emincy and Superiority of Glory in the Gospelover the Law, viz. That the Law was to cease and to be abolished, but the Gospel to usmain and never be abolished.

of an Apostle and Minister of the Gospel, or the Glory belonging to his Ministery in the Gospel, is evident by the whole foregoing Comparison which he has made, which is all along between fractia, the Ministery of the Law and of the Gospel, and not between the Law and the Gospel themselves. The calling of it Hose instead of Glory here, where he speaks of his having of it, is the language of Modesty, which more particularly suited his present purpose. For the Conclusion, which in this Verse he draws from what went before, plainly shews the Apostle's Design in this Discourse to be the Justisying his speaking freely of himself and others, his Argument amounting to thus much.

Having therefore so honourable an Employment, as is the Ministery of the Gospel, which far exceeds the Ministery of the Law in Glory, though even that gave so great a Lustre to Moses's Face, that the Children of Israel could not with fixed Eyes look upon him, I, as becomes one of such hopes, in such a Post as sets me above all mean Considerations and Compliances, use great Freedom and Plainness of Speech in all things that concern my Ministery.

13 (1) Πείς το μι απνίσω, &c. That the Children of Israel could not stedfastly look, &c. St. Paul is here justifying in himself, and other Ministers of the Gospel, the Plainnefs and Opennefs of their Preaching, which he had afferted in the immediately preceding Verse. These Words therefore here, must of necessity be understood not of Moles, but of the Ministers of the Gospel, viz. That it was not the Obscurity of their preaching, not any thing vailed in their way of proposing the Gospel, which was the cause why the Children of Ifrael did not understand the Law to the bottom, and see Christ, the end of it, in the Writings of Mofes. What St. Paul says in the next Verse, But their Minds were blinded : for until this day remaineth the same Vail untaken away, plainly determines the Words we are upon, to the Senfe I have taken them in: For what fenfe is this? Mofes put a Vail over his Face, so that the Children of Israel could not see the end of the Law; but their Minds were blinded; for the Vail remains upon them until this Day. But this is very good Senfe, and to St. Paul's purpose, viz. "We the Ministers of the Gospel speak plainly and openly, and put no Vail upon our selves, as Moses did, whereby to hinder " the Jews from feeing Christ in the Law: But that which hinders them, is a Blindnets on " their Minds, which has been always on them, and remains to this Day. This feems to be an obviating an Objection which some among the Corinthians might make to his boafling of fo much Plainness and Clearness in his preaching; viz. If you preach the Gospel, and Christ contained in the Law, with such a shining Clearness and Evidence, how comes it that the Jews are not converted to it? His Reply is, "Their Unbelief comes not from " any Obscurity in our preaching, but from a Blindness which rests upon their Minds to " this Day; which shall be taken away when they turn to the Lord.

NOTES.

18 (r) St. Paul justifies his Freedom and Plainness of Speech, by his being made by God himfelf a Minister of the Gospel, which is a more glorious Ministery than that of Mofes, in promulgating the Law. This he does from ver. 6. to ver. 12. inclusively. From thence to the end of the Chapter, he justifies his Liberty of speaking, in that he, as a Minister of the Gospel, being illuminated with greater and brighter Rays of Light than Moses, was to speak (as he did) with more freedom and clearness than Moses had done. This being the scope of St. Paul in this place, 'tis visible, that all from these words, Who put a Vail upon his Face, wer. 13. to the beginning of ver. 18. is a Parenthesis; which being laid afide, the Comparison between the Ministers of the Gospel and Moses stands clear; " Mofes with a Vail covered the Brightness and Glory of God, which shone in his " Countenance, but we the Ministers of the Gospel with open Countenances, καπατριζόμετει, reflecting as Mirrors the Glory of the Lord. So the word καπατριζόμινα, must fignify here, and not beholding as in a Mirror, because the Comparison is between the Ministers of the Gospel and Moses, and not between the Ministers of the Gospel and the Children of Israel: Now the Action of beholding was the Action of the Children of Israel, but of shining or restelling the Glory received in the Mount was the Action of Moses, and therefore it must be something answering that in the Ministers of the Gospel wherein the Comparison is made, as is farther manifest in another express part of the Comparison between the vailed Face of Mofes, ver. 13. and the open Face of the Ministers of the Gospel in this Verse. The Face of Moses was vailed, that the bright shining or Glory of God remaining on it, or reflected from it, might not be feen, and the Faces of the Ministers of the Gospel are open, that the bright shining of the Gospel, or the Glory of Christ, may be seen. Thus the Justness of the Comparison stands fair, and has an easy Sense, which is hard to be made out, if κατοπτριζόμενοι be translated beholding as in a Glass.

The antive excita metaphorused, We are changed into that very Image, i. e. the Reflection of the Glory of Christ from us is so very bright and clear, that we are changed into his very Image, whereas the Light that shone in Moses's Countenance was but a faint Reflection of the Glory which he saw when God shew'd him his back-Parts; Exod. 33. 23.

And Nogue eie Agav, from Glory to Glory, i. e. with a continued Influx and renewing of Glory, in opposition to the shining of Moses's Face, which decay'd and disappear'd in a little while: Ver. 7.

This Liberty he here speaks of, ver. 17. is mappina, Liberty of Speech, mentioned ver. 12. the Subject of St. Paul's Discourse here; as is farther manifest from what immediately follows in the fix first Verses of the next Chapters, wherein an attentive Reader may find a very clear Comment on this 18th Verse we are upon, which is there explain'd in the Sense we have given of it.

For we preach not our felves, but Christ Jesus the Lord; and our selves your servants for Jesus

6 For God who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God, in the face of Jesus Christ.

But we have this treafure in earthen veffels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us.

We are troubled on every fide, yet not distressed; we are perplexed, but not indespair;

Perfecuted, but not forfaken; cast down, but not destroyed.

Always bearing about in the body, the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body.

God, cannot enlighten them. For I feek not my own Glory or fecular Advantage in preaching, but only the propagating of the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ, protessing my self your Servant for Jesus sake. For God who made Light to shine out of Darkness; hath enlightned also my dark Heart, who before saw not the end of the Law, that I might communicate the Knowledge and Light of the Glory of God, which shines in the Face (y) of Jesus Christ. But yet we, to whom this Treasure of Knowledge the Gospel of Jesus Christ is committed to be propagated in the World, are but frail Men, that fo the exceeding great Power that accompanies it may appear to be from God, and not from us. I am pressed on every side, but do not shrink: I am perplexed, but yet not fo as to diffond; Perfecuted, but yet not left to fink under it; thrown down, but not flain; Carrying about every where in my Body the Mortification, i. c. a Representation of the Sufferings of the Lord Jefus, that also the Life of Jesus riten from the Dead may be made manifest by the Energy that accompanies my prea-

NOTES.

6 (y) This is a Continuation still of the Allegory of Mofes, and the shining of his Face,

&c. fo much infifted on in the foregoing Chapter.

For the Explication whereof, give me leave to add here one word more to what I have faid upon it already; Moses by approaching to God in the Mount, had a Communication of Glory or Light from him, which irradiated from his Face when he descended from the Mount. Moses put a Vail over his Face, to hide this Light or Glory; ion both these Names St. Paul uses in this and the foregoing Chapter for the same thing. But the Giory of Light of the Knowledge of God more fully and clearly communicated by Jesus Christ, is taid here to shine in his Face, and in that respect it is that Christ in the foregoing Verse is called by St. Paul, the Image of God; and the Apolles are faid in the last Verte of the precedent Chapter, to be transformed into the same Image from Glory to Glory, i. e. by their large and clear Communications of the Knowledge of God in the Gospel, they are said to be transformed into the same Image, and to represent as Mirrors the Glory of the Lord, and to be as it were the Images of Christ, as Christis (as we are told here, ver. 4.) the Image of God.

For all things are for 15 your fakes, that the abundant grace might, through the thankfgiving of many, redound to the glory of God.

For which cause we 16 faint not, but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed day by day.

NOTES.

16 (z) I faint not. What this fignifies we have feen, ver. r. Here St. Paul gives another Proof of his Sincerity in his Ministery, and that is the Sufferings and Danger of Death, which he daily incurs by his Preaching the Gospel. And the reason why those Sufferings and Dangers deter him not, nor make him at all flag, he tells them, is, the Assurance he has that God, through Christ, will raise him again, and reward him with Immortality in Glory. This Argument he pursues, th. 4. 7. & 5.9.

If so be, that being cloathed, we shall not be found naked.

For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be uncloathed, but cloathed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.

Mind is daily renewed: For the more my Sufferings are here in propagating the Gospel, which at worst are but transient and light, the more will they procure me an exceedingly far greater Addition of that Glory (a) in Heaven which is folid and eternal: I having no regard to the visible things of this World, but to the invisible things of the other; for the things that are feen are temporal, but those that are not feen eternal. For I know, that if this my Body, which is but as a Tent for my fojourning here upon Earth for a short time, were dissolved, I shall have another of a divine Original, which shall not, like Buildings made with Mens Hands, be subject to decay, but shall be eternal in the Heavens. For in this Tabernacle (b) I groan earnestly, desiring, without putting off this mortal earthly Body by Death, to have that celestial Body superinduced: If so be, the coming (c) of Christ shall overtake me in this Life before I put off this Body. For we that are in the Body groan under the Pressures and Inconveniencies that attend us in it, which yet we are not therefore willing to put off, but had rather, without dying, have it changed (d) into a celestial immortal Body, that so this mortal State may be put an end to, by an immediate

For whatever it be that St. Paul here means by being clothed upon, it is something that is peculiar to the Saints, who have the Spirit of God, and shall be with the Lord in contra-distinction to others, as appears from the following Verses, and the whole Tenor of this Place.

5 (c) The Spirit is mentioned in more places than one, as the Pledge and Earnest of Immottality; more particularly, Eph. 1, 13, 14. which compared with Rom. 8, 23. shews that the Inheritance whereof the Spirit is the Earnest, is the same which the Apostle speaks of here, viz. the Possession of immortal Bodies.

This Sense the foregoing Verse leads us to, and what he says in this Verse, that he endeavours (whether in Ingertes) to be well-pleasing to the Lord, i. e. do what is well-pleasing to him, shews, that neither of these words can fignise here his being with Christ in Heaven. For when he is there, the time of indeavouring to approve himself is over.

NOTES.

(b) St. Paul from cb. 4. 12. to this place, has, to convince them of his Uprightness in his Ministery, been shewing that the Hopes and sure Expectation he had of eternal Life, kept him steady and resolute in an open sincere preaching of the Gospel, without any Tricks or deceitful Artisice. In which his Argument stands thus; "Knowing that God" who raised up Christ, will raise me up again, I without any Fear or Consideration of what it may draw upon me, preach the Gospel faithfully, making this account, that the momentaneous Afflictions which for it I may suffer here, which are but slight in comparison of the eternal things of another Life, will exceedingly increase my Happiness in the other World, where I long to be, and therefore Death, which brings me home to Christ, is no Terror to me, all my care is, that whither I am to stay longer in this body, or quickly to leave it, living or dying I may approve my self to Christ in my Minimitery. In the next two Verses he has another Argument, to fix in the Corinthians the same Thoughts of him, and that is the Punishment he shall receive at the day of Judgment, if he should neglect to preach the Gospel faithfully, and not indeavour sincerely and earnessly to make converts to Christ.

his fpeaking well of himlelf, had been objected to him as a fault. And in this lay his great Difficulty, how to deal with this People. If he answer'd nothing to what was talk'd of him, his Silence might be interpreted Guilt and Confusion: If he defended himself, he was accused of Vanity, Self-commendation and Folly. Hence it is that he uses so many Reasons to shew, that his whole Carriage was upon Principles far above all worldly Confiderations: and tells them here, once for all, that the account he gives of himself is only to furnish them who are his Friends, and sluck to him, with matter to justifie themselves in their Esteem of him, and to reply to the contrary Faction.

died for all, then all were dead: And that if he died for all, his Intention was, that they who by him have attain'd to a State of Life, should not any longer live to themselves alone, seeking only their own private advantage, but should imploy their Lives in promoting the Gospel and Kingdom of Christ, who for them

NOTES.

(k) This may be understood of the Leaders of the opposite Faction, who, as 'tis manifest from ch. 10. 7, 15. & 11. 12, 22, 23. pretended to some thing that they gloried in, though St. Paul assures us they were satisfied in Conscience that they had no solid Ground of glorying

13 (1) St. Paul from the 13th Verse of this Chapter, to ch. 6. 12. gives another Reason for his disinterested Carriage in preaching the Gospel, and that is his Love to Christ, who by his Death having given him Life who was dead, he concludes, that in Gratitude he ought not to live to himself any more. He therefore being as in a new Creation, had now no longer any regard to the Things or Persons of this World, but being made by God a Minister of the Gospel, he minded only the faithful Discharge of his Duty in that Ambassy, and pursuant thereunto took care that his Behaviour should be such as he describes, ch. 6.

(m) Besides my felf, i. e. in speaking well of my self in my own Justification. He that observes what St. Faul says, ch. 11. 1, & 16—21. ch. 12.6 & 11. will scarce doubt but that the speaking of himself, as he did, was by his Enemies called glorying, and imputed to him as Folly and Madness.

16 (n) This may be supposed to be said with Reslection on their Jewish salse Apostle, who gloried in his Circumcision, and perhaps that he had seen Christ in the Flesh, or was some way related to him.

To make this 16th and 17th Veries coherent to the rest of St. Paul's Discourse here, they must be understood in reference to the salfe Apostle, against whom St. Paul is here justifying himself, and makes it his main business in this as well as his former Epistle, to shew what that salfe Apostle gloried in, was no just cause of boatling. Pursuant to this design of finking the Authority and Credit of that salse Apostle, St. Paul in these and the following Verses dexterously infinuates these two things. 1st. That the Ministery of Reconciliation being committed to him, they should not forsake him to hearken to, and follow that Pretender. 2dly. That they being in Christ, and the new Creation, should, as he does, not know any Man in the Flesh, not esteem or glory in that salse Apostle, because he might perhaps pretend to have seen our Saviour in the Flesh, or have heard him, or the like. Krins signifies Creation, and is so translated, Rom. 8. 22.

II (z) St. Paul writing to those who knew the Temper they were in, and what were the Objects of the feveral Passions which were raised in them, doth both here and in the 7th Verse forbear to mention by and to what they were moved out of Modesly and Respect to them. This is necessary for the Information of ordinary Readers, to be implied as can be best collected from the main Design of the Apostle in these two Epissles, and from several Paffages giving us light in it.

(a) Vid. Ver. 15. * Clear. This word answers very well a yros in the Greek: but then to be clear in English, is generally understood to fignishe not to have been guilty; which could not be the Senfe of the Apoille, he having charged the Corinchians fo warmly in his first Epistle. His meaning must therefore be, that they had now refolved on a contrary Courle, and were so far clear, i. c. were set right, and in good Disposition again, as he

I think it cannot well be translated in this matter, understanding thereby the Punishment of the Fornicator. For that was not the matter St. Paul had been speaking of, but the Corinthians fiding with the falle Apostle against him, was the Subject of the preceding part of this, and of the three or four foregoing Chapters, wherein he justifies himself against their Slanders, and invalidates the Pretences of the adverse Party. This is that which lay chiefly upon his Heart, and which he labours might and main both in this and the former Epistle to tectifie, as the Foundation of all the Disorders amongst them. And confequently is the matter wherein he rejoyces to find them all fet right. Indeed in the immediately following Verfe, he mentions his having writ to them concerning the Fornicator, but it is only as an Argument of his Kindness and Concern for them: But that what was the great cause of his Rejoycing, what it was that gave him the great Satisfaction, was the breaking the Faction, and the re-uniting them all to himfelf, which he expresses in the word all, emphatically used, ver. 13, 15. and from thence he concludes thus, ver. 16. I rejoyce therefore that I have confidence in you in all things. His Mind was now at rest, the Partizans of his Opposer the falle Apostle having forsaken that Leader whom they had fo much gloried in, and being all now come over to St. Paul, he doubted not but all would go well, and fo leaves off the Subject he had been upon in the feven foregoing Chapters, viz. the Juflification of himfelf, with here and there Reflections on that falfe Apostle-13 (b) Fid. ver. 15.

8 (e) To the vicerees a yairs y those build av, shewing the World a Proof of the genuine Temper of their Love. Thus I think it should be rendred. St. Paul, who is so careful all along in this Epifile, to fhew his Efleem and good Opinion of the Corinthians, taking all Occasions to speak and presume well of them, whereof we have an eminent Example in these words, le abound in your Love to us, in the immediately preceding Verse, he could not in this place fo far forget his Defign of treating them very tenderly, now they were newly seturn'd to him, as to tell them, that he fent Titus for the promoting their Contribution to make a trial of the Sincerity of their Love, this had been but an ill Expression of that Confidence which, ch. 7. 16. he fells them, he has in them in all things. Taking therefore, as without Violence to the Words one may, Soupallor for drawing out a Proof, and yvinov for genuine, the words very well express St. Paul's obliging way of stirring up the Corintaians to a liberal Contribution, as I have understood them. For St. Paul's Dilcourte to them briefly flands thus; "The great Liberality of the poor Macedonians, made "me fend Titus to you, to carry on the Collection of your Charity which he had begun, " that you who excell in all other Virtues, might be eminent also in this. But this I urge, " not as a Command from God, but upon Occasion of others Liberality, lay before you an " opportunity of giving the World a Proof of the genuine Temper of your Charity, which, 44 like that of your other Virtues, loves not to come behind that of others.

Not boasting of things without our measure, that is, of other mens labour; but having hope when your faith is increased, that we shall be enlarged by you, according to our rule abundantly.

To preach the gospel in the regions beyond you, and not to boast in ancther mans line of things made ready to our hand.

But he that glorieth, let himglory in the Lord. 18 For not he that commendeth himfelf is approved, but whom the Lord commendeth.

Not extending my Boafting (z) beyond my own Bounds into Provinces not allotted to me, nor vaunting my felf of any thing I have done in anothers Labour, (a) i.e. in a Church planted by another Man's Pains: But having hope that your Faith increasing, my Province will be inlarged by you yet farther; So that I may preach the Gospel to the yet unconverted Countries beyond you, and not take Glory to my felf from another Man's Province, where all things are made ready to my hand (a). But he that will glory, let him glory or feek Praise from that which is committed to him by the Lord, or in that which is acceptable to the Lord. For not he who commends himself does thereby give a Proof of his Authority or Mission; but he whom the Lord commends by the Gifts of the Holy Ghost (b).

NOTES.

15 (2) Boafling, i. e. intermeddling, or affuming to my felf Authority to meddle, or Honour for meddling.

15, 16 (a) Here St. Paul visibly taxes the false Apostle for coming into a Church converted and gathered by another, and there pretending to be some body, and to rule all. This is another thing that makes it probable, that the Opposition made to St. Paul was but by one Man that had made himfelf the head of an opposite Faction. For it is plain it was a Stranger who came thither after St. Paul had planted this Church, who pretending to be more an Apostle than St. Paul, with greater Illumination, and more Power, fet up against him to govern that Church, and withdraw the Corinthians from following St. Paul, 114. Rules and Doctrine. Now this can never be supposed to be a Combination of Men who came to Corinth with that defigu, nor that they were different Men that came thither feparately, each fetting up for himfelf, for then they would have fallen out one with another, as well as with St. Paul: And in both Cafes St. Paul must have spoken of them in a different way from what he does now. The same Character and Carriage is given to them all throughout both these Epittles; and t Cor. 3. to. he plainly speaks of one Man, that fetting up thus to be a Peacher of the Gofpel amongst those that were already Christians, was looked upon by St. Paul to be a fault, we may fee, Rom. 15. 20.

18 (b) 'Tis of thefe Weapons of his Warfare that St. Paul speaks in this Chapter; and this by them that he untends to Iry which is the true Apoille when he comes to them.

For in one, is not put there for nothing, but makes the meaning plainly this; "I have for-" med and fitted you for one Person alone, one Husband who is Christ: I am concerned, and in care, that you may not be drawn afide from that Submission, that Obedience, that " Temper of Mind that is due fingly to him, for I hope to put you into his Hands poffessed "with pure Virgin Thoughts, wholly fixed on him, not divided, nor roving after any other, that he may take you to Wife, and marry you to himself for ever. 'Tis plain their Perverter, who opposed St. Paul, was a Jew, as we have seen. 'Twas from the Jews, from whom, of all professing Christianity, St. Paul had most trouble and opposition. For they having their Hearts fet upon their old Religion, endeavoured to inix Judaism and Christimity together: We may suppose the Case here to be much the same with that which he more fully expresses in the Epistle to the Galatians, particularly Gal. 1.6—12. & ch. 4. 2-11. & 16-21. & ch. 5. 1-13. The meaning of this place here feems to be this; I have taught you the Gospel alone, in its pure and unmixed Simplicity, by which on-" ly you can be united to Christ: But I fear lest this your new Apostle should draw you " from it, and that your Minds should not slick to that fingly, but should be corrupted by " a mixture of Judaism. After the like manner St. Paul expresses Christians being delivered from the Law, and their Freedom from the ritual Observances of the Jews, by being marned to Christ, Rom. 7. 4. which place may give some light to this.

NOTES.

19 (b) He had before given the reason, ch. 1. 23. of his not coming to them, with the like Affeveration that he uses here. If we trace the thread of St. Paul's Discourse here, we may observe, that having concluded the Justification of himself and his Apostleship by his pass Actions, ver. 13. he had it in his thoughts to tell them how he would deal with the false Apostle and his Adherents when he came, as he was ready now to do. And therefore folemnly begins, ver. 14. with behold, and tells them now the third time he was ready to come to them, to which joyning (what was much upon his mind) that he would not be burdenfome to them when he came, this fuggefied to his thoughts an Objection, (viz.) that this personal Shyness in him was but cunning, for that he design'd to draw gain from them by other hands. From which he clears himfelf by the inttance of Titus, and the Brother whom he had fent together to them, who were as far from receiving any thing from them as he himfelf. Titus and his other Messenger being thus mentioned, he thought it necessary to obviate another Suspicion that might be raised in the Minds of some of them, as if he mentioned the fending of those two as an Apology for his not coming himself; this he difclaims utterly; and to prevent any thoughts of that kind, folemnly proteins to them that in all his Carriage to them he had done nothing but for their Edification, nor had any other aim in any of his Actions but rurely that; and that he forbore coming meerly out of Respect and good Will to them. So that all from Behold this third time I am ready to come to you, ver. 14. to This third time I am coming to you, ch. 13. 1. must be looked on as an incident Discourse that fell in occasionally, though tending to the same purpose with the rest; a way of writing very usual with our Apostle, and with other Writers, who abound in quickness and variety of Thoughts as he did. Such Men are often, by new matter rising in their way, put by from what they were going and had begun to fay; which therefore they are fain to take up again, and continue at a distance; which St. Paul does here after the Interpolition of Eight Verles. Other Inflances of the like kind may be found in other places of St. Paul's Writings.

Mofes in Deuteronomy, not only because the words are the same with those in St. Matthew, but from the likenels of the Cafe. In Deuteronomy the Rule given concerns only Judicial Trials: In St. Matthew it is a Rule given for the management of Perswasion used for the reclaiming an Offender, by fair means, before coming to the utmost extremity, which is the cale of Sr. Paul here: In Deuteronomy the Judge was to hear the Witnesses, Deut. 17.6. & 19. 15. In St. Matthew the Party was to heat the Witnesses, Mat. 18. 17. which was also the case of St. Paul here; the Witnesses which he means that he made use of to perswade them being his two Epistles. That by Witnesses he means his two Epistles, is plain from his way of expressing himself here, where he carefully sets down his telling them twice, (viz.) before in his former Epiffle, ch. 4. 19. and now a fecond time in his fecond Epiffle; and also by these words ώς παρών το δευπρον, As if I were present with you a second time. By our Saviour's Rule the offended Person was to go twice to the Offender; and therefore St. Paul fays, as if I were with you a fecond time, counting his Letters as two perfonal Applications to them, as our Saviour directed should be done before coming to rougher means. Some take the Witneffes to be the three Messengers by whom his first Epistle is supposed to be fent. But this would not be according to the Method prefcribed by our Saviour in the place from which St. Paul takes the words he uses; for there were no Witnesses to be made use of in the first Application; neither, if those had been the Witnesses meant, would there have been any need for St. Paul fo carefully and expresly to have fet down as mapay to Noteest, as if prefent a second time, words which in that ease would be superfluous. Besides those three Men are no where mentioned to have been fent by him to perswade them, nor the Corinthians required to hear them, or reproved for not having done it: And laftly, they could not be better Witnestes of St. Paul's Endeavours twice to gain the Corinthians by fair means, before he proceeded to Severity, than the Epistles themselves.

4 (d) 'Eğ a'Seveias, through Weakness, in Aurainess Ges, by the Power of God, I have render'd with Appearance of Weakness, and with the Manifestation of the Power of God, which I think the Sense of the place, and the Stile of the Apostle will justifie. St. Paul fometimes uses the Greek Prepositions in a larger Sense than that Tongue ordinarily allows. Farther it is evident, that 'eğ joyn'd to a'de veiás, has not a casual signification, and therefore in the Antithesis in Dunaspeus bes, it cannot be taken casually. And it is usual for St. Paul in such cases to continue the same word, though it happens sometimes seemingly to carry the sense another way. In short, the meaning of the place is this; "Though Christ in his crucifixion appeared weak and despicable, yet he now lives to shew the Power of God in the Miracles and mighty Works which he does: So I, though I by my Sufferings and Instrmities appear weak and contemptible, yet shall I live to shew the Power of God in punishing you mi-

TO THE ROMANS.

STNOPSIS.

Efore we take into Consideration the Epistle to the Romans From Coin particular, it may not be amiss to premise, That the no Are miraculous Birth, Life, Death, Resurrection and Ascensi-vulg. 57. on of our Lord Jesus Christ, were all Events that came to Neronis 3. pass within the Confines of Judea; And that the ancient Writings of the Jewish Nation, allowed by the Christians to be of Divine Original, were appealed to as witnessing the Truth of his Mission and Doctrine, whereby it was manifest that the Jews were the Depositaries of the Proofs of the Christian Religion. This could not choose but give the Jews, who were owned to be the People of God, even in the days of our Saviour, a great Authority among the Convert Gentiles, who knew nothing of the Messias they were to believe in, but what they derived from that Nation, out of which he and his Doctrine sprung. Nor did the Jews fail to make use of this Advantage feveral ways, to the Disturbance of the Gentiles that imbraced Christianity. The Jews, even those of them that received the Gospel, were for the most part so devoted to the Law of Mofes and their ancient Rites, that they could by no means bring

Ch.57 themselves to think that they were to be laid aside. They were recession where stiff and zealous for them, and contended that they were necessary to be observed even by Christians, by all that pretended to be the People of God, and hoped to be accepted by him. This gave no small Trouble to the newly converted Gentiles, and was a great Prejudice to the Gospel, and therefore we find it complain'd of in more Places than one; *Fid. Asts 15. 1. 2 Cor. 11. 3. Gal. 2. 4. & 5. 1, 10, 12. Phil. 3. 2. Col. 2. 4, 8, 16. Tit. 1. 10, 11, 14, &c. This Remark may serve to give light not only to this Epistle to the Romans, but to several other of St. Paul's Epistles written to the Churches of converted Gentiles.

As to this Epistle to the Romans, the Apostle's principal Aim in it seems to be to persuade them to a steady Perseverance in the Profession of Christianity, by convincing them that God is the God of the Gentiles as well as the Jews; and that now under the Gospel there is no Difference between Jew and Gentile. This he does several ways.

1. By shewing that though the Gentiles were very sinful, yet the Jews, who had the Law, kept it not, and so could not upon account of their having the Law (which being broken, aggravated their Faults, and made them as far from righteous as the Gentiles themselves) have a Title to exclude the Gentiles from being the People of God under the Gospel.

2. That Alraham was the Father of all that believe, as well Uncircumcifed as Circumcifed; so that those that walk in the steps of the Faith of Abraham, though uncircumcifed, are the Seed to which the Promife is made, and shall receive the Bleffing.

3. That it was the Purpose of God from the Beginning, to take the Gentiles to be his People under the Messias, in the place of the Jews, who had been so till that time, but were then nationally rejected, because they nationally rejected the Messias, whom he sent to them to be their King and Deliverer, but was received by but a very small Number of them, which Remnant was received into the Kingdom of Christ, and so continued to be his People with the converted Gentiles, who all together made now the Church and People of God.

4. That the Jewish Nation had no Reason to complain of any Unrighteousness in God, or Hardship from him in their being cast off for their Unbelief, since they had been warned of it, and they might find it threatned in their ancient Prophets. Besides the railing,

fing or depressing of any Nation is the Prerogative of God's Sove-An.Ch.57. reignty. Preservation in the Land that God has given them being not the Right of any one Race of Men above another. And God might, when he thought fit, reject the Nation of the Jews by the same Sovereignty whereby he at first chose the Posterity of Jacob to be his People, passing by other Nations, even such as descended from Abraham and Isaac: But yet he tells them, that at last they shall be restored again.

Besides the Assurance he labours to give the Romans, that they are by Faith in Jesus Christ the People of God, without Circumcision or other Observances of the Jews, whatever they may say, which is the main drift of this Epistle, it is farther remarkable, that this Epistle being writ to a Church of Gentiles in the Metropolis of the Roman Empire, but not planted by St. Paul himself, he as Apostle of the Gentiles, out of care that they should rightly understand the Gospel, has woven into his Discourse the chief Doctrines of it, and given them a comprehensive view of God's dealing with Mankind, from first to last, in reference to eternal Life. The principal Heads whereof are these.

That by Adam's Transgression Sin enter'd into the World, and Death by Sin, and so Death reigned over all Men from Adam to.

Moses.

That by Moses God gave the Children of Israel (who were his People, i.e. owned him for their God, and kept themselves free from the Idolatry and Revolt of the Heathen World) a Law, which if they obey'd, they should have Life thereby, i.e. attain to Immortal Life, which had been loft by Adam's Transgression.

That though this Law which was righteous, just and good, were ordained to Life, yet not being able to give Strength to perform what it could not but require, it failed by reason of the Weakness of humane Nature to help Men to Life. So that though the Israelites had Statutes, which if a Man did he should live in them; yet they all transgressed, and attain'd not to Rightcousness and Life by the Deeds of the Law.

That therefore there was no way to Life left to those under the Law, but by the Righteousness of Faith in Jesus Christ, by which Faith alone they were that Seed of Abraham, to whom the Blessing was promised.

was promis'd.

This was the State of the Ifraelites. As to the Gentile World he tells them:

Thar

RQMANS.

An.Ch.57. That though God made himself known to them by legible Cha-Neronis 3 racters of his Being and Power visible in the Works of the Creation, yet they glorified him not, nor were thankful to him: they did not own nor worship the one only true invisible God, the Creator of all things, but revolted from him, to Gods fet up by themfelves in their own vain Imaginations, and worshipped Stocks and Stones, the corruptible Images of corruptible things.

That they having thus cast off their Allegiance to him their proper Lord, and revolted to other Gods, God therefore cast them off, and gave them up to vile Affections, and to the Conduct of their own darkened Hearts, which led them unto all forts of Vices.

That both Jews and Gentiles being thus all under Sin, and coming short of the Glory of God: God by sending his Son Jesus Christ, shews himself to be the God both of Jews and Gentiles, fince he justifieth the Circumcifion by Faith, and the Uncircumcifion through Faith, so that all that believe are freely justified by his Grace.

That though Justification unto Eternal Life be only by Grace, through Faith in Jesus Christ, yet we are to the utmost of our Power fincerely to endeavour after Righteousness, and from our Hearts obey the Precepts of the Gospel, whereby we become the Servants of God, for his Servants we are whom we obey, whither of Sin unto Death, or of Obedience unto Righteousness.

These are but some of the more general and comprehensive Heads of the Christian Doctrine, to be found in this Epistle. The Defign of a Synopsis will not permit me to descend more minutely to Particulars. But this let me fay, that he that would have an enlarged view of true Christianity, will do well to study this Epi-Itle.

Several Exhortations fuited to the State that the Christians of Rome were then in, make up the latter part of the Epistle.

This Epistle was writ from Corinth the Year of our Lord, according to the common Account, 57, the Third Year of Nero, a little after the Second Epistle to the Corinthians.

were very apt to perswade the convert Gentiles, that the Messas was promised, and sent to the Jewish Nation alone, and that the Gentiles could claim or have no benefit by him; or if they were to receive any benefit by the Messas, they were yet bound to observe the Law of Moses, which was the way of Worship which God had prescribed to his People. This in several places very much shook the Gentile Converts. St. Paul makes it (as we have already observed) his business in this Epistle, to prove that the Messas was intended for the Gentiles as much as for the Jews, and that to make any one Partaker of the Benefits and Privileges of the Gospel, there was nothing more required but to believe and obey it: And accordingly here in the entrance of the Epistle, he wishes to come to Rome, that by imparting some miraculous Gists of the Holy Ghost to them, they might be established in the true Notion of Christianity against all Attempts of the Jews, who would either exclude them from the Privileges of it, or bring them under the Law of Moses. So where St. Paul expresses his Care that the Colossas should be established in the Faith, Col. 2. 7. It is visible by the Context that what he opposed was Judaism.

12 (m) That is, St. Paul in the former Verse had faid that he defired to come amongst them to establish them; in the former Verse had faid that he defired to come amongst them to establish them; in these words, That is, he explains, or as it were recals what he had said, that he might not seem to think them not sufficiently instructed or established in the Faith, and therefore turns the end of his coming to them, to their mutual rejoycing in one anothers Faith, when he and they came to fee and know one another.

SECT. II.

CHAP. I. 16----II. 29.

C O N T E N T S.

ST. Paul in this Section shews, that the Jews exclude themselves from being the People of God under the Gospel, by the same Reason that they would have the Gentiles excluded.

It cannot be sufficiently admired how skilfully, to avoid offending those of his own Nation, St. Paul here enters into an Argument so unpleasing to the Jews as this of perswading them, that the Gentiles had as good a Title to be taken in to be the People of God under the Messias, as they themselves, which is the main Design of this Epistle.

In this latter Part of the first Chapter, he gives a Description of the Gentile World in very black Colours, but very adroitly interweaves fuch an Apology for them, in respect of the Jews, as was fufficient to beat that assuming Nation out of all their Pretences to a Right to continue to be alone the People of God, with an Exclufion of the Gentiles. This may be feen if one carefully attends to the Particulars that he mentions relating to the Jews and Gentiles, and observes how what he says of the Jews in the second Chapter, answers to what he had charged on the Gentiles in the first. For there is a fecret Comparison of them one with another runs through these two Chapters, which as soon as it comes to be minded, gives fuch a Light and Luftre to St. Paul's Discourse, that one cannot but admire the skilful turn of it; and look on it as the most fost, the most beautiful, and most pressing Argumentation that one shall any where meet with altogether: fince it leaves the Jews nothing to tay for themselves, why they should have the Privilege continued to them under the Gospel, of being alone the People of God. All the things they stood upon, and boasted in, giving them no Preference in this respect to the Gentiles; nor any ground to judge them to be uncapable or unworthy to be their Fellow-Subjects in the Kingdom of the Messias. This is what he says, speaking of them nationally. But as to every ones personal Concerns in a future State, he assures them, both Jews and Gentiles, that the Unrighteous of both Nations, whither admitted or not into the visible ArCh.57 Communion of the People of God, are liable to Condemnation. Neronic Those who have sinned without Law, shall perish without Law; and those who have sinned in the Law, shall be judged, i.e. condemned by the Law.

Perhaps some Readers will not think it superstuous, if I give a short Draught of St. Paul's Management of himself here, for allaying the Sowerness of the Jews against the Gentiles, and their Offence at the Gospel for allowing any of them place among the Peofence at the Gospel for allowing any of them.

ple of God under the Messias.

After he had declared that the Gospel is the Power of God unto Salvation to those who believe, to the Jew first, and also to the Gentile, and that the way of this Salvation is revealed to be by the Righteousness of God, which is by Faith: he tells them, that the Wrath of God is also now revealed against all Atheism, Polytheifm, Idolatry and Vice whatfoever of Men, holding the Truth in Unrighteousness, because they might come to the Knowledge of the true God, by the visible Works of the Creation, so that the Gentiles were without Excuse for turning from the true God to Idolatry, and the Worship of false Gods, whereby their Hearts were darkened; fo that they were without God in the World. Wherefore God gave them up to vile Affections, and all manner of Vices, in which State, though by the Light of Nature they know what was right, yet understanding not that such things were worthy of Death, they not only do them themselves, but abstaining from Cenfure, live fairly, and in Fellowship with those that do them. Whereupon he tells the Jews, that they are more inexcufable than the Heathen, in that they judge, abhor, and have in Aversation the Gentiles for what they themselves do with greater Provocation. Their Censure and Judgment in the Case is unjust and wrong: But the Judgment of God is always right and just, which will certainly overtake those who judge others for the same things they do themselves; and do not consider that God's Forbearance to them ought to bring them to Repentance. For God will render to every one according to his Deeds; to those that in Meekness and Patience continue in well-doing, everlasting Life; but to those who are censorious, proud and contentious, and will not obey the Gospel, Condemnation and Wrath at the day of Judgment, whether they be Jews or Gentiles: For God puts no Difference between them. Thou that art a Jew boastest that God B 2

An.Ch.57 is thy God; that he has enlighten'd thee by the Law, that he him-Neronis 3. felf gave thee from Heaven, and hath by that immediate Revelation taught thee what things are excellent and tend to Life, and what are evil and have Death annexed to them. If therefore thou transgresseit, dost not thou more dishonour God and provoke him, than a poor Heathen that knows not God, nor that the things he doth deserve Death, which is their Reward? Shall not he, if by the Light of Nature he do what is conformable to the revealed Law of God, judge thee who hast received that Law from God by Revelation, and breakest it? Shall not this rather than Circumcision make him an Israelite? For he is not a Jew, i. e. one of God's People, who is one outwardly by Circumcifion of the Flesh, but he that is one inwardly by the Circumcifion of the Heart.

He here tells them, that in the Gossel the Rightconsness of God, i.e. the Rightconsness of which he is the Author, and which he accepts in the way of his own Appointment, is revealed from Faith to Faith, i.e. to be all through, from one end to the other, founded in Faith. If this be not the Sense of this Phrase here, it will be hard to make the following words, as it is written, The Just shall live by Faith, cohere: but thus they have an easy and natural Connexion, (viz.) whoever are justified either before, without or under the Law of Moses, or under the Gossel, are justified, not by Works, but by Faith alone. t8 (s) Now revealed. Vid. Ads 17, 30, 31. God now commandeth all Men every where to refert, because he hath appointed a day in the which he will judge the World in Righteensness by the Man whom he hath ordained. These Words of St. Paul to the Athenians give light to these here to the Romans. A Life again after Death, and a day of sudgment wherein Men should be all brought to receive Sentence according to what they had done, and be punished for their Misseeds, was what was before unknown, and was brought to light by the Revelation of the Gospel from Heaven, 2 Tim. 1. to. Wrath of God is revealed.

The same Appropriation of these Words I think may be observed in other Parts of this Epithle.

the more genuine by those who can hardly suppose that St. P.u.l should affirm that the Gentile World did know that he who offended against any of the Directions of this natural Rule of Rectitude, taught or discoverable by the Light of Reason, was worthy of Death, especially if we remember what he says, ch. 5. 13. That Sin is not imputed when there is no positive Law: and ch. 7. 9. I was alive without the Law once: Both which Places signifying that Men did not know Death to be the wages of Sin in general, but by the Declaration of

(k) Sureudored nis neisses, have Pleasure in those that do them. He that considers that the Design of the Apottle here, manifest in the immediately following words, is to combate the Animosity of the Jews against the Gentiles, and that there could not be a more effectual way to shame them into a more modest and mild Temper, than by shewing them that the Gentiles, in all the Darkness that blinded them, and the Extravagancies they run into, were never guilty of such an Absurdity as this, to censure and separate from others, and shew an implacable Aversion to them, for what they themselves were equally guilty of. He I say that considers this, will be easily persuaded to understand ourses on here as I do, for a complacency that avoided censuring or breaking with them who were in the same State and Course of Life with themselves, that did nothing amiss but what they themselves were equally guilty of. There can be nothing clearer than that overson, have flessing, in this Verse, is opposed to resires, judges, in the next Verse, without which I do not see how it is possible to make out the Inference which the Aposse draws here.

1 (1) Therefore; This is a Term of Illation, and shews the Consequence here drawn from the foregoing Words. Therefore the Jew is inexcufable in judging, because the Gentiles with all the Darknefs that was on their Minds, were never guilty of fuch a Folly as to judge those who were no more faulty than themselves. For the better understanding of this place, it may not perhaps be amifs to fet the whole Argumentation of the Apostle here in its due light: It stands thus; " The Gentiles acknowledged the Rectitude of the Law of "Nature, but knew not that those who break any of its Rules, incurred Death by their "Transgression: But as much in the dark as they were, they are not guilty of any such "Abfundity as to condemn others, or refuse Communication with them as unworthy of 66 their Society, who are no worfe than themfelves, nor do any thing but what they them-" felves do equally with them, but live in complacency on fair terms with them, with-" out Centure or Separation, thinking as well of their Condition as of their own. (m) O Man, whosever thou art. It is plain from ver. 17, & 27. and the whole Tenor of this Chapter, that St. Paul by these words means the Jews; but there are two visible Reasons why he speaks in these terms: 1st. He makes his Conclusion general, as having the more Force, but lel's Offence, than if he had bluntly named the Jews, whom he is very careful in all this Epissle to treat in the softest manner imaginable. 2 dly. He uses the

(n) fudgest. There will need nothing to be said to those who read this Epistle with the least Attention, to prove that the judging which St. Paul here speaks of, was, that Aversion which the Jews generally had to the Gentiles, fo that the unconverted Jews could not bear with the Thoughts of a Meffias, that admitted the Heathen equally with them into his Kingdom; nor could the converted Jews be brought to admit them into their Communion, as the People of God now equally with themselves; so that they generally, both one and t'other, judg'd them unworthy the Favour of God, and out of Capacity to become his People any other way, but by Circumcifion, and an Observance of the ritual Parts of the Law, the Inexculableness and Absurdity whereof St. Paul shews in this Chapter.

2 (1) According to Truth, doth, I suppose, figuify not birely a true Judgment, which will hand in opposition to erroneous, and that will not take effect, but something more, i. c. according to the Truth of his Predictions and Threats. As if he had faid, "But if "God in Judgment call off the Jews from being any longer his People, we know this to " be according to his Truth, who hath forewarned them of it. Ye Jews judge the Gentiles " not to be received into the People of God, and refuse them Admittance into the King-" dom of the Messias, though you break the Law as well as they, you judge as prejudiced 4 passionate Men. But the Judgment of God against you will stand firm. The Reason why he does it so covertly, may be that which I have before mentioned, his great care not to shock the Jews, especially here in the beginning, till he had got fast hold upon them. And hence possibly it is that he calls obeying the Gospel, obeying the Truth, ver. 8. and ifes other the like for Expressions in this Chapter.

NOTES.

7 (1) Patience in this Verse is opposed to Contentious # in the next, and seems principally to regard the Jews, who had no Patience for any Confideration of the Gentiles, but with a strange Peevishness and Contention, opposed the Freedom of the Gospel in admitting the believing Gentiles into the Franchises of the Kingdom of the Messas, upon equal Terms with themselves.

8 (q) Though by Truth the Golpel be here meant, yet I do not doubt but St. Paul used the term Truth with an Eye to the Jews, who though fome few of them received the Gospel, yet even agreat part of those few joyn'd with the rest of their Nation in opposing this great Truth of the Gospel, that under the Messias the Gentiles who believed were the People of God, as well as the Jews, and as fuch were to be received by them.

9 & 10 (1) The Jew first and also the Gentile. We see by these two Verses, and ch. r. 16. that St. Paut carefully lays it down, that there was now under the Gospel no other National Distinction between the Jews and the Gentiles, but only a Priority in the Offer of the Gospel, and in the Design of Rewards and Punishments, according as the Jews obey'd or not. Which may farther satisfy us, that the Distinction which St. Paul insists on so much here, and all through the first paut of this Epistle is National, the Comparison being between the Jews as nationally the Feorle of God; and the Gentiles, as not the People of God before the Messias; and that under the Messias the Professor of Christianity, consisting most of converted Gentiles, were the People of God, owned and acknowledged as such by him, the ambelieving Jews being rejected, and the unbelieving Gentiles never received, but that yet personally both Jews and Gentiles, every single Person, shall be punished for his own particular Sin, as appears by the two next Verses.

12 (s) 'Archevra, shall fersh; upsarouves, shall be judged. Those under the Law St. Paul says shall be judged by the Law; and this is easy to conceive, because they were under a positive Law, wherein Life and Death were annexed as the Reward and Punishment of Obecience and Disobedience, but of the Gentiles who were not under that positive Law, he tays barely that they shall ferife. St. Paul does not use these so eminently differing Expressions for nothing; they will, I think, give some light to ch. 5. 13. and my Interpretation of it, if they lead us no farther.

14 (1) Mù vbuov exeras having not the Law, or not having a Law. The Aposse by the word Law generally in this Epistle fignifying a positive Law given by God, and promulgated by a Revelation from Heaven, with the Sanction of declared Rewards and Punishments annexed to it, it is not improbable that in this Verse (where by the Greek Particle he so plainly points out the Law of Moses) by vouce, without the Article, may intend Law in general, in his Sense of a Law, and so this Verse may be translated thus; For when the Gentiles who have not a Law, do by Nature the things contained in the Law; these not having a Law, are a Law to themselves. And so ver, 12. As many as have sinned, being under a Law, shall be judged by a Law. For though from Adam to Christ there was no revealed positive Law, but that given to the Israelites, yet it is certain that by Jesus Christ a positive Law from Heaven is given to all Mankind, and that those to whom this has been promulgated by the Preaching of the Gospel, are all under it, and shall be judged by it.

NOTES.

26 (e) Ta diestopara To vous, The Righteoufness of the Liw. I have taken the Liberty to render it, The Rectitudes of the Law, in an appropriated Sense of the word Rectitude, in imitation of St. Paul, who uses diegiouana here for all those Precepts of the Law which contain in them any part of the natural and erernal Rule of Reditude, which is made known to Men by the Light of Reason. This Rule of their Actions all Mankind, uncircumcifed as well as circumcifed, had, and is that which St. Paul calls From up 78 bes, ch. 1. 32. Because it came from God, and was made by him the moral Rule to all Mankind, being laid within the Difcovery of their Realon, which if they kept to, it was Inalouz, Righteousness to them, or they were justified. And this Rule of Morality St. Paul fays the Gentile World did acknowledge. So that Sixaloux To 6:8, ch. 1. 32. fignifies that Rule of Right taken in general, and Sixarijuano Ti vous here fignifies the particular Branches of it contained in the Law of Moses. For no other part of the Law of Moses could an Heathen be supposed to observe or be concerned in: And therefore those only can be the Amaro pare 78 your here meant. If we confider the various Senfes that Tranflators and Expositors have given to this Term Sinalwa, in the several places of Sr. Paul's Epifiles, where it occurs, we shall have occasion to think, that the Apostle used this word with great Latitude and Variety of Significations; whereas I imagine, that if we carefully read those Passages, we shall find that he used it every where in the same Sense, i. e. for that Rule which if complied with, justified, or render'd perfect, the Person or thing it referr'd to. For Example,

Rom. 1. 32. Airasoua 0:6, translated the Judgment of God, is that Rule of Right, which if the Heathen World had kept and perfectly obey'd, they had been righteous before God.

Rom. 2. 26. Sinalauate Te voue, The Rightenufnefs of the Law, are those Precepts of the Law of Moses, which if the Uncircumcited whom he there tpeaks of had kept, they had been righteous before God.

Rom. 5. 16. Ers Arxaioma, to Justification, is to the obtaining of Righteousness.

Rom. 5. 18. S' ivos Sixaucinat &, By one Righteoufness, is by one Act whereby he was juflified or compleatly perfected to be what he had undertaken to be, viz. the Redeemer and Saviour of the World. For it was Na manuarun, or as some Copies read it, dia manua-70, by his Suffering, viz. Death on the Crofs, that he was perfected, Heb. 2. 9, 10. & 14. 15. & 5. 7 - 9. Rom. 5. 10. Phil. 2. 8. Col. 1. 21, 22. Rom. 8. 4. To Sinciwia To vous, The Righteoniness of the Law. Here, as Rom. 2. 26. it is that Rule of Right contained in the Law, which if a Man exactly performed, he was righteous and perfect before God.

Heb. 9. 1. Sincusquara halfesas, Ordinances of Divine Service, are those Rules or Precepts concerning the outward Worship of God, which when conformed to render it perfect, and fuch as was right and unblamable before God.

Heb. 9. 10. Pixalouara oupros, Carnal Ordinances, are such Rules concerning ritual Performances, as when observ'd, justified the Flesh. By these Observances, according as they were prescribed, the Flesh or natural outward Man obtained a legal outward Holiness or Righteousnels, there was no Exception against him, but he was freely admitted into the Congregation, and into the Sanctuary.

It may not be amis to take a little notice also of St. Paul's Lie of the other Term here, reads. Law, which he commonly puts for a positive Rule given to Men, with the Sanction of a Penalty annexed; and in particular frequently (sometimes with, sometimes without the Particle) for the Law of Moses, without naming what Law he means, as if there had been no other Law in the World, as indeed there was not any other in St. Paul's Notion of a Law, from the Fall to our Saviour's time, but only the Law given by God to the Israelites by the hand of Moses. Under the Gospel the Law of Moses was abrogated: But yet the straightative at it is not entry food firm, but was by the divine Authority promulgated anew by selfus Christ, the King and Saviour of the World. For 'tis of this that he says, that he is not come to destroy the Law, but to fulfil it, i. e. to give it positively and plainly its full Latitude and Extent, and let these straightata sides in their due Light and full Force; and accordingly we see all the Branches of it more expressly commanded, and with Penalties more vigorously inforced on all his Subjects by our Siviour and his Aposiles, than they were in the Law of Moses.

Thus we see that by the Doctrine of St. Paul and the New Testament, there is one and Thus we fee that by the Doctrine of St. Paul and the New Testament, there is one and the same Rule of Rectitude set to the Actions of all Mankind, Jews, Gentiles, and Christians; and that failing of a compleat Obedience to it in every tittle, makes a Man unsighteous, the Consequence whereof is Death. For the Gentiles that have same diamed without a Law, shall perish without a Law; the Jews that have sinned having a Law, shall be judg'd by that Law; but that both Jews and Gentiles shall be saved from Death, it mey believe in Jesus Christ, and sincerely endeavour after Righteoniness, though they connot extrain unto it, their Faith being accounted to them for Righteoniness, Rom. 3. 19—24.

N this Third Chapter St. Paul goes on to fliew that the National Privileges the Jews had over the Gentiles, in being the People of God, gave them no peculiar Right, or better Title to the Kingdom of the Messias, than what the Gentiles had. Because they as well as the Gentiles all sinned, and not being able to attain Righteousness by the Deeds of the Law more than the Gentiles, Justification was to be had only by the Free Grace of God through Faith in Jesus Christ, to be equally his People.

To clear his way to this, he begins with removing an Objection of the Jews ready to fay; If it be so as you have told us in the foregoing Section, that it is the Circumcision of the Heart alone that availeth, what Advantage have the Jews, who keep to the Circumcision of the Flesh, and the other Observances of the Law, by being the People of God? To which he answers, that the Jews had many Advantages above the Gentiles; but yet that in respect of their Acceptance with God under the Gospel, they had none at all. He declares that both Jews and Gentiles are Sinners, both equally uncapable of being justified by their own Performances: That God was equally the God both of Jews and Gentiles, and out of his Free Grace justified those, and only those who believ'd, whether Jews or Gentiles.

in the World. For though some of the Jews who had the Promises of the Messias, did not believe in him when he came, and so did not receive the Righteousness which is by Faith in Jesus Christ, yet their Unbelief cannot render the Faithfulness and Truth of God of no effect, who had promised to be a God to Abraham and his Seed after him, and bless them to all Generations (m). No, by no means. God forbid that any one should entertain such a Thought: Yea, let God be acknowledged to be true, and every Man a Liar, as it is written, That thou mightest be justified in thy Sayings, and mightest overcome when thou art judged.

But you will say farther, If it be so that our Sinfulness commendeth the Righteousness of God shewn in keeping his word (n) given to our Foresathers, what shall I say, Is it not Injustice in God to punish us for it, and cast us off (I must be understood to say this in the Person of a carnal Man pleading for himself) God forbid: For if God be unrighteous, how shall he judge the World (0).

NOTES.

3 (m) How this was made good, St. Paul explains more at large in the following Chapter, and ch. 9. 6——13.

5 (n) That by the Righteoufness of God St. Paul here intends God's Faithfulness in keeping his Promife of faving Believers, Gentiles as well as Jews, by Righteoufness through Faith in Jesus Christ, is plain, ver. 4, 7, 26. St. Paul's great Design here, and all through the eleven first Chapters of this Epistle being to convince the Romans, that God purposed, and in the Old Testament declared, that he would receive and save the Gentiles by Faith in the Messias, which was the only way whereby Jews or Gentiles (they being all Sinners, and equally destitute of Righteousness by Works) were to be faved. This was a Doctrine which the Jews could not bear, and therefore the Apostle here in the Person of a Jew, urges, and in his own Person answers their Objections against it, confirming to the Romans the Veracity and Faithfulness of God, on whom they might with all Assurance depend for the Personnance of whatever he had said.

NOTES.

7 (p) For. This Particle plainly joyns what follows in this and the next Verse to Vengeance in the 5th Verse, and shews it to be as it is, a Continuation of the Objection began in that Verse, why St. Paul broke it into pieces by intruding the 6th Verse in the middle of it, there is a very plain Reason. In the Objection there were two things to be corrected; Is. The charging God with Unrighteousness, which as soon as mentioned, it was a becoming Interruption in St. Paul, to quash immediately, and to stop the Jews Mouth with the words of Abraham. 2dly. The other thing in the Objection was a false Calumny upon the Christians, as if they preaching Justification by Free Grace, said, Let us do Evil that Good may come of it. To which the Aposlle's Answer was the more distinct, being subjoyn'd to that Branch separated from the other.

(q) Lie. The Sense of the Place makes it plain, that St. Paul by Lie here means Sin in general, but seems to have used the word Lie, as having a more forcable and graceful Antithesis to the Truth of God, which the Objection pretends to be thereby illustrated.

8 (1) Some. 'Tis past doubt that these were the Jews. But St. P. sul always, tender towards his own Nation, forbears to name them, when he pronounces this Sentence, that their casting off and Destruction now at hand, for this Scandal and other Opposition to the Christian Religion, was just.

9 (5) Having in the fix foregoing Verses justified the Truth of God, notwithstanding his casting off the Jews, and vindicated the Dostrine of Grace against the Cavils of the Jews, which two Objections of theirs came naturally in his way, the Apostle takes up here again the Jews Question proposed, ver. 1. and urges it home to the case in hand. It is residently being but the same with the second of Islands, ver. 1. Have Jews then any Preference in the Kingdom of the Messias? To which he answers, No, not at all. That this is the meaning, is visible from the whole Chapter, where he lays both Jews and Gentiles in an equal State in reference to Justification.

(t) Already, viz. ch. 2.3. where St. Paul under the gentler Compellation of O Man, charges the Jews to be Sinners as well as the Gentiles: and ver. 17—24. shews, that by having the Law they were no more kept from being Sinners than the Gentiles were without the Law. And this Charge against them, that they were Sinners, he here proves against them from the Testimony of their own Sacred Books contained in the Old Testament.

That this is the meaning of ippa νόμα, is evident, because the Apostles Declaration here is concerning all Men, καια σίος. But we know the Heathen World were not under the Law of Moses. And accordingly St. Paul does not say, if it is vous, by the Deeds of the Law, but is if it is not vous, by Deeds of Law. Though in the foregoing and sollowing Verse, where he would specify the Law of Moses, he uses the Article with νόμω three times.

no (x) Man can attain to an exact Conformity to the Rule of Right, fo as to be righteous in the fight of God. For by Law, which is the publishing the Rule with a Penalty, we are not delivered from the Power of Sin, nor can it help Men to Righteoufness (y), but by Law we come experimentally to know Sin in the Force and Power of it, fince we find it prevail upon us notwithstanding the Punishment of Death is by the Law annexed to it (z). But now the Righteourners of God, that Righteoutness which he intended, and will accept, and is a Righteousness not within the Rule and Rigour of Law, is now made manifest and confirmed by the Testimony of the Law and of God; the Prophets, which bear witness to this Truth, that Jesus is the Messias, and that it is according to his Purpose and Promise, That the Righteousness of God by Faith in Jesus the Messias, is extended to and bestowed on all who believe in him (1), (For there is no Difference between them. NOTES.

24 (c) Redemption fignifies Deliverance, but not Deliverance from every thing, but Deliverance from that, to which a Man is in Subjection or Bondage. Nor does Redemption by Jefus Christ import there was any Compensation made to God by paying what was of equal Value, in confideration whereof they were delivered, for that is inconfident with what St. Paul expresly tays here, viz. that Sinners are justified by God gratis, and of his free Bounty. What this Redemption is, St. Paul tells us, Eth. 1. 7. Col. 1. 14. even the Forgiveness of Sins. But if St. Paul had not been so express in defining what he means by Redemption, they yet would be thought to lay too much stress upon the Criticism of a word in the Translation, who would thereby force from the word in the Original a necessary Sense, which 'tis plain it hath not. That Redeeming in the Sacred Scripture-Language fignifies not precifely paying an Equivalent, is to clear, that nothing can be more. I shall refer my Reader to three or four places amongst a great Number; Exod. 6. 6. Deut. 7. 8. & 15. 15. & 24. 18. But if any one will from the literal Signification of the word in English, persist in it against St. Paul's Declarations, that it necessarily implies an equivalent Price paid, I defire him to confider to whom: And that, if we will strictly adhere to the Metaphor, it must be to those whom the Redeemed are in Bondage to, and from whom we are redeemed, viz. Sin and Satan. If he will not believe his own System for this, let him believe St. Paul's words; Tit. 2. 14. Who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all Iniquity. Nor could the Price be paid to God in Strictness of Justice (For that is made the Argument here) unless the same Person ought by that strict suffice to have both the Thing redeem'd, and the Price paid for its Redemption. For 'tis to God we are redeem'd by the Death of Christ, Rev. 5. 9. Thou wast flain and hast redeemed us to God by thy Blood.

25 (d) Thasheev, fignifies Propitiatory, or Mercy-Seat, and not Propitiation, as Mr. Mede has rightly observed upon this place in his Discourse of God's House, & r.

(c) The Alexandrine Copy omits the words Aid many, by Faith; which feems conformable to the Sense of the Apostle here: He says, that God hath fee forth Christ to be the Propitiatory in his Blood. The Atonement under the Law, was made by Blood sprinkled on the Propitiatory or Mercy-Seat, Lev. 17.14. Christ, says St. Paul here, is now let out and shewn by God to be the real Propitiatory or Mercy-Seat in his own Blood; see Hel. 9. 25, 26. where the Sacrifice of himself is opposed to the Blood of others. God has set him out to be so, to declare his Righteousness; the Mercy-Seat being the place where God spake and declared his pleasure, Exod. 25, 22. Numb. 7. 8, 9. And it was there where God always appeared, Lev. 17. 2. It was the place of his Presence, and therefore he is said to dwell between the Cherubims, Pfal. 80. 1. 2 Kings 19. 15. for between the Cherubims was the Mercy-Seat. In all which respects, our Saviour, who was the Antitype, is properly called the Propitiatory.

(f) Auguston, Righteoufness, seems to be used here in the same sense it is ver. 5. for the Righteousness of God, in keeping his word with the Nation of the Jews, notwithstanding their Provocations. And indeed with the following words of this Verse, contains in it a farther Answer to the Jews Infinuation of God's being hard to their Nation, by shewing that God had been very favourable to them, in not cashing them off as they had deserved, till according to his promise he had sent them the Messas, and they had rejected

But this πάρεσες του προγργούστων αμαρπιμάτων, passing over past oins, is spoken nationally, in respect of the People of the Jens; who though they were a very finful Nation, as appears by the places here brought against them by St. Paul, yet God vailed by all that, and would not be hindred by their past Sinfulness, from being just in keeping his promife, in exhibiting to them Christ the Propitiatory. But though he would not be provoked by their past Sins, so as to cast them off from being his People before he had fent them the promised Messias to be their Saviour; yet after that, when at the due time he had manifelled his Righteoulness to them, that he might be just, and the Justifier of those who believe in Jesus, he no longer bore with their finful Obstinacy; but when they rejected the Saviour (whom he had fent according to his promife) from being their King, God rejected them from being his People, and took the Gentiles into his Church, and made them his People joyntly and equally with the few believing Jews. This is plainly the Sense of the Apossle here, where he is discoursing of the Nation of the Jews, and their State in comparison with the Gentiles; not of the State of private Persons. Let any one without Prepossession attentively read the Context, and he will find it to be so.

26 (b) sixaienius auts, his Righteousness, is here to be understood in both Senses in which St. Paul had used it before in this Chapter, viz. ver. 5, & 22. as it is manifest by St. Paul's explaining of it himself in these Words immediately following: That he might be just, and the Justifier of him who believeth in Jesus, which are the two Senses wherein the Righteoufness of God is used.

In this Phrase had been translated, him that is of the Faith of Jefus, as it is, ch. 4. 16. & Gal. 3. 7. rather than him which believeth in Jefus, it would better have expressed the Apostle's meaning here, which was to distinguish of in this was, those who are of Faith, from it in terminal, or in those who are of the Circumisson, or those who are of the Law, speaking of them as of two sorts or Races of Men, of two different Extractions. To understand this place fully, let any one read, ch. 4. 12—16. Gal. 3.

NOTES.

27 (1) The Glorying here spoken of, is that of the Jews, i. c. their judging of the Gentiles, and their Contempt of them, which St. Paul had before in several places taken notice of. And here to take down their Pride and Vanity, he tells them, it is wholly excluded by the Gospel, wherein God, who is the God of the Gentiles as well as of the Jews, justified by Faith alone the Jews as well as the Gentiles, since no Man could be justified by the Deeds of the Law. This seems to be said to the converted Jews, to stop their thinking that they had any Advantage over the Gentiles under the Gospel. No, says he, the Gospel which is the Law of Faith lays you equal with the Gentiles, and you have no ground to assume any thing to your selves, or set your selves above them now under the Messias. This, and all the rest to this purpose in this Epittle, is said to establish the converted Romans in their Title to the Favour of God, equally with the Jews, in the Gospel, and to fortify them against any Disturbance might be given them by the pretending Jews, which is the principal Design of this Epitsle, as we have already observed.

28 (m) Therefore, this Inference is drawn from what he had taught, ver. 23.

(n) Vid. Acts 13.39. ch. 8.3. Gal. 2. 16.

Reasoning here, must look to Zachary 14. 9. from whence these Words are taken, where the Prophet speaking of the Time when the Lord shall be King over all the Earth, and not barely over the little People shut up in the Land of Canaan, he says, In that day there shall be one Lord, i.e. God shall not be as he is now, the God of the Jews alone, whom only he hath known of all the People of the Earth; but he shall be the God of the Gentiles also, the same merciful reconciled God to the People of all Nations. This Prophesie the Jews understood of the Times of the Messias, and St. Paul here present them with it.

Do we then make void 31 the law through faith? God forbid: yea we establish the law.

NOTES.

31 (q) Niµov, Law, is here repeated twice without the Article, and it is plain that by it St. Paul does not mean precifely the Mosaical Law, but so much of it as is contained in the natural and eternal Rule of Right mentioned ch. 1.32. & 11.26. and is again by a positive Command re-enacted and continued as a Law under the Messias, Vid. Mat. 28.20.

(1) Establish. The Doctrine of Justification by Faith necessarily supposeth a Rule of Righteousness, which those who are justified by Faith come short of; and also a Punishment incurr'd, from which they are set free by being justified: and so this Doctrine establishes a Law, and accordingly the moral part of the Law of Moses, that disalous to 85%, as the Apostle calls it in the place above quoted, ch. 1. 32. is inforced again by our Saviour and the Apostles in the Gospel, with Penalties annexed to the Breach of it.

ST. Paul having in the foregoing Section cut off all glorying from the Jews, upon the Account of their having the Law, and shewn that that gave them no manner of Title or Pretence to be the People of God, more than the Gentiles, under the Messias; and so they had no Reason to judge or exclude the Gentiles as they did, he comes here to prove that their lineal Extraction from their Father Abraham, gave them no better a Pretence of glorying, or of setting themselves upon that account above the Gentiles now in the time of the Gospel.

Yes if he were justified by Works, he had matter of Glorying (t), he might then have gloried over the rest of the Gentile World in having God for his God, and he and his Family being God's People, but he had no Subject of glorying before God, as it is evident from Sacred Scripture, which telleth us that Abraham believed God, and it was counted to him for Righteousness. Now there had been no need of any fuch Counting, any fuch Allowance, if he had attained Righteousness by

NOTES.

1 (1) Our Father according to the Flesh. St. Paul speaks here as lineally descended from Abraham, and joyns himself herein with the rest of his Nation, of whom he calls Abraham the Father according to the Flesh, to distinguish the Jews by Birth, from those who were Abraham's Seed according to the Promife, viz. those who were of the Faith of Abraham, whether Jews or Gentiles, a Dislinction which he insists on all through this Chapter.

2 (t) Καύχημα, translated here glossing, I take to fignify the fame with καυχαδαι, tranflated Boafting, ch. 2. 17, 23. in which places it is used to fignify the Jews valuing themfelves upon some national Privileges above the rest of the World, as if they had thereby some peculiar Right to the Favour of God above other Men. This the Jewish Nation thinking themselves alone to have a Title to be the People of God, expressed in their judging the Gentiles whom they despised, and look'd on as unworthy and uncapable to be received into the Kingdom of the Messias, and admitted into Fellowship with their Nation under the Gospel. This Conceit of theirs St. Paul opposes here, and makes it his business to shew the Falshood and Groundlesness of it all through the eleven first Chapters of this Epistle. I ask whether it would not help the English Reader the better to find and pursue the Sense of St. Paul, if the Greek Term were every where render'd by the same English Word? Whether Boufting or Glorying, I think of no great Consequence, so one of them be kept to.

What this imputing or reckoning of Righteousness is, may be seen in ver. 8. viz. the not reckoning of Sin to any one, the not putting Sin to his account: The Apostle in these two Verses using these two Expressions as equivalent. From hence the Expression of blotting out of Iniquity, so frequently used in Sacred Scripture, may be understood, i.e. the striking it out of the account. NOTES.

11 & 12 (y) What Righteousness reckon'd to any one, or as it is usually called Imputed Righteoufnels, is, St. Paul explains, ver. 6 - 8. Whom this Bleffing belongs to, he enquires, ver. 9. and here, ver. 11, & 12. he declares who are the Children of Abraham, that from him inherit this Bleffing, ver. 11. he speaks of the Gentiles, and there shews that Abraham, who was justified by Faith before he was circumcifed (the want whereof the Jews look'd on as a diffinguishing Mark of a Gentile) was the Father of all those among the Gentiles, who should believe without being circumcifed. And here, ver. 12. he speaks of the Jews, and fays, that Abraham was their Father; But not that all should be justified who were only circumcifed; but those who to their Circumcision added the Faith of Abraham, which he had before he was circumcised. That which misled those who missook the Sense of St. P. mi here, seems to be their not observing that 7015 & in the second THUT'S is referred to, and governed by its to how is the must be supposed repeated here after maries Gennuis. Or else the Apostle's Sente and Argument will not stand in its full Force, but the Antithefis will be loft, by preferving of which the Sense runs thus; And the Father of the Circumcifed, that Righteoufness might be imputed to those who, &c. Another thing very art to mislead them, was the joyning of wore only, to we not, as if it were is wifer ris, not only those who are of the Circumcision, whereas it should be understood as it stands joyn'd to seempis, and so during wore are best translated barely Circumcision, and the Apostle's Sense runs thus; That he might be the Father of the Gentiles that believe, though they be not circumcifed, that Righteousness might be imputed to them also; And the Father of the Jews, that Righteousness might be imputed not to them who have Circumcision only, but to them who also walk in the sleps of the Faith of our Father Abraham, which he had being uncircumcifed. In which way of understanding this Passage, not only the Apostle's meaning is very plain, easie and coherent, but the Construction of the Greek exactly corresponds to that of ver. 11. and is genuine, easie, and natural, which any other way will be very perplexed.

13 (2) The Promife here meant is that which he speaks of, ver. 11. whereby Abraham was made the Father of all that should believe all the World over, and for that Reason he is called kanerole & korus, Heir or Lord of the World. For the Believers of all Nations of the World being given to him for a Posserity, he becomes thereby Lord and Possessor (for so Heir amongst the Hebrews signified) of the World. For 'tis plain the Aposse in this Verse pursues the Argument he was upon in the two former. And 'tis also plain that St. Paul makes Circumcision to be the Seal of the Promise made to Abraham, Gen. 12. as well as of that made to him, Gen. 17. and so both these to be but one Covenant, and that of the It. 17. to be but a Repetition and farther Explication of the former, as is evident from this Chapter, compared with Gal. 3. In both which the Aposse argues, that the Gentiles were intended to be justified as well as the Jews, and that both Jews and Gentiles, who should be Possessor of the World, was not that Abraham, and those of his Seed, who were under the Law, should by virtue of their having and owning the Law, be possessed of it; but by the Righteousness of Faith, whereby those who were without the Law scatter'd all over the World, beyond the Borders of Canaan, became his Posterity, and had him for their Father (a), and inherited the Bleffing of Justification by Faith. For if they only who had the Law of Moses given them, were Heirs of Abraham, Faith is made void and useless (b), it receiving no Benefit of the Promife which was made to the Heirs of Abraham's Faith, and so the Promise becomes of no effect. Because the Law procures them not Justification (c), but renders them liable to the Wrath and Punishment of God (d), who by the Law has made known to them what is Sin, and what Punishment he has annexed to it. For there is no incurring Wrath or Punishment where there is no Law that fays any thing of it (e).

For the promife that 13 he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his feed through the law, but through the righteousness of faith.

For if they which are 14 of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise made of none effect.

Because the law workers eth wrath: for where no law is, there is no transgression.

(1) I Co1. 15. 17. I have fet down all these Texts out of St. Paul, that in them might be seen his own Explication of what he says here, viz. That our Saviour by his Death attoned for our Sins, and so we were innocent, and thereby freed from the Punishment due to Sin. But he rose again to ascertain to us eternal Life, the consequence of Justification; for the Reward of Righteousness is eternal Life, which Inheritance we have a Title to by Adoption in Jesus Christ. But if he himself had not that Inheritance, if he had not rose into the Possessino of eternal Life, we who hold by and under him, could not have receiv'd the Reward of it, everlashing Life. We were to be pronounced righteous, and to have receiv'd the Reward of it, everlashing Life. Hence St. Paul tells us, I Cor. 15. 17. that if Christ be not raised, our Faith is vain, we are yet in our Sins, i. e. as to the Attainment of eternal Life 'tis all one as if our Sins were not forgiven. And thus he rose for our Justification, i. e. to assure to us eternal Life, the consequence of Justification. And this I think is consirmed by our Saviout in these words, Because I live ye shall live asso, John 14.

-CONTENTS.

T. Paul in the foregoing Chapters has examined the glorying of the Jews, and their valuing themselves so highly above the Gentiles, and shewn the Vanity of their boasting in Circumcision and the Law, since neither they nor their Father Abraham were justified, or found Acceptance with God by Circumcifion, or the Deeds of the Law: And therefore they had no Reason so, as they did, to press Circumcision and the Law on the Gentiles, or exclude those who had them not, from being the People of God, and unfit for their Communion in and under the Gotpel. In this Section he comes to shew what the Convert Gentiles, by Faith without Circumcifion or the Law, had to glory in, viz. The hope of Glory, ver. 2. Their Sufferings for the Gospel, ver. 3. And God as their God, ver. 11. In these three it is easy to observe the Thread and Coherence of St. Paul's Discourse here, the intermediate Verses (according to that abounding with Matter, and overflowing of Thought he was fill'd with) being taken up with an incidental train of Considerations, to shew the Reason they had to glory in Tribulations.

2 (n) Kauzojusa, we glory. The fame word here for the Convert Gentiles that he had used before to, the boatting of the Jews, and the same word he used where he examin'd what Abraham had found. The taking notice whereof, as we have already observec, may help to lead us into the Apostle's Sense: And plainly shew us here, that St. Paul In this Section opposes the Advantages the Gentile Converts to Christianity have by Faith, to these the sews gloried in with so much Haughtiness and Contempt of the Gentiles.

43 An.Ch.57. Neronizes.

And hence he fays to the Romans converted to Jesus Christ; rield your felves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your felves is Instruments of Righteousness unto God, eb. 6. 13. How he describes are search, Ungodliness, mentioned eb. 1. 18. as the proper State of the Gentiles, we may see ver. 21, 23. That he thought the Title duagrodes, Sinners belong'd peculiarly to the Gentiles, in Contradistinction to the Jews, he puts it past doubt in these words, We who are Jews by Nature, and not Sinners of the Gentiles, Gal. 2. 15. See also ch. 6. 17—22. And as for ix Lesi, Enemies, you have the Gentiles before their Conversion to Christianity so called, Col. 1. 21. St. Paul, Eph. 2. 1—13. describes the Heathens a little more at large, but yet the Parts of the Character he there gives them, we may find comprised in these four Epithites; the aperis, weak, ver. 1, 5. the are seen ungodly, and duaground Sinners, ver. 23. and the execusion, Enemies, ver. 11, 12.

If it were remembred that St. Paul all along through the eleven first Chapters of this Epistle, speaks nationally of the Jews and Gentiles, as 'tis visible he does, and not personally of single Men, there would be less Difficulty and sewer Mistakes in understanding this Epistle. This one place we are upon is a sufficient Instance of it. For if by these Terms here, we shall understand him to denote all Men personally, Jews as well as Gentiles, before they are savingly ingrafted into Jesus Christ, we shall make his Discourse here disjointed, and his Sense mightily perplex'd, if at all confistent.

That there were some among the Heathen as innocent in their Lives, and as far from Enmity to God as some among the Jews, cannot be question'd. Nay, that many of them were not arter, but or someon, Worthippers of the true God, if we could doubt of it, 13 manifest out of the Ats of the Apostles; but yet St. Paul in the places above quoted pronounces them all together, don's and absor, (for that by these two Terms applied to the fame Perfons, he means the fame, i. e. fuch as did not acknowledge and worship the true God, feems plain) ungodly, and Sinners of the Gentiles, as nationally belonging to them in Contradiffination to the People of the Jews, who were the People of God, whilft the other were the Provinces of the Kingdom of Satan: Not but that there were Sinners, heinous Sinners, among the Jews; but the Nation, confider'd as one Body and Society of Men, difown'd and declared against, and opposed it felf to those Crimes and Impurities which are mentioned by St. Paul, ch. 1. 24, &c. as woven into the religious and politick Conflitutions of the Gentiles. There they had their full Scope and Swing, had Allowance, Countenance and Protection. The Idolatrous Nations had by their Religions, Laws and Forms of Government, made themselves the open Votaries, and were the professed Subjects of Devils. So St. Paul, I Cor. 10. 20, 21. truly calls the Gods they worshipped and paid their Homage to. And fuitably hereunto, their religious Observances 'tis well known were not without great Impurities, which were of right charged upon them, when they had a place in their Sacred Offices, and had the Recommendation of Religion to give them credit. The rest of the Vices in St. Paul's black List, which were not warm'd at their Altars, and foster'd in their Temples, were yet by the Connivance of the Law cherish'd in their private Houses, and made a part of the uncondemned Actions of common Life, and had the Countenance of Custom to authorize them, even in the best regulated and most civilized Governments of the Heathens. On the contrary, the Frame of the Jewish Commonwealth was founded on the Acknowledgment and Worship of the one only true invisible God, and their Laws required an extraordinary Purity of Life, and Strictness of Manners.

That the Gentiles were filled exless Enemies, in a political or national Sense, is plain from Eph. 2. where they are called, Aliens from the Commonwealth of Israel, and Strangers from the Covenant. Abraham on the other side was called the Friend of God, i.e. one in Covenant with him, and his professed Subject, that owned God to the World: And so were his Posterity the People of the Jews, whilst the rest of the World were under Revolt, and lived in open Rebellion against him, Vid. Isa. 41. 8. And here in this Epistle St. Paul expressly teaches, that when the Nation of the Jews, by rejecting of the Messas, put themselves out of the Kingdom of God, and were east off from being any longer the People of God, they became Enemies, and the Gentile World were reconciled. See Ch. 11. 15, 28. Hence St. Paul who was the Aposle of the Gentiles, calls his performing that Office, the Ministry of Reconciliation, 2 Cor. 5. 15. And here in this Chapter, ver. 1. the Privilege which they receive by the accepting of the Covenant of Grace in Jesus Christ, he tells them is this, that they have Peace with God, i. e. are no longer incorporated with his Enemies, and of the Party of the open Rebels against him in the Kingdom of Satan, being return'd to their natural Allegiance in their owning the one true supreme God, in submitting to the Kingdom he had let up in his Son, and being received by him as his Subjects. Suitably hereunto St. James, speaking of the Conversion of the Gentiles to the Profession of the Gospel, says of ir, that God did visit the Gentiles, to take out of them a People for his Name, Ass 15. 14. & ver. 19. he calls the Converts, those who from among the Gentiles are turned to God.

Befides what is to be found in other Parts of St. Paul's Epistes to justifie the taking of thefe Words here, as apply'd nationally to the Gentiles, in Contradiffinction to the Children of Ifrael, that which St. Paul fays, ver. 10, 11. makes it necessary to unsterstand them fo. We, says he, when we were Enemies were reconciled to God, and so we now glory in him, as our God. We here must unavoidably be spoken in the Name of the Gentiles, as is plain not only by the whole Tenor of this Section, but from this Passage of glorying in God, which he mentions as a Privilege now of the believing Genriles, surpassing that of the Jews, whomhe had taken notice of before, eh. 2. 17. as being forward to glory in God as their peculiar Right, though with no great Advantage to themselves. But the Gentiles who were reconciled now to God by Christ's Death, and taken into Covenant with God; as many as received the Gospel, had a new and better Title to this glorying than the Jews. Those that now are reconciled, and glory in God as their God, he fays were Enemies. The Jews who had the same corrupt Nature common to them with the rest of Mankind, are no where that I know called and I Enemies, or a orgen ungodly, whilst they publickly owned him for their God, and profetted to be his People. But the Heathens were deem'd Enemies, for being Aliens to the Commonwealth of Ifrael, and Strangers from the Covenants of Promile. There were never but two Kingdoms in the World, that of God, and that of the Devil; these were opposite, and therefore the Subjects of the latter could not but be in the State of Fnemics, and fall under that Denomination. The Revolt from God was universal, and the Nations of the Earth had given themfelves up to Idolatry, when God called Abraham, and took him into Covenant with himfelf, as he did afterwards the whole Nation of the Ifraelites, whereby they were re-admitted into his Kingdom, came under his Protection, and were his People and Subjects, and no longer Enemies, whilst all the rest of the Nations remain'd in the State of Rebellion the professed Subjects of other Gods, who were Usurpers upon God's Right, and Enemies of this Kingdom. And indeed if the four Epithites be not taken to be spoken here of the Gentile World in this Political and truly Evangelical Senfe, but in the ordinary Systematical Notion applied to all Mankind, as belonging univertally to every Man personally, whether by Profession Gentile, Jew or Christian, before he be actually regenerated by a faving Faith, and an effectual through Conversion, the illative Particle Wherefore, in the beginning of ver. 12. will hardly connect it and what follows to the foregoing part of this Chapter. But the eleven first Verses must be taken for a Parenthesis, and then the Therefore in the beginning of this 5th Chapter, which joins it to the 4th with a very clear Connection, will be wholly infignificant, and after all the Sense of the 12th Verse, will but ill sodder with the end of the 4th Chapter, notwithstanding the Wherefore which is taken to bring them in as an Inference. Whereas these eleven first Verfes being supposed to be spoken of the Gentiles, makes them not only of a piece with St. Paul's Defign in the foregoing and following Chapters, but the Thread of the whole Discourse goes very smooth, and the Inferences (usher'd in with Therefore in the 1st Verse, and with Wherefore in the 12th Verse) are very easie, clear and natural from the immediately preceding Verses. That of the 1st Verse may be seen in what we have already Taid, and that of the 12th Verse in short stands thus; We Gentiles have by Christ received the Reconciliation, which we cannot doubt to be intended for us as well as for the Jews, fince Sin and Death enter'd into the World by Adam, the common Father of us all. this Section without perceiving that these Words joyn on this Verse to the 3d. The Apostle in the 2d Verse says, We the Gentiles who believe, glory in the hopes of an eternal splendid State of Bliss. In the 3d Verse he adds, Survey sie, And not only so, but our Afflictions are to us matter of Glorying, which he proves in the seven following Verses, and then ver. 11, adds in power sie, And not only so; but we glory in God also as our God, being reconciled to him in sesue that the Convert Gentiles had whereof to glory as well as the Jews, and were not inserior to them, though they had not Circumcission and the Law, wherein the Jews gloried so much, but with no ground in comparison of what the Gentiles had to glory in, by Faith in Jesus Christ, now under the Gospel.

(t) 'Tis true we Gentiles could not formerly glory in God as our God, that was the Privilege of the Jews, who alone of all the Nations owned him for their King and God, and were his People in Covenant with him. All the rest of the Kingdoms of the Earth had taken other Lords, and given themselves up to salfe. Gods, to serve and worship them, and so were in a State of War with the true God, the God of Israel. But now we being reconciled by Jesus Christ, whom we have received, and own for our Lord, and thereby being return'd into his Kingdom, and to our antient Allegiance, we can truly glory in God as our God, which the Jews cannot do, who have refused to receive Jesus for their Lord.

SECT. VI.

CHAP. V. 12.---VII. 25.

CONTENTS.

HE Apostle here goes on with his Design of shewing that the Gentiles under the Gospel have as good a Title to the Favour of God as the Jews, there being no other way for either Jew or Gentile to find Acceptance with God but by Faith in Jesus Christ. In the foregoing Section he reckon'd up several Subjects of glorying which the Convert Gentiles had without the Law, and concludes them with this chief and principle matter of glorying, even God himself, whom, now that they were by Jesus Christ their Lord reconciled to him, they could glory in as their God.

To give them a more full and fatisfactory Comprehension of this, he leads them back to the Times before the giving of the Law, and the very Being of the Jewish Nation; and lays before them in short the whole Scene of God's Oeconomie, and his Dealing with Mankind from the beginning, in reference to Life and Death.

1. He teaches them, that by Adam's Laps all Men were brought into a State of Death, and by Christ's Death all are restored to Life. By Christ also as many as believe are instated in Eternal Life.

2. That the Law when it came laid the Israelites faster under Death, by enlarging the Offence which had Death annexed to it. For by the Law every Transgression that any one under the Law committed, had Death for its Punishment, notwithstanding which by Christ those under the Law who believe receive Life.

3. That though the Gentiles who believe come not under the Rigor of the Law, yet the Covenant of Grace which they are under, requires that they should not be Servants and Vassals to Sin, to obey it in the Lusts of it, but sincerely endeavour after Righteoufness, the end whereof would be everlasting Life.

4. That the Jews also who receive the Gospel, are deliver'd from the Law, not that the Law is Sin; but because though the Law forbid the obeying of Sin as well as the Gospel, yet not enabling bling them to resist their sinful Lusts, but making each compliance discussed with any sinful Lust deadly, it settles upon them the Dominion of Sin by Death, from which they are delivered by the Grace of God alone, which frees them from the Condemnation of the Law for every actual Transgression, and requires no more but that they should with the whole bent of their Mind serve the Law of God, and not their carnal Lusts. In all which Cases the Salvation of the Gentiles is wholly by Grace, without their being at all under the Law. And the Salvation of the Jews is wholly by Grace also, without any Aid or Help from the Law: From which also by Christ they are delivered.

Thus lies the Thread of St. Paul's Argument, wherein we may fee how he purfues his Defign of fatisfying the Gentile Converts at Rome, that they were not required to submit to the Law of Moses; and of fortifying them against the Jews, who troubled them about it.

For the more distinct and easie Apprehension of St. Paul's discoursing on these Four Heads, I shall divide this Section into the Four following Numbers, taking them up as they lie in the Order of the Text.

SECT. VI. N.I.

before the Law, and before the Separation that was made thereby of the Ifraelites from all the other Nations of the Earth. And here he shews, that Adam transgressing the Law which forbid him the eating of the Tree of Knowledge upon pain of Death, forseited Immortality, and becoming thereby mortal, all his Posterity descending from the Loins of a mortal Man, were mortal too, and all died, though none of them broke that Law but Adam himfels: But by Christ they are all restored to Life again. And God justifying those who believe in Christ, they are restored to their Primitive State of Righteousness and Immortality; so that the Gentiles

Anches Gentlies being the Descendants of Adam as well as the Jews, stand Seronics as fair for all the Advantages that accrue to the Posterity of Adam by Christ, as the Jews themselves, it being all wholly and selely from Grace.

Whole Matter, from the beginning, you must know, that as by the Act of one Man Adam, the Father of us all, Sin entred into the World, and Death, which was the Punishment annexed to the Offence of eating the forbidden Fruit, enter'd by that Sin, for that all Adam's Posterity thereby became mortal (n). 'Tis true indeed, Sin was universally committed in the World by all Men, all the time before the positive Law of God delivered by Moses: but Herefore as by one rz man fin entred into the world, and death by fin; and fo death paffed upon all men, for that all have finned.

NOTES.

12 (a) Have finned, I have render'd became mortal, following the Rule I think very nenessary for the understanding St. Paul's Epistles, (viz.) the making him as much as is possible his own Interpreter, 1 Cor. 15. 22, cannot be denied to be parallel to this place. This and the following Verses here being, as one may say, a Comment on that Verse in the Co-rinthians, St. Paul treating here of the same matter, but more at large. There he says, As in Adam all die, which Words cannot be taken literally, but thus, That in Adamall became mortal. The fame he fays here, but in other words, putting, by a no very unufual Metonymie, the Cause for the Effect, (viz.) the Sin of earing the forbidden Fruit for the Effect of it on Adam, viz. Mortality, and in him on all his Posserity: A mortal Father infected now with Death, being able to produce no better than a mortal Race. Why St. Paul differs in his Phrase here from that which we find he used to the Corinthians, and prefers here that which is harder and more figurative, may perhaps be eafily accounted for, it we consider his Stile and usual way of Writing, wherein is shewn a great liking of the Beauty and Force of Antithefis, as ferving much to Illustration and Impression. In the 15th of Corinthians, he is speaking of Life restored by Jesus Christ, and to illustrate and fix that in their Minds, the Death of Mankind best served: Here to the Romans he is difcourting of Righteoufness restored to Men by Christ, and therefore here the term Sin is the anoth natural and properest to set that off. But that neither actual or imputed Sin is meant here, or ver. 19. where the same way of Expression is used, he that has need of it may see proved in Dr. Whithy upon the place. If there can be any need of any other Proof, when it is evidently contrary to St. Paul's Design here, which is to shew, that all Men from Adam to Moses, died solely in consequence of Adam's Transgression, see zer. 57.

is not imputed when there is no law.

14 Nevertheless, death

'tis as true (w) that there is no certain determined Punishment affixed to Sin without a positive (x) Law declaring it. Nevertheless we

NOTES.

13 (w) Όυκ ελλογείται, is not imputed, fo our Translation, but possibly not exactly to the Sense of the Apoltle; EAAOyeiv lignifies to reckon, but cannot be interpreted reckon to, which is the meaning of impute, without a Person assigned to whom it is imputed. And fo we see when the word is used in that Sense, the Dative Case of the Person is subjoyn'd. And therefore it is well translated, Philem. 18. If he owes thee any thing, 'εμοὶ 'ελλογεί, fut it to my account, reckon or impute it to me. Besides St. Paul here tells us, the Sin here spoken of as not reckon'd, was in the World, and had actual Existence during the time between Adam and Moses, but the Sin which is supposed to be imputed is Adam's Sin, which he committed in Paradice, and was not in the World during the time from Adam till Mofer, and therefore 'exaceiras cannot here fignifie imputed. Sins in Sacred Scripture are called Debts, but nothing can be brought to accounts, as a Debt, till a Value be fet upon it. Now Sins can no way be taxed, or a rate fet upon them, but by the positive Declaration and Sanction of the Law-maker. Mankind, without the positive Law of God, knew by the Light of Nature, that they transgressed the Rule of their Nature, Reason which dictated to them what they ought to do. But without a positive Declaration of God their Sovereign, they could not tell at what rate God tax'd their Trespasses against this Rule; till he pronounced that Life should be the Price of Sin, that could not be ascertained, and confequently Sin could not be brought to account: And therefore we fee that where there was no rositive Law affixing Death to Sin, Men did not look on Death as the Wages or Retribution for their Sin; they did not account that they paid their Lives as a Debt and Forfeit for their Transgression. This is the more to be consider'd, because St. Paul in this Epissle treats of Sin, Punishment, and Forgiveness by way of an Account, as it were of Debtor and Creditor.

He will be farther confirmed in this Sense of these words, who will be at the pains to compare ch. 4. 15. & 5. 13, 20. & 7. 8, 9. together. St. Paul, ch. 4. 15. says, The Law worketh Wrath, i. c. carrieth Punishment with it. For where there is no Law, there is no Transgression. Whereby is not meant, that there is no Sin where there is no positive Law, (the contrary whereof he says in this Verse, viz. that Sin was in the World all the rime before the Law) but that there is no Transgression with a Penalty annexed to it without a positive Law. And hence he tells the Romans, ch. 1. 32. that they knew not that those things deserved Death, [vid. Note, ch. 1. 32.] but it was by the positive Law of God only that Men knew that Death was certainly annexed to Sin as its certain and unavoidable Punishment; and so St. Paul argues, ch. 7. 8, 9.

(x) Nour, Law. Whither St. Paul by veus here means Law in general, as for the most part he does where he omits the Article; or whither he means the Law of Moses in particular, in which Sense he commonly joyns the Article to vous, this is plain that St. Paul's Notion of a Law was conformable to that given by Moses, and so he uses the word rous, in English Law, for the positive Command of God, with a Sanction of a Penalty annexed to it, of which kind there never having been any one given to any People, but that by Moses to the Children of Israel, till the Revelation of the Will of God by Jesus Christ to all Mankind, which for several Reasons is always called the Gospel, in Contradistinction to the Law of Moses, when St. Paul speaks of Law in general, it reduces it self in Matter of Fact to the Law of Moses.

fee that in all that space of time, which was before the positive Law of God by Moses, Men from the beginning of the World died all as well as their Father Adam, though none of them but he alone had eaten of the forbidden Fruit (y), and thereby, as he had committed that Sin, to which Sin alone the Punishment of Death was annexed by the politive Sanction of God denounced to Adam, who was the Figure and Type of Christ who was to come. yet though he were the Type of Christ, yet the Gift or Benefit received by Christ, is not exactly conformed and confined to the Dimensions of the Damage received by Adam's Fall. For if by the Lapse of one Man the multitude (z), i. e. all Men died (z), much more did the Favour of God, and the Free Gift by the Bounty or Good-will which is in Jefus Christ, exceed to the multitude (z), i. e. to all reigned from Adam to Moses, even over them that had not sinned after the similitude of Adam's transgression, who is the sigure of him that was to come:

But not as the offence, 15 fo also is the free gift. For if through the offence of one many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, fesus Christ, hath abounded unto many.

NOTES.

14 (1) In this Veise St. Paul proves that all Men became mortal by Adam's eatin the torbidden Fruit, and by that alone, because no Man can incur a Penalty without the Sanction of a Positive Law, declaring and establishing that Penalty, but Death was annexed by no positive Law to any Sin, but the eating the forbidden Fruit; and therefore Mens dying before the Law of Moses, was purely in consequence of Adam's Sin, in eating the forbidden Fruit, and the positive Sanction of Death annexed to it, an evident Proof of Man's Mortality coming from thence.

15 (2) 'Οι πολλοί, & τῶς πολλῶς, I fuppose may be understood to stand here for the Multitude or collective Body of Mankind. For the Apostle in express words assures us, 1 Cor. 15. 22. That in Adam all died, and in Christ all are made alive: And so here, ver. 18. All Men sell under the Condemnation of Death, and all Men were restored unto Justification of Life, which all Men in the very next words, ver. 19. are called δι πολλδι, the many. So that the many, in the former part of this Verse, and the many at the end of it, comprehending all Mankind, must be equal. The Comparison therefore, and the Inequality of the things compared, lies not here between the Numbers of those that died, and the Numbers of those that shall be restored to Life. But the Comparison lies between the Persons by whom this general Death, and this general Restoration to Life came, Adam the Type, and Jesus Christ the Antitype; And it seems to lie in this, that Adam's Lapse came barely for the Satisfaction of his own Appetite and desire of Good to himself, but the Restoration was from the exuberant Bounty and Good-will of Christ towards Men, who at the cost of his own painful Death, purchased Life for them. The want of taking the Company riton here right, and the placing it amiss in a greater Number refiored to Life by Jesus Christ, than those brought into Death by Adam's Sin, hath led some Men so far out of the way, as to alledge, that Men in the Deluge died for their own Sins. 'Tis true they did so, and so did the Men of Sodom and Gomorrab, and the Philishines cut off by the Israelites, and multitudes of others: But 'tis as true, that by their own Sins they were not made mortal: They were so before by their Father Adam's eating the forbidden Fruit; so that what they paid for their own Sins was not Immortality, which they had not but a few Years of their own finite Lives, which having been let alone, would every one of them, in a short time have come to an end. It cannot be denied therefore but that it is as true of these as any of the reit of Mankind before Moses, that they died solely in Adam, as St. Paul has proved in the three preceding Verses. And 'tis as true of them, as of any of the reit of Mankind in general, that they died in Adam. For this St. Paul expressly afferts of all, that in Adam all died, 1 Cor. 15. 22. and in this very Chapter, ver. 18. in other words. It is then a flat Contradiction to St. Paul to say, that those whom the Floud swept away did not die in Adam.

16 (1) Δi ivos αμαςτήματω, by one Sin, so the Alexandrine Copy reads it more conformable to the Apothle's Sense. For if ivos one in this Verse be to be taken for the Person of Adam, and not for his one Sin of eating the forbidden Fruit, there will be nothing to answer πολλον σο σποματον, many Offences here, and so the Comparison St. Paul is upon will be lost, whereas it is plain that in this Verse he shews another Disproportion in the case, wherein Adam the Type comes short of Christ the Antitype; and that is, that 'twas but for one only Transgression that Death came upon all Men: But Christ restores Life unto all notwithstanding multitudes of Sins. These two Excesses both of the good Will of the Donor, of the Greatness of the Gift, are both reckon'd up together in the following Verse and are there plainly expressed in σεισσίαν της καριστή η της Νόρεις; The Excess of the Favour in the greater Good-will and Cost of the Donor. And the Inequality of the Gift is test which exceeds, as many exceeds one; or the Deliverance from the Guilt of many Sins. does the Deliverance from the Guilt of one.

(b) Ewis, Of Life, is found in the Alexandrine Copy. And he that will read ver 18.

will scarce incline to the leaving of it out here.

17 (c) Surplufage, so servie fignifies. The Surplufage of revers, was the painful Death of Christ, whereas the Fall cost Adam no more pains but eating the Fruit. The Surplufage of Infect, the Gift or Benefit received, was Justification to Life from a multitude of Sins, whereas the loss of Life came upon all Men only for one Sin; but all Men, how guilty soever of many Sins, are restored to Life.

TEXT.

18. in Life by one, even Jesus Christ. Therefore (d) as by one (e) Offence (viz.) Adam's eating the forbidden Fruit, all Men fell under the Condemnation of Death, so by one Act of Righteousness, viz. Christ's Obedience to Death upon the Cross (f), all Men are restored reign in life by one, Jefus Christ.

Therefore as by the of-18 fence of one, judgment came upon all men to condemnation: even fo by the righteoufness of one, the free gift came upon all men unto justification of life.

NOTES.

18 (d) Therefore here is not used as an Illative, introducing an Inference from the immediately preceding Verses, but is the same therefore which began ver. 12. repeated here again with part of the Inference that was there begun and lest incomplete, the Continuation of it being interrupted by the Intervention of the Proofs of the first part of it. The Particle As immediately following therefore, ver. 12. is a convincing Proof of this, having there or in the following Verses nothing to answer it, and so leaves the Sense imperfect and suspended, till you come to this Verse where the same Reasoning is taken again, and the same Protasis or first part of the Comparison repeated: and then the Apodosis or latter part is added to it, and the whole Sentence made complete: which to take right, one must read thus, ver. 12. Therefore as by one Man Sin entred into the World, and Death by Sin, and so Death passed upon all Men, &c.—ver. 18. I say, Therefore as by the Offence of one, Judgment came upon all Men to Condemnation, even so by the Righteonsness of one, the free Gift came upon all Men to Institute the World. A like Interruption of what he began to say, may be seen, 2 Cor. 12. 14. and the same Discourse after the Interposition of eight Verses, began again, ch. 13. 1. not to mention others that I think may be found in St. Paul's Epistles.

(e) That ivis Εσπώματ ο ought to be rendred one Offence; and not the Offence of one Man; and so ivis August ματο, one All of Righteoufnefs, and not the Righteoufnefs of one, is reasonable to think: Because in the next Verse St. Paul compares one Man to one Man, and therefore 'tis fit to understand him here (the Construction also favouring it) of one Fact compared with one Fact, unless we will make him here (where he seems to study Concisencis, guilty of a Tautology. But taken as I think they should be understood, one may see a Harmony, Beauty and Fulness in this Discourse, which at first sight seems somewhat obscure and perplexed. For thus in these two Verses, 18, 19, he shews the Correspondence of Adam the Type with Christ the Autitype, as we may see ver. 14, he designed, as he had shewn the Disparity between them, ver. 15, 16, 17.

(f) That this is the meaning of of iside Augustuare, is plain by the following Verse. St. Paul every one may observe to be a Lover of Antithesis. In this Verse it is it is the standare, one perverse Ast of Transgression, and ivid structure, one right Ast of Submission: In the next Verse it is a Disobedience, and imake Obedience, the same thing being meant in both Verses. And that this duratha, this Ast of Obedience, whereby he procured Life to all Mankind, was his Death upon the Cross, I think no body questions, see ver. 7—9. Heb. 2. 10, 14. Phil. 2. 8. And that duratham, when applied to Men, signifies Actions conformable to the Will of God, see Rev. 19. 8.

to Life (g). For as by one Man's Disobedience many were brought into a State of Mortality, which is the State of Sinners (h); so by the Obedience of one shall many be made righteous, i. e. be restor'd to Life again, as if they were not Sinners.

NOTES.

(g) By Angione Long, Justification of Life, which are the words of the Text, is not meant that Righteousness by Faith which is to eternal Life. For eternal Life is no where in Sacred Scripture mentioned as the Portion of all Men, but only of the Saints. But the Justification of Life here spoken of, is, what all Men partake in by the Benefit of Christ's Death, by which they are justified from all that was brought upon them by Adam's Sin, i. e. they are discharged from Death, the Consequence of Adam's Transgression; and restored to Life, to stand or fall by that Plea of Righteousness, which they can make, either of their own by Works, or of the Righteousness of God by Faith.

19 (b) Sinners. Here St. Paul uses the same Metonymie as above, ver. 12. putting Sinners for mortal, whereby the Antithesis to Righteous is the more lively.

Gentiles that there was no need of their fubmitting to the Law in order to their partaking of the Benefits of the Gospel, having in the foregoing eight Verses taught them, that Adam's one Sin had brought Death upon them all, from which they were all restored by Christ's Death, with Addition of eternal Bliss and Glory to all those who believe in him; all which being the effect of God's Free Grace and Favour to those who were never under the Law, excludes the Law from having any part in it, and so fully makes out the Title of the Gentiles to God's Favour, through Jesus Christ, under the Gospel, without the Intervention of the Law. Here, for

An.Ch.57. for the farther Satisfaction of the Gentile Converts, he shews them Neronis 3. in these two Verses, That the Nation of the Hebrews who had the Law, were not delivered from the State of Death by it, but rather plunged deeper under it by the Law, and fo stood more in need of Favour, and indeed had a greater abundance of Grace afforded them for their Recovery to Life by Jesus Christ, than the Gentiles themselves. Thus the Jews themselves not being saved by the Law, but by an excess of Grace, this is a farther Proof of the Point St. Paul was upon, (viz.) that the Gentiles had no need of the Law for the obtaining of Life under the Gospel.

TEXT.

His was the State of all (i) Mankind before the Law they all died for the one παράπτωμα, Laple or Offence of one Man, which but where fin abounded, was the only Irregularity that had Death annexed to it: but the Law entred and took part over a small part of Mankind (k), that there this παράπτωμα, Laple or Offence, to 1 Oreover, the law 20 entred, that the offence might abound:

NOTES.

20 (i) There can be nothing plainer than that St. Paul here in these two Verses makes ... Comparison between the State of the Jews, and the State of the Gentiles, as it stands deforibed in the eight preceding Verses, to shew wherein they differ'd or agreed, so far as was necessary to his present purpose of satisfying the Convert Romans, that in reference to their Interest in the Gospel, the Jews had no Advantage over them by the Law. With what reference to those eight Verses St. Paul writ these two, appears by the very choise of his Words. He tells them, ver. 12. that Death by Sin εισηλθε enter'd into the World, and here he tells them, that the Law (for Sin and Death were enter'd already) wagewonde, enter'd a little, a word that, fet in opposition to εισήλθε, gives a distinguishing Idea of the Extent of the Law, such as really it was, little and narrow, as was the People of Ifrael, (whom alone it reached) in respect of all the other Nations of the Earth, with whom it nad nothing to do. For the Law of Moses was given to Israel alone, and not to all Mankind. The Vulgate therefore translates this word right, fubintravit, it inter'd but not far, i. e. the Death which followed upon the account of the Mosaical Law reigned over but a finall part of Mankind, viz. the Children of Ifrael, who alone were under that Law, whereas by Adam's Transgression of the positive Law given him in Paradice, Death passed upon all Men.

(k) "Iva that. Some would have this fignify barely the Event, and not the Intention of the Law-giver, and to understand by these words, that the Offence might abound, the Increase of Sin, or the Aggravations of it, as a Confequence of the Law. But it is to be remembred, that St. Paul here fets forth the Difference which God intended to put by the Law which he gave them, between the Children of Ifinel and the Gentile World, in respect of Life and Death, Life and Death being the Subject St. Paul was upon. And therefore to grace did much more abound: which Death was annexed, might abound, i.e. the multiplied Transgressions of many Men, viz. all that were under the Law of Moses, might have Death annexed to them by the positive Sanction of that Law, whereby the Offence (1) to which Death was annexed did abound, i.e. Sins that had Death for their Punishment were increased. But by the Good-mention barely accidental Confequences of the Law that made the Difference, had come short of St. P.tul's Purpose.

All Mankind was in an irrecoverable State of Death by Adam's Lapfe. 'Twas plainly the Intention of God to remove the Ifraelites out of this State by the Law: and so he says himself, that he gave them Statutes and Judgments, which if a Man do, he shall live in them, Lev. 18.5. And fo St. Paul tells us here, ch. 7. 10. that the Law was ordained for Life. Whence it necessary follows, that if Life were intended them for their Obedience, Death was intended them for their Disobedience: And accordingly Moses tells them, Deut. 30. 19. that he had set before them Life and Death. Thus by the Law the Children of Israel were put into a new State: And by the Covenant God made with them, their remaining under Death, or their Recovery of Life, was to be the Consequence not of what another had done, but of what they rhemselves did. They were thenceforth put to stand or fall by their own Actions, and the Death they fuffer'd was for their Transgressions. Every Offence they committed against the Law, did by this Covenant bind Death upon them. 'Tis not easy to conceive that God should give them a Law, to the end Sin and Guilt should abound amongst them, but yet he might and did give them a Law that the Offence which had Death annexed fhould abound, i. e. that Death which before was the declared Penalty of but one Offence, should to the Jews be made the Penalty of every Breach by the Sanction of this new Law, which was not a Hardship, but a Privilege to them. For in their former State, common to them with the rest of Mankind, Death was unavoidable to them. But by the Law they had a Trial for Life: Accordingly our Saviour to the young Man, who asked what he should do to obtain eternal Life, answers, Keep the Commandments. The Law increasing the Offence in this Sense had also another Benefit, viz. That the Jews perceiving they incurr'd Death by the Law, which was ordained for Life, might thereby, as by a School-master, be lead to Christ, to seek Life by him. This St. Paul takes notice of Gal. 3. 24.

(1) Παρέπτωμα is another word, shewing St. Paul's having an eye in what he says here, to what he said in the foregoing Verses. Our Bibles translate it Offence, it properly signifies Fall, and is used in the foregoing Verses, for that Transgression which by the positive Law of God had Death annexed to it, and in that Sense the Apostle continues to use it here also. There was but one such Sin before the Law given by Moses, viz. Adam's eating the forbidden Fruit. But the positive Law of God given to the Israelites, made all their Sins such, by annexing the Penalty of Death to each Transgression, and thus the Offence abounded, or was increased by the Law.

TEXT.

ness of God where Sin (m) with Death annexed to it did abound, Grace did much more abound (n). That as Sin had reigned or shew'd its Mastery in the Death of the Israelites, who were under the Law, so Grace in its turn might reign, or shew its Mastery, by justifying them from all those many Sins which they had committed, each whereof by the Law brought Death with it, and so bestowing on them the Righteousness of Faith, instate them in eternal Life, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

That as fin hath reign-21 ed unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life, by Jesus Christ our Loid.

NOTES.

(m) Sin. That by Sin St. Paul means here such Failure, as by the Sanction of a positive Law had Death annexed to it, the beginning of the next Verse shews, where it is declared to be such Sin as reigned in or by Death, which all Sin doth not, all Sin is not taxed at that tate, as appears by ver. 13. see Note. The Article joyn'd here both to παράπτωμα and ἀμαρτία, for it is το παράπτωμα, and ἡ ἀμαρτία, the Offence and the Sin, limiting the general Signification of those Words to some particular fort, seems to point out this Sense. And that this is not a mere groundless Criticism, may appear from ver. 12, & 13. where St. Paul uses ἀμαρτία in these two different Senses, with the Distinction of the Article and no Article.

(n) Grace might much more abound. The rest of Mankind were in a State of Death only for one Sin of one Man. This the Aposse is express in, not only in the foregoing Verses, but elsewhere. But those who were under the Law (which made each Transgression they were guilty of mortal) were under the Condemnation of Death, not only for that one Sin of another, but also for every one of their own Sins. Now to make any one righteous to Life from many, and those his own Sins, besides that one that lay on him before, is greater Grace, than to beslow on him Justification to Life only from one Sin, and that of another Man. To forgive the Penalty of many Sins, is a greater Grace than to remit the Penalty

CT. Paul having in the foregoing Chapter very much magnified Free Grace, by shewing that all Men having lost their Lives by Adam's Sin, were by Grace through Christ restored to Lite again; and also as many of them as believed in Christ, were reestablished in Immortality by Grace; and that even the Jews, who by their own Trespasses against the Law had forfeited their Lives over and over again, were also by Grace restored to Life, Grace superabounding where Sin abounded, he here obviates a wrong Inference, which might be apt to mislead the Convert Gentiles, (viz.) Therefore let us continue in Sin, that Grace may abound. The contrary whereof he shews, their very taking upon them the Profession of Christianity, required of them by the very initiating Ceremony of Baptism, wherein they were typically buried with Christ, to teach them that they, as he did, ought to die to Sin; and as he rose to live to God, they should rise to a new Life of Obedience to God, and be no more Slaves to Sin in an Obedience and Refignation of themselves to its Commands. For if their Obedience were to Sin, they were Vasfals of Sin, and would certainly receive the Wages of that Master, which was nothing but Death: But if they obeyed Righteousness, i. e. sincerely endeavoured after Righteousness, though they did not attain it, Sin should not have Dominion over them, by Death, i. e. should not bring Death upon them. Because they were not under the Law, which condemn'd them to Death for every Transgression; but under Grace, which by Faith in Jesus Christ justified them to eternal Life from their many Transgressions. And thus he shews the Gentiles not only the no Necessity, but the Advantage of their not being under the Law.

2 (0) We, i. e. I and all Converts to Christianity. St. Raul in this Chapter shews it to be the Profession and Obligation of all Christians, even by their Baptism, and the typical Signification of it, to be dead to Sin, and alive to God, i. e. as he explains it, not to be any longer Vassals to Sin in obeying our Lusts, but to be Servants to God in a fincere Purpose and Endeavour of obeying him. For whether under the Law or under Grace, whoever is a Vassal to Sin, i. e. indulges himself in a compliance of his finful Luss, will receive the Wages which Sin pays, i. e. Death. This he strongly represents here to the Gentile Converts of Rome (for 'tis to them he speaks in this Chapter) that they might not missake the State they were in, by being not under the Law, but under Grace, of which, and the Freedom and Largeness of it, he had spoken so much, and so highly in the foregoing Chapter, to let them see, that to be under Grace, was not a State of License, but of exact Obedience in the Intention and Indeavour of every one under Grace, though in the Performance they came short of it. This strict Obedience, to the utmost reach of every ones Aim and Endeavours, he urges as necessary, because Obedience to Sin unavoidably produces Death, and he urges as reasonable for this very Reason, that they were not under the Law, but under Grace. For as much as all the Endeavours after Righteousness of those who were under the Law was lost Labour, fince any one slip forfeited Life: But the sincere Endeavours after Righteousness of those who were under Grace, were sure to succeed to the attaining the Gift of eternal Life.

On the contrary, that walking after the Spirit, or in newrosts of Life, the Crucifixion of the Old Man, the Destruction of the Body of Sin, the Deliverance from the Body of Death, to be freed from Sin, to be dead to Sin, alive unto God, to yeild your felves unto God, as those who are alive from the dead, veild your Members Servants of Righteousness unto Righteousness, made free from Sin, Servants of Righteousness, to be after the Spirit, to be spiritually minded, to mortifie the Deeds of the Body, do all fignishe a constant and fleady Purpose, and sincere Endeavour to obey the Law and Will of God in every thing, these leveral Expressions being used in several places, as best serves the Occasion, and illustrates the Sense.

7 (1) The Tenor of St. Paul's Discourse here shews this to be the Sense of this Verse, and to be affured that it is so,—we need go no farther than ver. 11, 12, 13. He makes it his Business in this Chapter; not to 'tell them what they certainly and unchangeably are, but to exhort them to be what they ought and are engaged to be by becoming Christians, viz. that they ought to emancipate themselves from the Vassalage of Sin, not that they were so emancipated without any danger of Return; for then he could not have said what he does, ver. 1, 12, 13, which supposes it in their Power to continue in their Obedience to Sin, or return to that Vassalage if they would.

obvious meaning of the Parallel Phrase under the Law. They, 'tis unquestion'd, were un. der the Law, who having by Circumcifion the Ceremony of Admittance, been received into the Commonwealth of the Jews, owned the God of the Jews for their God and King, professing Subjection to the Law he gave by Mosts. And so in like manner, he is under Grace, who having by Baptism the Ceremony of Admlttance, been received into the Kingdom of Christ, or the Society of Christians, called by a peculiar Name the Christian Church, owns Jesus of Nazareth to be the Messias his King, professing Subjection to his Law deliver'd in the Gospel. By which it is plain, that being under Grace is spoken here, as being under the Law is, in a political and national Sense. For whoever was circumcised, and owned God for his King, and the Authority of his Law, ceased not to be a sew or Member of that Society by every or any Transgression of the Precepts of that Law, so long as he own'd God for his Lord, and his Subjection to that Law; so likewise he who by Baptism is incorporated into the Kingdom of Christ, and owns him for his Sovereign, and himself under the Law and Rule of the Gospel, ceases not to be a Christian, though he offend against the Precepts of the Gospel, till he denies Christ to be his King and Lord, and renounces his Subjection to his Law in the Gospel. But God in taking a People to himself to be his, not doing it barely as a temporal Prince, or Head of a Politique Society in this World, but in order to his having as many as in obeying him perform the Conditions neceffary, his Subjects for ever in the State of Immortality restored to them in another World, has fince the Fall erected two Kingdoms in this World, the one of the Jews immediately under himself, another of Christians under his Son Jesus Christ, for that farther and more glorious end of attaining eternal Life, which Prerogative and Privilege of eternal Life does not belong to the Society in general, nor is the Benefit granted nationally to the whole Body of the People of either of these Kingdoms of God, but personally to such of them who perform the Conditions required in the Terms of each Covenant. To those who are Jews, or under the Law, the Terms are perfect and compleat Obedience to every Tittle of the Law, Do this and live. To those who are Christians, or under Grace, the Terms are sincere Endeavours after the Complete Charles of the Charles fest in the remaining part of this Chapter, where St. Paul acquaints those who ask whither shey shall sin, because they are not under the Law, but under Grace; that though they are under Grace, yet they who obey Sin, are the Vassals of Sin; and those who are the Vassals of Sin shall receive Death, the Wages of Sin.

meaning a Reception of the Golpel of Christ.

NOTES.

23 (k) The Wages of Sin, does not fignifie here the Wages that is paid for Sinning, but the Wages that Sin pays. This is evident not only by the Opposition that is put here in this Verse between the Wages of Sin and the Gift of God, viz. That Sin rewards Men with Death for their Obedience; but that which God gives to those, who believing in Jesus Christ, labour sincerely after Righteousness, is Life eternal. But it farther appears by the whole Tenor of St. Paul's Discourse, wherein he speaks of Sin as a Person and a Masser, who hath Servants, and is served and obeyed, and so the Wages of Sin being the Wages of Person here, must be what it pays.

(1) The Gift of God. Sin pays Death to those who are its obedient Vassals: But God rewards the Obedience of those to whom he is Lord and Master by the Gift of eternal Life. Their utmost Endeavours and highest Performances can never entitle them to it of Right; and so it is to them not Wages, but a free Gift. See ch. 4. 4.

\boldsymbol{C} O N T E N T S.

ST. Paul in the foregoing Chapter addressing himself to the Convert Gentiles, shews them, that not being under the Law, they were oblig'd only to keep themselves free from a Vassalage of Sin, by a sincere Endeavour after Righteousness, forasmuch as God gave eternal Life to all those who being under Grace, i.e. being converted to Christianity, did so.

In this Chapter addressing himself to those of his own Nation in the Roman Church, he tells them, that the Death of Christ having put an end to the Obligation of the Law, they were at their Liberty to quit the Observances of the Law, and were guilty of no Difloyalty in putting themselves under the Gospel. And here St. Paul shews the Deficiency of the Law, which render'd it necessary to be laid afide by the Coming and Reception of the Gospel. Not that it allowed any Sin, but on the contrary forbid even Concupifcence, which was not known to be Sin without the Law. Nor was it the Law that brought Death upon those who were under it, but Sin, that herein it might shew the extream malignant Influence it had upon our weak fleshly Natures, in that it could prevail on us to transgress the Law (which we could not but acknowledge to be holy, just and good) though Death was the declared Penalty of every Transgression: But herein lay the Deficiency of the Law as spiritual, and opposite to Sin as it was, that it could not master and root it out, but Sin remain'd and dwelt in Men as before, and by the Strength of their carnal Appetites, which were not subdued by the Law, carried them to Transgressions that they approved not. Nor did it avail them to disapprove or struggle, since though the bent of their Minds were the other way, yet their Endeavours after Obedience deliver'd them not from that Death which their Bodies or carnal Appetites, running them into Transgressions, brought upon them. That Deliverance was to be had from Grace, by which those who putting themselves from under the Law into the Gospel-State, were accepted of with the bent of their Minds, they

An.Ch.57. they fincerely endeavour'd to ferve and obey the Law of God, Neronis 3: though fometimes through the Frailty of their Flesh they fell into Sin.

This is a farther Demonstration to the converted Gentiles of Rome, that they are under no Obligation of submitting themselves to the Law, in order to be the People of God, or partake of the Advantages of the Gospel, since it was necessary even to the Jews themselves to quit the Terms of the Law, that they might be deliver'd from Death by the Gospel. And thus we see how steadily and skilfully he pursues his Design, and with what Evidence and Strength he fortisses the Gentile Converts against all Attempts of the Jews, who went about to bring them under the Observances of the Law of Moses.

(n) That his Discourse here is addressed to those Converts of this Church, who were of the Jewish Nation, is so evident from the whole Tenor of this Chapter, that there needs no more but to read it with a little Attention to be convinced of it, especially ver-

(6) Kupever To arbains, Hath Dominion over a Man. So we render it rightly: But I imagine we understand it in too narrow a Sense, taking it to mean only that Dominion or Force which the Law has to compel or restrain us in things which we have otherwise no mind to, whereas it seems to me to be used in the Conjugation Highil, and to comprehend here that Right and Privilege also of doing or enjoying, which a Man has by Virtue and Authority of the Law, which all ceases as soon as he is dead. To this large Sense of these words St. Paul's Expressions in the two next Verses seem suited; and so understood, have a clear and easie meaning, as may be seen in the Paraphrase.

2 (p) For. That which follows in the 2d Verse, is no proof of what is said in the 1st Verse, either as a Reason or an Instance of it, unless pupilies be taken in the Sense I pro-

For it can in no Senie be termed the Law of her Husband, but as it is the Law whereby he has the Right to his Wife. But this Law, as far as it is her Husband's Law, as far as he has any Concern in it, or Privilege by it, dies with him, and so she is loosed from it.

4 (r) Kai vues, Te also, & also, is not added here by Chance, and without any meaning, but shews plainly that the Apostle had in his Mind some Person or Persons before mentioned, who were free from the Law, and that must be either the Woman mentioned in the two foregoing Verles, as free from the Law of her Husband, because he was dead; or else the Gentile Converts mentioned, ch. 6. 14. as free from the Law, because they were never under it. If we think & refers to the Woman, then St. Paul's Sense is this, Woman, and may without any Imputation fubjest your felves to the Gofpel. If we take ito refer to the Gentile Converts, then his Sense is this; Even ye also my Brethren are free from the Liw as well as the Gentile Converts, and as much at Liberty to fubjest your felves to the Goffel as they. I confess my felf most inclin'd to this latter, both because St. Paul's main drift is to shew, that both Jews and Gentiles are wholly free from the Law : and because εδανατο θητε το νόμο, le have been made dead to the Law, the Phrase here us'd to express that Freedom, seems to refer rather to the 1st Verfe, where he fays, The Law hath Dominion over a Man as long as he liveth, implying and no longer, rather than to the two intervening Verses where he says, not the Death of the Woman, but the Death of the Husband fets the Woman free, of which more by and

There is a great deal of needlet's Pains taken by some to reconcile this Saying of St. Paul to the two immediately preceding Verfes, which they tuppose do require he should have said here what he does, ver. 6. viz. that the Law was dead, that so the Persons here spoken of might rightly answer to the Wife, who there represents them. But he that will take this Paffage together, will find that the first part of this 4th Verse refers to ver. 1. and the latter part of it to ver. 2, & 3. and consequently that St. Paul had spoken improperly, if he had said what they would make him say here. To clear this, let us look into St. Paul's Reasoning, which plainly stands thus; The Dominion of the Law over a Man ceases when he is dead, ver. 1. You are become dead to the Law by the Body of Christ, ver. 4. And so the Dominion of the Law over you is ceased, then you are free to put your selves under the Dominion of another, which can bring on you no charge of Disloyalty to him who had before the Dominion over you, any more than a Woman can be charged with Adultery when the Dominion of her former Hushand being ceafed by his Death, she marrieth her self to another Man. For the use of what he fays, ver. 2, & 3. is to satisfy the Jews that the Dominion of the Law over them being ceased by their Death to the Law in Christ, they were no more guilty of Difloyalty by putting themselves wholly under the Law of Christ in the Gofpel, than a Woman was guilty of Adultery, when the Dominion of her Husband ceafing, the gave her felf up wholly to another Man in Marriage.

(u) Dilloyalty. One thing that made the Jews fo tenacious of the Law was, that they looked upon it as a Revolt from God, and a Disloyalty to him their King, if they retain'd not the Law that he had given them. So that even those of them who imbraced the Gospel, thought it necessary to observe those Parts of the Law which were not continued, and as it were re-enacted by Christ in the Gospel. Their Mistake herein is what St. Paul, by the inflance of a Woman marrying a fecond. Husband, the former being dead, endeavours to convince them of.

(w) We. It may be worth our taking notice of, that St. Paul having all along from the beginning of the Chapter, and even in this very Sentence said 16, here with neglect of Grammar on a fuddain changes it into We, and fays, that we should, &c. I suppose to press the Argument the stronger, by shewing himself to be in the same Circumstances and Concern with them, he being a Jew as well as those he spoke to.

(x) Fruit unto God. In these words St. Paul visibly refers to ch. 6. 10. where he faith, that Christ in that he liveth he liveth unto God, and therefore he mentions here his being raifed from the dead, as a Reason for their bringing forth Fruit unto God, i. e. living to the Service of God, obeying his Will to the utmost of their Power, which is the same that he favs, ch. 8. 11.

5 (y) When we were in the Flesh. The Understanding and Observance of the Law in a bare litteral Sense, without looking any farther for a more spiritual Intention in it, St. Paul calls being in the Fless. That the Law had besides a litteral and carnal Sense, a spiritual and evangelical meaning, see 2 Cor. 3.6. & 17. compared. Read also ver. 14, 15, 16. where the Jews in the Flesh are described; and what he says of the ritual part of the Law, see Heb. 9. 9, 10. which whilst they lived in the Observance of, they were in the Flesh. That part of the Mosaical Law was wholly about fleshly things, Col. 2. 14-23. was sealed in the Flesh, and proposed no other but temporal sleshly Rewards.

A strange Imputation on the Law of God, such, as if it be true, must make the Jews more defiled with the Pollutions set down in Sr. Paul's Black List, eb. 1. than the Heathens themselves. But herein they will not find St. Paul of their Mind, who besides the visible Distinction wherewith he speaks of the Gentiles all through his Epistles, in this respect doth here, ver. 7. declase quite the contrary; see also 1 Pet. 4. 3, 4. If Sr. Paul's Use of the Preposition and a little backwards in this very Epissle were remember'd, this and a like Passage or two more in this Chapter would not have so harsh and hard a Sense put on them as they have. Two resevon two di angologias, our Translation renders, ch. 4.

If they had given the same Sense to des vous here, which plainly fignifies their being in the contrary State, i. e. under the Law, and render'd ir, sinful Affectious which they had, tho they were under the Law, the Apostle's Sense here would have been easy, clear, and conformable to the Defign he was upon. This use of the word I think we may find in other Epistles of St. Paul, To Six To sound To., 2 Cor. 5. 10. may possibly with better Sense be understood of things done during the Body, or during the bedily State, than by the Body; and so 1 Tim. 2.

Nor is this barely an Hellenistical Use of Six, for the Greeks themselves say I in East, during the Day; and Six vortes, during the Day; ring the Night. And fo I think Sid To Evayphis, Eph. 3.6. should be underslood to fignify in the time of the Gospel, or under the Gospel-Dispensation.

only the Faculties of our Minds for their Performance.

Death.

TEXT.

6. Death (c). But now the Law under which we were heretofore held in Subjection being dead, we are fet free from the Dominion of the Law, that we should perform our Obedience as under the new (d) and spiritual Covenant of the Gospel, wherein there is Remission of Frailties, and not as still under the old Rigor of the Letter of the Law, which condemns every one who does not perform exact Obedience to every tittle (e). What shall we then think that the Law, because it is set aside, was unrighteous, or gave any allowance, or contributed any thing to Sin (f)? By no means; For the Law on the contrary tied Men stricter up from

But now we are delivered from the law, that being dead wherein we were held; that we should ferve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter.

What shall we say then? 7 is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known

NOTES.

(c) Καρποφορίσαι τω Δανάτω, Bringing forth Fruit unto Death, here is opposed to bringing forth Fruit unto God, in the end of the foregoing Verse. Death here being consider'd as a Master whom Menserve by Sin, as God in the other place is consider'd as a Master, who gives Life to them who ferve him in performing Obedience to his Law.

6 (d) In Newness of Spirit, i.e. Spirit of the Law, as appears by the Antithesis, Oldness of the Letter, i.e. Letter of the Law. He speaks in the former part of the Verse of the Law as being dead, here he speaks of it being revived again with a new Spirit. Christ by his Death abolished the Molaical Law, but revived as much of it again, as was serviceable to the use of his spiritual Kingdom under the Gospel, but less all the Ceremonial and purely Typical Part dead, Col. 2. 14—18. The sews were held before Christ in an Obedience to the whole Letter of the Law, without minding the spiritual meaning which pointed at Christ. This the Apossle calls here serving in the Oldness of the Letter, and this he tells them they should now leave, as being freed from it by the Death of Christ, who was the end of the Law for the attaining of Righteousness, ch. 10. 4. i. e. in the spiritual Sense of it, which 2 Cor. 3. 6. he calls Spirit, which Spirit, ver. 16. he explains to be Christ. That Chapter and this Verse here give light to one another. Serving in the Spirit then is obeying the Law, as sar as it is revived, and as it is explain'd by our Saviour in the Gospel, for the attaining of Evangelical Righteousness.

(c) That this Sense also is comprehended in not ferving in the Oldness of the Letter, is plain from what St. Paul says, 2 Cor. 3. 6. The Letter killeth, but the Spirit giveth Life. From this killing Letter of the Law, whereby it pronounced Death for every the least Transgression, they were also delivered, and therefore St. Paul tells them here, ch. 8. 15-that they have not received the Spirit of Bondage again to fear, i. e. to live in perpetual Bondage and Dread under the inflexible Rigor of the Law, under which it was impossible for them to expect ought but Death.

7 (f) Sin. That Sin here comprehends both these Meanings expressed in the Paraphrase, appears from this Verse, where the Strictness of the Law against Sin is asserted in its prolibiting of Desires, and from ver- 12, where its Rectitude is asserted.

NOTES

(g) I. The Skill St. Paul uses in dexterously avoiding as much as possible the giving Offence to the Jews, is very visible in the word I in this place. In the beginning of this Chapter, where he mentions their Knowledge in the Law, he says Ie. In the 4th Verse he joyns himself with them, and says We. But here, and so to the end of this Chapter, where he represents the Power of Sin, and the Inability of the Law to subdue it wholly, he leaves them out, and speaks altogether in the first Person, tho it be plain he means all those who were under the Law.

8 (b) St. Paul here, and all along this Chapter, speaks of Sin as a Person endeavouring to compass his Death, and the Sense of this Verse amounts to no more but this, that in matter of Fact that Concupiscence which the Law declared to be Sin, remain'd and exerted it self in him, notwithstanding the Law. For if Sin from St. Paul's Prosopopeia, or making it a Person, shall be taken to be a real Agent, the carrying this Figure too far will give a very odd Sense to St. Paul's Words, and contrary to his meaning make Sin to be the Cause of it self, and of Concupiscence, from which it has its Rife.

(i) See Note, ver. 5.

(k) Dead. It is to be remembred not only that St. Paul all along this Chapter makes Sin a Person, but speaks of that Person and himself as two incompatible Enemies, the Being and Safety of the one confissing in the Death or Inability of the other to hurt. Without carrying this in mind, it will be very hard to understand this Chapter. For instance in this place St. Piul had declared, ver. 7. that the Law was not abolished, because it at all favour'd or promoted Sin, for it lays Restraints upon our very Desires, which Men without the Law did not take notice to be finful; Nevertheless Sin persisting in its Design to destroy me, took the Opportunity of my being under the Law, to stir up Concupifcence in me; for without the Law which annexes Death to Transgression, Sin is as good as dead, is not able to have its Will on me, and bring Death upon me. Conformable hereunto St. Paul fays, I Cor. 15. 56. The Strength of Sin is the Law, i. e. it is the Law that gives Sin the Strength and Power to kill Men. Laying afide the Figure which gives a lively Representation. fentation of the hard State of a well-minded Jew under the Law, the plain meaning of St. Paul here is this; " Tho the Law lays a stricter Restraint upon Sin than Men have without " it, yet it betters not my Condition thereby, because it inables me not wholly to extir-" pate Sin, and fulldue Concupifcence, though it hath made every Transgression a mortal "Crime. So that being no more totally fecured from offending under the Law, than 1 " was before, I am under the Law exposed to certain Death. This deplorable Effate could not be more feelingly expressed than it is here, by making Sin (which still remain'd in Man under the Law) a Person who implacably aiming at his Ruine, cunningly took the Opportunity of exciting Concupifcence in those to whom the Law had made it mortal.

NOTES.

9 (1) nori once. St. Paul declares there was a time once when he was in a State of Life. When this was, he himfelf tells us, viz. when he was without the Law, which could only be before the Law was given. For he fpeaks here in the Person of one of the Children of I/rael, who never ceased to be under the Law, fince it was given. This nort therefore must defign the Time between the Covenant made with Abraham and the Law. By that Covenant Abraham was made Bleffed, i. e. delivered from Death. That this is fo, vid. Gal. 3. 9, &c. And under him the Ifraelites claim'd the Bleffing, as his Pofferity, comprehended in that Covenant, and as many of them as were of the Faith of their Father, faithful Abraham, were bleffed with him. But when the Law came, and they put themfelves wholly into the Covenant of Works, wherein each Transgression of the Law became mortal, then Sin recovered Life again, and a Power to kill, and an Ifraelite now under the Law, found himself in a State of Death, a dead Man. Thus we see it corresponds with the Defign of the Apossle's Discourse here. In the six first Verses of this Chapter he fnews the Jews that they were at Liberty from the Law, and might put themselves solely under the Terms of the Gospel. In the following part of this Chapter he shews them, that it is necessary for them so to do; since the Law was not able to deliver them from the Power Sin had to destroy them, but subjected them to it. This part of the Chapter shewing at large what he fays, ch. 8.3. and to may be looked on as an Explication and Proof

10 (m) That the Commandments of the Law were given to the Ifraelites, that they might have Life by them; fee Lev. 18. 5. Mat. 19. 7.

(n) The Law which was just, and such as it ought to be, in having the Penalty of Death annexed to every Transgression of it, Gal. 3. 10. came to produce Death, by not being able fo to remove the Frailty of humane Nature, and subdue carnal Appetites, as to keep Men entirely free from all Trespasses against it, the least whereof by the Law brought Death. See ch. 8. 3. Gal. 3. 21.

11 (0) The Sense wherein I understand Ald τε νόμε, by the Law, ver. 5. is very much confirmed by Ita ris errais, in this and ver. 8. by which Interpretation the whole Difcourse is made plain, easy and consonant to the Apostle's Purpose.

me into Transgressions, each whereof was mortal Sin, had by my being under the Law, a fure Opportunity of bringing Death upon me. So that (q) the Law is holy, just and good, such as the eternal, immutable Rule of Right and Good required it to be. Was then the Law, that in it self was good, made Death to me? No (r), by no means: But it was Sin that by the Law was made Death unto me, to the end that the Power (s) of Sin might appear, by its being able to bring Death upon me, by that very Law that was intended for my Good, that so by the Commandment the Power (t) of

NOTES.

12 (q) °Q5, fo that, ver. 7. he laid down this Polition, that the Law was not Sin, ver. 8, 9, 10, 11. he proves it by shewing, that the Law was very strict in forbidding of Sin, so far as to reach the very Mind and the internal Acts of Concupiscence, and that it was Sin that remaining under the Law (which annexed Death to every Transgression) brought Death on the Israelites, he here infers, that the Law was not sinful, but righteous, just, and good, just such as by the eternal Rule of Right it ought to be.

13 (1) No. In the five foregoing Verses the Apostle had proved, that the Law was not Sin. In this and the ten following Verses he proves the Law not to be made Death; but that it was given to shew the Power of Sin which remain'd in those under the Law, so strong, notwithstanding the Law, that it could prevail on them to transgress the Law, notwithstanding all its Prohibition, with the Penalty of Death annexed to every Transgression. Of what use this shewing the Power of Sin by the Law, was, we may see, Gal. 3.

(s) That apapria rad in imploshin apaprasos, Sin exceeding finful, is put here to fignify the great Power of Sin or Lutt, is evident from the following Difcourse, which wholly tends to shew, that let a Man under the Law be right in his Mind and Purpose, yet the Law in his Members, i.e. his carnal Appetites, would carry him to the committing of Sin, tho his Judgment and Endeavours were averse to it. He that remembers that Sin in this Chapter is all along represented as a Person whose very Nature it was to seek and endeavour his Ruin, will not find it hard to understand that the Apostle here by Sin exceeding finful, means Sin strenuously exerting its sinful, i. e. destructive Nature with mighty Force.

(t) Twa yavner, that Sin might become, i. e. might appear to be. 'Tis of Appearance he fpeaks in the former part of this Verse, and so it must be understood here to conform the Sense of the Words, not only to what immediately precedes in this Verse, but to the Apostle's Design in this Chapter, where he takes pains to prove that the Law was not intended any way to promote Sin, and to understand by these Words that it was, is an Interpretation that neither Holy Scripture nor good Sense will allow. Tho the Sacred Scripture should not, as it does, give many Instances of putting being for appearing. Vid. ch. 3. 20.

Sin and Corruption in me might be shewn to be exceeding great; For we know that the Law is spiritual, requiring Actions quite opposite (u) to our carnal Affections. But I am so carnal as to be enslaved to them, and forced against my Will to do the Drudgery of Sin, as if I were a Slave that had been sold into the hands of that my domineering Enemy. For what I do is not of my own Contrivance.

15 (w) & γινώσκω, I do not know, i.e. it is not from my own Understanding or Forecast of Mind. The following Words, which are a Reason brought to prove this saying, give it this Sense. But if & γινώσκω be interpreted, I do not approve, what in the next Words is brought for a Reason will be but a Tautologie.

18 (x) St. Paul confiders himself, and in himself other Men, as consisting of two parts, which he calls Flesh and Mind, see ver. 25. meaning by the one the Judgment and Purpose of his Mind, guided by the Law or right Reason; by the other his natural Inclination pushing him to the Satisfaction of his irregular finful Desires. These he also calls, the one the Law of his Members, and the other the Law of his Mind, ver. 23. and Gal. 5. 16, 17. a place parallel to the ten last Verses of this Chapter, he calls the one Flesh, and the other Spirit. These two are the Subject of his Discourse in all this part of the Chapter, explaining particularly how by the Power and Prevalency of the stephy inclinations, not abated by the Law, it comes to pass, which he says, ch. 8. 2, 3, that the Law being meak by reason of the Flesh, could not set a Man free from the Power and Dominion of Sin and Death.

For in the Judgment and Purpose of my Mind, I am readily carried to a Conformity and Obedience to the Law: but the Strength of my carnal Affections not being abated by the Law, I am not able to execute what I judge to be right, and intend to perform. For the Good that is my purpose and aim, that I do not: But the Evil that is contrary to my Intention, that in my Practife takes place, i. e. (a) He having in the foregoing Verse spoken of the Law of God as a Principle of Action, but yet such as had not a Power to rule and influence the whole Man so as to keep him quite clear from Sin, he here speaks of natural Inclination as of a Law, also a Law in the Members, and a Law of Sin in the Members, to shew that it is a Principle of Operation in Men even under the Law, as sleady and constant in its Direction and Impulse to Sin, as the Law is to Obedience, and failed not through the Frailty of the Flesh often to prevail.

NOTES.

24 (b) What is it that St. Paul fo pathetically defires to be delivered from? The State he had been describing was that of humane Weakness, wherein notwithstanding the Law, even those who were under it, and fincerely endeavoured to obey it, were frequently carnied by their carnal Appetites into the Breach of it. This State of Frailty he knew Men in this World could not be deliver'd from. And therefore if we mind him, it is not that tur the Confequence of it, Death, or fo much of it as brings Death, that he inquires after a Deliverer from. Who shall deliver me, tays he, from this Body? He does not say of Frailty but of Death? What shall hinder that my carnal Appetites that so often make me fall into Sin, shall not bring Death upon me, which is awarded me by the Law? And to this he answers, The Grace of God through our Lord Jesus Christ. 'Tis the Favour of God alone through Jefus Christ that delivers frail Man from Death. Those under Grace obtain Life upon fincere Intentions and Endeavours after Obedience, and those Endeavours a Man may attain to in this State of Frailty. But good Intention and fincere Endeavours are of no behoof against Death to those under the Law, which requires compleat and punctual Obedience, but gives no Ability to attain it. And so it is Grace alone through Jesus Christ, that accepting of what a frail Man can do, delivers from the Body of Death. And thereupon he concludes with Joy, So then I being now a Christian, not any longer under the Law, but under Grace, this is the State I am in, whereby I shall be deliver'd from Death, I with my whole Bent and Intention devote my felf to the Law of God in sincere Endeavour after Obedieuce, though my carnal Appetites are enflaved to, and have their natural Prosperity towards Sin.

25 (c) Our Translators read evacus τω Siω, I thank God: The Author of the Vulgat, χάεις τε θεω, The Grace or Favour of God, which is the reading of the Clermont and other Greek Manuscripts. Nor can it be doubted which of these two Readings should be followed by one who confiders, not only that the Apostle makes it his business to shew that the lews flood in need of Grace for Salvation, as much as the Gentiles: But also that the Grace of God is a direct and appointe Answer to who shall deliver me? which if we read it, I thank God, has no Answer at all, an Omission the like whereof I do not remember any where in St. Paul's way of Writing. This I am fure, it renders the Palfage obscure and imperfect in it felf. But much more diffurbs the Sense, if we observe the Illative therefore, which begins the next Verse, and introduces a Conclusion easy and natural, if the Question, who shall deliver me? has for answer, The Grace of God. Otherwise it will be hard to find Premises from whence it can be drawn. For thus stands the Argument plain and easy. The Law cannot deliver from the Body of Death, i. e. from those carnal Appetites which produce Sin, and so bring Death. But the Grace of God through Jesus Christ, which pardons Lapses where there is sincere Endeavour after Righteousness, delivers us from this Body that it doth not destroy us. From whence naturally results this Conclusion, There is therefore now no Condemnation, &c. But what it is grounded on in the other Reading, I confess I do not see.

To comfort my self therefore as that State requires for my Deliverance from Death, I my self (d) with sull Purpose and sincere Endeavours of Mind, give up my self to obey the Law of God, though my carnal Inclinations are enslaved, and have a constant Tendency to Sin. This is all I (e) can do, and this is that and all what I being under Grace is required of me, and through Christ will be accepted.

NOTES.

(d) 'Aυτδς έγω, I my felf, i. e. I the Man, with all my full Resolution of Mind. 'Aυτδς & έγω, might have both of them been spared, if nothing more had been meant here than the Nominative Case to Anλεύω, see Note, ver. 20.

(c) Δελεύω, I ferve, or I make my felf a Vassal, i. e. I intend and devote my whole Obedience. The terms of Life to those under Grace St. Paul tells us at large, ch. 6. are Arka-sine τη δικωύσυνη, and τω διῶ, to become Vassals to Righteousness and to God; confonantly he says here, ἀυτὸς ερῶ, I my self, I the Man, being now a Christian, and so no longer under the Law, but under Grace, do what is required of me in that State; δελεύω, I become a Vassal to the Law of God, i. e. dedicate my self to the Service of it, in sincere Endeavours of Obedience; and so αιτὸς ερω, I the Man, thall be deliver'd from Death; for he that being under Grace makes himself a Vassal to God in a steady purpose of sincere Obedience, shall from him receive the Gift of eternal Life, though his carnal Appetite which he cannot get rid of having its bent towards Sin, makes him sometimes transgress, which would be certain Death to him if he were still under the Law. See ch. 6. 18, & 22.

And thus St. Paul having shewn here in this Chapter, that the being under Grace alone, without being under the Law, is necessary even to the Jews, as in the foregoing Chapter he had shewn it to be to the Gentiles, he hereby demonstratively confirms the Gentile Converts in their Freedom from the Law, which is the Scope of this Epistle thus far.

(k) Heritation, Walking, or who walk, does not mean that all who are in Christ Jesus, omit not to walk not after the Flesh, but after the Spirit; but all who being in Christ Jesus, omit not to walk so. This, if the Tenor of St. Paul's Discourse here can suffer any one to doubt of, he may be satisfied, is so from ver. 13. If ye live after the Flesh. The ye he there speaks to, are no less than those that, ch. 1. 6, 7. he calls the Called of Jesus Christ, and the Beloved of God, Terms equivalent to being in Jesus Christ, see ch. 6. 12—14. Gal. 5. 16—18. which Places compared together, shew that by Christ we are delivered from the Dominion of Sin and Lust; so that it shall not reign over us unto Death, if we will set our selves against it, and sincerely endeavour to be free; a voluntary Slave who inthrals himself by a willing Obedience, who can set free?

of Death, is evident from ch. 7.23—25. why it is called a Law, may be found in the Antithefis to the Law of Sin and Death, Grace being as certain a Law to give Life to Christians that live not after the Flesh, as the Influence of finful Appetites is to bring Death on those who are not under Grace. In the next place, why it is called the Law of the Spirit of Life, has a Reason in that the Gospel which contains this Doctrine of Grace, is dictated by the same Spirit that railed Christ from the dead, and that quickens us to Newness of Life, and has for its end the conferring of eternal Life.

(o) The Law of Sin and Death. Hereby is meant that which he calls the Law in his Members, ch. 7. 23. where it is called the Law of Sin; and ver. 24. it is called the Redy of Death from which Grace delivers. This is certain, that no body who confiders what St. Paul has faid, ver. 7, & 13. of the foregoing Chapter, can think that he can call the Law of Mofes, the Law of Sin, or the Law of Death. And that the Law of Mofes is not meant, is plain from his Realoning in the very next Words. For the Law of Mofes could not be complained of as Leing weak, for not delivering those under it from its self; yet its Weaknels might, and is all along, ch. 7. as well as ver. 3. complained of, as not being able to deliver those under it from their carnal finful Appetites, and the Prevalence of them.

NOTES.

3 (t) Weak, the Weakness, and as he there also calls it the Unprofitableness of the Law, is again taken notice of by the Apostle, Heb. 7. 18, 19. There were two Defects in the Law whereby it became unprofitable, as the Author to the Hebrews fays, so as to make nothing perfect. The one was its inflexible Rigor against which it provided no Allay or Mitigation, it left no place for Atonement: The least slip was mortal: Death was the inevitable Punishment of Transgression by the Sentence of the Law, which had no Temperament: Death the Ossender must suffer, there was no Remedy. This St. Paul's Epissles are full of, and how we are delivered from it by the Body of Chrisl, he shews, Heb. 10. 5---12. The other Weakness or Defect of the Law was, that it could not inable those who were under it, to get a Matlery over their Flesh or fleshly Propensities, so to perform the Obedience required. The Law exacted compleat Obedience, but afforded Men no help against their Frailty or vitious Inclinations. And this reigning of Sin in their mortal Bodies, St. Paul hews here how they are delivered from by the Spirit of Christ inabling them upon their fincere Endeavours after Righteousness, to keep Sin under in their mortal Bodies in conformity to Christ, in whose Flesh it was condemned, executed and perfectly extinct, having never had there any Life or Being, as we shall see in the following Note. The provision that is made in the New Covenant against both these Defects of the Law, is in the Epifle to the Hebrews expressed thus. God will make a new Covenant with the House of Ifrael, wherein he will do thefe two things; He will write his Law in their Hearts, and he will be merciful to their Iniquities. See Heb. 8. 7 --- 12.

(s) Hepl auaptias, which in the Text is translated for Sin, fignifies an Offering for Sin, as the Margent of our Bibles takes notice: See z Cor. 5. 21. Heb. 10. 5—10. So that the plain Sense is, God sent his son in the likeness of finful Flesh, and sent him an Offering for Sin.

(*) Katikeus, condemned. The Profopeia whereby Sin was confidered as a Person all the suggisted in the suggestion of the condemning of Sin here cannot mean as some would have it, that Christ was condemned for Sin, or in the place of Sin, for that would be to save Sin, and leave that Person alive which Christ came to destroy. But the plain meaning is, that Sin it fels was condemned or put to Death in his Flesh, i. c. was suffer'd so have no Life nor Being in the Flesh of our Saviour: He was in all Points tempted as we are, yer without Sin, Heb. 4. 15. By the Spirit of God the Motions of the Flesh were suppressed in him, Sin was crushed in the Egg, and could never fasten in the least upon him. This starther appears to be the Sense by the following words. The Antithesis between suppressed in the No being of Sin in our Saviour, 2 Cor. 5. 2. 1 Pet. 2. 22. Gal. 6. 2. A Description of such who thus suffilled the Righteousness of the Law, we have Luke 1. 6. As Christ in the Flesh was wholly exempt from all taint of Sin, so we by that Spirit which was in him shall be exempt from the Dominion of our carnal Luss, it we make it our Choice and Endeavour to live after the Spirit, ver. 9, 19, 11. For that which we are to perform by that Spirit, is the Mortification of the Deeds of the Body, ver. 17.

NOTES.

(z) See Gal. 6. 8.

7 (a) φεόνημα της σαςκός, should have been translated here to be carnally minded, as it is in the foregoing Verse, which is justified by φεόν το το της σαςκός, do mind the things of the Flesh, ver. 5. which signifies the imploying the bent of their Minds, or subjecting the Mind entirely to the fulfilling the Luss of the Flesh.

(b) Here the Apoitle gives the Reason why even those that are in Christ Jesus, have received the Gospel, and are Christians (for to such he is here speaking) are not saved unless they cease to walk after the Flesh, because that runs directly counter to the Law of God, and can never be brought into Conformity and Subjection to his Commands. Such a setled Contravention to his Precepts cannot be suffer'd by the supream Lord and Governour of the World in any of his Creatures, without foregoing his Sovereignty, and giving up the eternal immutable Rule of Right, to the overturning the very Foundations of all Order and moral Rectitude in the intellectual World. This even in the Judgment of Menthemelves will be always thought a necessary piece of Justice for the keeping out of Anarchy, Disorder and Consusion, that those refractory Subjects who set up their own Inclinations for their Rule against the Law, which was made to restrain those very Inclinations, should seed the Severity of the Law, without which the Authority of the Law, and Law-maker, cannot be preserved.

8 (c) This is a Conclusion drawn from what went before. The whole Argumentation stands thus: They that are under the Dominion of their carnal Luss cannot please God; therefore they who are under the carnal or litteral Dispensation of the Law, cannot please God, because they have not the Spirit of God: Now its the Spirit of God alone that enlivens Men so as to enable them to cast off the Dominion of their Luss. See Gal. 4.3—6.

(d) Of in superiorrs, They that in the Flesh. He that shall consider that this Phrase is applied, ch. 7. 5. to the Jews, as resting in the bare litteral or carnal Sense and Observance of the Law, will not be averse to the understanding the same Phrase in the same Sense here; which I think is the only place besides in the New Testament, where in capal course is used in a moral Sense. This I date say, it is hard to produce any one Text, wherein course is suffered in suffer is used to signific a Man's being under the Power of his Lusts, which is the Sense wherein it is and must be taken here, if what I propose be rejected. Let it be also remembred that St. Paul makes it the chief business of this Epille (and he seldom forgets the Design he is upon) to perswade both Jew and Gentile from a Subjection to the Law, and that the Argument he is upon here is the Weakness and Insufficiency of the Law, to deliver Men from the Power of Sin, and then perhaps it will not be judg'd that the Interpretation I have given of these words is altogether remote from the Apostle's Sense.

11 (k) To lead us into the true Sense of this Verse, we need only observe, that St. Paul having in the four first Chapters of this Epistle snewn that neither sew nor Gentile could be justified by the Law: and in the 5th Chapter how Sin enter'd into the World by Adam, and reigned by Death, from which 'twas Grace and not the Law that delivered Men: In the Nescris 3.

NOTES.

6th Chapter he sheweth the Convert Gentiles, that though they were not under the Law, but under Grace, vet they could not be faved, unlefs they calt off the Dominion of Sin, and became the devoted Servants of Righteoufness, which was what their very Baptism taught and required of them: And in Chap. 7. he declares to the Jews the Weakness of the Law, which they fo much rood upon; and flews that the Law could not deliver them from the Dominion of Sin; that Deliverance was only by the Grace of God, through Jefus Christ; from whence he draws the Confequence, which begins this 8th Chapter, and fo goes on with it here in two Branches relating to his Difcourfe in the foregoing Chapter, that compleat it in this. The one is to shew, that the Law of the Spirit of Life, i. e. the New Covenant in the Gofpel, required that those that are in Christ Jesus should live not after the Flesh, but after the Spirit. The other is to shew how, and by whom, since the Law was weak, and could not inable those under the Law to do it, they are inabled to keep Sin from reigning in their mortal Bodies, which is the Sanctification required. And here he fnews, that Christians are delivered from the Dominion of their carnal finful Lusts by the Spirit of God that is given to them, and dwells in them, as a new quickning Principle and Power, by which they are put into the State of a spiritual Life, wherein their Members are made capable of being made the Instruments of Righteoufness, if they please, as living Men alive now to Righteoufnefs, fo to imploy them. If this be not the Senfe of this Chapter to ver. 14. I define to know how a ex in the 1st Verse comes in, and what Coherence there is in what is here faid. Bendes the Connection of this to the former Chapter contain'd in the Illative Therefore, the very Antithesis of the Expressions in one and t'other, shew that St. Paul in writing this very Verse, had an eye to the foregoing Chapter. There it was Sin that dwelleth in me, that was the active and over-ruling Principle: Here it is the Spirit of God that dwelleth in you, that is the Principle of your spiritual Life. There it was, who shall deliver me from this Body of Death? Here it is, God by his Stirit shall quicken your mortal Bodies, i. e. Bodies, which as the Seat and Harbour of finful Lusts that polless it, are indisposed and dead to the Actions of a spiritual Life, and have a natural Tendency to Death. In the same Sense, and upon the same account he calls the Bodies of the Gentiles their mortal Bodies, ch. 6. 12. where his Subject is as here, Freedom from the Reign of Sin, upon which account they are there siled, ver. 13. Alive from the Dead. To make it yet clearer, that it is Deliverance from the Reign of Sin in our Bodies, that St. Paul speaks of here, I defire any one to read what he says, ch. 6. 1-14. to the Gentiles on the same Subject, and compare it with the 13 first Verses of this Chapter; and then tell me whither they have not a mutual Correspondence, and do not give a great light to one another? If this be too much pains, let him at leaft read the two next Verfes, and fee how they could possibly be as they are an Inference from this 11th Verse, if the quickning of your mortal Bodies in it mean any thing but a quickning to Newnels of Life, or to a spiritual Life of Righteousness. This being so, I cannot but wonder to see a late learned Commentator and Paraphrast positive, that (अवस्वार्मक प्राप्त के प्रथम रहे किया है। quicken your mortal Bodies, does here fignify, shall raise your dead Bodies out of the Grave, as he contends in his Preface to his Paraphrase on the Epistles to the Corinthians, Zuo Toint quicken, he fays imports the fame with traffer raife. His way of proving it is very reinarkable, his words are, Coordier & eyeigen, are as to this matter friz. the Refurrection words of the same Import, i. e. where in discoursing of the Resurrection, Connection, quicken, is used, it is of the same Import with 'expensive raise. But what if St. Paul, which is the Question, be not here speaking of the Resurrection? why then according to our Authors own Confession, Coarous w quicken, does not necessarily import the same with except raise. So that his Argument to prove that St. Paul here by the words in question means the raifing of their dead Bodies out of the Grave, is but a fair begging of the Question, which is enough, I think, for a Commentator that hunts out of his way for Controversie. He might therefore have spared the Guoroie, quicken, which he produces out of St. John 5. 21. as of no force to his purpose, till he had proved that St. Paul here in Romans 8. 11. was speaking of the Resurrection of Mens Bodies out of the Grave, which he will never do till he can prove that funral mortal, here fignifies the same with vexpa dead. And I demand of him to show funtil mortal any where in the New Tessament attributed to any thing void of Life, θρατον mortal always fignifies the thing it is joyn'd to, to be living; fo that ζωοποικονι ε τώ Synta πόματα υμάν, shall quicken even your mortal Bodies, in that learned Author's Interpretation of these Words of St. Paul, here fignisie, God skall raise to Life your living dead Bodies, which no one can think in the loftest Terms can be given to it, a very proper way of speaking; though it be very good Senfe and very emphatical to fay, God shall by his Spirit fut into even your mortal Bodies a Principle of Immortality or spiritual Life, which is the Sente of the Aposlle here; see Gal. 6.8. And so he may find (2007) used, Gal. 3. 21. to the same purpose it is here. I next defire to know or this learned Writer, how he will bring in the Refurrection of the Dead into this place, and to shew what Coherence it has with St. Paul's Discourse here, and how he can joyn this Verse with the immediately preceding and following, when the words under Confideration are render'd, Shall raife your dead Bodies out of their Graves at the last day? It feems as if he himself found this would make but an awkward Sense standing in this place with the rest of Sr. Paul's words here, and so never attempted it by any fort of Paraphrase, but has barely given us the English Translation to help us, as it can, to so uncouth a meaning as he would put upon this Passage, which must make St. Paul in the midst of a very serious, strong and coherent Discourse concerning walking not after the Flesh, but after the Spirit, skip of a suddain into the mention of the Refurrection of the Dead; and having just mention'd it, skip back again into his former Argument. But I take the liberty to affure him, that St. Paul has no luch flarts from the matter he has in hand, to what gives no Light or Strength to his prefent Argument. I think there is not any where to be found a more pertinent close Arguer, who has his eye always on the Mark he drives at. This Men would find if they would fludy him as they ought, with more regard to Divine Authority than to Hypotheles of their own, or to Opinions of the Season. I do not say that he is every where clear in his Expressions to us now: But I do say he is every where a coherent pertinent Writer; and where-ever in his Commentators and Interpreters any Sense is given to his words, that dif-joints his Discourse, or deviates from his Argument, and looks like a wandering Thought, it is easy to know whose it is, and whose the Impertinence, his or theirs that father it on him. One thing more the Text fuggests concerning this matter, and that is, If by quickning your mortal Bodies, &c. be meant here the railing them into Life after Death, how can this be mentioned as a peculiar Favour to those who have the Spirit of God? For God will also raise the Bodies of the Wicked, and as certainly as those of Believers. But that which is promifed here, is promifed to those only who have the Spirit of God: And therefore it must be something peculiar to them (viz.) that God shall so enliven their mortal Bodies by his Spirit, which is the Principle and Pledge of immortal Life, that they may be able to yield up themselves to God, as those that are alive from the dead, and their Members Servants to Righteoufness unto Holiness, as he expresses himself, ch. 6. 13, & 19. If any one can yet doubt whither this be the meaning of St. Paul here, I refer him for farther Satisfaction to St. Paul himself, in Eph. 11. 4 --- 6. where he will find the same Notion of St. Paul expressed in the same Terms, but so, that it is empossible to understand by \(\zeta \) \(\pi \) or ixiper (which are both used there as well as here) the Re-furrection of the dead out of their Graves. The full Explication of this Verte may be feen, Epb. 1.19. & 2.10. See also Col. 2.12, 13. to the same purpose; and Rom. 7.4.

St. Paul who had infifted much on this Doctrine, in all the foregoing Chapters of this Epistle, to shew that he had not done it out of any Aversion or Unkindness to his Nation and Brethren the Jews, does here express his great Affection to them, and declares an extream Concern for their Salvation. But withal he shews, that what-ever Privileges they had received from God above other Nations, whatever Expectation the Promifes made to their Forefathers might raite in them, they had yet no just Reason of complaining of God's dealing with them now under the Gospel, since it was according to his Promife to Abraham, and his frequent Declarations in Sacred Scripture. Nor was it any Injustice to the Jewish Nation, if God by the fame Sovereign Power wherewith he preferr'd Jacob (the younger Brother, without any Merit of his) and his Polterity to be his People, before Elaw and his Posterity whom he rejected. The Earth is all his; nor have the Nations that possess it any Title of their own, but what he gives them, to the Countries they inhabit, nor to the good things they enjoy, and he may disposses or

And as he deftroy'd the Egyptians for the Glory of his Name, in the Deliverance of the Israelites, so he may according to his good pleasure raise or depress; take into Favour or reject the feveral Nations of this World. And particularly as to the Nation of the Jews, all but a small Remnant were rejected, and the Gentiles taken in, in their room, to be the People and Church of God, because they were a gain-saying and disobedient People, that would not receive the Messiah, whom he had promifed, and in the appointed time fent to them. He that will with moderate Attention and Indifferency of Mind read this Ninth Chapter, will fee that what is faid of God's exercifing of an absolute Power, according to the good pleasure of his Will, relates only to Nations or Bodies Politique of Men incorporated in civil Societies, which feel the Effects of it only in Prosperity or Calamity they meet with in this World, but extends not to their eternal State in another World, confider'd as particular Persons, wherein they stand each Man by himself upon his own bottom, and shall so answer separately at the day of Judgment. They may be punished here with their Fellow-Citizens, as part of a finful Nation, and that be but temporal Chaftisement for their Good, and yet be advanced to eternal Life and Blifs in the World to come.

NOTES.

(w) See ch. 4. 16. St. Paul uses this as a Reason to prove that the Promise of God sailed not to have its effect, though the Body of the Jewish Nation rejected Jesus Chriss, and were therefore nationally rejected by God from being any longer his People. The Reason he gives for it is this, That the Posterity of Jacob or Israel were not those alone who were to make that Israel, or that chosen People of God, which were intended in the Promise made to Abraham, others besides the Descendants of Jacob were to be taken into this Israel, to constitute the People of God under the Gospel: and therefore the calling and coming in of the Gentiles was a sulfilling of that Promise. And then he adds in the next Verse, that neither were all the Posterity of Abraham comprehended in that Promise, so that those who were taken in, in the time of the Messiah, to make the Israel of God, were not taken in, because they were the natural Descendants from Abraham, nor did the Jews claim it for all his Race. And this he proves by the Limitation of the Promise to Abraham's Seed by Israe only. All this he does to show the Right of the Gentiles to that Promise, if they believed: Since that Promise concerned not only the natural Descendants either of Abraham or Jacob, but only those who were of Faith of their Father Abraham, of whomsoever descended, see ch. 4. 11——17.

20 (1) Here St. Paul shews that the Nations of the World, who are by a better Right in the hands and diffeofal of God, than the Clay in the Power of the Potter, may without any question of his suffice be made great and glorious, or be sulled down, and brought into Contempt as he pleases. That he here speaks of Men nationally and not personally, in reference to their eternal State, is evident not only from the beginning of this Chapter, where he shews his Concern for the Nation of the Jews being cast off from being God's People, and the Instances he brings of Isaac, of Jacob and Essa, and of Pharaoh; but it appears alfo very clearly in the Verses immediately following, where by the l'effels of Wrath fitted for Destruction, he manifestly means the Nation of the Jews, who were now grown ripe, and sit for the Destruction Le was bringing up on them. And by l'effels of Mercy the Christian Church, gather'd out of a finall Collection of Convert-Jews, and the refl made up of the Gentiles, who together were from thence-forwards to be the People of God in the room of the Jewish Nation, now cast off, as appears by ver. 24. The Sense of which Verses is this; "How darest thou, O Man, to call God to account, and question his Justice in cashing off " his antient People the Jews; what if God willing to punish that finful People, and to do " it so as to have his Power known, and taken notice of in the doing of it: (For why " might he not raife them to that juryofe as well as he did Pharcob and his Egyptians') " what, I fay, if God bore with them a long time, even after they had deferved his "Wrath, as he did with Pharaoh, that his Hand might be the more eminently visible in " their Deshuction? NOTES.

21 (1) Vessel unto Honour, and Vessel unto Dishonour, signifies a thing designed by the Maker to an honourable or dishonourable Use: Now why it may not design Nations as well as Persons, and Honour and Prosperity in this World as well as eternal Happiness and Glory, or Misery and Punishment in the World to come, I do not see. In common Reason this significant expression ought to follow the sense of the Context: And I see no peculiar Privilege it hath to wrest and turn the visible meaning of the place to something remote from the Subject in hand. I am sure no such Authority it has from such an appropriated senses their expressions. This were enough to clear the Apostle's sense in these words, were there nothing else; but Fer. 18.6, 7. from whence this instance of a Potter is taken, shews them to have a temporal Sense, and to relate to the Nation of the Iews.

22 (m) Endured with much long fuffering. Immediately after the instance of Pharaoh, whom God faid he raifed up to flew his Power in him, ver. 17. 'tis fubjoyn'd, ver. 18. and whom he will be hardeneth, plainly with reference to the Story of Pharach, who is faid to harden himself, and whom God is said to harden, as may be seen Exod. 7. 3, 22, 23. & 8. 15, 32. & 9.7, 12, 34. & 10. 1, 20, 27. & 11. 9, 10. & 14. 5. What God's part in hardning is, is contained in these words, endured with much long suffering. God sends Moses to Pharaoh with Signs, Pharaoh's Magicians do the like, and so he is not prevailed with. God fends Plagues; whilst the Plague is upon him, he is mollified, and promises to let the People go: But as foon as God takes off the Plague, he returns to his Obitinacy, and refufes, and thus over and over again; God's being intreated by him to with-draw the severity of his Hand, his gracious Compliance with Pharaoh's defire to have the Punishment removed, was what God did in the Case, and this was all Goodness and Bounty: But Pharaoh and his People made that ill ule of his forbearance and long-fuffering, as still to harden themselves the more for God's Mercy and Gentleness to them, till they bring on themselves exemplary Destruction from the visible Power and Hand of God imploy'd in it. This carriage of theirs God fore-saw, and so made use of their obstinate perverse Temper for his own Glory, as he himself declares, Exod. 7. 3—5. & 8. 18. & 9. 14, 16. The Apostle, by the instance of a Potter's power over his Clay, having demonstrated, that God by his Dominion and Sourceivers. nion and Soveraignty, had a Right to fet up or pull down what Nation he pleased; and might without any injustice take one Race into his particular Favour to be his peculiar People, or reject them as he thought fit, does in this verse apply it to the Subject in hand, (viz.) the cauing off of the Jewish Nation, whereof he speaks here in Terms that plainly make a Parallel between this and his dealing with the Egyptians, mentioned ver. 1-. and therefore that Story will best explain this verfe, that thence will receive its full Light. For it feems a some-what strange fort of reasoning, to say, God, to shew his Wrath, endured with much long-fuffering those who deserved his Wrath, and were fit for Destruction. But he that will read in Exodus, God's dealing with Pharaoh and the Egyptians, and how God passed over Provocation upon Provocation, and patiently endured those who by their first refusal, may by their former Cruelty and Oppression of the Ifraelites, deserved his Wrath, and were fitted for Destruction, that in a more fignal Vengeance on the Egyptians, and glorious deliverance of the Uraclites, he might shew his Power, and make himself be taken

He have much power over the Nations of the Earth, to make Jone of them mighty and jourishing, and others mean and weak, as a Patter has over his Clay, to make what fort of leffels be fleates of the tare of it. A crucified Meshah was a Stumbling block to them (t); and at that they stumbled, as it is written, Behold I lay in Sion a stumbling-block, and a rock of offence, and whosoever believeth in him shall not be ashamed. Brethren, my hearty Defire and Prayer to God for Ijrael is, that they may be faved. For I bear them Witness, that they are zealous (u), and as they think for God and his Law; but their Zeal is not guided by true Knowledge: For they being ignorant of the Righteousness that is of God, viz. that Righteoufness which he graciously bestows and accepts of; and going about to elfablish a Righteousness of their own, which they seek for in their own Performances, have not brought themselves to submit to the Law of the Goipel, wherein the Righteousness of God, i.e. Righteousness by Faith, is offered. that which is now the only true Religion, and owning our felves under that Law which is now folely the Law of God, puts any collective Body of Men into the State of being the People of God. For every one of the Jews and Gentiles that attained to the Law of Righteousness, or to Righteousness in the fense St. Paul speaks here, i. e. became a professor of the Christian Religion, did not attain to eternal Salvation. In the same sense must Chap. 10, 3- & 11.7, 8. be understood.

B (x) St. Pml had told them, ver. 4. that the end of the Law was to bring them to life by taith in Christ, that they might be justified, and so be saved: To convince them of this, he brings three Verses out of the Book of the Law it self, declaring that the way to Life was by hearkning to that word which was ready in their Mouth and in their Heart, and that therefore they had no reason to reject Jesus the Christ, because he died and was now removed into Heaven, and was sometiment, their very Law proposed Life to them by tomething night them, that might lead them to their Deliverer: By Words and Doctrines that might be always at hand in their Mouths and in their Hearts, and so lead them to Christ, i. c. to that Faith in him which the Apostle preached to them. I submit to the attentive Reader, whether this be not the meaning of this place.

But that which they expected to be delivered from, at his appearing, was the power and dominion of Strangers. When our Striper came their reckoning was up; and the Miracles which Jesus did, concurred to persuade mean that it was he: But his obscure Birth and mean Appearance, fuited not with that Power and Splendor they had phansied to themselves he should come in. Thus with his denoming to them the ruine of their Temple and State at hand, set the Ruises against him, and held the body of the Jews in suspende till his Crucifixion, and that gave a full turn of their winds from him. They had figured him a mighty Prince

For the Scripture faith, wholoever believeth on him shall not be ashamed, shall not repent his having believed, and owning it. at the head of their Nation, fetting them free from all foreign Power, and themselves at ease, and happy under his glorious Reign. But when at the Passover the whole People were witnesses of his Death, they gave up all thought of Deliverance by him. He was gone, they saw him no more, and 'twas past doubt a dead Man could not be the Messial or Deliverer, even of those who believed him. 'Tis against these prejudices that what St. Paul says in this and the three preceding Verses seems directed, wherein he teaches them, that there was no need to setch the Messiah out of Heaven, or out of the Grave, and bring him personally among them. For the Deliverance he was to work for them, the Salvation by him was Salvation from Sin, and Condemnation for that; and that was to be had by barely believing and owning him to be the Messiah their King, and that he was raised from the Dead: by this they would be saved with out his Personal Presence amongst them.

(2) Raifed him from the dead. The Doctrine of the Lord Jefus, being raifed from the Dead, is certainly one of the most fundamental Articles of the Christian Religion; but yet there feems another Reason why St. Paul here annexes Salvation to the belief of it, which may be found ver. 7, where he teaches that it was not necessary for their Salvation, that they should have Christ out of his Grave personally present amongst them; and here he gives them the Reason, because if they did but own him for their Lord, and believe that he was raifed, that fufficed, they should be faved.

13 (b) Whoever hath with care look'd into St. Paul's Writings, must own him to be a close Reasoner that argues to the Point; and therefore if in the three preceding verses he requires an open profession of the Gospel, I cannot but think that all that call upon him, ver. 12. fignifies all that are open professed Christians; and if this be the meaning of calling upon him, ver. t2. it is plain it must be the meaning of calling upon his name, ver. 13. a Phrase not very remote from naming his name, which is used by St. Paul for professing Christianity, 2 Tim. 2. 19. If the meaning of the Prophet Foel, from whom these words be taken, be urged, I shall only say, that it will be an ill Rule for interpreting St. Paul, to tie up his ule of any Text he brings out of the Old Testament, to that which is taken to be the meaning of it there. We need go no farther for an Example than the 6, 7, 8 Verses of this Chapter, which I defire any one to read as they stand, Deut. 30. 11-14. and see whither St. Paul uses them here in the same seuse.

15 (c) St. Paul is careful every where to keep himfelf as well as possibly he can, in the minds and fair esteem of his Brethren the Jews; may not therefore this, with the two foregoing verses, be understood as an Apology to them for profeshing himself an Apostle of the Gentiles, as he does by the Tenor of this Epistle, and in the next Chapter in words at length, ver. 13. In this Chapter ver. 12. he had shew'd that both Jews and Greeks or Gentiles were to be faved only by receiving the Gofpel of Christ. And if fo, it was necessary that some-body should be sent to teach it them, and therefore the Jews had no reason to be angry with any that was sent on that imployment.

16 (d) But they have not all obeyed. This seems an objection of the Jews to what St. Paul had faid, which he answers in this and the following verse. The Objection and Answer seems to stand thus: You tell us that you are sent from God to preach the Gospel; If it be so, how comes it that all that have heard, have not received and obeyed; and fince, according to what you would infinuate, the Messengers of good Tidings (which is the import of Evangil in Greek, and Goffel in English) were so welcome to them? To this he answers out of Isaiah, that the Messengers sent from God were not believed by all. But from those words of Isiah, he draws an inference to confirm the Argument he was upon, viz. that Salvation cometh by hearing and believing the Word of God. He had laid it down, ver. 8. that it was by their having fine wishes, the word of faith, night them or present with them, and not by the bodily presence of their Deliverer amongst them, that they were to be faved. This inua, word, he tells them, ver. 17. is by preaching brought to be actually prefent with them and the Gentiles; so that it was their own tault if they believed it not to Salvation.

7 So then fairh cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.

18 But I fay, have they not heard? yes verily, their found went into all the earth, and their words unto the ends of the world.

19 But I fay, Did not Ifrael know? First Moses faith, I will provoke you to jealousie by them that are no people, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.

But Efairs is very bold, and faith, I was found of them that fought me not; I was made manifell unto them that asked not after me,

All day long I have stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainfaying people. Islaigh hath foretold that they should not, saying, Lord who hath believed our report? That which we may learn from thence is, that Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing from the Word of God, i.e. the revelation of the Gospel in the writings of the Sacred Scriptures, communicated by those whom God sends as Preachers thereof, to those who are ignorant of it; and there is no need that Christ should be brought down from Heaven, to be personally with you, to be your Saviour. It is enough that both Jews and Gentiles have heard of him by Messengers, whose Voice is gone out into the whole Earth, and Words unto the ends of the World, far beyond the bound of Judea.

But I ask, did not Israel know (e) this, that the Gentiles were to be taken in and made the people of God? First Moses tells it them from God, who says, I will provoke you to jealousse by them who are no people; and by a foolish Nation I will anger you. But Israel declares it yet much plainer in these words; I was found of them that sought me not; I was made manifest to them that asked not after me. And to Israel, to shew their refusal, he saith; All day long have I stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying people.

NOTES.

19 (c) Did not Ifrael know? In this and the next Verfes St. Paul feems to tupportal reasoning of the Jews to this purpose, viz. That they did not deserve to be saffed, by-cause they did not know that the Gentiles were to be admitted, and to might be excused it they did not imbrace a Religion wherein they were to mix with the Gentiles; and to this he answers in the following Vertes.

SECT. IX.

CHAP. XI. 1----36.

CONTENTS.

HE Apostle in this Chapter goes on to shew the future State of the Jews and Gentiles, in respect of Christianity, viz. That tho the Nation of the Jews were for their Unbelief rejected, and the Gentiles taken in their room to be the People of God, yet there was a few of the Jews that believed in Christ, and so a small Remnant of them continued to be God's People, being incorporated with the converted Gentiles into the Christian Church. But they shall, the whole Nation of them, when the Fulness of the Gentiles is come in, be converted to the Gospel, and again be restor'd to be the People of God.

The Apostle takes occasion also from God's having rejected the Jews, to warn the Gentile Converts, that they take heed: Since if God cast off his ancient People the Jews for their Unbelief, the Gentiles could not expect to be preserved, if they apostatized from the Faith, and kept not firm in their Obedience to the Gospel.

Which Refervation of a Remnant, it it be by Grace and Favour, it is not of Works (1), for then Grace would not be Grace. But if it were of Works, then is it not Grace. o (i) It is not of works. This exclusion of Works, seems to be mistaken by those who extend it to all manner of difference in the Perfons chofen, from thofe that were rejected; for fuch a choice as that excludes not Grace in the Chooler, but Merit in the Cholen. For it is plain that by Works here St. Paul means Merit, as is evident also from Chap. 4. 2-4. The Law required compleat perfect Obedience: He that performed that, had a right to the Reward; but he that failed and came thort of that, had by the Law no right to any thing but Death. And so the Jews being all Sinners, God might without injustice have east them all off; none of them could clead a right to his Favour. If therefore he chose out and referv'd any, it was of incer Grace, tho' in his Choice he prefer'd those who were rhe best disposed and most inclined to his Service. A whole Province revolts from their Prince, and take Arms against him; He retolves to pardon some of them. This is a purpose of Grace. He reduces them under his Fower, and then chooses out of them as Vesfels of Mercy, those that he finds least intected with Malice, Obitinacy and Rebellion. This Choice neither voids nor abutes his purpose of Grace, that stands firm; but only executes it to as may bell comport with his Wildom and Goodnels. And indeed without fome regard to a Difference in the things taken from those that are left, I do not see how it can be called Choice. An handful of Pelbles, for Example, may be taken out of a Heap; they are taken and leparated indeed from the reft, but if it be without any regard to any Difference in them from others rejected, I doubt whether any body can call them chofen.

32 (c) Est atel Surv, In Unbelief. The Unbelief here charged nationally on Jews and Gentiles in their turns, in this and the two preceding Verles, whereby they ceated to be the People of God, was evidently the difforming of his Dominion, whereby they put themfelves out of the Kingdom which he had and ought to have in the World, and so were no longer in the State of Subjects, but Aliens and Rebels. A general View of Mankind will lead us into an easier Conception of St. Paul's Doctrine, who all through this Eptstle confiders the Gentiles, Jews and Christians, as three diffinct Bodies of Men.

God by Creation had no doubt an unquestionable Sovereignty over Mankind, and this was at first acknowledg'd in their Sacrifices and Worship of him. Afterwards they withdrew themselves from their Submission to him, and found out other Gods, whom they worshiped and served. This Revolt from God, and the Consequence of it, God's abandoning them, St. Paul describes, ch. 1. 18-32.

In this State of Revolt from God were the Nations of the Earth in the times of Abrabam. And then Abraham, Isaac and Facob, and their Posterity the Israelites, upon God's gracious Call, return'd to their Allegiance to their ancient and rightful King and Sovereign, own the one invisible God, Creator of Heaven and Earth, for their God, and so become his People again, to whom he, as to his peculiar People, gave a Law. And thus remain'd the Diffinction between Jews and Gentiles, i.e. the Nations, as the word fignifies, till the time of the Meffialt, and then the Jews cealed to be the People of God, not by a direct Renouncing the God of Ifrael, and taking to themselves other salle Gods whom they worshiped: but by opposing and rejecting the Kingdom of God, which he pupos'd at that time to fet up with new Laws and Inflitutions, and to a more glorious and Ipiritual purpose under his Son Jesus Christ: Him God sent to them, and him the Nation of the Jews refus'd to receive as their Lord and Ruler, tho he was their promifed King and Deliverer, answering all the Prophesies and Types of him, and evidencing his Miffion by his Miracles. By this Rebellion against him, into whose hand God had committed the Rule of his Kingdom, and appointed Lord over all things, the Jews turn'd themselves out of the Kingdom of God, and ceas'd to be his People, who had now no other People but those who receiv'd and obey'd his Son as their Lord and Ruler. This was the amiliera, I nhelief, here si oken of. And I would be glad to know any other Sense of Believing or I nbelief, wherein it can be nationally attributed to a People (as visibly here it is) whereby they thall ceafe, or come to be the People of God, or vitible Subjects of his Kingdom here on Larth. Indeed to enjoy Life and Litate in this, as well as other Kingdoms, not only the owning of the Prince, and the Authority of his Laws, Lut also Obedience to them is required. For a Jew might own the Authority of God, and his Law given by Moses, and so be a true Sulject, and as much a Member of the Commonwealth of Ifract, as any one in it, and yet torteit his Life by Difoledience to the Law. And a Chrinian may own the Authority of Jefus Christ, and of the Gofpel, and yet forfeit eternal Life by his Difobedience to the Precepts of it, as may be feen, ch. 7, 8, & 9.

NOTES.

133 (d) This emphatical Conclusion feems in a special manner to regard the Jews, whom the Aposile would hereby teach Modesty and Submission to the over-ruling Hand of the all-wise God, whom they are very unsit to call to account for his dealing so favourably with the Gentiles. His Wisdom and Ways are infinitely above their Comprehension, and will they take upon them to advise him what to do? Or is God in their Debt? Let them say for what, and he shall repay it to them. This is a very strong Rebuke to the Jews, but delivered, as we see, in a way very gentle and inosfensive. A Method which the Aposite endeavours every where to observe towards his Nation.

35 (e) This has a manifest respect to the Jews, who claim'd a Right to be the People of God so far, that St. Paul, ch. 9. 14. finds it necessary to vindicate the Justice of God in the Case, and does here in this Question expose and silence the Folly of any such Pretence.

SECT. X.

C H A P, XII. 1---21

C O N T E N T S.

ST. Paul in the end of the foregoing Chapter, with a very folemn Epiphonema, closes that admirable Evangelical Discourse to the Church at Rome, which had taken up the eleven foregoing Chapters. It was addressed to the two forts of Converts, viz. Gentiles and Jews, into which, as into two distinct Bodies, he all along through this Epistle divides all Mankind, and considers them as so divided into two separate Corporations.

1. As to the Gentiles, he endeavours to fatisfy them, that tho they for their Apostacy from God to Idolatry, and the Worship of false Gods, had been abandon'd by God, had lived in Sin and Blindness, without God in the World, Strangers from the Knowledge and Acknowledgment of him, yet that the Mercy of God through Jesus Christ was extended to them, whereby there was a way now open'd to them to become the People of God. For fince no Man could be faved by his own Righteoufness, no not the Jews themselves, by the Deeds of the Law, the only way to Salvation, both for Jews and Gentiles, was by Faith in Jefus Christ. Nor had the Jews any other way now to continue themselves the People of God, than by receiving the Gospel, which way was open'd also to the Gentiles, and they as freely admitted into the Kingdom of God now crected under Jefus Chrift, as the Jews, and upon the fole Terms of Believing. So that there was no need at all for the Gentiles to be circumcifed to become Jews, that they might be Partakers of the Benefits of the Gospel.

2. As to the Jews, the Apostle's other great Aim in the foregoing Discourse, is to remove the Offence the Jews took at the Gospel, because the Gentiles were received into the Church as the People of God, and were allowed to be Subjects of the Kingdom of the Messiah. To bring them to a better Temper, he shews them from the Sacred Scripture, that they could not be saved by the Deeds of the Law, and therefore the Doctrine of Righteoutiness by Faith ought not to be so strange a thing to them. And as to their being

An.Ch.e7 for their Unbelief rejected from being the People of God, and the Nexonis 3: Gentiles taken in in their room, he shews plainly, that this was forceold them in the Old Testament; and that herein God did them no Injustice. He was Sovereign over all Mankind, and might choose whom he would to be his People, with the same Freedom that he chose the Posterity of Abraham among all the Nations of the Earth, and of that Race chose the Descendants of Jacob before those of his elder Brother Esau, and that before they had a Being, or were capable of doing Good or Evil. In all which Discourse of his its plain the Election spoken of, has for its Object only Nations or collective Bodies Politick in this World, and not particular Persons, in reference to their eternal State in the World to come.

Having thus finished the principal Design of his Writing, he here in this, as is usual with him in all his Epistles, concludes with practical and moral Exhortations, whereof there are several in this Chapter, which we shall take in their Order.

(b) Transformed in the renewing of your Minds. The State of the Gentiles is thus deferibed, Eth. 4. 17—19. And Col. 6. 21. Alienated and Enemies in their Minds by wicked Works. The renewing therefore of their Minds, or as he tpeaks, Eph. 4. in the Spirit of their Minds, was the geting into an Estate contrary to what they were in before, (viz.) to take it in the Apofile's own words; That the Eyes of their Understandings might be callightened; and that they may fut on the new Man, that is renewed in Knowledge after the Image of him that created him, that ye walk as Children of the Light, proving what is acceptable to the Lord, having no Fellow-flip with the Works of Darkness: That they be not unwife, but understanding what is the Will of the Lord: For this is the Will of God, even your Smitification. 6 (m) Prophesic is enumerated in the New Testament among the Gifts of the Spirit, and means either the Interpretation of Sacred Scripture, and explaining of Prophesics already delivered, or foretelling things to come.

(n) According to the Proportion of Faith. The Context in this and the three preceding Verfes leads us, without any difficulty, into the meaning of the Apostle in this Expression, T Cor. 12, & t4. shew us how apt the new Converts were to be puft up with the several Gifts that were bellowed on them; and every one, as in like cales is usual, forward to magnifie his own, and to carry it farther than in reality it extended. That it is St. Paul's Defign here to prevent or regulate fuch Diforder, and to keep every one in the exercifing of his particular Gift within its due Bounds, is evident in that exhorting them, ver. 3. to a fober use of their Gifts (for 'tis in reference to their spiritual Gifts he speaks in that Verle) he makes the measure of that Sobriety to be that Measure of Faith or spiritual Gift which every one in particular enjoy'd by the Favour of God, i. e. That no one should go beyond that which was given him, and he really had. But besides this, which is very obvious, there is another Passage in that Verse, which, rightly consider d, strongly inclines this way. I say through the Grace that is given unto me, says St. Paul. He was going to restrain them in the Exercise of their diffinct spiritual Gifts, and he could not introduce what he was going to fay in the case with a more perswasive Argument than his own Example; "I exhort, (fays he) that every one of you in the Exercise and Use of his spiritual Gift, " keep within the Bounds and Measure of that Gift which is given him. I my felf in gi-" ving you this Exhortation do it by the Grace given unto me, I do it by the Commission and " Power given me by God, and beyond that I do not go. In one that had before declared himfelf an Apoide, fuch an Expression as this here, (if there were not some particular Reafon for it) might feem superfluous, and to some idle, but in this view it has a great Grace and Energie in it. There wants nothing but the Study of St. Paul's Writings to give us a fust Admiration of his great Address, and the Skill wherewith all that he fays is adapted to the Argument he has in hand: " I, (fays he) according to the Grace given me, di-* rect you every one in the use of your Gifts, which according to the Grace given you are , different, whether it be the Gift of Prophesie, to prophesie according to the Proportion

The same Rule concerning the same matter St. Pinel gives, Esh. 4. 6. that every Member should act according to the measure of its own Strength, Power and Energie; 1 Cor. 14. 29—32. may also give light to this place. This therefore is far from signifying that a Man in interpreting of Sacred Scripture should explain the Sense according to the System of his particular Sect, which each Party is pleased to call the Analogie of Faith. For this would be to make the Apostle to set that for a Rule of Interpretation, which had not its being till long after, and is the Product of fallible Men.

SECT. XI.

CHAP. XIII. 1----7.

C O N T E N T S.

His Section contains the Duty of Christians to the Civil Magistrate. For the understanding this right we must consider

1. That these Rules are given to Christians that were Members of a Heathen Commonwealth, to shew them that by being made Christians and Subjects of Christ's Kingdom, they were not by the Freedom of the Gospel exempt from any Ties of Duty or Subjection, which by the Laws of their Country they were in, and ought to observe, to the Government and Magistrates of it, though Heathens, any more than any of their Heathen Subjects. But on the other side, these Rules did not tie them up any more than any of their Fellow-Citizens, who were not Christians, from any of those due Rights, which by the Law of Nature, or the Constitutions of their Country, belong'd to them. Whatfoever any other of their Fellow-Subjects, being in a like Station with them, might do without finning, that they were not abridged of, but might do still being Christians. The Rule here being the same with that given by St. Paul, 1 Cor. 7.17. As God has called every one, so let him walk. The Rules of Civil Right and Wrong that he is to walk by, are to him the same they were before.

2. That St. Paul in this Direction to the Romans, does not fo much describe the Magistrates that then were in Rome, as tells whence they and all Magistrates every where, have their Authority; and for what end they have it, and should use it. And this he does as becomes his Prudence, to avoid bringing any Imputation on Christians from Heathen Magistrates, especially those insolent and vitious ones of Rome, who could not brook any thing to be told them as their Duty, and so might be apt to interpret such plain Truths laid down in a dogmatical way, into Sauciness, Sedition, or Treason, a Scandal cautiously to be kept off from the Christian Doctrine. Nor does he in what he says, in the least slatter the Roman Emperor, let it be either Claudius, as some think: or Nero,

An.Ch.57-as others, who then was in Possession of that Empire. For he speaks. Neronis 3. here of the Higher Powers, i. e. the Supreme Civil Power, which is in every Commonwealth derived from God, and is of the fame Extent every where, i. e. is absolute and unlimited by any thing but the end for which God gave it, (viz.) the Good of the People fincerely purfued, according to the best of the Skill of those who share that Power, and so not to be resisted. But how Men come by a rightful Title to this Power; or who has that Title, he is wholly filent, and fays nothing of it. To have medled with that would have been to decide of Civil Rights, contrary to the Defign and Business of the Gospel, and the Example of our Saviour, who refused medling in fuch Cases with this decisive Question: Who made me a Judge or Divider over you? r (p) Every one, however endowed with miraculous Cifts of the Holy Ghost, or advanced to any Dignity in the Church of Christ. For that thefe things were art to make Men over-value themselves, is obvious from what St. Paul says to the Corimbians, 1 Con. 12. and here to the Romans, ch. 12. 3-5. But above all others, the Jews were apt to have an inward Reluctancy and Indignation against the Power of any Heathen over them, taking it to be an unjust and tyrannical Uturpation upon them, who were the People of God, and their Betters. There the Ayonle thought it necessary to restrain, and therefore says in the Language of the Jews, Every Soul, i. e. every Person among you, whether Jew or Gentile, must live in Subjection to the Civil Magistrate. We see by what St. Peter lays ou the like occation, that there was great need that Christians should have this Duty inculcated to them, left any among them should use their Liberty for a Cloak of Malitiousness or Misbehaviour, 1 Fer. 11, 13——16. The Doctrine of Christianity was a Doctrine of Liberty. And Sr. Paul in this Epittle had taught them, that all Christians were free from the Molaical Law. Hence corrupt and millaking Men, effectally Jewish Converts, impatient, as we have observed, of any Heathen Dominion, might be ready to infer that Chritians were exempt from Subjection to the Laws of Heathen Governments. This he obviates by telling them, That all other Governments derived the Power they had from God, as well as that of the Jews, tho they had not the whole Frame of their Covernment immediately from him as the Jews had.

(q) Whether we take Powers here in the Abstract for Political Authority, or in the Conctete for the Persons de facto, exercising Political Power and Jurisdiction, the Sense will be the fame, (viz.) that Christians, by virtue of being Christians, are not any way exempt from Obedience to the Civil Magislrates, not ought by any means to resist them, tho by power but of God: the powers that be, are ordained of God.

Whofoever therefore refineth the power, refineth the ordinance of God: and they that refish, shall receive to themfelves damnation.

3 For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? do that which is good, and thou fhalt have praife of the same:

4 For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the fword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doth evil.

Wherefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake.

6 For, for this cause pay tribute also: for they are Gods ministers, attending er but what is from God: The Powers that are in being are ordained by God: that he who resisteth the Power, resisteth the Ordinance of God; and they that relift will be punished by those Powers that they resist. What should you be afraid of? Rulers are no Terror to those that do well, but to those that do ill. Wilt thou then not live in dread of the Civil Power? Do that which is good and right, and then Praise only is thy Due from the Magistrate. For he is the Officer and Minister of God appointed only for thy good. But if thou doest amis, then thou hast reason to be asraid. For he bears not the Sword in vain. For he is the Minister of God, an Executioner of Wrath and Punishment upon him that doth ill. This being the end of Government, and the Bufiness of the Magistrate, to cherish the good, and punish ill Men, it is necessary for you to submit to Government, not only in Apprehension of the Punishment which Disobedience will draw on you, but out of Conscience, as a Duty required of you by God. This is the Reason why also you pay Tribute, which is due to the Magistrates, because they imploy their Care, Time and Pains, for the Publick Weal, in pu-what is faid, ver. 3. It feems that St. Pinl meant here Magistrates having and exercifing a lawful Power. But whether the Magistrates in being were or were not such, and confequently were or were not to be obeyed, that Christianity gave them no peculiar Power to examin. They had the common Right of others their Fellow-Citizens, but had no dislinct Privilege as Christians. And therefore we see vo. 7, where he enjoyns the paying of Tribute and Curlom, &c. It is in these words; Render to all their Dues, Tillute to whom Tribute is due, Honour to whom Honour, &c. St. Paul feems to mean the Gentiles, who were lefs forupulous in the U12 of indifferent things; and by him that eateth not, the Jews, who made a great diffication of Meats and Drinks, and Days, and placed in them a great, and as they thought, necessary Part of the Worship of the true God. To the Gentiles the Aposses this Caution, that they should not contemn the Jews, as weak narrow minded Men, that laid so much fires on Matters of so small moment, and thought Religion so much concerned in those indifferent things. On the other side, he exhotts the Jews not to judge that those who neglected the Jewish Observances of Meats and Days, were still Heathens, or would soon apossatize to Heathenshim again: No, says he; God has received them, and they are of his Family; and thou hast nothing to do to judge, whether they are or the continue of his Family, or no; that belongs only to him, the Master of the Family, to judge, whether they shall stay or leave his Family, or no. But, notwithstanding thy Centure or hard Thoughts of them, they shall not fall off or apossatize; for God is able to confure or hard Thoughts of them, they shall not fall off or apossatize; for God is able to confure or hard Thoughts of them, they shall not fall off or apossatize; for God is able to confure or hard Thoughts of them, they shall not fall off or apossatize; for God is able to confure or hard Thoughts of them, they shall not fall off or apossatize; for God is able to confure or hard Thoughts of them, they shall not fall off or apossatize; for God is able to confure or hard Thoughts of them, they shall not fall off or apossatize; for God is able to confure or hard Thoughts of them, they incline too much, or approach too near to Gentilism.

This has often hinder'd me from coming to you: But now having in these Parts no Place, where Christ hath not been heard of, to preach the Gospel in; and having had for there many Years a defire to come to you, I will when I take my Journey to Spain, take you in my way: For I hope then to fee you, and to be brought on my way thither-ward by you, when I have for some time enjoy'd your Company, and pretty well fatisfy'd my longing upon that account. But at prefent I am feting out for Jerusalem, going to minister to the Saints there. For it hath pleased those of Macedonia and Achaiah, to make a Contribution for the Poor among the Saints at Jerusalem. It hath pleased them to do so, and they are indeed their Debters. For if the Gentiles have been made Partakers of their spiritual things, they are bound on their fide to minister to them for the Support of this temporal Life. When therefore I have dispatch'd this Business; and put this Fruit of my Labours into their hands, I will come to you in my way to Spain. And I know

C H A P. XVI. 1----27.

CONTENTS.

HE foregoing Epistle furnishes us with Reasons to conclude, that the Divisions and Offences that were in the Roman Church were between the Jewish and Gentile Converts, whilst the one over-zealous for the Rituals of the Law, endeavour'd to impose Circumcision and other Mosaical Rites, as necessary to be obferved by all that professed Christianity: And the other, without due regard to the Weakness of the Jews, shew'd a too open Neglect of those their Observances, which were of so great account with them. St. Paul was fo fenfible how much the Churches of Christ fuster'd on this occasion, and so careful to prevent this which was a Disturbance almost every where (as may be seen in the Hiflory of the Acts, and collected out of the Epiftles) that after he had finished his Discourse to them, (which we may observe solemnly closed in the end of the foregoing Chapter) he here in the middle of his Salutations, cannot forbear to caution them against the Authors and Fomenters of these Divisions, and that very pathetically, ver. 17-20. All the rest of this Chapter is spent almost wholly in Salutations. Only the four last Verses contains a Conclusion after St. Paul's manner.

25 (e) My Goffel. St. Paul cannot be supposed to have used such an Expression as this, unless he knew that what he preach'd had fomething in it that distinguished it from what was preached by others; which was plainly the Mystery, as he every where calls it, of God's purpose of taking in the Gentiles to be his People under the Messian, and that without subjecting them to Circumcision, or the Law of Moses. This is that which he calls here to xhpuyuz 'Inos Xeiss, the freaching of Fesus Christ; For without this, he did not think that Christ was preached to the Gentiles as he ought to be: And therefore in several places of his Epifile to the Galatians, he calls it, the Truth, and, the Truth of the Goffel; and uses the like Expressions to the Ephesians and Colossians. This is that Myslery which he is so much concern'd, that the Ephefians should understand and slick firm to. which was revealed to him according to that Goffel, whereof he was made the Minister; as may be leen at large in that Epiffle, particularly ch. 3. 6, 7. The fame thing he declares to the Colonians, in his Epittle to them, particularly ch. 1. 27 - 29. & 11.6-8. For that he in a peculiar manner preached this Doctrine, so as none of the other Apostles did, may be seen A9s 21. 18 25. A9s 15. 6, 7. For though the other Apossles and Elders of the Church at Jerusalem had determined, that the Gentiles should only keep themselves from things offered to Idols, and from Blood, and from frangled, and from Fornication: Yet it is plain enough from what they fay, Ats 21. 20-24. That they taught not; nay, probably did not think what St. Paul openly declares to the Ephefians, that the Law of Moss was abolished by the Death of Christ, Eph. 11. 15. Which if St. Peter and St. James had been as clear in, as was St. Peul, St. Peter would not have incurr'd his reproof, as he did by his Carnage, mentioned Gol. 2. 12. But in all this may be feen the Wisdom and Goodness of God to both Jews and Gentiles. See Note, Eph. 2. 15.

(f) That the Mystary he here heaks of, is the calling of the Sentiles, may be feen in the following words; which is that which in many of his replaces he calls Mystery. See from that which he declares to have continued a Mystery during all those times; to wit, God's purpose of taking in the Gentiles to be his People under the Messiah: For this could not be faid to be a Mystery at any other time, but during the time that the Jews were the peculiar People of God, separated to him from among the Nations of the Earth. Before that time there was no fuch Name or Notion of Distinction as Gentiles. Before the Days of Abraham, Ifaac and Jacob, the calling of the Ifraelites to be God's peculiar People, was as much a Mystery, as the calling of others out of other Nations was a Mystery afterwards. All that St. Paul infifts on here, and in all the places where he mentions this Mystery, is to shew, that though God has declared this his Purpose to the Jews, by the Predictions of his Prophets amongst them, yet it lay concealed from their Knowledge, 'twas a Mystery to them, they understood no fuch thing; there was not any where the least Suspicion or Thought of it, till the Melliah being come, it was openly declared by St. Paul to the Jews and Gentiles, and made out by the Writings of the Prophets, which were now understood.

SYNOPSIS.

UR Saviour had fo openly and expresly declared to his Disciples the Destruction of the Temple, that they could by no means doubt of it, nor of this Confequence of it, viz. that the &3n, Customs or Rites of the Mosaical Law, as they are called, Atts 6. 14. & 21. 21. were to cease with it. And this St. Stephen, by what is laid to his charge, Acts 6. 13, 14. feems to have taught. And upon this Ground it might very well be that the Apostles and Church of Jerusalem required no more of the Convert Gentiles, than the Observance of such things as were fufficient to fatisfie the Jews that they were not still Heathens and Idolaters. But as for the rest of the Mosaical Rites, they required not the Convert Gentiles (to whom the Mofaical Law was not given) to observe them. This being a very natural and obvious Consequence, which they could not but see, that if by the Deltruction of the Temple and Worship of the Jews those Rites were speedily to be taken away, they were not Observances necessary to the People of God, and of perpetual Obligation. Thus far it is plain the other Apostles were instructed and satisfied of the Freedom of the Gentile-Converts from complying with the Ritual Law. But whether it was revealed to them with the same Clearness as it was to St. Paul, that the Jews too as well as the Gentiles, who were converted to the Christian Faith, were discharged from their former Obligation to the Ritual Law of Moles, and freed from those Observances, may be doubted: Because as we see they had not at all instructed their Converts of the Circumcision, of their being set at liberty from that Yoke, which it is very likely they should not have forborn to have done, if they had been convinced of it themtelves. For in all that Discourse concerning this Question, Acts 15. 1-21. there is not one Syllable faid of the Jews being discharged, by Faith in the Messiah, from the Observance of any of the Mo. faical Rites. Nor does it appear that the Apostles of the Circumcifion ever taught their Disciples, or suggested to them any such thing, which one can scarce imagin they could have neglected, if it had been revealed to them, and so given them in charge. It is certain their Converts had never been taught any fuch thing. St. James himself acquaints us, Acts 21. 20. that the many thousands that believed were all zealous of the Law. And what his own Opinion of those Rites were, may be seen ver. 24. where he calls keeping this part of the Law walking orderly: and he is concerned to have St. Paul thought a strict Observer thereof. All which could not have been, if it had been revealed to him as politively and expresly as it was to St. Paul, That all Believers in the Meffiah, Jews as well as Gentiles, were absolved from the Law of Moses, and were under no Obligation to observe those Ceremonies any longer, they being now no longer necessary to the People of God in this his new Kingdom erected under the Messiah, nor indeed was it necessary that this particular Point should have been from the beginning revealed to the other Apostles, who were sufficiently instructed for their Mission, and the Conversion of their Brethren the Jews, by the holy Ghost's bringing to their Minds (as was promised) all that our Saviour had faid unto them in his Life-time here amongst them, in the true Sense of it. But the sending them to the Jews with this Message, that the Law was abolished, was to cross the very Defign of fending them; it was to befpeak an Aversion to their Doctrine; and to stop the Ears of the Jews, and turn their Hearts from them. But St. Paul receiving his whole Knowledge of the Gospel immediately from Heaven by Revelation, seems to have this particular Instruction added, to fit him for the Mission he was chosen to, and make him an effectual Messenger of the Gospel, by furnishing him presently with this necessary Truth concerning the Cessation of the Law, the Knowledge whereof could not but come in time to the other Apostles, when it should be seasonable. Whether this be not so, I leave it to be considered.

This at least is certain, that St. Paul alone, more than all the rest of the Apolles, was taken notice of to have preached that the coming of Christ put an end to the Law, and that in the Kingdom of God erected under the Messiah, the Observation of the Law was neither required, nor availed ought, Faith in Christ was the only Condition of Admittance both for Jew and Gentile, all who believed being now equally the People of God, whether circumcifed or uncircumcifed. This was that which the Jews, zealous of the Law, which they took to be the irrevocable unalterable Charter of the People of God, and the standing Rule of his Kingdom, could by no means bear. And therefore provoked by this Report of St. Paul, the Jews, both Converts as well as others, looked upon him as a dangerous Innovator, and an Enemy to the true Religion, and as fuch feized on him in the Temple, Acts 21. upon occasion whereof it was that he was a Prisoner at Rome when he writ this Epistle, where he feems to be concerned, left now he that was the Apostle of the Gentiles, from whom alone the Doctrine of their Exemption from the Law had its Rife and Support, was in Bonds upon that very account, it might give an Opportunity to those Judaizing Professors of Christianity, who contended that the Gentiles, unless they were circumcifed after the manner of Moses, could not be saved, to unfettle the Minds, and shake the Faith of those whom he had converted. This being the Controversie from whence rose the great Trouble and Danger that in the time of our Apostle disturb'd the Churches collected from among the Gentiles. That which chiefly disquieted the Minds, and shook the Faith of those who from Heathenism were converted to Christianity, was this Dostrine, that except the Converts from Paganism were circumcifed, and thereby subjected themselves to the Law and the Jewish Rites, they could have no Benefit by the Gospel, as may be seen all through the Acts, and in almost all St. Paul's Epistles. Wherefore when he heard that the Ephelians stood firm in the Faith, whereby he means their Confidence of their Title to the Privileges and Benefits of the Gospel, without Submission to the Law (For the introducing the legal Observances into the Kingdom of the Messiah, he declared to be a Subversion of the Gospel, and contrary to the great and glorious Design of that Kingdom) He thanks God for them, and setting forth the gracious and glorious Defign of God towards them, prays that they may be enlightned, fo as to be able to fee the mighty things done for them, and the immense Advantages they receive by it. In all which he displays the glorious State of that Kingdom, not in the ordinary way of Argumentation and formal Reafoning, which had no place in an Epistle writ as this is, all as it were in a Rapture, and in a Stile far above the plain Didactical way, he pretends not to teach them any thing, but couches all that he would drop into their Minds in Thankfgivings and Prayers, which affording a greater Liberty and Flight to his Thoughts, he gives Utterance to them in noble and sublime Expressions, suitable to the unsearchable Wisdom and Goodness of God, shewn to the World in the Work of Redemption. This tho perhaps at first fight it may render his meaning a little obscure, and his Expressions the harder to be understood, yet by the Assistance of the two following Epistles, which were both writ whilst he was in the same Circumitances, upon the same Occasion, and to the same Purpose, the Sense and Doctrine of the Apostle here may be so clearly seen, and so perfectly comprehended, that there can be hardly any doubt left about it to any one who will examin them diligently, and carefully compare them together. The Epitle to the Colossians seems to be writ the very fame time, in the fame run and warmth of Thoughts, fo that the very same Expressions yet fresh in his Mind, are repeated in many Places; the Form, Phrase, Matter and all the Parts guite through of these two Epistles, do so perfectly correspond, that one cannot be mistaken in thinking one of them very fit to And that to the Philippians, writ also by give light to the other. St. Paul during his Bonds at Rome, when attentively looked into, will be found to have the same Aim with the other two; so that in these three Epistles taken together, one may see the great Design of the Gospel laid down as far surpassing the Law, both in Glory, Greatness, Comprehension, Grace and Bounty, and therefore they were Opposers, not Promoters of the true Doctrine of the Gospel, and the Kingdom of God under the Messiah, who would confine it to the narrow and beggarly Elements of this World, as St. Paul calls the positive Ordinances of the Mosaical Institution. To confirm the Gentile Churches, whom he had converted, in this Faith which which he had instructed them in; and keep them from submitting to the Mosaical Rites in the Kingdom of Christ, by giving them a nobler and more glorious View of the Gospel, is the Design of this and the two following Epistles. For the better understanding these Epistles, it might be worth while to shew their Harmony all through, but this Synopsis is not a place for it, the following Paraphrase and Notes will give an Opportunity to point out several Passages wherein their Agreement will appear.

The latter end of this Epiftle, according to St. Paul's usual Method, contains practical Directions and Exhortations.

He that defires to inform himself in what is left upon Record in Sacred Scripture, concerning the Church of the Ephelians, which was the Metropolis of Asia, strictly so called, may read the 19th and 20th of the Acts.

(b) Their, Faithful. We have observed above that this Epistle, and that of the Collossians, have all through a very great Resemblance; their Lineaments do fo correspond, that I think they may be I win-Epistles, conceived and brought forth together, so that the very Expressions of the one occur'd fresh in St. Paul's Memory, and were made use of in the other. There being fent by the same Messenger Tychicus, is a farther Probability that they were writ at the Tame time. Tussis therefore being found in the Introduction of both Epistles, and no one other of St. Paul's, there is just reason to think that it was a Term suited to the present Notion he had of those he was writing to, with reference to the Business he was writing about. I take it therefore, that by faithful in Christ Jesus, he means here such as stood firm to Jesus Christ, which he did not count them to do, who made Circumcision necessary to Salvation, and an Observance of Jewish Rites a requisite part of the Christian Religion. This is plain from his express words, Gal. 5 1, 2. Stand fast therefore in the Liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not intargled again with the loke of Bondage. Behold I Paul fay unto you, that if ye be eircumeised, Christ shall prosit you nothing, &c. And those that contended for Submission to the Law, he calls Perverters of the Cospel of Christ, Gal. 1.7. And more to the same purpose may be feen in that Epiffle: We shall have an occasion to confirm this Interpretation of the word #1565, faithful, here, when we come to consider the Import of the word #515, Faith, ver. 15. They that would have if and, not exegetical here, but used only to joyn under the Title of faithful in Christ Jesus, the Converts in Asia, I shall define besides the Col. 1. 2 to read also 1 Cor. 2. 1. and thereby judge in what Sense they are to understand, And to the faithful in Ckrist Fesus here.

CONTENTS.

In this Section St. Paul thanks God for his Grace and Bounty to the Gentiles, wherein he so sets forth both God's gracious Purpose of bringing the Gentiles into his Kingdom under the Messiah, and his actual bestowing on them Blessings of all kinds in Jesus Christ, for a compleat re-estating them in that his heavenly Kingdom, that there could be nothing stronger suggested to make the Ephesians and other Gentile-Converts not to think any more of the Law, and that much more inferior Kingdom of his, established upon the Mosaical Institution, and adapted to a little Canton of the Earth, and a small Tribe of Men, as now necessary to be retained under this more spiritual Institution, and celestial Kingdom erected under Jesus Christ, intended to comprehend Men of all Nations, and extend it self to the utmost Bounds of the Earth for the greater Honour of God, or as St. Paul speaks, to the Praise of the Glory of God.

The right understanding of this Section, and indeed of this whole Lpifile, depends very much on understanding a-right who are more especially comprehended under the Terms, To and We, from v. 3, to 12. For it is use significations, 1. St. Laul himself Personally; but that the visible Tenour of the Discourse at first right plainly destroys: Besses it suits not St.

NOTES.

Paul's Modesty to attribute so much in particular to himself, as is spoke of Us and We in this Section; or if we could think he would give himself that Liberty, yet v. 12. overturns it all; for huas resonance we who first trusted in Christ, can by no means be admitted to be spoken by St. Paul personally of himself. Add to this, that in this very Chapter, no farther off than v. 15. St. Paul speaking of himself, says, I, in the Singular Number; and so he does chap. 3. v 72 8. Or,

2. It must fignifie Believers in general; but that Tennuture join'd to it will not admit, for we, the first Believers, cannot fignifie we all, that are Believers, but restrains the Persons to some fort of Men that then began to believe, i.e. the Gentiles: And then the next Words, v. 13. have an easy and natural Connection; We other Gentiles who first believed in Christ, in whom also ve Gentiles, also of Ephefus, after ve heard, believed. Or,

3. It must signifie the Convert Jews. But would it not be somewhat preposterous for St. Paul fo much to magnify God's Goodnels and Bounty to the Jews in particular, in an Epiftle writ to a Church of converted Gentiles; wherein he addresses himself to the Gentiles, in Contradiftinction to the Jews, and tells them they were to be made Co-partners with them in the Kingdom of the Messiah, which was opened to them by abolishing of the Law of Moses, intimated plainly in this very Section, v. 7 --- 10. Wherein he magnifies the Riches of the Favour of God, to the Persons he is speaking of under the Denomination Us, in gathering again all things, i.e. Men of all forts, under Christ the Head; which could not mean the Jews alone: But of this he speaks more openly afterwards. Farther, We here, and We, ch. 2. 3. must be the same, and denote the same Persons; but the We, ch. 2. 3. can neither be St. Paul alone, nor Believers in general, nor Jewish Converts in particular, as the obvious Sense of the place demonstrates: For neither St. Paul can be called we all, nor is it true that all the Convert-Jews bad their Converfation among the Gentiles, as our Bible renders the Greek; which if otherwife to be understood, is more directly against signifying the Jews. These therefore being excluded from being meant by we and us here, who can remain to be fignify'd thereby but the Convert Gentiles in general? That St. Paul, who was the Apostle of the Gentiles, did often in an obliging manner join himself with the Gentile Converts under the Terms Us and We, as if he had been one of them, there are so many Instances, that it cannot seem strange that he should do so in this Section, Rom. 5. 1——11. where it is plain all along under the Term Us, he speaks of the Gentile Converts. And many other Passages might be brought out of this Epistle to evince it. Ch. 1. 11. he saith, We have obtained an Inheritance. Those We, its plain, ch. 3.6. were Gentiles. So ch. 2.5. when We, i. e. Converts of the Gentiles, were dead in Sins: For I do not remember that the Jews are any where faid by St. Paul to be dead in Sins; that is one of the diftinguishing Characters of the Gentiles: And there we see in the same Verse we is changed into ye: And so v. 6, & 7. having spoke of the Gentiles in the first Person us, in the beginning of the next Verse 'tis changed into ye, i. e. ye Ephesians, a part of those Gentiles. To this I shall add one place more out of the parallel Epistle to the Colossins, ch. 1.12, 13. where he uses nuas, us, for the Convert Gentiles, changing the ye in the 10th Verse to us in the 12th; the matter of giving Thanks being the same all along from v.3. where it begins, and is repeated here again, v.12. i.e. The removing of the Gentiles out of the Kingdom of the Devil and Darkness, into the Kingdom of his beloved Son: or as he expresses it, Eph. 1. 6. Wherein he hath made us accepted in the Beloved. And in the same Sense he uses nuw, us, Col. 2. 14. For those that the Hand-writing of Ordinances was against and contrary to, were the Gentiles, as he declares, Eph. 2. 14, 15. who were kept off from coming to be the People of God by those Ordinances, which were that wherein the Enmity between the Jews and Gentiles confifted, and was kept up; which therefore Christ abolished, to make way for their Union into one Body under Christ their Head. Other Passages tending to the clearing of this, we shall have occasion to take notice of as they occur in the Sequel of this Epistle.

All which together make up this Sense; "As it was in consideration of Christ alone, that God heretofore, before the "Foundation of the World, designed us Gentiles to be his People; so now the Messiah is come, all the Blessings and Benefits we are to receive in his heavenly Kingdom, are laid up in him, and to be had only by our Faith and Dependance on him, without any respect to the Law, "or any other Consideration.

(f) "A poi, Saims, in St. Paul's Epiftles is known to lignify Christians, i. e. such as made Profession of the Gospel, for those were now the People of God.

(g) See Col. 1. 22. this Verse explained, where comparing it with the immediate preceding Words, v. 21. one may find a farther reason to take us here to signify the Gentile Converts, the same thing being applied there solely to the Gentile Converts of Coloss.

(b) Affection to all the Saints. That this is the meaning may be seen, v. 15. where to their true Faith in Christ, which he was rejoic'd with, he join'd, the a'ya'ann the saantas ta's ayius, Love unto all the Saints. The very same things which he takes notice of in the Colosians in the very same words. Col. 1. 4. Why Love is so often mentioned in this Epistle, as ch. 3. 17- & 4. 2, 15, 16. & 5. 2. & 6. 23. we may find a reason, ch. 2. 11—22. wherein there is an Account given of the Enmity between the Jews and Gentiles which Christ had taken away the Cause of; and therefore the ceasing of it was one great mark of Mentions right in the Faith, and of their having true and worthy Notions of Christ, who had broke down the Wall of Partition, and open'd the Kingdom of Heaven to all equally who be leved in him, without any the least Distinction of Nation, Blood, Profession, or Religion that they were of before, all that being now done away, and superceded by the Prince of Peace, Jesus Christ the Righteous, to make way for a more enlarged and glorious Kingdom solely by Eaith in him, which now made the only Distinction among Men; so that all who agreed in that, were thereby all brought to the same level, to be all Brethren and Fellow-Members in Christ, and the Feople or Sons of God, as he says in the next Verse.

5 (i) Twas not by the Observances of the Law, but by Faith alone in Jesus Christ, that God predetermined to take the Gentiles into the State of Southip or Adoption. This was another Particular for which St. Paul blesses God in the name of the Gentiles; the Consideration whereof was fit to raise the Ephesians Thoughts above the Law, and keep them firm in Adherence to the Liberty of the Gospel.

NOTES.

(k) 'ProStrix, Adoption or Sonship belong'd only to the Jews before the coming of the Melliah, Rom. 9.4. For after the Nations of the Earth had revolted from God their Lord and Maker, and became Servants and Worshipers of the Devil, God abandoned them to the Vafsalage they had chosen, and owned none of them for his but the Israelites, whom he had adopted to be his Children and People. See Exod. 4. 22. Fer. 21. 9. Luke 1.54. Which Adoption is expressed to Abraham in these words, Gen. 17. 7. I will be a God to thee, and to thy Seed after thee, and to the Ifraelites. Exod. 7.7. I will take you to me for a People, and I will be your God; and to Lev. 26. 12. I will walk amongst you, and be your God, and ye shall be my People: And fo we see that those whom, Exod. 4. he calls his Son, he calls in several other Places his People, as standing both when spoken Nationally for one and the same thing.

(1) According to the good Pleasure of his Will; spoken here in the same Sense with what is said, Rom. 9. 18, 23, 24. God under the Law took the Nation of Ifrael to be his People, without any Merit in them; and so 'tis of his meer good Pleasure that he even then purposed to enlarge his Kingdom under the Gospel, by admitting all, that of all the Nations whatsoever would come in and submit themselves, not to the Law of Moses, but to the Rule and Dominion of his Son Jesus Christ; and this, as he says in the next words, for the Praise of the Glory of

6 (m) See ch. 2. 12 --- 14. Ats 15. 14.

(n) I do not think that any thing of greater force can be imagined to raise the Minds of the Ephelians above the Jewish Rituals, and keep them steddy in the Freedom of the Goipel, than what St. Paul Tays here, viz. That God before the Foundation of the World freely determined within himself to admit the Gentiles into his Kingdom to be his People, for the Manifestation of his free Grace all the World over, that all Nations might glorify him; and this for the Take of his Son Jefus Christ, who was his Beloved, and so was chiefly regarded in all this; and therefore 'twas to mistake or pervert the End of the Gospel, and debase this glorious Dispensation, to make it subservient to the Jewish Ritual, or to suppose that the Law of Meses was to support, or to be supported by the Kingdom of the Messah, which was to be of a larger Extent, and fettled upon another Foundation, whereof the Mosaical Institution was but a narrow, faint and typical Representation.

7 (0) We, does as plainly here fland for the Gentile Converts, as 'tis manifest it does in the parallel place, Col. 1. 13,14.

NOTES.

8 (p) That by Ma'ro 305/12, St. Paul means a Comprehension of the revealed Will of God in the Gospel, more particularly the Mystery of God's Purpose of colling the Gentiles, and making out of them a People and Inheritance to himself in his Kingdom under the Messala, may be perceived by reading and comparing cb. 1.8. Col. 1.9, 10, 18. & 2.2, 3. Which Verses read with Attention to the Context, plainly shew what St. Faul means here.

(q) That this is the meaning of this Verie, I refer my Reader to Col. 1. 9. 10.

g (r) I cannot think that God' Purpose of calling the Gentiles, so often term'd a Mystery, and so emphati ally declar'd to be concealed from Ages, and particularly revealed to himself, as we find in this Epistle, where it is so called by St. Paul 5 times, and 45 times in that to the Colossams, is by Chance, or without some particular Reason. The Question wa, whether the converted Gentiles should hearken to the Jews who would persuade them it was necessary for them to submit to Circumcisson and the Law, or to St. Paul, who had taught them otherwise. Now there could be nothing of more Force to destroy the Authority of the J ws in the Case, than the shewing them that the Jews know nothing of the Matter, that it was a perfect Mystery to them, concealed from their Knowledge, and made manifest in Goc's good time, at the coming of the Messiah, and most particularly discovered to St. Paul by immediate time, at the coming of the Messiah, and most particularly discovered to St. Paul by immediate Revelation, to be communicated by him to the Gentiles, who therefore had reason to stick firm to this great Truth, and not to be led away from the Gospel which he had taught them.

(s) See ch. 3. 9.

10 (t) 'Ανακοραλαιάσαδαι, properly fignifies to recapitulate or recollect, and put together the Heads of a Discourse. But ince that cannot possibly be the Meaning of this Word here, we must search for the Meaning which St. Paul gives it here in the Doctrine of the Golpel, and not in the Propriety of the Greek.

1. 'Tis plain in Sacred Scripture, that Christ at fir? had the Rule and Supremacy over all, and was Head over all. See Col. 1. 15 --- 17. 120. 1.8.

2. There are also manifest Indications in Scripture, that a principal Augel, with great Numbers of Angels his Followers joining with him, revolted from this Kingdom of God, and standing out in Rebellion, erected to themselves a Kingdom of their own, in Opposition to the Kingdom of God, Luke 10. 17—20. and had all the Heathen World Vasfals and Subjects of that their Kingdom, Luke 4.5—8. Mat. 12. 26—30. John 12. 31. & 14. 30. & 16. 11 Eph. 6. 12. Col. 1. 13. Rom. 3. 18. Als 26. 18, &c.

3. That

I4 Ch. 1.

NOTES.

3. That Christ recovered this Kingdom, and was resinstated in the Supremacy and Headship, in the Fulness of Time (when he came to destroy the Kingdom of Darkness, as St. Paul calls it here) at his Death and Resurrection: Hence, just before his Suffering, he says, John 12-31. Now is the Judgment of this World; now shall the Prince of this World be cast out. From whence may be seen the Force of Christ's Argument, Mat. 12-28. If I cast out Devils by the Spirit of God, then the Kingdom of God is come upon you: For the Jaws acknowledged that the Spirit of God, which had been withdrawn from them, was not to be given out again till the coming of the Messack, under whom the Kingdom or God was to be erected. See also Luke

10. 18. 10.

4. What was the State of his Power and Dominion from the Defection of the Angels, and fetring up the Kingdom of Darkness, till his being re-instated in the Fulness of Time, there is little revealed in Sacred Scripture, as not to much pertaining to the Recovery of Men from their Apostacy, and re-instating them in the Kingdom of God. 'Tis true God gather'd to himself a People, and set up a Kingdom here on Earth, which he maintain'd in the little Nation of the Jews till the setting up the Kingdom of his Son, Als 1.3. & 2.36. which was to take place as God's only Kingdom here on Earth for the future. At the Head of this, which is called the Church, he fets Jefus Chrift his Son; but that is not all, but he having by his Death and Resurrection conquer'd Saran, Fohn 12. 13. & 16. 11. Col. 2. 15. Heb. 2. 14. Ephel. 4. 8. has all Power given him in Heaven and Earth, and is made the Head over all things for the Church, [Mat. 28. 18. & 11. 27. John 3. 35. & 31. 3. Ephef. 1. 20 _____22. Heb. 1.2—4. & 2. 9. 1 Cor. 15.25, 27. Phil. 2. 8—11. Col. 2. 10. Heb. 10. 12, 13.

Als 2. 23. & v. 31. In both which places it should be translated, to the right hand of God.]

Which re-instating him again in the supream Power, and restoring him, after the Conquest of the Devil, to that compleat Headship which he had over all things, being now revealed under the Gospel, as may be seen in the Texts here quoted, and in other places. I leave to the Reader to judge, whether St. Paul might not probably have an Eye to that in this Verse, and in his use of the word avanequal australian. But to search throughly into this Matter (which I have not in my finall reading found any where fufficiently taken notice of) would require a Treatite.

It may suffice at present, to take notice that this Exaltation of his is exptessed, Phil. 2.9, 10. by all things in Heaven and Earth bowing the Knee at his Name; which we may see farther explained, Rev. 5. 13. Which Acknowledgment of his Honour and Power, was that per-baps which the proud Angel that fell, refufing, thereupon rebelled.

It our Translators have render'd the sense of avensoanamount right, by gather together into ore, it will give Countenance to those who are inclin'd to understand by thirgs in Heaven, and things on Earth, the Jewilh and Gentile World: For of them St. Fohn plainly fays, Fohn 11. 52. That of fus should die, not for the Nation of the Jews only, but that also ouverage eight, he should gather together in one the Children of God that were scattered abroad, i.e. the Gentiles that were to believe, and were by Faith to become the Children of God; whereof Christ himself speak thus, John 10. 16. Other Sheep I have which are not of this Fold, them also I must bring, and they shall bear my Voice, and there shall be one Fold, and one Shepherd. This is the gathering together into one that our Saviour speaks of, and is that which very well suits with the Apoftle's D figo here, where he fay- in express words, that Christ makes na duponously, makes both Jews and Gentiles one, Exter. 2. 14. Now that St. Paul should use Hraven and Earth for Jew and Gentiles, will not be thought so very strange, if we consider that Daviel himfelf expresses the Nation of the Jews by the Name of Heaven, Dan. 8. 10. Nor does he want an Example of it in our Saviour himself, who, Luke 21. 26. by Powers of Heaven, plainly fignifies the great Men of the Jewish Nation: Nor is this the only place in this Epistle of St. Paul to the Ephehans, which will bear this Interpretation of Heaven and Earth, he who shall read the filteen First Verse of ch. 3. and carefully weigh the Expressions, and observe the drift of the Apostle in them, will not find that he does manifest V olence to St. Paul's sense, if he underitands by the Family in Leaven and Earth, v. 15. the unite Body of Christians, made up of Jews and Genciles, living still promittuously among those two forts of People, who continued

11 (u) So the Greek word ἐπληρώ Βπιμεν will fignify, if taken, as I think it may, in the Paffive Voice, i.e. we Gentiles who were formerly in the Possession of the Devil, are now by Christ brought into the Kingdom, Dominion and Poffession of God again. This sense seems very well to agree with the Design of the place, viz. That the Gentile World had now in Christ a way open'd for their returning into the Possession of God under their proper Head Jesus Christ. To which fuits the words that follow, that we who first amongst the Gentiles entertain'd Terms of Reconciliation by Christ, might be to the Praise of his Glory, i e. so that we of the Gentiles who first believed, did, as it were, open a new Scene of Praise and Glory to God, by being restored to be his People, and become again a part of his Possession; a thing not before understood nor look'd for. See Als 11.18. & 15. 3, 14——19. The Apolle's Defign here being to fatisfy the Ephelians, that the Gentiles were, by Faith in Chrift, reftor'd to all the Privileges of the People of God, as far forth as the Jews themselves. See ch. 2.11——22. particularly larly v. 19. canner Drucer, it may, I humbly conceive, do no Violence to the place, to suggest this sense, we became the Inheritance, instead of we have obtained an Inheritance; that heing the way wherein God speaks of his People the Israelites, of whom he says, Deut. 32. 9. The Lord's Portion is his People, Facob is the Lot of his Inheritance. See also Deut 4. 20. 1 Kings 8. 51. and other places. And the Inheritance which the Gentiles were to obtain, was to be obtain'd, we fee, Col. 1. 12, 13. by their being translated out of the Kingdom of Satan into the Kingdom of Christ: So that take it either way, that we have obtained an Inheritance, or we are become bis People and Inheritance; it in effect amounts to the same thing, and so I leave it to the Reader.

(w) i. e. God had purposed even before the taking the Israelites to be his People, to take in the Gentiles by Faith in Christ to be his People again: and what he purposes he will do without asking the Counsel or Consent of any one, and therefore you may be sure of this your Inheritance, whether the Jews consent to it or no.

But when they received the Gospel of Jesus Christ, then they ceased to he Aliens from the Commonwealth of Israel, and became the People of Gol, and had Hope as well as the Jews; or as St. Paul expresses it in the Name of the converted Romans, Rom. 5. 2. We rejoice in hope of the Glory of God. This is another Evilence that has we, here stands for the Gentile-Converts. That the Jews were not without Hope, or without God in the World, appears from that very Text, Eph. 2. 12. where the Gentiles are set apart under a discriminating Description properly belonging to them, the Sacred Scripture no where speaks of the Hebrew Nation that People of God, as without God, or without Hope, the contrary appears every where. See Rom. 2. 17. & 12. Als 24. 15. & 26. 6, 7. & 28. 20. And therefore the Apostle might well say that those of the Gentiles who first entertain'd Hopes in Christ, were so the Praise of the Glory of God. All Mankind having thereby now a new and greater Subject of praising and glorifying God for this great and unspeakable Grace and Goodness to them, of which before they had no Knowledge, no Thought, no Expectation.

14 (2) The Holy Ghoft was neither promifed or given to the Heathen, who were Apostates from God, at 1 Enemies but only to the People of God, and therefore the Convert Epherians having received it, might be affured thereby that they were now the People of God, and rest satisfied in this Pledge of it.

(a) The giving out of the Holy Ghost, and the Gift of Miracles, was the great means whereby the Gentules were brought to receive the Gospel, and become the People of God.

(b) Redemption in Sacred Scripture fignifies not always frielly paying a Ranfom for a Slave delivered from Bondage, but Deliverance from a flavish Estate in o Liberty: So God declares to the Children of Ifrael in Egyft, Exod. 6. 6. I will redeem you with a firetched out Arm. What is meant by it is clear from the former part of the Verse, in these words, I will bring you out from under the Eurden of the Egyptians, and I will ridgou out of their Bondage. And in the next Verte he adds, Ard I will take you to me for my People, and I will be to you a God: The very Cafe here. As God in the place cited promiled to deliver his People out of Bondage under the word redeem, to Deut 7.8. he telleth them, that he had brought them out with a mighty hand, and redeemed them out of the House of Bondage, from the hand of Pharaoh Kirg of Egyp: Which Redemption was performed by God, who is called the Lord of Hoft their Redeemer, withour the Payment of any Ransom. But here there was servinos, a Furchase; and what the thing purchased was we may see, Als 20. 28. 212. the Church of God, πυσειποιήσατο, which he purchaled with his own blood, to be a People that should be the Lord's Portion, and the Lot of his Inheritance, as Moses speaks of the Children of Ifrael, Deut. 32. 9. NOTES.

15 (d) 'Aκε'σας την καθ' ύμας πίσιν 'εν τῷ κυρίω 'Inσε΄, Wberefore I alfo after I beard of your Faith in the Lord Fesus. St. Paul's hearing of their Faith here mention'd, cannot fignifie his being informed that they had received the Gospel, and believed in Christ, this would have looked impertinent for him to have told them, fince he himself had converted them, and had lived a long time amongft them, as has been already observed. We must therefore seek another Reason of his mentioning his hearing of their Faith, which must fignifie something else than his being barely acquainted that they were Christians, and this we may find in these words, ch. 3. 13. Wherefore I defire that ye faint not at my Tribulations for you. He as Apostle of the Gentiles, had alone preached up Freedom from the Law, which the other Apostles who had not that Province (see Gal. 2.9.) in their converting the Jews, seem to have said nothing of, as is plain from Alis 21. 20, 21. Twas upon account of his preaching, that the Christian Converts were not under any Subjection to the Observances of the Law, and that the Law was abolished by the Death of Christ, that he was seized at Ferusalem, and sent as a Criminal to Rome to be tried for his Lite, where he was now a Prisoner. He being therefore afraid that the Ephefians, and other Convert-Gentiles, feeing him thus under Perfection, in hold, and in danger of Death, upon the score of his being the Preacner and zealous Propagator and Minister of this great Article of the Christian Faith, which seem'd to have had its Rife and Defence wholly from him, might give it up, and not stand firm in the Faith which he had taught them, was rejoyced when in his Confinement he heard that they perlifted fledfaff in that Faith, and in their Love to all the Saints. i. e. as well the Convert Gentiles that did not as those Jews that did conform to the Jewish Rites. This I take to be the Meaning of his hearing of their Faith here mentioned, and conformably hereunto, ch. 6. 19, 20 he defires their Prayers, that he may with Boldneis preach the Mystery of the Gospel, of which he is the Ambastador in Bonds. This Mystery of the Gospel, its plain from ch. 1.9, &c. and ch. 3.

3—7. and other places, was God's gracious purpole of taking the Gentiles, as Gentiles, to be his People under the Gospel. St. Paul, whilst he was a Prisoner at Rome, writ to two other Chutches, that at Philippi and that at Colofs: To the Coloffians, ch. 1 4. he uses almost verbatim the same Expression that he does here, Having heard of your Faith in Christ Fesus, and of your Love which ye have to all the Saints; He gives Thanks to God for their knowing and sticking to the Grace of God in Truth, which had been taught them by Epsphras, who had informed St. Paul of this, and their Affection to him, whereupon he expresses his great Concern that they should continue in that Faith, and not be drawn away to Judaizing, which may be feen from ver. 14. of this Chapter, to the end of the Second. So that the hearing of their Faith, which he fays both to the Ephsfians and Coloffians, is not his being told that they were Christians, but their continuing in the Faith they were converted to and instructed in, viz. that they became the People of God, and were admited into his Kingdom only by Faith in Chrift, without lubmitting to the Motaical Institution, and legal Observances, which was the thing he was afraid they should be drawn to, either through any Despondency in themselves, or Importunity of others now that he was removed from them, and in Bonds, and thereby give up that Truth and Freedom of the Gospel which he had preach'd to them.

Thanks to God, An ang The ursia autor, upon every mention was made of them, upon every account he receiv'd of their continuing in the Fellowship and Profession of the Gospel, as it had been taught them by him, without changing or wavering at all, which is the same with hearing of their Faith, and that thereupon he prays amongst other things, chiefly that they might be kept from Judaizing: As appears ver. 27, 28 where the thing he defired to hear of them was, that they stood firm in one Spirit, and one Mind, joyntly contending for the Faith of the Gospel, in nothing startles by those who are apposers; so the words are, and not their Adversaries. Now there was no Party at that time, who were in opposition to the Gospel which St. Paul preach'd, and with whom the Convert-Gentiles had any Dispute, but those who were for keeping up Circumcision, and the Jewish Rites under the Gospel. These were they who St. Paul apprehended a one as likely to affright the Convert Gentiles, and make them start out of the way from the Gospel, which is the proper Import of #700 uevos. Tho this Passage clearly enough indicate what it was that he was and should always be glad to hear of them, yet he more plainly theus his Apprehention of Danger to them, to be from the Contenders for Judaism, in the express warning he gives them against that fort of Men, ch. 3. 2, 3. So that this Hearing which he mentions, is the hearing of these three Churches perinsting firmly in the Faith of the Golpel which he had taught them, without being drawn at all towards Judaizing. 'Twas that for which St. Paul gave Thanks, and it may reasonably be presumed that if he had writ to any other Churches of converted Gentiles, whilst he was a Prisoner at Rome, upon the like Carriage of theirs, something of the same kind would have been said to them. So that the great Business of these three Epistles written during his being a Prisoner at Rome, was to explain the nature of the Kingdom of God under the Mehah, from which the Gentiles were now no longer that out by the Ordinances of the Law; and confirm the Churches in the Belief of it. St. Paul being cholen and fent by God to preach the Gospel to the Gentiles, had in all his Preaching fet forth the Largenets and Freedom of the Kingdom of God now laid open to the Gentiles, by taking away the Wall of Partition that kept them out. This made the Jews his Enemies, and upon this account they had feized him, and he was now a Prifoner at Rome. Fearing that the Gentiles might be wrought upon to fubmit to the Law now that he was thus removed, or furfering for this Gospel, he tells there three Churches, that he rejoyces at their flanding firm in the Faith, and thereupon writes to them to explain and confirm to them the Kingdom of God under the Meshah, into which all Men now had an Entrance by Faith in Chrift, without any regard to the Terms whereby the Jews were formerly admitted. The feting forth the Largeness and free Admittance in o this Kingdom, which was so much for the Glory of God, and to much flewed his Mercy and Bounty to Mankind, that he makes it as it were a new Creation, is, I say, plainly the Bulinels of these Epistles, which tend all visibly to the same thing, that any one that reads them cannot mistake the Apostle's meaning, they giving such a clear Light one to another.

15 (e) All the Saints. One finds in the very reading of these Words, that the word All is emphatical here, and put in for some particular reason. I can, I contest, see no other but this, viz. That they were not by the Judaizers in the leaft drawn away from their Effeem and Love of those who were not circumcifed, nor observed the Jewish Rites; which was a Proof to him that they flood firm in the Faith and Freedom of the Golpel, which he had in-ftructed them in.

In all which Senses it may be taken here, where there is nothing that appropriates it in peculiar to any of them.

(g) Wildom, is vinbly used here for a right Conception and Understanding of the Gospel.

See Note, v. 8.

(b) Revelation, is used by St. Paul, not always for immediate Inspiration, but as it is meant here, and in most other Places, for such Truths which could not have been found out by humane Reason, but had their first Discovery from Revelation, though Men afterwards come to the Knowledge of those Truths by reading them in the Sacred Scripture, where they are set down for their Information.

God had before a Kingdom and People in this World, viz. that Kingdom which he erected to himself of the Jews, selected and brought back to himself out of the apostatized Mass of revolted and rebellious Markind: With this his People he dwelt, among them he had his Habitation, and ruled as their King in a peculiar Kingdom; and therefore we see that our Saviour calls the Jews, Mas. 8. 12. the Kingdom. But that Kingdom, though God's, was not yet Bandia rov seavov, the Kingdom of Heaven that came with Christ: See Mar. 3. 2. & 10. 7. That was but emigato;, of the Earth, compared to this irregarios, heavenly Kingdom, which was to be erected under Jesus Christ; and with that lort of Distinction our Saviour seems to speak and use those words έπιγεια earthly, and ἐπεβάνια heavenly, John 3. 12. In his Discourse there with Nicodemus, he tells him, unless a Man were born again he could not see the Kingdom of God. This being born again stuck with Nicodemus, which Christ reproaches him with, since being a Teacher in Israel, he understood not that which belong'd to the Jewish Constitution, wherein to be baptiz'd, for Admittance into that Kingdom, was called and counted to be born again; and therefore fays, if having spoken to you 'salyasa, things relating to your own earthly Constitution, you comprehend me not, how shall you receive what I say, if I speak to you, w' insparla, keavenly thing; i. e. of that Kingdom which is purely heavenly? And according to this Sc. Paul's words here, Epb. 1. 10. 10 72 'er mis uçavous ul rà 'en ris yus, (which occur again, th. 3. 15. Col. 1, 16, 20.) may perhaps not unfitly be interpreted of the spiritual heavenly Kingdom of God, and that allo of the more earthly one of the Jews, whose Rites and politive Institutions St. Paul calls Elements of the World, Gal. 4. 3. Col. 2. 8. 2. which were both at the coming of the Meffiah confolidated into one, and together re-established under one Head. Christ Jesus. The whole drift of this, and the two following Chapters, being to declare the Union of Jews and Gentiles into one Body, under Christ the Head of the heavenly Kingdom. And he that fedately compares Eph. 2. 16, with Col. 1.20. in both which places tis evident the Apostle speaks of the same thing, viz. God's reconciling of both fews and Gentiles by the Crofs of Chrift, will fearce be able to avoid thinking, that things in Heaven, and things on Earth, fignify the People of the one and the other of these Kingdoms.

21 (1) These abstract Names are frequently used in the New Testament according to the Scile of the Eastern Languages, for those vested with Power and Dominion, &c. and that not only here on Earth among Men, but in Heaven among superiour Beings: And so often are taken to express Ranks and Degrees of Angels; and though they are generally agreed to do so here, yet there is no reason to exclude earthly Potentates out of this Text, when rains, necessarily includes them; for that Men in Power are one fort of Appla and Egissam, in a Scripture-sense, our Saviour's own words shew, Luke 12. 11. 3 20. 2. Besides the Apostle's chief aim here being to satisfy the Ephedians, that they were not to be subjected to the Law of Moses, and the Government of those who suil'd by it, but they were called to be of the Kingdom of the Messiab. It is not to be supposed, that here where he speaks of Christ's Exaltation to a Power and Dominion paramount to all other, he should not have an Eye to that little and low Government of the Jews, which it was beneath the Subjects of so glorious a Kingdom as that of Jesus Christ to submit themselves to: And this the next words do sathles Kingdom of Jefus Christ.

3 (s) Ev is cannot signifie, Amongst whom we also all had our Conversation: For it was we, stands for either the converted Jews, or Converts in general, it is not true. If we stand (as is evident it doth) for the converted Gentiles, of what Force or Tendency is it for the Apostle to say, we the converted Gentiles heretofore lived among the unconverted Gentiles. But it is of great Force, and to his Purpose, in magnifying the free Grace of God to them, to say, we or the Gentiles, who are now admitted to the Kingdom of God, were formerly of that very fort of Men in whom the Prince of the Power of the Air ruled, leading Lives in the Lusts of our Flesh, obeying the Will and Inclinations thereof, and so as much exposed to the Wrath of God, as those who still remain in their Apostacy under the Dominion of the Devil.

(1) This was the State that the Gentile World were given up to. See Rom. 1. 21, 24. (10) Rich in Mercy. The Delign of the Apostle being in this Epistle to set forth the exceeding great Mercy and Bounty of God to the Gentiles under the Golpel, as is manifest at large, ch. 3. It is plain that $i \mu \tilde{\omega}_i u_i$, here in this verse, must mean the Gentile-Converts.

5 (x) Dead in Irelayles, does not mean here, under the Condemnation of Death, or obnoxious to Death for our Transgreffions, but to under the Power and Dominion of Sin, so help-less in that State, into which for our Apostacy we were deliver'd up by the just Judgment of God, that we had no more Thought, nor Hope, nor Ability to get out of it, than Men dead and buried have to get out of the Grave. This State of Death he declares to be the State of Gentilitin, Col. 2.13. in these words; And you being dead in Irespasses, and the Uncircumcistion of your Flesh buth God quicken'd togother with him, i.e. Christ.

(y) Quickened. This quickening was by the Spirit of God given to those who by Faith in Christ were united to him, became Members of Christ, and Sons of God, partaking of the Adoption, by which Spirit they were put into a State of Life; see Rom. 8.9——15. and made capable, if they would, to live to God, and not to obey Sin in the Lusts thereof, nor to yield their Members Instruments of Sin unto Iniquity; but to give up themselves to God, as Men alive from the Dead, and their Members to God as Instruments of Righteousness; as our Apostile exhorts the converted Romans to do, Rom. 6.11——13.

6 (3) Wherein this railing confifts may be feen. Rom. 6. 1 --- 13.

7 (a) The great Favour and Goodness of God manifests it self in the Salvation of Sinners in all Ages: But that which most eminently sets forth the Glory or his Grace, was those who were first of all converted from Heathenism to Christianity, and brought out of the Kingdom of Darkness, in which they were as dead Men, without Life, Hope, or io much as a thought of Salvation, or a better State, into the Kingdom of God. Hence it is that he says, zh. 1. 12. That we should be to the Praise of his Glory who first believed. To which he seems to have an Eye in this verie; the first Convertion or the Gentiles being a sin prizing and wonderful Estect and Instance of Gods exceeding Goodness to them, which, to the Glory of his Grace, should be admited and acknowledged by all sturre Ages; and so Paul and Barnabas speak of it, zlds 15.

27. They reheavled all that God had done with them, and how he had op ned the Door of Laith to the Gentiles. And so James and the Elders at Jerusalem, when they heard what thing, God had wrought by St. Paul's Ministry amongst the Gentiles, they glorifed the Lord, Acts 21, 19, 20.

$ (b) Te. The change of we in the foregoing verfe, to ye here, and the like change observable v. 1, & 5. plainly shews, that the Persons spoken of under these two Denominations, are of the same kind, i.e. Gentile Converts; only St. Paul ever now and then, the more effectually to move those he is writing to, changes we into ye, and vice versa; and so makes, as it were, a little fort of Distinction, that he may the more emphatically apply himself to them.

(c) Saved. He that reads St. Paul with Attention, cannot but observe, that speaking of the Gentiles, he calls their being brought back again from their Apoftacy into the Kingdom of God, their being faved. Before they were thus brought to be the People of God again under the Meffiak, they were, as they are here described, Aliens, Enemies, without Hope, without God, dead in Trespasses and Sins; and therefore when by Faith in Christ they came to be reconciled, and to be in Covenant again with God, as his Subjects and liege People, they were in the way of Salvation, and if they perfevered, could not mis attaining of it, though they were not yet in actual Possession. The Apostle, whose aim it is in this Epistle to give them an high Sense of God's extraordinary Grace and Favour to them, and to raile their Thoughts above the mean Observances of the Law, shews them that there was nothing in them; no Deeds or Works of theirs, nothing that they could do to prepare or recommend themselves, contributed ought to the bringing them into the Kingdom of God under the Gospel; that it was all purely the Work of Grace, for they were all dead in Trespasses and Sins, and could do nothing, not make one Step or the least Motion towards it. Faith, which alone gained them Admittance, and alone opened the Kingdom of Heaven to Believers, was the tole Gift of God; Men by their natural Faculties could not attain to it. 'Tis Faith which is the Sourse and Beginning of this new Life; and the Gentile World who were without Sense, without Hope of any fuch thing, could no more help themselves, or do any thing to procure it themselves, than a dead Man can do any thing to procure himself Life. 'Tis God here does all; by Revelation of what they could never discover by their own natural Faculties, he bestows on them the Knowledge of the Messach, and the Fairb of the Golpel; which, assoon as they have received, they are in the Kingdom of God, in a new State of Life; and being thus quickend by the Spirit, may as Men alive work if they will. Hence St. Paul says, Rom. 10. Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God, having in the foregoing Verses declared, there is no believing without hearing, and no hearing without a Preacher, and no Preacher unless he be sent, i.e. the good Tidings of Salvation by the Messah, and the Dodrine of Faith was not, nor could be known to any, but to those to whom God communicated it, by the preaching of Prophets and Apostles, to whom he revealed it, and whom he sent on this Errand with this Difcovery. And thus God now gave Faith to the Ephelians, and the other Gentiles, to whom he fent St. Paul, and others his Fellow-Labourers, to befrow on them the Knowledge of Salvation, Reconciliation, and Restoration into his Kingdom of the Meshah All which, tho revealed by the Spirit of God in the Writings of the Old Testament, yet, the Gentile World was kept wholly Strangers from the Knowledge of, by the Ceremonial Law of Moses, which was the Wall of Partition that kept the Gentiles at a distance, Aliens and Enemies; which Wall God, now according to his gracious purpole before the creeding of it, having now broke down, communicated to them the Doctrine of Faith, and admitted them upon their. Acceptance of it, to all the Advantages and Privileges of his Kingdom; all which was done of his free Grace, without any Merit of Procurement of theirs, he was found of them who jought him not, and was made manifest to them that asked not after him. I define him that would clearly understand this ch. 2. of the Epherians, to read carefully with it, Rom. 10. \times 1 Cor-2. 9-16. where he will see, that Fairb is wholly owing to the Revelation of the Spirit of God, and the Communication of that Revelation by Men lent by God, who attain'd this Knowledge, not by the Affistance of their own natural Parts, but from the Revelation of the Spirit of God. Thus Faith we see is the Gift of God, and with it, when Men by Baptilin are admitted into the Kingdom of God, comes the Spirit of God, which brings Life with it: For the attaining this Gift of Faith, Men do or can do nothing, Grace hitherto does all, and Works are wholly excluded; God himself creates them to do good Works, but when by him they are made living Creatures in this new Creation, it is then expedted, that being quickened, they should all; and from henceforwards Works are required, not as the meritorious Caule of Salvation, but as a necessary, indispensible Qualification of the Subjects of God's Kingdom under his Son Jesus Christ; it being impossible that any one should at the same time be a Rebel and a Subject too: And though none can be Subjects of the Kingdom of God, but those who continuing in the Faith that has been once bestow'd on them, sincerely endeavour to conform themselves to the Laws of their Lord and Master Jesus Christ; and God gives eternal Life to all those, and those only that do so; yet cternal Life is the Gift of God, the Gift of Free Grace, fince their Works of finceve Obedience afford no manner of Title to it; their Righteoutnets is imperted, i, e, they are all unrighteous, and to deferve Death; but God gives them Life upon the account of his Righteoniness, vid. Rom. 1. 17. the Righteoniness of Faith which is by Jesus Christ; and so they are still saved by Grace.

Now when God hath by calling them into the Kingdom of his Son, thus quickened Men, and they are by his free Grace created in Christ Jesus unto good Works, that then Works are required of them, we see in this, that they are called on, and present to walk worshy of God, who kath called them to his Kingdom and Glory, t Thess. 2. 12. And to the same purpose here, ck. 4. 1 Phil. 1. 27. Col. 1. 10—12. So that of those who are in the Kingdom of God, who are actually under the Covenant or Grace, good Works are strictly required, under the Penalty of the Lois of Eternal Life; If ye live after the Helb ye shall die, but if through the Spirit ye morify the Deeds of the Body, se shall live, Rom. 8.13. And so Rom. 6. 11, 13. they are commanded to obey God as living Men. This is the Tenour of the whole New Testament: The Apostate Heathen World were dead, and were of their selves in that State not capable of doing any thing to procure their Translation into the Kingdom of God, that was purely the work of Grace: But when they received the Golpel, they were then made alive by Faith, and by the Spirit of God; and then they were in a State of Life, and working and Works were expected of them. Thus Grace and Works confift without any difficulty; that which has caus'd the Perplexity and feeming Contradiction, has been Mens mistake concerning the Kingdom of God: God in the Fulnel's of Time let up his Kingdom in this World under his Son; into which he admitted all those who believed on him, and received Jesus the Messiah for their Lord. Thus by Faith in Jesus Christ Men became the People of God, and Subjects of his Kingdom; and being by Baptilm admitted into it, were from henceforth, during their continuing in the faith, and Profession of the Gospel, accounted Saints, the Beloved of God, the Faithful in Christ Jelus, the People of God, faved, &c. for in these Terms, and the like, the Sacred Scripture speaks of them. And indeed those who were thus translated into the Kingdom of the Son of God, were no longer in the dead State of the Gentiles; but having passed from Death to Life, Works or Merit. So that in this new State in the Kingdom of God, we are and ought to look upon our felves not as deriving any thing from our felves, but as the mere Workmanfhip of God created (d) in Christ Jesus, to the end we should do good Works, for which he had prepared and fitted us to live in them (e).

For we are his work- 10 manship, created in Christ Jefus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them.

were in the State of the Living, in the way to eternal Life; which they were fure to actain, it they persevered in that Life which the Gospel required, viz. Faith and fincere Obedience. But yet this was not an aftnal Possession of eternal Life in the Kingdom of God in the World to come; for by Apoftacy or Disobedience, this, though sometimes called Salvation, might be forfeited and loft; whereas he that is once possessed of the other, hath actually an eremal Inheritance in the Heavens, which fadeth not away. These two Considerations of the Kingdom of Heaven some Men have confounded and made one; so that a Man being brought into the first of these, wholly by Grace without Works, Faith being all that was required to instate a Man in it, they have concluded that for the attaining eternal Life, or the Kingdom of God in the World to come, Faith alone, and not good Works, are required, contrary to express Words of Scripture, and the whole Tenour of the Gospel: But yet not being admitted into that State of eternal Life for our good Works, 'ris by Grace here too that we are faved, our Righteousness after all being imperfect, and we by our Sins liable to Condemnation and Death: But 'tis by Grace we are made Partakers of both these Kingdoms; 'tis only into the Kingdom of God in this World we are admitted by Faith alone without Works; but for our Admittance into the other, both Faith and Obedience, in a fincere Endeavour to perform those Duties, all those good Works which are incumbent on us, and come in our way to be performed by us, from the time of our believing till our Death.

10 (d) Workmanship of God created. 'Tis not by virtue of any Works of the Law, nor in Confideration of our submitting to the Mosaical Institution, or having any Alliance with the Jewish Nation, that we Gentiles are brought into the Kingdom of Christ; we are in this entirely the Workmanship of God, and are, as it were, created therein, framed and fitted by him, to the Performance of those good Works which we were from thence to live in; and so owe nothing of this our new Being, in this new State, to any Preparation or Fitting we received from the Jewish Church, or any Relation we stood in thereunto. That this is the meaning of the new Creation under the Gospel, is evident from St. Paul's own explaining of it himself, 2 Cor. 5. 16-18. viz. That being in Christ was all one as if he were in a new Creation; and therefore from henceforth he knew no body after the Flesh, i. e. he pretended to no Privilege for being of a Jewish Race, or an Observer of their Rites; all these old things were done away; all things under the Gospel are new, and of God alone.

(e) This is conformable to what he says, v. 5, 6. That God quickened and raised the Gentiles, that were dead in Trespasses and Sins, with Christ, being by Faith united to him, and partaking of the same Spirit of Life which raised him from the Dead; whereby, as Men brought to Life, they were enabled (if they would not relift nor quench that Spirit) to live unto God in Righteoulness and Holiness, as before they were under the absolute Dominion of Satan and their own Lufts.

CONTENTS.

Rom this Doctrine of his in the foregoing Section, that God of his Free Grace, according to his purpose from the beginning, had quicken'd and raifed the Convert-Gentiles, together with Chrift, and feated them with Chrift in his heavenly Kingdom, St. Paul here in this Section draws this Inference to keep them from Judaizing, that though they (as was the State of the Heathen World) were heretofore, by being uncircumcifed, thut out from the Kingdom of God, Strangers from the Covenants of Promife, without Hope and without God in the World, yet they were by Christ, who had taken away the Ceremonial Law, that Wall of Partition, that kept them in that State of Distance and Opposition, now received without any subjecting them to the Law of Moses, to be the People of God, and had the fame Admittance into the Kingdom of God with the Jews themselves, with whom they were now created into one new Man or Body of Men, fo that they were no longer to look on themselves any more as Aliens, or remoter off from the Kingdom of God, than the Jews themselves.

law of commandments contained in ordinances, by abolishing (p) that part of the Law which confifted in politive Commands and Ordinances,

NOTES.

(p) By abolifhing. I do not remember that the Law of Moses, or any part of it, is by an actual Repeal any where abrogated; and yet we are told here, and in other places of the New Testament, that it is abolished. The want of a right understanding of what this abolishing was, and how it was brought about, has, I fuspect, given occasion to the misunderstanding of leveral Texts of Sacred Scripture; I beg leave therefore to offer what the Sacred Scripture feems to me to fuggeft concerning this Matter, till a more through Enquiry by fome abler Hand shall be made into it. After the general Revolt and Apollacy of Mankind, from the Acknowledgment and Worship of the one only true invisible God their Maker, the Children of Israel, by a voluntary Submission to him, and Acknowledgment of him to be their God and lupreme Lord, came to be his People, and he, by a peculiar Covenant, to be their King; and thus erected to himlelf a Kingdom in this World out of that People, to whom he gave a Law by Moses, which was to be the Law of the Israelites, his People, with a purpose at the fametime, that he would in due season transfer this his Kingdom in this World, into the hands of the Messiah, whom he intended to fend into the World, to be the Prince and Ruler of his People, as he had foretold and promifed to the Jews. Into which Kingdom of his under his Son, he purposed also, and foretold that he would admit and incorporate the other Nations of the Earth, as well as those of the Posterity of Abraham, Isaac, and Facob, who were to come into this his enlarged Kingdom upon new Terms that he should then propose; and that those, and those only, should from henceforth be his People. And thus it came to pass, that tho the Law which was given by Mojes to the Ifraelites was never repealed, and to cealed not to be the Law of that Nation; yet it ceased to be the Law of the People and Kingdom of God in this World, because the Jews not receiving him to be their King, whom God had sent to be the King and sole Ruler of his Kingdom for the future, ceased to be the People of God, and the Subjects of God's Kingdom. And thus Jefus Christ by his Death entering into his Kingdom, having then fulfilled all that was required of him for the obtaining of it, put an End to the Law of Mofes, opening another way to all People, both Jews and Gentiles, into the Kingdom of God, quite different from the Law of Ordinances given by Mofes, viz. Faith in Jefus Chrift, by which, and which alone, every one that would, had now Admittance into the Kingdom of God, by the one plain and eally fimple Ceremony of Baptism. This was that which, though it was also foretold, the Jews understood not, having a very great. Opinion of themselves, because they were the cholen People of God; and of their Law, because God was the Author of it; and so concluded that both they were to remain the People of God for ever, and also that they were to remain to under that same Law, which was never to be alter'd; and so never understood what was foretold them of the Kingdom of the Melliah, in respect of the coasing of their Law of Ordinances, and the Admittance of the Gentiles upon the same Terms with them into the Kingdom of the Melliah; which therefore St. Paul calls over and over again a Myffery, and a Myffery hidden from Ages.

Now he that will look a little farther into this Kingdom of God, under these two different Dilpenfations of the Law and the Gospel, will find that it was erested by God, and Men were recall'd into it out of the general Apoftacy from their Lord and Maker, for the unipeakable Good and Benefit of those who by entering into it, return'd to their Allegiance, that thereby they might be brought into a Way and Capacity of being restor'd to that happy State of Eternal Life, which they had all lost in Adam, which it was impossible they could ever recover whilst they remain'd Worshipers we' Vassals of the Devil, and so Out-laws and Enemies to God in the Kingdom, and under the Dominion of Satan; fince the most by als'd and partial Inclination of an intelligent Being, could never expect that God lhould reward. eternal Happinels, and take Menthat were actually Vaffals and Adorers of his Arch-Enemy the Devil, and immediately give them eternal Blis, with the Enjoyment of Pleasures in his Pretence, and at his Right-hand for ever more. The Kingdom of God therefore in this World, was, as it were, the Entrance to the Kingdom of God in the other World, and the Receptacle and Place of Preparation of those who aim'd at a share in that eternal Inheritance. And hence the People of the Jews were called holy, chosen, and Sons of God; as were atterward the Chrithians called Saints, Elect, Beloved and Children of God, &c. But there is this remarkable difference to be observed in what is said of the Subpets of this Kingdom, under the two different Dispensations of the Law and the Gospel, that the Converts to Christianity, and Professors or the Golpel, are often termed and spoke of as faved, which I do not remember that the Jews or Profelytes, Memoers of the Common-wealth, any where are: The reason whereof is, that the Conditions of that Covenant whereby they were made the People of God, under that Confliction of God's Kingdom in this World, was, Do this and live; but he that continues not in all their things to do them, shall die. But the Condition of the Covenant whereby they become the People of God, in the Conflitution of his Kingdom under the Messiah, is, Believe and repent, and thou shalt be saved, \dot{x} e. Take Christ for thy Lord, and do sincerely but what thou can't to keep his Law, and thou shalt be saved; in the one of which, which is therefore called the Covenant of Works, those who were actually in that Kingdom could not attain the everlasting I theretance: And in the other called the Covenant of Grace, those, who if they awould but continue as they began, i. e. in the State of Faith and Repentance, i.e. in a Submussion to and owning of Christ, and a steady unrelenting Resolution of not offending against his Law, could not miss it, and so might truly be said to be saved, they being in an unerring way to Salvation. And thus we fee how the Law of Mofes is by Christ abolished under the Gospel, not by any actual Repeal of it, but is set aside, by ceasing to be the Law of the Kingdom of God translated into the hands of the Melbab, and let up under him; which Kingdom to erected, contains all that God now does or will own to be his People in this World. This way of abolibing of the Law, did not make those Observances unlawful to those who before their Convertion to the Goipel were circumcifed, and under the Law, they were indifferent things, which the converted lews might or might not observe, as they found convenient: That which was unlawful and contrary to the Gospel, was the making those ritual Observances necessary to be join'd with Faith in Believers for Justification, as we lee they did, who, Alls 15. taught the Brethren, that unless they were circumcifed after the manner of Moles, they could not be faved; fo that the nailing it to Christ's Cross, Col.2.14. was the taking away from thenceforth all Obligation for any one to be circumcifed, and to put himself under the Observances of the Law, to become one of the People of God, but was no Prohibition to any one who was circumcifed before Conversion to observe them. And accordingly we see, Gal. 2. 11. that what St. F.ul blames in St. Peter, was compelling the Gentiles to live as the Jews do: Had not that been in the Cafe, he would no more have blam'd his Carriage at Amioch, than he did his oblerving the Law at Ferufilem.

The Apostle here tells us what part of the Mosaical Liw it was that Christ put an End to by his Death viz. Too volunt took it is provided to by his Death viz. Too volunt took it is provided to by his Death viz. Too volunt took of the Law of Moses concerning things in their own nature indifferent, which became obligatory meerly by virtue of a direct positive Command; and are called by St. Paul in the parallel place, Col. 2. 14. Here's paper took of the Law of Moses, the Law of Nature, or, as it is commonly called; the Moral Law, that unmoveable Rule or Right which is of perpetual Obligation: This Jesus Christ is so far from abrogating, that he has promulgated it a new under the Gospel, fuller and clearer than it was in the Mosaical Constitution, or any where else; and by adding to its Precepts the Sanction of his own Divine Authority, has made the Knowledge of that Law more easy and certain than it was before; to that the Subjects of his Kingdom whereof this is now the Law, can be at no doubt or los about their Duty, if they will but read and consider the Rules of Morality, want our Saviour and his Apostles have delivered in very plain words in the holy Scriptures of the New Testament.

15 (4) Make; the Greek word is $x\tau i\sigma n$, which does not always fignify Creation in a ftrict Sense.

(r) This, as I take it, being the meaning, it may not be amils perhaps to look into the reason why St. Paul expresses it in this more figurative manner, viz. to make in himself of twain one new Man, which, I humply conceive, was more suitable to the Idea's he had, and so were, in fewer words, more lively and express to his purpose: He always has Jesus Christ in his Mind, as the Head of the Church, which was his Body, from and by whom alone, by being united to him, the whole Body and every Member of it receiv'd Life, Vigour and Strength, and all the Benefits of that State; which a britably well shews, that whoever were united to this Head, must needs be united to one another, and also that all the Privileges and Advantages they enjoy'd, were wholly owing to their Union with, and adhering to him their Head; which were the two things that he was here inculcating to the Convert Gentiles of Ephefus, to shew them, that now under the Gospel Men became the People of God, meerly by Faith in Jelus Christ, and having him for their Head, and not at all by keeping the Ritual Law of Mofts, which Christ had abolished, and so had made way for the Jews and Gentiles to become one in Christ, fince now Faith in him alone united them into one Body under that Head, with the Observance of the Law; which is the meaning of so making Peace. I hope this single Note here may lead ordinary Readers into an understanding of St. Paul's Stile, and by making them observe the Reason, give them an easier Entrance into the meaning of St. Paul's figurative Expressions.

If the Nation of the Jews had owned and received Jesus the Meshah, they had continued on as the People of God; but after that they had Nationally rejected him, and resulted to have him rule over them, and put him to Death, and so had revoked from their Allegiance, and withdrawn themselves from the King lom of God, which he had now put into the Hands of his Son, they were no longer the People of God; and therefore all those of the Jewish Nation, who after that would return to their Allegiance, had need of Reconciliation to be re-admitted into the Kingdom of God, as part of his People, who were now received into Peace and Covenant with him upon other Terms, and under other Laws, than being the Postericy 22 (s) The Sense of which Allegory I take to be this; It is plain from the Attestation of the Apostles and Prophets, that the Gentiles who believe in Christ are thereby made Members of his Kingdom, united together under him their Head into such a well framed Body, wherein each Person has his proper Place, Rank and Function to which he is fitted, that God will accept and delight in them as his People, and live amongst them, as in a well-framed Building dedicated and set apart to him, whereof the Gentiles make a part, and without any difference put between you, are framed in Equality, and promiscuously with the believing Jews, by the Spirit of God, to be one People, amongst whom he will dwell, and be their God, and they shall be his People.

SECT. V.

C H A P. III. 1-----21.

€ ONTENTS.

His Section gives a great light to those foregoing, and more clearly opens the Design of this Epistle: For here St. Paul in plain words tells them, it is for preaching this Doctrine that was a Mystery, till now being hid from former Ages, (viz.) that the Gentiles should be Co-heirs with the believing Jews, and making one Body or People with them, should be equally Partakers of the Promifes under the Messiah, of which Mystery he by parricular Favour and Appointment was ordain'd the Preacher. Whereupon he exhorts them not to be difmay'd, or flinch in the least from the Belief or Profession of this Truth, upon his being perfecuted and in Bonds upon that account. For his fuffering for it, who was the Preacher and Propagator of it, was so far from being a just Discouragement to them, from standing firmly in the Belief of it, that it ought to be to them a Glory, and a Confirmation of this eminent Truth of the Gospel, which he peculiarly, taught, and thereupon he tells them, he makes it his Prayer to God, that they may be strengthen'd herein, and be able to comprehend the Largeness of the Love of God in Christ, not confined to the Jewish Nation and Constitution, as the Jews conceited, but far furpassing the Thoughts of those who presumed themselves knowing, would confine it to fuch only who were Members of the Jewish Church, and Observers of their Ceremonies.

2 (w) 'Ein, is sometimes an affirmative Particle, and fignifies in Greek the same that siquidem does in Latin, and so the Sense requires it to be understood here; for it could not be supposed but the Ephesians, among whom St. Paul had lived so long, must have heard that he was by express Commission from God made Apostle of the Gentiles, and by immediate Revelation instructed in the Doctrine he was to teach them, whereof this of their Admittance into the Kingdom of God purely by Faith in Christ, without Circumcision and other legal Observances, was one great and necessary Point, whereof St. Paul was so little sny, that we see the World rung of it, Als 21.28. And if his Preaching and Writing were of a piece, as we need not doubt this Mystery of God's Purpose to the Gentiles, which was communicated to him by Revelation, and we hear of so often in his Epistles, was not concealed from them he preach'd to.

3 (x) Though St. Peter was by a Vision from God sent to Cornelius a Gentile, Als 10. yet we do not find that this purpose of God's calling the Gentiles to be his People equally with the Jews, without any regard to Circumcision, or the Mosaical Rites, as revealed to him, or to any other of the Apostles, as a Doctrine which they were to preach and publish to the World: Neither indeed was it needful that it should be any part of their Commission, who were Apostles only of the Circumcision, to mix that in their Message to the Jews, which should make them stop their Ears and refuse to hearken to the other parts of the Gospel, which they were more concerned to know and be instructed in.

4 (7) One may be ready to ask, to what Purpose is this, which this Parenthesis contains here concerning himself; and indeed without having an Eye on the Design of this Epistle, it is pretty hard to give an Account of it, but that being carried in view, there is nothing plainer, nor more pertinent and perswasive than this here; for what can be of more force to make them stands firm to the Dostrine which he had taught them, of their being exempt from Circumcition, and the Observances of the Law, if you have heard, and I assure you in my Epistle, that this Mystery of the Gospel was revealed in a particular manner to me from Heaven: The very reading of this is enough to satisfy you, that I am well instructed in that Truth, and that you may safely depend upon what I have taught you concerning this Point, notwithstanding I am in Prison for it, which is a thing you ought to glory in, since I suffer for a Truth wherein you are so nearly concern'd; see ch. 6. 19.

6 (a) The Promise here intended, is the Promise of the Spirit; see Gal. 3. 14. which was not given to any but to the People and Children of God; and therefore the Gentiles received not the Spirit till they became the People of God, by Faith in Christ, in the Times of the Gospel.

(b) Though the Jews are not expresly named here, yet it is plain from the foregoing Chapter, v. 11, &c. that its of the Union of the Gentiles with the Jews, and making with them one Body of God's People, equally sharing in all the Privileges and Benefits of the Gospel that he is here speaking, the same which he teaches, Gal. 3. 26 ---- 29.

(c) Dia to ivay NAIs, fignifies here, In the time of the Gospel, as slidax provas fignifies, In the time of Uncircumcifion, Rom.7.11. see Note on Rom.7.5. The same thing being intended here, which, ch. 1. 10. is thus expressed; That in the Dispensation of the Fulness of times, i. e. in the time of the Gospel, all things might be gathered together, or united, in Christ, or, by Christ.

7 (d) Though he does not in express words deny others to be made Ministers of it, for it neither suited his Modesty, nor the Respect he had for the other Apostles, so to do, yet his Expression here will be found strongly to imply it, especially if we read and consider well the two following Verses, for this was a necessary Instruction to one who was sent to convert the Gentiles, though thole who were fent to their Brethren the Jews were not appointed to promulgate it. This one Apostle of the Gentiles, by the Success of his preaching to the Gentiles the Attestation of Miracles, and the Gift of the Holy Ghoft, join'd to what Peter had done by special Direction in the Case of Cornelius, would be enough in its due season to convince the other Apostles of this Truth, as we may see it did, Alls 15. & Gal. 2, 6 - 9. And of what Consequence, and how much St. Paul thought the preaching of this Doctrine his peculiar Bufiness, we may see by what he says, ch. 6. 19, 20. where one may see by the different Treatment he received from the rest of the Apolities, being in Bonds upon that account, that his preaching herein differ'd from theirs, and he was thereupon, as he tells us himlelt, treated as an evil Doer, 2 Tim 2-9. The History whereof we have, Als 21-17, &c. as we have eliewhere observ'd. And it is upon the account of his preaching this Doctrine, and displaying to the World this conceal'd Truth, which he calls every where a hidden Mustery, that he gives to what he had preach'd the distinguishing Title of my Gospel, Rom. 16. 25. which he is concerned that God should establish them in, that being the chief design of his Epistle to the Romans, as here to the Ephelians. The infifting so much on this, that it was the special Favour and Commission of God to him in particular, to preach this Doctrine of God's purpose of calling the Gentiles to the World, was not out of Vanity or Boafting, but was here of great use to his present purpose, as carrying a strong Reason with it, why the Ephesians should rather believe him, to whom, a rheir Apostle, it was made manifest, and committed to be preach'd, than the Jews, from whom it had been conceal'd, and was kept as a Mystery, and was in it Tell are Lixvian, informable by Men, though of the best natural Parts and Endowments.

- 2. It is to be observed that St. Paul often chooses to speak of the Work of Redemption by Christ as a Creation. Whether it were because this was the chief end of the Creation, or whether it were because there was no less seen of the Wisslom, Power and Goodness of God, in this, than in the first Creation, and the Change of lost and revolted Man from being dead in Sins, to Newness of Life, was as great, and by as great a Power, as at first making out of nothing, or whether it was because the aramoparations, under Jeius Christ, the Head mentioned, ch. 1. 10. was a Restitution of the Creation to its primitive State and Order, which, Ads 3. 21. is called a rougen not vair var, the Restitution of all things, which was began with the preaching of St. Form Baptist, (who was the Eliasthat restored all things, Mat. 17. 11. i. e. opened the Kingdom of Heaven to Believers of all Nations, Luke 16. 16.) and is compleated in Christ's coming with his Saints in the Glory of his Father at the last day. But whether some or all of these Conjectures which I have mentioned be the reason of it, this is certain, that St. Paul speaks of the Work of Redemption under the name of Creation. So 2 Cor. 5.

17. If any one be in Christ, rainn kring, he is a new Creative, or it is a new Creation. And Gal.
6. 15. In Christ Jesus neither Circumcision availeth any thing, nor Uncircumcisson, but nainn krins, the new Creation.

'Tis then to be consider'd of which Creation τὰ τάντα κτίσαντι, who created all things, is here to be understood. The Business St. Paul is upon in this place, is to shew that God's Purpose of taking in the Gentiles to be his People under the Gospel, was a Mystery unknown in former Ages, and now under the Kingdom of the Messiah committed to him to be preach'd to the World.

This is so manifestly the Design of St. Paul here, that no body can mistake it. Now if the Creation of the material World, of this vifible Frame of Sun, Moon, and Stars, and heavenly Bodies, that are over us, and of the Earth we inhabit, liath no immediate Relation, as certainly it hath not to this Mystery, this Defign of Gud's, to call the Gentiles into the Kingdom of his Son, it is to make St. Paul a very look Writer and weak Arguer, in the middle of a Difcourse which he seems to lay much stress on, and to press earnestly on the Ephesiums (for he urges it more than once) to bring in things not at all to his purpole, and are of no use to the business in hand. We cannot therefore avoid taking the Creation, and things created, here to be those of the new Creation, (viz) those of which the Kingdom of Christ, which was this new Creation, was to be made up, and in that Sense, The new Arisarn Aid Inst xeis, who created all things by Fesus Christ, is a reason to show why God kept his purpose of making the Gentiles meet to be Partakers of the Inheritance of the Saints, or as he expresseth it, ch. 2. 10. that they should be bis Workmanship created in Christ Fesus unto good Works, concealed from former Ages, viz. because this new Creation was in Jesus Christ, and so proper to be preach'd and publish'd when he was come, which is strongly confirm'd by the Words of the following Verle, viz. that NOW in its due time, by this new piece of Workmanship of his, viz. the Church might be made known the manifold Wisdom of God. This taking in the Gentiles into the Kingdom of his Son, and after that the re-affinming again of the Jews, who had been rejected, St. Paul looks on as fo great an Listance, as I Display of the Wildom of God, that it makes him cry out, Rom. 11.33. O the Depth of the Riches both of the Wisdom and Knowledge of God, how unsearchable are his Judgments, and his Ways pull finding out.

lities and Powers by the Church (k), According fold wildom of God,

NOTES.

10 (k) There be two things in this Verse that to me make it hard to determin the precise Sente of it; The first is, what is meant by describe & 'Leonars, Terms that fometimes in Sacred Scripture fignify Temporal Magistrates, and so our Saviour uses them, Luke 12.11. and St. Paul, Tit. 3. t. Sometimes for those who are vested with any Power, whether Men or Angels, to 1 Cor. 15. 24. Sometimes for evil Angels, so they are understood, ch. 6. 12. Sometimes they are understood of good Angels, so Col. 1. 16. Now to which of these to determin the Sense here, I confess my telf not sufficiently enlighten'd. Indeed in nis integrous, in the thing, of his heavenly Kingdom, would do tomething towards, were it undoubtedly certain whether those words were in Construction to be join'd to a exais & Esmais, or to ropia; i. e. Whether we are to understand it of Principalities and Powers in the Kingdom of Heaven, or of the Wildom of God in the ordering of that Kingdom: If the first of these, then 'tis evident they would fignify the heavenly Host of good Angels employ'd in the Guard and Promotion of the Kingdom of Christ. But the Knowledge spoken of here, as communicated to these Principalities and Powers, being only in confequence of St. Paul's preaching, 'tis not eatly to conceive, that the Revelation and Commission given to St. Paul, for the declaring the Mystery of God's purpote, to take the Gentiles into the Church, was to the intent the Angels, either good or bad, thould be inftructed in this great and important Truth, wherein the Wildom of God so much shewed it self, and that they should have no knowledge of it before nor otherwife. This is fo great a Difficulty, that it feems ftrongly to perfwade, that the Principalities and Powers here mentioned are of this World, but against this there lies this obvious Objection. That the Magistrates of the Heathen World did not much concern themselves in what St. Paul preached, nor upon his declaring that the Gentiles under the Messiah were to be taken in to be the People of God, did in effect gather from the Church thus conflituted, any Arguments of the Wildom of God. If therefore I may venture my Conjecture, for I dare not be positive in a place that I confess my felt not fully to understand, I should take this to be the meaning of it. The High-Priests, Scribes and Pharities, who are the Rulers of the Jewish Nation, and alone pretend to any Authority in these Matters, deny the Converted Heathens to be the People of God, because they neglect the Law and Circumcision, and those other Rites, whereby God has appointed those who are his People to be separated from the rest of the World, and made holy to himself. And so far most of the Converted Jews agree with them, that they will not allow the Converted Gentiles to be Members and Subjects of the Kingdom of the Messiah without being circumcised, and submitting to the Laws and Ceremontes of the Jews, as the only Religion and way of Worship wherein they can be allowed to be God's People, or be accepted by him. Now, fays St. Paul, God of his special Grace has committion'd me to preach to the World this hidden Purpose of God, of taking the Gentiles into the Kingdom, of his Son, that so by the Church, confifting of Members who are God's People, without being circumcifed, or observing the other Mosaical Rites, might, which the Jews could by no me is conceive, now be made known, and declared to the Leaders and Chief of that Natic the manifold Wisdom of God, which is not, as the Jews imagine, tied up to their own way, not can bring about his Purpoles by fundry manners, and in ways that they thought not of. This feem; initible to the Apostles here, for though the Jaws were not hereby converted, yer, when urged by the Converted Gentiles, it served to stop their Mouths, and rely to confirm the Gentiles in the Liberty of the Gospel. And thus by the Church, to worm Sc. and tays, Col. 1.24. & 2.2. God would now have made it manifelt by his Preaching, is this Mystery made known to Principalities and Powers, i. e. the Rulers and Teachers of the Jewish Nation, the Saints, who were appriled of it by St. Paul's preaching,

In the foregoing Chapter, v. 19. he tells the Concert-Gentiles of Fphefus, that now they believe in Chrift, they are no longer Strangers and Foreigners, but Fellow-Citizens with the Saints, and of the Houshold of God; here he goes on, and tells them they are of the Family and Lineage of God, being jointly with Jefus Chrift, who is already in Heaven, the Sons of God: What could be of greater Force to con mue them fledfast in the Doctrine he had preach'd to them, and which he mails it his whole Butiness here to confirm them in, (viz.) ST. Paul having concluded the special part of his Epistle with the foregoing Chapter, he comes in this, as his manner is, to practical Exhortations. 9, 10 (m) St. Paul's Argumentation in these two Verses is skilfully adapted to the main Defign of his Epiftle. The Convert Gentiles were attacked by the Unconverted Jews, who were declared Enemies to the Thoughts of a Melnah that died : St. Paul to enervate that Objection of theits, proves by the Pallage out of the Pialms, v. 8. that he must die and be buried. Besides the unbelieving Jews, several of them that were converted to the Gospel, or at least professed to be so attacked, the Gentile-Converts on another side perswading them, that they could not be admitted to be the People of God in the Kingdom of the Melfiah, nor receive any Advantage by him, unless they were circumcifed, and put themselves wholly under the Jewish Constitution on. He had faid a great deal in the three first Chapters to free them from this Perplexity, but yet takes occasion here to offer them a new Argument, by telling them, that Christ, the same Jesus that died, and was laid in his Grave, was exalted to the Right Hand of God above all the Heavens, in the highest State of Dignity and Power, that he himself being filled with the Fulnels of God, Behevers, who were all his Members, might receive immediately from him their Head, a Fulness of Gifts and Graces, upon no other Terms, but barely as they were his Members.

N O T E S.

16 (x) The Sum of all that St. Paul lays in this Figurative Discourse, is, That Christians, all as Members of one Body whereof Christ is the Head, should each in his proper place, according to the Gifts bestowed upon him, labour with Concern and good Will for the Good and Increase of the whole, till it be grown up to that Fulness which is to compleat it in Christ Jesus. This is in short the Sense of the Exhortation contained in this Section, which carries a strong Infinuation with it, especially if we take in the rest of the Admonitions to the End of the Epistle, that the Mosacal Observances were no part of the Business or Character of a Christian, but were wholly to be neglected and declined by the Subjects of Christis Kingdom.

3 (e) The word in the Greek is *λεονεξία, which properly fignifies Covetousness, or an intemperate ungovern'd Love of Riches: But the chaft Stile of the Scripture makes use of it to express the letting loose of the Defires to irregular Venereal Pleasures, beyond what was fit and right. This one can hardly avoid being convinced ot, if one confiders how it stands join'd with these fort of Sins, in those many places which Dr. Hammond mentions in his Notes on Rom. 1.29. & cb 4. v.19. of this Epiftle, & v. 5. of this ch. 5. compared with this here, they are enough to fatisfic one what πλεονέξια. Covetouiness, means here; but if that should fail, these words, Let it not be once named among st you, as becometh Saints, which is subjoined to Covetousness, puts it past doubt; for what Indecency or Misbecomingness is it amongst Christians to name Coveroup of ; Theoregia therefore must lignify the Title of Sins, that are not fit to be named amongst Christians, to that or and a nadapola horsewskia, teem not here to be used Definitively for feveral forts of Sins, but as two names of the fame thing explaining one another; and fo this Verse will give us a true Notion of the word moppela in the New Testament, the want who reed, and taking it to mean Fornication in our English Acceptation of that word, as standing for one diffunct Species of Uncleannels, in the natural Mixture of an unmarried Couple, frems to me to have perplaned the Meaning of feveral Texts of Scripture, whereas taken in that large Senle which azabapola & neorežía seems here to expound it, the Obscurity which follow, from the utual Notion of Fornication, apply'd to it, will be removed. Some Men have been forward to conclude from the Apostle's Letter to the Convert-Gentiles of Antioch, Acts 15.23. Wherein they find Fornication join'd with two or three other Actions; that imple Fornication, as they call it, was not much distant, if at all, from an indifferent Action, whereby I think they very much confounded the Meaning of the Text. The Jews that were converted to the Gospel, could by no means admit, that those of the Gentiles who retained any of their ancient Idolatry, tho they professed faith in Christ, could by by no means he received by them into the Communion of the Gospel, as the People of God under the Messiah; and so far they were In the right, to make fire of it, that they had fully renounced I tolatry; the Generality innifed ou it, that too, flould be circumcifed, and to by fubmitting to the Obiervances of the Law, give the fam - Proof that Profelytes were wont to do, that they were perfectly clear from all Remains of Idolatry. This the Apostles thought more than was necessary; but eating of things facrificed to Idols, and Blood, whether let out of the Animal, or contained in it, being ftrangled; and Fornication in the large Senfe of the word, as it is put for all forts of Uncleanness, being the prefumed Marks of Idolatry to the Jews, they forbid the Convert Gentiles, thereby to avoid the Offence of the Jews, and prevent a Separation between the Profesiors of the Gospel upon this account. This therefore was not given to the Convert-Gentiles by the Apostles of the Circumcinon, as a standing Rule of Morality requir'd by the Gospel; if that had been the Delign, it must have contained a great many other Particulars; what Laws or Morality they were under as Subjects of Jesus Christ, they doubted not but Si. Taul their Apostle taught and inculcated to them: All that they instructed them in here, was necessary for them to do, so as to be admitted into one Fellowship and Communion with the Converts of the Jewish Nation, who would certainly avoid them, if they found that they made no scruple of those things, but practised any of them. That Fornication, or all forts of Uncleanness, were the Consequence and Concomitans of Idolatry, we see, Rom. 1.29, and 'tis known were favoured by the Heathen Worship; and therefore the Practice of those Sin is every where set down, as the Characteristical Heathers much of the Idolatry. where fet down, as the Characteriffical Heathens mark of the Idolatrous Gentiles, from which Abominations the Jews, both by their Law, Profession, and general Practice, were Strangers; and this was one of those things wherein chiefly God severed his People from the Idolatrous Nations, as may be feen, Lev. 18. 20. And hence I think that Adente (a, used for licentious Intemperance in unlawful and unnatural Lusts, is in the New Testament called Idolatry, and TAEOVERTUIS, an Idolater; see 1 Cor. 5. 11. Col. 3. 5. Epb. 5. 5. as being the sure and undoubted Mark of an Heathen and Idolater.

6 (f) One would guess by this, that as there were Jews who would persuade them, that it was necessary for all Christians to be circumcifed, and observe the Law of Mojos, so there were others who retained so much of their ancient Heathenism, as to endeavour to induct them believe, that those Venereal Abominations and Uncleannesses, were no other than what the Gentiles esteemed them barely, indifferent Actions, not offensive to Gos, or inconsistent with his Worship, but only a part of the peculiar and positive Ceremonial Law of the Jews, where y they distinguished themselves from other People, and thought themselves holier than the tost of the World, as they did by their Distinctions of Food into clean and unlean, thate Actions being in themselves as indifferent as those Meats, which the Apolite consucts in the following

NOTES.

13 (n) See John 3. 20. The Apostle's Argument here, to keep the Ephesian-Converts from being missed by those that would persuade them, that the Gentile-Impurities were indifferent Actions, was, to show them that they were now better enlighten'd, to which purpose, v. 5. he tells them, that they know that no such Person hath any Inheritance in the Kingdom of Christ or of God. This he tells them, v. 8, &c. was Light which they had received from the Gospel, which before their Convertion they knew nothing of, but were in persea Darkness and Ignorance of it, but now they were better instructed, and saw the difference, which was a tign of Light, and therefore they should follow that Light which they had received from Christ, who had railed them from among the Gentiles, (who were so far dead, as to be wholly infensible of the evil Course and state they were in) and had given them Light, and a Prospection of a future State, and the Way to attain everlasting Happiness.

16 (a) St. Paul here in imates, v. 5. that the unconverted Heathen they lived among, would be forward to tempt them to their former lewd disolute Lives; but to keep them from any Approaches that way, that they have Light now by the Goipel, to know that such Adions are provoking to God, and will find the Ericks of his Wrath in the Judgments of the World to come. All those Pollutions to tentilial among the Gentiles, he exhorts them carefully to avoid, but yet to take care, by their previent Carriage to the Gentiles they lived amongst, to give them no Offence, that so they might escape the Danger and Trouble that otherwise might arise to them from the Intemperance and Violence of those Heathen Idolaters, whose shameful Lives the Christian Practice could not but reprove. This seems to be the meaning of redeeming the Time here, which, Col. 4.5. the other place where it occurs, seems so manifestly to confirm and give Light to. It this be not the Senic of redeeming the Time here, I must own my self-ignorant of the precise Meaning of the Phrase in this place.

18 (p) St. Paul dehorts them from Wine, in a too tree Use of it, because therein is Excess, the Greek word is according, which may figurely Luxury or Dij lateness; i.e. that Drinking is no brief to Continency and Chastrey, but gives up the Reins to Lust and Uncleanness, the Vice he had been warning them against: Or according may figurely Intemperance and Disorder, opposite to that sober and prudent Demeanour advised in redeeming the Time.

For the husband is the head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and he is the Saviour of the body.

For the Husband is the Head of the Wife, as Christ himself is the Head of the Church, and it is he the Head that preferves that his Body (r), fo stands it between Man and Wife. Therefore as the Church is subject to Christ, so let Wives be to their Husbands in every thing. And you Husbands, do you on your fide love your Wives, even as Christ also loved the Church, and gave himself to Death for it, That he might fanctify and fit it to himself, purifying it by the washing of Baptism, joyn'd with the Preaching and Reception of the Gospel (3); That so he himself (t)might present it to himself an honourable Spouse, without the least Spot of Uncleanness or misbecoming Feature, or any thing amis, but that it might be holy, and without all manner of Blemish. So ought Men to love their Wives as their own Bodies; he that loveth his Wife, loveth himfelf. For no Man ever hated his own Flesh, but nourisheth and 23 (r) 'Tis from the Head that the Body receives it healthy and vigorous Confliction of Health and Life; this St. Faul pronounces here of Christ, as Head of the Church, that by that carallel which he makes use of to represent the Relation between Husband and Wife, he may both shew the Wife the Reasonableness of her Subjection to her Husband, and the Duty incumbent on the Husband to cherish and preserve his Wife, as we see he pursues it in the following Verses.

26 (3) Expusan, by the Word. The purifying of Men is afteribed to much throughout the whole New Testament to the Word, i. e. the preaching of the Gospel, and Baptism, that there needs little to be said to prove it; see John 15.3. & 18.17. 1 Pet. 1.22. For this Cause fhall a Man leave his Father and Mother, and thall be joyned unto his Wife, and they two shall be one Flesh (u). These Words contain a very mystical Sense in them (w), I mean in reference to Christ and the Church. But laying that aside, their literal Sense lays hold on you, and therefore do you Husbands, every one of you in particular, so love his Wife, so as his own felf, and let the Wife reverence her Husband. NOTES.

30 & 31 (u) These two Verses may seem to stand here disorderly, so as to disturb the Connection, and make the Inferences disjointed and very loofe, and inconfiftent, to any one who more minds the Order and Grammatical Conftruction of St. Paul's Words written down, than the Thoughts that possessed his Mind where he was writing. 'Tis plain the Apostle had here two things in View; the one was, to press Men to love their Wives, by the Example of Christ's Love to his Church; and the Force of that Argument lay in this, that a Man and his Wife were one Flesh, as-Christ and his Church were one: But this latter being a Truth of the greater Consequence of the two, he was as intent on setling that upon their Minds, though it were but an Incident, as the other, which was the Argument he was upon; and therefore having faid, v. 9. that every one nourisheth and cherisheth his own Flesh, as Christ doth the Church, 'twas natural to subjoin the reason there, viz. because we were Members of his Body, of his Flesh, and of his Bones: A Proposition he took as much Care to have believed, as that it was the Duty of Husbands to love their Wives; which Doftrine of Christ and the Church being one, when he had so strongly afferted, in the words of Adam concerning Eve, Gen. 2. 23. which he, in his concile way of expressing himself, understands both of the Wife and of the Church, he goes on with the words in Gen. 2. 24. which makes their being one Flesh the reason why a Man was more strictly to be united to his Wife than to his Parents, or any other Relation.

32 (w) 'Tis plain by v. 30. here, and the Application therein of these words, Gen. 2.23. to Christ and the Church, that the Apostles understood several Passages in the Old Testament in reference to Christ and the Gospel, which evangelical or spiritual Sense was not understood, till by the Alistance of the Spirit of God the Apostles so explained and revealed it. This is that which St. Paul, as we see he does here, calls Mystery. He that has a mind to have a true Notion of this Matter, let him carefully read 1 Cor. 2, where St. Paul very particularly explains this Matter.

Whom I have fent un- 22 to you for the same purpose, that ye might know our affairs, and that he might comfort your hearts.

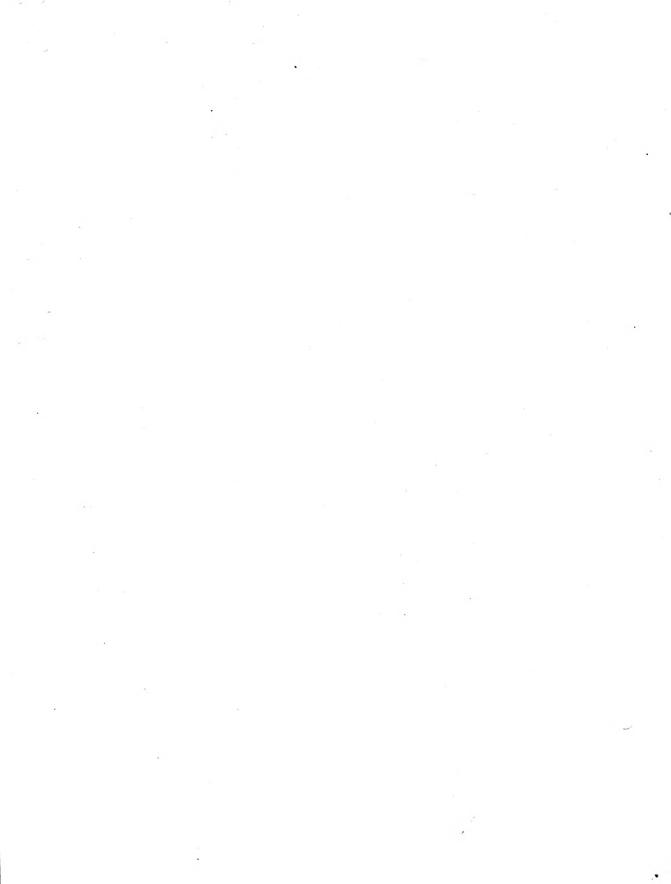

Peace be to the bre-23 thren, and love with faith from God the Father, and the Lord Jefus Christ.

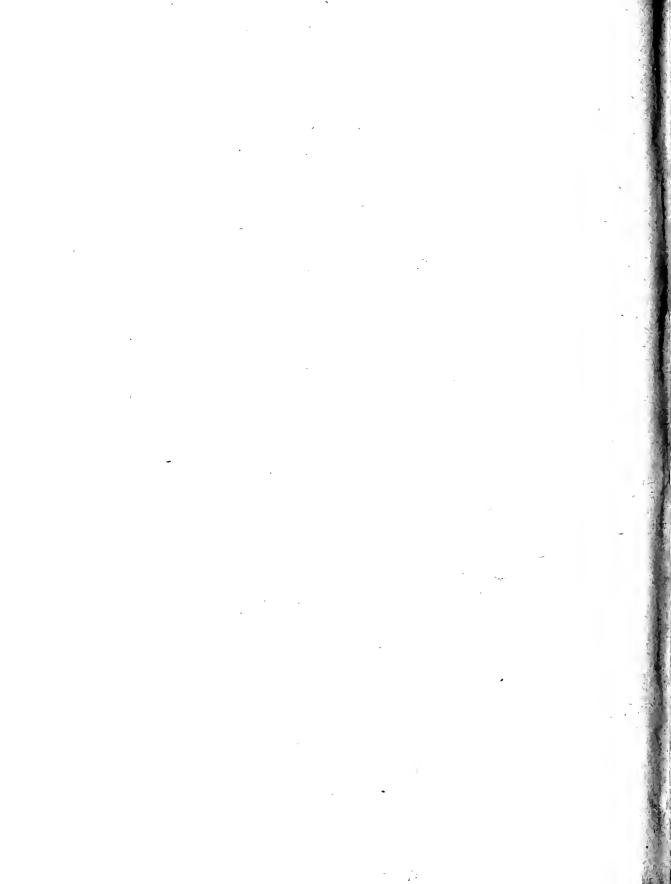

Grace be with all them 21, that love our Lord Jesus Christin sincerity. Amen.

NOTES.

24 (3) Ev appara, in Sincerity, so our Translation; the Greek word fignifies, in Incorruption. St. Paul cioses all his Epistles with this Benediction, Grace be with you; but this here is so peculiar a way of expressing himself, that it may give us some reason to enquire what Though s suggested it. It has been remarked more than once, that the main Business of his Epistle, is that which fills his Mind, and guides his Pen in his whole Discourse. In this to the Ephenians he fets forth the Gospel, as a Dispensation so-much in every thing superiour to the Law, that it was to debase, corrupt and destroy the Gospel, to join Circumcision and the Observance of the Law as necessary to it. Having writ this Epistle to this end, he here in the close having the same Thought still upon his Mind, pronounces Favour on all those that love the Lord Jesus Christ in Incorruption, i.e. without the mixing or joining any thing with him in the Work of our Salvation, that may render the Gospel useless and ineffectual. For thus he says, Gal. 5. 2. If ye be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing. This I submit to the Consideration of the Judicious Reader.
